Timely examination of compliance reduces risks as well as potential cost of non-compliance and also builds better corporate image. Secretarial Audit establishes better compliance platform by checking the compliances with the provisions of various statutes, laws, rules & regulations, procedures by a Practicing Company Secretary to make necessary recommendations/ remedies. The primary objective of the Compliance Management backed Secretarial Audit is to safeguard the interest of the Directors & officers of the companies, shareholders, creditors, employees, customers etc. With the introduction of concept of ‘Secretarial Audit’ in Voluntary Corporate Governance Guidelines (CGV) 2009 and the ‘Companies Bill 2012’, it has gained immense importance. After reading this lesson the students would be able to understand the need, objectives, scope, benefits of secretarial audit, professional responsibilities and penalties etc.

“Since the Board has the overarching responsibility of ensuring transparent, ethical and responsible governance of the company, it is important that the Board processes and compliance mechanisms of the company are robust. To ensure this, the companies may get the Secretarial Audit conducted by a competent professional. The Board should give its comments on the Secretarial Audit in its report to the shareholders.”

MCA CORPORATE GOVERNANCE VOLUNTARY GUIDELINES 2009
INTRODUCTION

Secretarial Audit is a process to check compliance with the provisions of various laws and rules/regulations/procedures, maintenance of books, records etc., by an independent professional to ensure that the company has complied with the legal and procedural requirements and also followed due processes. It is essentially a mechanism to monitor compliance with the requirements of stated laws and processes.

The Ministry of Corporate Affairs, Government of India released CORPORATE GOVERNANCE VOLUNTARY GUIDELINES 2009 on December 21, 2009. The preamble to Guidelines states that “These guidelines provide for a set of good practices which may be voluntarily adopted by the Public companies. Private companies, particularly the bigger ones, may also like to adopt these guidelines.”

The Guidelines, amongst other things, recommend the introduction of Secretarial Audit. Companies, which do not adopt these guidelines, either fully or partially, are expected to inform their shareholders about the reasons for not adopting these Guidelines. This is in consonance with the popular doctrine of “Comply or Explain”. The Board should give its comments on the Secretarial Audit in Directors’ Report as provided in Para V of the Guidelines.

Further Companies Bill 2012, states that every listed company and a company belonging to other class of companies as may be prescribed shall annex with its Board’s report a Secretarial Audit Report, given by a Company Secretary in Practice, in such form as may be prescribed. It shall be the duty of the company to give all assistance and facilities to the Company Secretary in Practice, for auditing the secretarial and related records of the company. The Board of Directors, in their report shall explain in full any qualification or observation or other remarks made by the Company Secretary in Practice in his report. If a company or any officer of the company or the Company Secretary in Practice, contravenes the provisions of this section, the company, every officer of the company or the Company Secretary in Practice, who is in default, shall be punishable with fine which shall not be less than one lakh rupees but which may extend to five lakh rupees.

NEED FOR SECRETARIAL AUDIT

Secretarial Audit is the process of independent verification, examination of level of compliance of applicable Corporate Laws to a company. The audit process if properly devised ensures timely compliance and eliminates any un-intended non-compliance of various applicable rules and regulations. An action plan of the Corporate Secretarial Department is to be designed so as to ensure that all event based and time based compliances are considered and acted upon. Secretarial Audit is to be on the principle of “Prevention is better than cure” rather than post mortem exercise and to find faults. Broadly, the need for Secretarial Audit is:

- Effective mechanism to ensure that the legal and procedural requirements are duly complied with.
- Provides a level of confidence to the directors, officers in default, Key Managerial Personnel etc.
- Directors can concentrate on important business matters as Secretarial Audit ensures legal and procedural requirements.
- Strengthen the image and goodwill of a company in the minds of regulators and stakeholders
- Secretarial Audit is an effective compliance risk management tool.
- It helps the investor in analyzing the compliance level of companies, thereby increases the reputation.
- Secretarial Audit is an effective governance tool.

Secretarial Audit & Company Secretary in Practice (PCS)

A significant area of competence of PCS include “Corporate, Business, Economic and other laws” (comprising statutes, rules, regulations, notifications, circulars and clarifications, forms, guidelines and bye-laws) owing to intensive and rigorous coaching, examinations, training and continuing education programs. PCS is a highly specialized professional in matters of statutory, procedural and practical aspects involved in proper compliances under corporate laws. Strong knowledge base makes PCS a competent professional to conduct Secretarial Audit.

A Company Secretary in Practice has been assigned the role of Secretarial Auditor in section 2(2)(c)(v) of the Company Secretaries Act, 1980.

Secretarial Audit – The process

- Initial discussions
  - In this phase the auditor gathers relevant information about the Company in order to obtain a general overview of operations. The auditor talks to key personnel and reviews reports, files, and other sources of information.

- Identifying scope and objectives
  - During this stage the Secretarial Auditor discusses the scope and objectives of the examination, in a formal meeting with the management and gathers information on important processes, evaluates existing controls, and plans the audit steps.

- Obtaining of formal engagement letter
  - A formal engagement letter from the Management shall be issued to the Auditor. This letter communicates the scope and objectives of the audit. PCS shall then forward a preliminary checklist to the Company that will help the auditor learn more about the company under audit.

- Meeting with teams/persons involved
  - The opening meeting should include senior management and any administrative staff who may be involved in the audit. The Company should feel free to ask the PCS to review areas that are concerned about. The time frame of the audit will be determined.

- Planning of Audit programme
  - This program outlines the fieldwork necessary to achieve the audit objectives. The PCS shall use a variety of tools and techniques to gather and analyze information about the Company's operations. The review of controls helps the auditor determine the areas of highest risk and design tests to be performed in the fieldwork section.
Informal interactions and understanding of business

The fieldwork concentrates on informal communications. It is during this phase that the PCS determines whether the controls identified during the preliminary review are operating properly and in the manner described by the Company. Fieldwork typically consists of talking to staff, reviewing procedure manuals, learning about processes, testing for compliance with applicable policies and procedures and laws and regulations, and assessing the adequacy of controls. The fieldwork stage concludes with a list of significant findings from which the auditor will prepare a draft of the audit report.

Preparation of Working Papers

Working papers are a vital tool of the audit profession. They are the support of the audit opinion. They connect the management's records and financials to the auditor's opinion. They are comprehensive and serve many functions.

Observations/Discussions

The detailed commentary describing the findings and recommended solutions shall be summarised and presented for initial discussions with the management for its insights.

Summary of Audit findings and subsequent discussions

Upon completion of the fieldwork, the auditor to summarize the audit findings, conclusions, and recommendations necessary in the form of the audit report.

Audit Report

The auditor shall prepare the final report based on the field work and working papers to present the audit findings and discuss recommendations for improvements, if any. The Final report shall contain the opinion on the statutory compliances examined by the auditor and shall state whether in his opinion the Company is carrying out/not carrying out due compliances of the applicable provisions of the Various corporate laws. The final report shall be provided with or without qualifications.

Follow up

Finally, as part of Secretarial Audit's self-evaluation program, the PCS may request the Company to list the actions taken by the Company to resolve the audit report findings. Unresolved findings will also appear in the follow-up report and will include a brief description of the finding, the original audit recommendation, the client response and the current condition.

Benefits and Beneficiaries of Secretarial Audit

The Benefits

The benefits of secretarial audit includes the following:

(a) It can be an effective due diligence exercise for the prospective acquirer of a company or controlling interest or a joint venture partner.

(b) It assures the owners that management and affairs of the company are being conducted in accordance with requirements of laws, and that the owners stake is not being exposed to undue risk.

(c) It ensures the Management of a company that those who are charged with the duty and responsibility of compliance with the requirements of law are performing their duties competently, effectively and efficiently.
(d) It ensures the Management that the company has complied with the laws and, therefore, they are not likely to be exposed to penal or other liability or to action by law enforcement agencies for non-compliance by the company.

(e) Secretarial Audit being proactive measure for compliance with a plethora of laws, it will have a salutary effect of substantially lessening the burden of the law-enforcement authorities.

(f) Instilling professional discipline and self-regulations.

(g) Reduces the work load of the regulators due to better and timely compliances.

The beneficiaries

The major beneficiaries of Secretarial Audit include:

(a) Promoters

Secretarial Audit will assure the Promoters of a company that those in-charge of its management are conducting its affairs in accordance with requirements of laws.

(b) Management

Secretarial Audit will assure the Management of a company that those who are entrusted with the duty and responsibility of compliance are performing their role effectively and efficiently. This also helps the management to establish benchmarks for the compliance mechanism, review and improve the compliances on a continuing basis.

(c) Non-executive directors

Secretarial Audit will provide comfort to the Non-executive Directors that appropriate mechanisms and processes are in place to ensure compliance with laws applicable to the company, thus mitigating any risk from a regulatory or governance perspective; so that the Directors not in-charge of the day-to-day management of the company are not likely to be exposed to penal or other liability on account of non-compliance with law.

(d) Government authorities/regulators

Being a pro-active measure, Secretarial Audit facilitates reducing the burden of the law-enforcement authorities and promotes governance and the level of compliance.

(e) Investors

Secretarial Audit will inform the investors whether the company is conducting its affairs within the applicable legal framework.

(f) Other Stakeholders

Financial Institutions, Banks, Creditors and Consumers are enabled to measure the law abiding nature of Company management.

Secretarial Audit-Periodicity

Secretarial Audit on a continuous basis would help the company in initiating corrective measures and strengthening its compliance mechanism and processes. It is recommended that the Secretarial Audit be carried out periodically (quarterly/half yearly) and adverse findings if any, be communicated to the Board for corrective action.
Reporting with Qualification

The qualification, reservation or adverse remarks, if any, should be stated by the PCS at the relevant places in his report. The qualifications, reservations or adverse remarks of Secretarial Auditor, if any, should be mentioned in bold type or in italics in the Secretarial Audit Report.

If the PCS is unable to form an opinion on any matter, he should mention that he is unable to form an opinion on that matter and the reasons therefor. If the scope of work required to be performed, is restricted on account of limitations imposed by the company or on account of circumstantial limitations (like certain books or papers being in custody of another person or Government Authority) the Report should indicate such limitations. If such limitations are so material as to render the PCS incapable of expressing any opinion, the PCS should state that:

“In the absence of necessary information and records, we are unable to report compliance(s) by the Company”.

Professional Responsibility and Penalty for Incorrect Audit Report

While the Voluntary Guidelines on Corporate Governance have opened up a significant area of practice for Company Secretaries, it casts immense responsibility on Company Secretaries, and poses a great challenge to justify fully, the faith and confidence reposed in them. Company Secretaries must take adequate care while conducting Secretarial Audit.

Any failure or lapse on the part of PCS in issuing a Secretarial Audit Report may attract penalty for incorrect report and disciplinary action for professional or other misconduct under the provisions of the Company Secretaries Act, 1980. It, therefore, becomes imperative for the PCS that he exercises great care and caution while issuing the Secretarial Audit report and also adheres to the highest standards of professional ethics and excellence in providing his services.

INTRODUCTION

Today adoption of good governance practices has emerged as an integral element for doing business. It is not only a prerequisite to face intense competition for sustainable growth in the emerging global market scenario but is also an embodiment of the parameters of fairness, accountability, disclosures and transparency to maximize value of the stakeholders.

Businesses have realized that long term growth and stability can be achieved only by strengthening the foundation. Compliances are being regarded as value addition measures rather than cost centers. To achieve this level of investor confidence, the corporate leaders need set of tools that provide greater visibility to their organizations and strengthen governance, compliance and corporate performance management. One such effective and efficient tool is ‘Secretarial Audit’.

Compliances with regulations has always been a reality of business. Continuing line of corporate scandals, compliance more than ever connects directly to the market performance. And Regulations have seemed to multiply over time. The regulations becoming more complex, regardless of the industry, any failure to comply now bears more serious penalties than ever, including the loss of management integrity and shareholder confidence.

Secretarial Audit understands the complexities of the compliance needs - which is vast, interconnected and vital to the success of any organisation. For this reason Secretarial Audit provides as a regulatory tool which pulls together compliance data from multiple systems and then analyses it, reports on it and delivers the required information to the management and administrators concerned.

Secretarial Audit thus entails auditing of relevant documents to conclude as to whether a company has complied with corporate governance requirements. Organizations are advised to be mindful of their obligations to remain committed to safeguarding the existence of their business through transparent best practices fashioned along local and international standards. Secretarial Audit will look into the statutory/operational books of organizations including the reports of all other investigators to check whether they comply with Compliance requirements.

In the Indian situation, unless issues relating to weaknesses prevailing in corporate governance are well addressed, it would be futile to expect good standards of governance. Further, with a view to promote the best corporate governance practices, secretarial audit should be made mandatory for all the institutions. This casts immense responsibility on Practising Company Secretary and poses a great challenge to justify fully, the faith and confidence reposed. PCS should therefore take adequate care while conducting the 'Secretarial Audit' and also adhere to the highest standards of professional ethics and excellence in providing services.

Major Areas of Compliances under the Companies Act, 1956

The purpose of a company, formed as a commercial enterprise, is mainly to make profits by carrying on its business and maximize its wealth. While doing so, a company is directed by the Board of Directors, which is assisted by officers and professionals. In its pursuit for achieving its objectives and making profits the most important for requirement of a company is to adhere to the legislative environment in relation to such objectives and pursuits and strive, at all times, to deliver whatever has been promised, whether it is to shareholders or stakeholders or customers or vendors or service providers or suppliers or regulators, whether such promises are made in any contract or agreement, or demanded by a provision of law, or merely due to moral covenants only. In other words the company is expected to aim always to deliver whatever has been promised to different sections of the society including its stakeholders and regulators. A company would have failed in its commitment to be a responsible corporate citizen, if it doesn’t comply with the provisions of law. This proposition is based on the premise that every provision of law the statute book is only in the interests of the public.

General Compliance Requirements

General compliance requirements includes

1. “Whether the company has kept and maintained all the statutory registers, filed all forms, returns and notices to the prescribed authorities as per the provisions of the Companies Act, 1956.”

2. “Whether the company has followed all the requirements of the Act and Memorandum and Articles of Association in respect of notices, proxies, quorum and minutes of all general meetings (including annual general meeting and requisitioned extra-ordinary general meeting) and board and committee meetings.”

An analysis of the Companies Act brings out the following:

- The Act has 658 sections, though there are many sections which have become inapplicable or which have been omitted altogether.

- The Act has been divided into XIII parts. For the time being, Part VIA brought into the Act by the Companies (Second Amendment) Act, 2002 has not yet come into force.

- Part I and Part IA to Part IC of the Act relate to certain preliminary matters including provisions for the establishment and empowerment of National Company Law Tribunal and Appellate Tribunal.
For the time being, it is necessary to note that the provisions of the Act with regard to administration of justice through Company Law Board in certain matters continue and the National Company Law Tribunal has not yet been constituted.

ANALYSIS OF THE COMPANIES ACT

Contents of Memorandum

As per Section 13, the memorandum of a limited company must state the following:

1. (a) the name of company with “Limited” as its last word in the case of a public company; and “Private Limited” as its last word in the case of a private company;
   (b) the state in which the registered office of the company is to be situated;
(c) in the case of a company in existence immediately before the commencement of the Companies (Amendment) Act, 1965, the objects of the company;

(d) in the case of a company formed after such commencement:
   (i) the main objects of the company to be pursued by the company on its incorporation; and objects incidental or ancillary to the attainment of the main objects;
   (ii) other objects of the company not included in sub-clause (i); and

(e) in the case of companies (other than trading corporations) with objects not confined to one State, the States to whose territories the objects extend;

(2) The memorandum of a company limited by shares or by guarantee shall also state that the liability of its members is limited.

(3) The memorandum of a company limited by guarantee shall also state that each member undertakes to contribute to the assets of the company in the event of its being wound up while he is a member or within one year after he ceases to be a member, for payment of the debts and liabilities of the company, or of such debts and liabilities of the company as may have been contracted before he ceases to be a member, as the case may be, and of the costs, charges and expenses of winding up, and for adjustment of the rights of the contributories among themselves; such amount as may be required not exceeding a specified amount.

(4) In the case of a company having a share capital—
   (a) unless the company is an unlimited company, the memorandum shall also state the amount of share capital with which the company is to be registered and the division thereof into shares of a fixed amount;
   (b) no subscriber of the memorandum shall take less than one share; and
   (c) each subscriber of the memorandum shall write opposite to his name the number of shares he takes.

The above clauses are compulsory and are designated as “conditions” prescribed by the Act, on the basis of which a company is incorporated.

Alteration of Memorandum of Association

Of all the sections that pertain to alteration of memorandum, the most important seems to be Section 16, where it is clearly provided that alteration of conditions of memorandum shall not be carried out except in the cases, in the manner and to the extent specifically provided in the Act. As per Section 16 of the Act it will be very interesting to see that the name clause, situation clause, objects clause, liability clause, capital clause are the main clauses that could be deemed to be conditions contained in a memorandum of association. The basic point should be what is stated in Section 16 of the Act. Section 16 of the Act provides that the conditions contained in the memorandum of association are those conditions that are governed by Section 13 of the Act. And such conditions have to be altered only in the manner and to the extent expressly provided in the Act.

However, where the share capital of the company has to be altered for earmarking a portion of the capital for issue of preference shares without any increase in capital, it could be seen that no specific provision touching upon this issue is contained in the Act. But share capital is a condition contained in Section 13 of the Act and therefore, it should be scrupulously ensured that the alteration of any condition contained in the memorandum should be done only to the extent and in the manner expressly provided in the Act.
Therefore all the questions relating to alteration of conditions contained in the memorandum could be clubbed into one question whether the company has complied with Section 16 of the Act. This would cover alterations of not only the conditions contained in a memorandum falling under sub-sections (1) and (2) but also other provisions contained in the memorandum falling under sub-sections (3) and (4) of Section 16 of the Act.

The reclassification of share capital could be considered as a matter falling under sub-section (3) and (4) of Section 16 of the Act, particularly in view of the following facts:

- That the term “shares” include both preference and equity shares.
- That the company can issue preference shares if so authorised by articles of association;
- That Section 13, in sub-section (4) requires the mentioning of only the amount of share capital and the division thereof into shares of fixed amount.
- It does not state the kind of share composition and the nature of share capital.
- Thus classification of shares into its kinds cannot constitute a condition governing the memorandum.

A company with unlimited liability may like to alter its liability clause. In such a situation, Section 32 of the Act will come into play. As per Section 32 of the Act, a company registered as unlimited may re-register under this Section as a limited company and a company already registered as a limited company may re-register under this Act. Obviously, the section does not provide for registration of a limited company into an unlimited company. Altering the liability clause of the memorandum for converting the limited liability into unlimited liability would be appear to be void as there is no express provision provided in the Act. However for alteration of the liability clause from limited liability to unlimited liability, it is necessary to keep in mind that under Section 38 of the Act, it has been clearly provided that if the alteration in any way increases the liability of a member, it shall not be binding upon the members unless the member agrees in writing before or after the particular alteration is made. Thus, a reading of Section 38 of the Act would make it clear that increasing the liability of members is not, per se, void. Only thing it requires the consent of all the members in writing. This also makes it clear that such an alteration cannot be considered an alteration falling under sub-section (3) and (4) of Section 16 of the Act. Thus practically, all the members of the company have to agree in writing for undertaking unlimited liability. It is in this context, one has to look at Section 32(1)(b) of the Act and understand that if a company with limited liability were to apply for re-registration, with unlimited liability, the Registrar cannot do so unless he is convinced that all the members have agreed in writing for undertaking unlimited liability.

Thus the question whether the company has complied with Section 16 of the Act assumes greater significance and this will be a crucial question in Part II of the Act. This question will also include within its ambit the position that may arise out of any failure to register an alteration to the situation clause. As per Section 19 of the Act, an alteration referred to in Section 17 (i.e. Special Resolution relating to shifting of Registered Office from one state to another state, with respect to allocation of objects of the company, upon conditions specified under Section 17), should be registered within 1 month or 3 months, as the case may be, from the date of the order of the Company Law Board. If the alteration is not so registered, all proceedings connected therewith including the order will become void and inoperative on the expiry of the period of 3 months or the extended period.

ARTICLES OF ASSOCIATION

According to Section 2(2) of the Companies Act, 1956, ‘articles’ means the articles of association of a company as originally framed or as altered from time to time in pursuance of any previous company law or of this Act. It also includes the regulations contained in Table A in Schedule I of the Act, in so far as they apply to the company.

As per Section 26 of the Act, there may in the case of a public company limited by shares, and there shall in the case of an unlimited company or a company limited by guarantee or a private company limited by shares, be registered with the memorandum, articles of association signed by the subscribers of the memorandum, prescribing regulations for the company.

The articles of association of a company are its by-laws or rules and regulations that govern the management of its internal affairs and the conduct of its business. The articles play a very important role in the affairs of a company. It deals with the rights of the members of the company inter se. They are subordinate to and are controlled by the memorandum of association.

Alteration of Articles of Association (Section 31)

Though there is a requirement for registration of the Alteration of Articles of Association. Where a public company chooses to alter its Articles of Association to change its status to that of a private company, such alteration would require not only the approval of the Central Government (delegated to Registrar of Companies) but also the filing of a copy of the altered Articles of Association within one month from the date of receipt of order of approval.

In the case of a Listed company, such an alteration would also require the passing of the special resolution by postal ballot as per the Companies (Passing of Resolution by Postal Ballot) Rules, 2001. Section 192 of the Act deals with registration of resolutions and as per the said section all special resolutions have to be filed at the office of the Registrar of Companies and the title of the said section is "Registration of Certain Resolutions and Agreements".

Copy of Memorandum and Articles to be given to the Members (Section 39)

Section 39 of the Act confers upon every member a statutory right to obtain from the company an up-to-date copy each of the following documents:

- The memorandum,
- The articles,
- Every agreement, and every resolution referred to in Section 192, if and in so far as they have not been embodied in the Memorandum and Articles.

Noting of alteration to Memorandum or Articles in every copy (Section 40)

The provisions contained in Section 40 of the Act are very important and companies generally do not keep their memorandum and articles duly updated. It becomes the first duty of every person dealing with the company, auditing/inspecting the records of the company to go through the memorandum and articles without fail. As per Section 40 where an alteration is made in a memorandum or articles or any resolution referred to in Section 192 of the Act is passed, every copy of the memorandum or articles or agreement or resolution shall be in accordance with the alteration. This section also provides a specific penalty for non-compliances of this section. As per the doctrine of constructive notice, a third party is deemed to have notice of the contents of memorandum and articles. If the memorandum and articles does not reflect the alteration made, then it defeats the very purpose of Section 40 of the Act.

ASSOCIATION NOT FOR PROFIT (Section 25)

Section 25 permits the registration, under a licence granted by the Central Government, of associations not for profit with limited liability without being required to use the word “Limited” or the words “Private Limited” after their names. This is of great value to companies not engaged in business like bodies pursuing charitable, educational or other purposes of great utility.

The Central Government may grant such a licence if:

(i) it is intended to form a company for promoting commerce, art, science, religion, charity or any other useful object; and

(ii) the company prohibits payment of any dividend to its members but intends to apply its profits or other income in promotion of its objects.

A Company, which has been granted licence under Section 25 cannot alter the provisions of its Memorandum with respect to its objects except with the previous approval of the Central Government in writing. The provisions contained in Section 25 of the Act are intended to serve a laudable objective. In order to enable companies formed under Section 25 to carry on their objectives without much hassles, the Companies Act has thought it fit to relieve such companies from various provisions of the Act.

Reduction of number of Members (Section 45)

Where the number of members falls below the statutory minimum, whether the company is a private company or public company, the members become severally liable as per Section 45 of the Act, if the company carries on business for 6 months while the number is so reduced.

Investments of Company to be held in its Own Name (section 49)

Under certain circumstances a company is entitled to hold investments which may not be registered in its own name. Subsections (2), (3), (4) and (5) of Section 49 of the Act describe such situations. It is to be noted that these situations are exceptional in nature and they have to be scrupulously followed with the framework of Section 49 of the Act. And where a company has investments which are not held by it in its own name, sub-section 7 of Section 49 of the Act requires a company to maintain a register of investments which is open for inspection as provided in sub-section (8) of Section 49 of the Act. Any default is liable to be punished in accordance with sub-section (9) of Section 49 of the Act.

Acceptance of Public Deposits and provisions relating to Small Depositors (Section 58A and Section 58AA)

In complying the provisions of Section 58A and 58AA of the Act and also the Companies (Acceptance of Deposits) Rules, 1975, under Companies (Auditors’ Report) Order 2003, the statutory auditor of the company has to report in the case of a company which has accepted deposits from public whether the provisions of Section 58A, 58AA of the Act and the relevant rules have been complied with.

Under CARO, 2003, the auditor is supposed to state positively whether the public company (the scope is restricted to public deposits) has complied the provisions of Section 58A and 58AA of the Act and give his opinion whether the company has violated those provisions. The auditor should also state whether the company has complied with orders of Company Law Board or Court or Tribunal, if any under Section 58AA of the Act. The most important aspect of Section 58A or Section 58AA of the Act is whether the deposit has been repaid on time with interest due thereon as per the terms of acceptance.

In determining the extent of compliance of the provisions of the Act under Section 58A, 58AA and 58B following are important:

- Under Section 58AA of the Act, sub-section (7) provides that if a company had accepted deposits from small depositors and subsequent to such acceptance obtains working capital loans, it should first use the funds for repayment of such deposits.

- Under Section 372A of the Act, if the company had defaulted in complying with Section 58A, the company cannot invest or lend or provide guarantee or security as long as the deposit is subsisting.
- As per Section 77B of the Act, the company is prohibited from buying back, if any default committed by the company in repayment of deposit or interest payable thereon.
- There are also other provisions that protect the interests of depositors.
- Under Section 274 (1) (g) of the Act, if the default continues for one year or more, the directors of the company incur the inevitable disqualification.
- Under Section 58AAA, the default in repayment of deposits has been made a cognizable offence.

In the case of Non-Banking Financial Companies, they have to comply with the directions of the Reserve Bank of India also.

Offering Shares or Debentures to the Public (Section 67)

Section 67 of the Act contained a very clear expression of what amounts to an issue of shares to public as distinguished from a private placement. Section 67 makes it clear that the offer or invitation to subscribe for shares/debentures shall be treated as an offer to the public, if the offer or invitation is made to 50 persons or more.

Every listed Public Company, making initial Public offer of securities for a sum of rupees ten crores or more, shall issue the same only in dematerialized form by complying with the requisites provisions of the Depositories Act, 1996 (Section 68B)

Minimum Subscription (Section 69)

The law is clear that there should be a minimum subscription and this applies for rights issues also under the SEBI (ICDR) Regulation. All these are very important requirements and have been in place for protecting the investors. Where the minimum subscription has not been received, Section 69 demands returning of the moneys to the investors.

Statement in lieu of Prospectus (Section 70)

Section 70 of the Act contains an important provision. Whenever a company wants to issue shares, without issuing a prospectus, it is mandatory to deliver to the Registrar a statement in lieu of prospectus atleast 3 days before allotment of shares/ debentures.

Listing Permission (Section 73)

Companies issuing securities to public have to necessarily get permission from Stock Exchanges for listing the securities. Hence it is necessary to take care of that while complying Section 73 of the Act.

Buyback of Securities (Section 77A, 77AA, 77B)

The requirements to be complied with by listed companies under the above sections read with relevant regulations of SEBI which covers all matters that apply to listed companies/companies purporting to be listed.

Even in respect of unlisted companies, it is necessary to note that under Section 77A read with Section 77AA and Section 77B, there are certain specific compliance requirements, restrictions and prohibitions. Besides these substantive provisions of law contained in the above sections, the company that intends to make a buyback should comply with the Private Limited Company and Unlisted Public Limited Company (Buyback of Securities) Rules, 1999. In order to appreciate the depth of the subject, it becomes necessary to go through the important requirements, restrictions and prohibitions.

Under Section 77A, the following are the major requirements:

− The buyback should be from out of specified sources of funds such as the free reserves, the securities premium account or the proceeds of issue of shares or other specified securities.
− The buyback requires a specific board resolution or a special resolution with an explanatory statement containing specified particulars. The buyback should be equal to or less than 25% of the total paid-up capital of the company and its free reserves.
− The shares or other securities, which are proposed to be bought back, have to be fully paid up.
− The buyback must be in any one of the modes prescribed under the said rules.
− The company should file with the Registrar of Companies, the draft letter of offer containing the particulars specified in the said rules before the buyback.
− The company should follow the prescribed procedure for making the offer and the payments.
− The company should obtain a certificate from a Company Secretary in Whole time Practice with regard to compliance of the entire rules.
− As per the rules, the company should obtain a certificate from a Company Secretary in Whole time Practice with regard to extinguishment and physical share certificates.
− The company is prohibited from making any further issue of the same kind of shares or other securities for a period of 6 months.
− As per Section 77AA of the Act, it is necessary to create Capital Redemption Reserve Account for a sum equal to the nominal value of the shares purchased.
− As per Section 77B of the Act, a company is prohibited from buying back its own shares or other specified securities if it has not complied with Section 159, 207 and 211 of the Act.
− As per Section 77B of the Act, the company is prohibited from buying back through any subsidiary or any investment company or group of investment companies.
− As per Section 77B of the Act, the company is prohibited from buying back, if any default committed by the company in repayment of deposit or interest payable thereon, redemption of debentures or preference shares or payment of dividend to any shareholder or repayment of any term loan or interest payable thereon to any financial institution or bank, is subsisting.
It is necessary to look at the important prohibitions contained in Section 77B of the Act. There should not be a buy back through any back door arrangement. This calls for a detailed look at the people who agree to the offer made by the company for buyback. There should not have been certain subsisting defaults when the proposal for buyback is under consideration. There should not be a default in compliance of Sections 159, 207 and 211 of the Act. A perusal of Section 207 would reveal that it is basically a section levying a fine or penalty upon companies that have defaulted in payment of declared dividend except in certain exceptional circumstances. Sub-section (2) of Section 77B should be understood to mean whether the company has defaulted to comply with any order of any court awarding punishment as per Section 207 of the Act.

Whether the company had defaulted the provisions of Section 211 of the Act would require close monitoring. Most of the requirements such as the following pertain to accounts and financial statements of the company:

- Whether the financial statements show a true and fair view
- Whether the company has complied with the accounting standards
- Whether the company has drawn up its financial statements in accordance with Schedule VI of the Act.

While complying one has to ascertain whether the private/unlisted public company has complied with the provisions of the Sections 77A, 77AA and 77B of the Act and the Rules thereunder with regard to buyback of shares and other specified securities. Therefore, one has to ensure that –

(a) the company has ensured buyback within the ceiling in relation to percentage of paid up capital and free reserves
(b) the company has followed the prescribed offer procedure and has paid all the persons for the bought back shares or other specified securities
(c) the company has filed with the Registrar of Companies the letter offer declaration of solvency, certificate from a company secretary in practice of compliance of the Rules including extinguishment and destroying of certificates of shares or other specified securities bought back, the return of buyback
(d) the company has maintained the register of buyback and Register of securities destroyed/cancelled
(e) the company has complied with the provisions of Section 77AA of the Act with regard to creation of Capital Redemption Reserve Fund.

Further issue of Shares (Section 81)

Section 81 mainly deals with three requirements:

- Issue of shares on rights basis.
- Further issue of shares to persons who may or may not include existing members.
- Conversion of loans into equity.

All the above things may apply to an unlisted company or a listed company, though the provisions of this Section will not apply to private companies. Taking up one by one, it will be possible to analyse the important requirements of this section. With regard to issue of shares on rights basis, several questions normally arise. They are explained below:

In exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (1A) of section 81 of the Companies Act, 1956 read with section 642 of the said Act, the Central Government hereby makes the rules, namely Unlisted Public Companies (Preferential Allotment) Amendment Rules 2011.
These rules applicable to all unlisted public companies in respect of preferential issue of equity shares, fully convertible debentures, partly convertible debentures or any other financial instruments, which would be convertible into or exchanged with equity shares at a later date.

The term ‘Preferential means allotment of shares or any other instrument convertible into shares including hybrid instruments convertible into shares on preferential basis made pursuant to the provisions of subsection (1A) of section 81 of the Companies Act, 1956; Provided that the name, father’s name, address and occupation of persons to whom such allotment is proposed to be made shall be mentioned in the resolution passed by the members under that sub-section: Provided further that persons to whom such offer is proposed, shall not be more than forty-nine as per the first proviso to sub-section (3) of section 67 of the Companies Act, 1956.

No issue of Shares or any other instruments convertible into shares including hybrids convertible into shares on a preferential basis can be made by a company unless authorised by its articles of association and unless a special resolution passed by the member in a general meeting authorising the Board of Directors to make such issue. The special resolution shall be acted upon within a period of twelve months.

Where warrants are issued on a preferential basis with an option to apply for and get the shares allotted, the issuing company shall determine before hand the price of the resultant shares.

Disclosures required under Unlisted Public Companies (Preferential Allotment) Amendment Rules, 2011

The explanatory statement to the notice for the general meeting as required by section 173 of the Companies Act, 1956 shall contain the following particulars:

(a) the price or price band at which the allotment is proposed;
(b) the relevant date on the basis of which price has been arrived at;
(c) the object/s of the issue through preferential offer;
(d) the class or classes of persons to whom the allotment is proposed to be made;
(e) intention of promoters/directors/key management persons to subscribe to the offer;
(f) shareholding pattern of promoters and others classes of shares before and after the offer;
(g) proposed time within which the allotment shall be completed;

Issue of Duplicate Share Certificates (Section 84)

Issue of Shares with Differential Rights (Section 86)

Under this section, it is necessary to comply with the Companies (Issue of Shares with Differential Voting Rights) Rules, 2001. In respect of listed companies, the Rules require the passing of necessary resolution through a postal ballot. In respect of all companies, the Rules also require a detailed explanatory statement containing certain specific disclosures.

Alteration of Certain matters relating to Share Capital (Section 94)

Section 94 of the Act requires the passing an ordinary resolution in general meeting for altering the conditions contained in its memorandum in relation to the share capital of a company. This Section rightly applies only to limited companies with share capital. Section 16 of the Act provides that a company cannot alter the conditions contained in its memorandum except in the cases, in the mode, and to the extent, for which express provision has been made in the Act. Section 94 of the Act is an illustration with regard to alteration of the capital clause of a limited company in relation to the following:

- Increase the share capital.
- Consolidate and divide all or any of its share capital into shares of larger amount than its existing shares.
- Convert all or any of its fully paid shares into stock, and reconvert that stock into fully paid up shares of any denomination.
- Sub-division of shares.
- Cancellation of unissued shares.

Reduction of Share Capital (Sections 100 to 105)

Under these sections, the prerequisites, procedures and penalties in relation to reduction of share capital have been provided. Interestingly any action under this section is verified by the court before which the application for reduction of share capital has been made. However in view of the significance of the subject matter, it is necessary to be careful about reduction of capital and necessarily the procedural aspects thereof. In this context, it is necessary to ensure that the following requirements have been complied with.

Variation of Shareholders Rights (Sections 106 and 107)

The company has varied the rights of holders of special classes of shares and the variation of rights has taken place in accordance with the provisions of the Act.

Appointment of Nominees by Shareholders and Debenture holders (section 109A)

A company has to record particulars of appointment/revocation of appointment of nominees of its shareholders/debenture holders.

Special provisions relating to Debentures (Section 117 to 122)

Section 117A

- The debenture trust deed should be in the prescribed form and it should be executed within the prescribed time.
- The copy of the trust deed should be made available for inspection for debenture holder and he shall also be entitled to have a copy thereof.
- Failure to permit inspection or give copy, invites the penal clause contained in sub-section (3) of Section 117A of the Act.

The mischief addressed by this section is applicable only when the company had issued debentures and if it had refused an inspection of the debenture trust deed or to give a copy of the same.

Section 117B

- The provisions of this section apply when the company issues debentures to public.
- Unless, the company appoints one or more persons who are eligible to be appointed as debenture trustees after obtaining the consent of such persons, it is not possible to issue a prospectus or letter of offer to the public for subscription of its debentures.

- The debenture trustee has certain functions to be carried out as stated in sub-section 3 of Section 117B of the Act.

- The debenture trustee may file a petition before the Company Law Board at any time when the assets are insufficient or likely to become insufficient to discharge the principal amount as and when becomes due.

Section 117C

- It is necessary to create a debenture redemption reserve out of the profits every year until debentures are redeemed.

- The amounts credited to debenture redemption reserve (DRR) except for the purpose of redemption of debentures.

- Quantum of reserve created should be adequate to meet the amount required for redemption including the interest payable thereon.

- Section 117C of the Act will apply to debentures issued and pending to be redeemed.

- Section 117C of the Act will apply to non-convertible portion of debentures issued.

- Where the company fails to redeem the debentures, the debenture holders may seek necessary directions from Company Law Board and any default in complying with the order of the Company Law Board would be a punishable offence.

Section 118

- Under this section it is necessary to forward a copy of any trust deed to any debenture holder or member within 7 days of receipt of a request together with payment of prescribed fee.

- Where a company refuses to forward a copy of the debenture trust deed as requested, the default is a punishable offence and the aggrieved debenture holder or member may approach Company Law Board for necessary directions.

- The debenture trust deed is open for inspection in the same manner as if it were the register of members.

From the above position of law, it is possible to come to the conclusion that the legislature would take a serious view of any default in delivery of copy of debenture trust deed.

REGISTRATION OF CHARGES

Part V of the Act contains Sections 124 to 145 and this part deals extensively with the issue of registration of charges. In the matter of filing of particulars of charges, there have been many cases of failure to file particulars of charges and resultant hardship to creditors who are mostly banks and financial institutions. The laudable objective with which the legislature has made it mandatory to register particulars of charges should be taken into account in order to understand the importance of this part of the Act. A charge becomes void if its particulars are not filed against the liquidator and other creditors is another important factor which reveals the position of law concerning charges. Banks and financial institutions raise their money from public and the entire Part V has been designed to protect public interest.

The objective of any legislation has been to protect the interest of public. The objective of this analysis is to explore the possibility of enhancing the effectiveness of the provisions of law in protecting public interest.
The concept of Corporate Social Responsibility underlines the need for devising ways and means to strengthen the hands of the regulators so that there is effective enforcement of the provisions of law without much intervention into the day-to-day affairs of the company. When the legislature declares a charge as void under certain circumstances, there should be valid reason for the same and every attempt should be made to ensure that the unwary creditor does not lose his capacity to enforce the charge merely because he did not ensure the filing of the same or the proper filing of the same.

Section 127 requires companies to file particulars of properties acquired subject to charge. Section 143 requires companies to maintain a register of charges, while filing of forms under Sections 125, 127, 128, 129, 135 and 138. Maintenance of register of charges under Section 143 of the Act would be covered by a general question with regard to filing of forms and returns and maintenance of registers. Section 136 of the Act requires the company to maintain a copy of every instrument creating/modifying charges.

Registered Office of Company (Section 146)

Registered office of a company is one of the most important provisions from the regulators point of view and public interest point of view. In these days of virtual offices, naturally there will be question whether it is necessary to have a particular place as the registered office of a company. A perusal of the provisions of the Act and other legislations will show the importance accorded to the registered office by the legislature. There are three most important matters, viz., (i) service of notice upon the company, (ii) jurisdiction of courts, Registrar of Companies, Regional Director, Company Law Board and officers of other regulators and (iii) place of keeping books of account, statutory registers, returns and other documents and common seal. Further even in respect of other legislations, registered office of a company determines various things. It is therefore necessary to view with seriousness any omission to notify any change in the registered office of a company.

Restrictions on Commencement of Business (Section 149)

Under Section 149 of the Act, there are two important aspects. A company is neither entitled to exercise its borrowing powers nor entitled to commence its business unless it has obtained a certificate from the Registrar of Companies that the company is entitled to commence business. Section 149 contemplates a passing of a special resolution, if a company were to commence a new business not germane to its existing business. Section 149(2B) of the Act empowers the Board of Directors to seek approval of Central Government where the Board was able to obtain the approval of the members by an ordinary resolution only instead of a special resolution as required by Section 149(2A) of the Act.

Power to Close Register of Members or Debenture holders (Section 154)

For listed companies the listing agreement operates in addition to the requirements of Section 154 of the Act. Unlisted companies, where they close their books, there is compliance of this section.

Foreign Registers (Section 157 & 158)

If the company maintains a foreign register in any state or country outside India it has to comply with the provisions relating to maintaining a copy of the same in accordance with Section 158 of the Act.

Place of keeping and inspection of Registers and Returns (Section 163)

Section 164 of the Act the evidentiary value of the statutory registers and the right of members and others to inspect the registers and take extracts thereof are enshrined in Section 163 of the Act. It is a very important section and it speaks sufficiently about the intention of the legislature in this regard. The legislature had rightly created machinery for remediying any mischief arising out of refusal of the company to permit inspection of registers or giving extracts thereof. Any refusal by the company to permit taking extracts of the Register of Members or giving a copy of the same would show the extent of transparency and disclosure policy of the company, whatsoever be the motive of the person requiring the extract or copy.

Annual General Meeting and requisitioned Extra Ordinary General Meetings (sections 166 to 169)

Sections 166 to 169 portray a very important statutory right conferred upon the shareholders of a company. If a company fails to conduct its annual general meeting, the Company Law Board, on the application of any member of the company, directs the company to call an annual general meeting. Such directions may include a direction that one member of the company present in person or by proxy shall be deemed to constitute a quorum of the meeting. Similarly, under Section 169 of the Act, the shareholders enjoy the right to request the Board of Directors to convene an extra-ordinary general meeting and the Board is liable to proceed to call a meeting within the prescribed time, failing which the requisitionists may themselves proceed to conduct the meeting.

All procedural matters regarding general meetings are covered under sections 170 to 186.

Explanatory Statement (Section 173)

Section 173(2) of the Act contains a very laudable provision for explaining the members in respect of specified business before the general meeting, a brief account of the nature of business, the reasons therefor together with a memorandum of interest or concern of directors. While explaining the nature of interest or concern, the interest of persons holding controlling interest in the company are not revealed if such persons do not hold directorships in the company. Barring this lacuna Section 173(2) of the Act is an exceptional provision of law taking care of the interest of the members advising them duly to exercise their voting rights after understanding the real reason behind a particular motion. In addition to the requirements of Section 173(2) of the Act there are various rules that require explanations to be furnished with regard to certain specific matters. To illustrate, one may look at the provisions of the following Rules:

- The Private Limited Company and Unlisted Public Limited Company (Buyback of Securities) Rules, 1999. [Rule (4) read with Schedule I]
- Companies (Issue of Share Capital with Differential Voting Rights) Rules, 2001. [Rule 3(9)]
- Unlisted Public Companies (Preferential Allotment) Amendment Rules, 2011.

Filing of Resolutions and Agreements (Section 192)

Section 192 of the Act is a special provision requiring the filing of Form No.23 duly accompanied by resolutions, agreements and explanatory statements. It is necessary to emphasize that there has to be a specific Application of mind with regard to compliance of Section 192 of the Act.

In order to appreciate the significance of Section 192 of the Act, the following ingredients of the same should be noted:

Sub-section (2) provides that every resolution or agreement which has the effect of altering the Articles of Association shall be embodied in or annexed to every copy of the Articles of Association issued after such alteration. Sub-section (2) applies to cases where the Articles of Association of the company has been registered.

Sub-section (3) provides that every resolution or agreement which has the effect of altering the Articles of Association shall be sent to any member at his request.
Sub-section (3) applies to cases where the Articles of Association of the company has not been registered.

Sub-section (5) and (6) deal with cases of default in compliance of provisions of sub-section (1), (2) and (3).

Sub-section (7) of Section 192 of the Act, specifically states that the liquidator of the company should be deemed to be a officer of a company.

Appointment of Managerial Persons (Sections 198, 269, 309, 316, 317, 386, 387, 388 and Schedule XIII)

Section 198 provides that the total managerial remuneration shall not exceed 11% of the net profits of the company. Sub-section (3) of Section 198 of the Act states that within the said ceiling, a company may pay a monthly remuneration to its managing or whole-time directors as per Section 309 of the Act or to its manager as per Section 387 of the Act. Sub-section (4) of Section 198 underlines the need for government approval, if the remuneration were to be not in accordance with Schedule XIII, if a company has no profits or when its profits are inadequate.

Section 309 of the Act provides that the total remuneration payable to a director who is in the whole-time employment in the company or a managing director shall not exceed 5% where there is one such director or 10% if there is more than one such director for all of them together.

Section 269 of the Act provides that the appointment of managerial person is compulsory and if the appointment is made in accordance with Schedule XIII, approval of Central Government is not required.

Schedule XIII to the Act contains two parts. Part I contains ceiling on remuneration where the profits are adequate. Part II contains ceiling on remuneration if profits are not adequate or there is no profit.

Section 316 of the Act provides the ceiling on number of companies of which one person may be appointed managing director and ceiling on tenure of office of managing director. Similarly, Section 386 of the Act provides the ceiling on number of companies of which one person may be appointed manager.

In the light of what has been above, the following questions have to be addressed:

1. Procedural aspects relating to appointment of managing director or whole-time director or manager including the filing of the necessary return and approval requirements if necessary.

2. Total remuneration payable to directors/whole-time directors/managing directors/managers.

In the process the company has to ensure that the provisions of Sections 198, 269, 309, 316, 317, 386, 387, 388 and Schedule XIII to the Act in the appointment of/ remuneration to its managing director/whole-time director/manager have been complied with.

Provisions relating to declaration and payment of Dividend (sections 205, 205A, 205B, 205C, 206, 206A and 207 of the Act)

Briefly stated, Section 205 of the Act provides as follows:

- Dividend shall be declared out of profits, after providing for depreciation and losses, if any, to the extent necessary.

- Board may declare interim dividend.

- Within 5 days of declaration of dividend, amount should be transferred to a separate bank account.

- Companies (Transfer of Profits to Reserves) Rules, 1975 should be complied with.
– If a company has failed to redeem preference shares, it should not declare dividend on equity shares.

Section 205A of the Act provides as follows:
– Where any dividend declared by the company remains unpaid or unclaimed, the total amount which remains unpaid or unclaimed, should be transferred, within 7 days from the expiry of 30 days, to a special account called ‘Unpaid Dividend Account’ of the company in any scheduled bank.
– If a company proposes to declare dividend out of accumulated profits, even when in a particular financial year, there is inadequacy or absence of profits, the company has to comply with the provisions of the Companies (Declaration of Dividend out of Reserves) Rules, 1975. Where such declaration is not in accordance with the said Rules, it requires previous approval of Central Government.

Section 205C of the Act provides for transfer to Investor Education and Protection Fund (IEPF) certain moneys remaining unpaid/unclaimed with the company after certain period of time. The transfer of moneys falling under this section should be carried out in accordance with the Investor Education and Protection Fund (Awareness and Protection of Investors) Rules, 2001. As far as dividend is concerned, the Rules requires the transfer of all unpaid and unclaimed dividend within thirty days after the expiry of seven years from the due date within which the company should have paid the dividend.

Section 206 of the Act provides that the dividend shall be paid only to registered shareholders or to their order or to their bankers.

Section 206A of the Act requires keeping in abeyance of dividends, rights shares and bonus shares pending registration of transfer of shares. However it should be noted that though it is a statutory requirement to keep these benefits in abeyance, such occasions do not arise frequently and with dematerialisation of shares, the opportunities for keeping in abeyance have got further reduced.

Section 207 of the Act provide for certain penalties and payment of interest in the event of any failure on the part of the company to pay declared dividend.

Thus under compliance process, the following questions may be incorporated:
(a) Where a company has declared any dividend or interim dividend, whether the company has complied with the provisions of Section 205 and 205A of the Act with regard to payment of dividend within the prescribed 30 days as required under Section 205A (1) of the Act
(b) Whether the company has complied with the Companies (Transfer of Profits to Reserves) Rules, 1975 and Companies (Declaration of Dividend Out of Reserves) Rules, 1975, if applicable
(c) Whether the company has complied with the provisions of Section 205C of the Act read with the Investor Education and Protection Fund (Awareness and Protection of Investors) Rules, 2001.

Books of Account (Section 209)

The major requirements of this section are keeping proper books of account and keeping them at the registered office of the company. If the company does not keep proper books of account, in such a case there is supposed to be a show cause notice served upon the company and its directors from the Registrar.

Inspection of Books of Account (Section 209A)

Section 209A of the Act provides for inspection of books of account by the Registrar of Companies, other authorised officers of the Central Government or the SEBI. If an inspection were to be ordered, it is the duty of every director, officer, other employees of the company to provide all the books of account and such other explanations and assistance as may be necessary. If the books of account are not produced or if the officers of the company do not cooperate, the inspecting officer has been empowered to inform the Ministry of Corporate Affairs, which is empowered to take such action as may be necessary. Similarly, if the books of account reveal contraventions of provisions of law, commissions and omissions, it is again for the inspecting officials to take appropriate action against the company, directors and other officers who are liable for the same.

Financial Year (Section 210)

The major requirement under Section 210 of the Act relates to the period of financial year. This section also provides for an approval by the Registrar of Companies, if the accounting period should be extended beyond the prescribed maximum period.

True and Fair View and Disclosure of Particulars (section 211)

The major requirements under this section are compliance of accounting standards, disclosure of particulars in accordance with the requirements of Schedule VI, the need to obtain specific exemption from Central Government for abstaining from disclosure of quantitative particulars, the need to ensure a true and fair view in so far as it pertains to the balance sheet and profit and loss account of the company. The entire requirements are supposed to be an audit questions from the point of view of audit of accounts to be carried out by a chartered accountant in pursuance of the audit related provisions of the Act.

Furnishing of particulars of Subsidiary Companies (Section 212 read with Section 213)

Under these sections, it is necessary to attach with the balance sheet of the holding-company, the balance sheet, profit and loss account, the directors’ report, auditor’s report and certain other statements and reports of subsidiary company. The holding company may obtain exemption from complying with the provisions of this section, by making an application to the Central Government. The statutory right of the representatives and members of the holding company to inspect the books of account of its subsidiaries as enshrined in Section 214 of the Act, is basically an important provision contained in the Act aimed at disclosing to the shareholders of the holding company certain basic details in relation to its subsidiaries.

Board’s Report (Section 217)

Directors’ Report acts as the communication bridge between the directors and the members of a company. With the requirement relating to specific disclosures, with the need for necessary explanation to qualifications of statutory auditors, with the introduction of directors’ responsibility statement, the report serves a very important purpose. Section 621 of the Act enables every member to file a complaint against a company and its directors for any offence under the Act. If a member feels aggrieved due to failure of the Board of Directors to disclose in Board’s report any material information, the member may choose to file a complaint directly. In addition to the requirements contained in Section 217 of the Act, there are other Rules and Regulations such as the ESOP Guidelines of SEBI, Directions of RBI concerning non-banking financial companies, Schedule XIII to the Act also requires the board to make certain disclosures in the Board’s report.

There is another important aspect of the disclosure requirements in the Directors’ Report. While there are various agencies for scrutinising the prospectus thoroughly, there is no agency for verifying the implementation of the project as stated in the offer document. It is necessary to check the utilisation of proceeds and report whether there are any serious deviation or irregularities. Such a disclosure should be defined as a material information falling within the purview of Section 217 of the Act.

Though Section 217 of the Act requires the Board of Directors of a company to report all material information to the shareholders and more particularly all matters having financial implication and those that would cast an impact on the profits of the company, there is hardly any compliance in letter and spirit.
Therefore it is necessary to include the following questions within the scope of the compliance:

(a) Whether the Board has disclosed in its report all material particulars in compliance of Section 217 and other provisions of the Act and the Rules and Regulations thereunder and the SEBI Regulations and the directions of Reserve Bank of India, as the case may be.

(b) Whether the company has utilized the proceeds received from the issue for the purposes and in the manner stated in the offer document and where there has been deviation, has the management explained the reasons thereof in the Directors Report

Right of Member to receive Copies of Balance Sheet, etc. (Section 219)

This is a very important statutory right conferred upon every member to get from the company a copy of duly approved/authenticated balance sheet, profit and loss account, the report of the directors and auditors in respect of every accounting year. The company should also send all the above to every trustee of debenture holders and all other persons who are entitled to receive notices of general meetings of companies.

One has to ensure that the company has despatched, to every member, debenture trustee and every other person who is entitled to receive notices of general meeting, a copy of balance sheet, profit and loss account, auditors report and all other documents that are required to be annexed/attached to every balance sheet in accordance with Section 219 of the Act.

Filing of Balance Sheets with Registrar (Section 220)

The following are the two important provisions of this section:

- Filing of 3 copies of the balance sheet, etc. whether or not they have been laid/adopted at the annual general meeting or not.
- Filing a statement to the Registrar of Companies containing the reasons if the balance sheet has not been adopted or if the annual general meeting has not been held.

However the Companies (Amendment) Act, 2006 has made significant change in the process by introducing e-filing mechanism. Further, new standards of financial reporting like Extensible Business Reporting Language (XBRL) from 2011.

Provisions relating to Appointment of Director (Sections 252 to 266)

The following are the major requirements of these provisions:

- Minimum and maximum number of directors of a company and the requirement for approval of Central Government for increasing the maximum number of directors (Sections 252 and 259)
- Determination of office of directors by retirement by rotation (Sections 255 and 256).
- Automatic appointment of directors who are liable to retire by rotation in certain cases (Section 256).
- Eligibility to stand as a candidate for election to the office of a director (Section 257).
- Power to increase or reduce the number of directors (Section 258).
- Appointment of additional director (Section 260).
- Filling up of casual vacancies (Section 262).
- Appointment of directors to be voted individually (Section 263).
- Consent to act as directors (Section 264).
- Proportional representation for the appointment of directors (Section 265).
– Restrictions with regard to appointment/advertisement of director in any prospectus/statement in lieu of prospectus (Section 266).
– Obtaining of Director Identification Number – Disqualification of Directors (Section 274).
– Maximum number of Directorship (Section 275).
– Automatic vacation of office (Section 283).
– Removal of directors (Section 284).

Passing of Resolutions by Circulation (Section 289)

– Circulation of the draft resolution together with necessary papers to all the directors or to all the members of the committee, then in India.

– It is necessary to ensure that the number of persons in India to whom the resolutions and the papers have been circulated is not less than the quorum fixed for a meeting of the Board or committee as the case may be.

– The resolution and the necessary papers should also be circulated to all other directors or members of committee at their usual address in India.

– The resolution should have been approved by the directors as are then in India or by a majority of them who are entitled to vote on the resolution.

– By necessary implication, it should be understood that an interested director who cannot be counted for quorum purposes in a physical meeting, cannot vote when a draft resolution is circulated.

Again by implication, it should be understood that at least a majority of directors who are then in India and who are entitled to vote should have voted in favour. It means a director may be a person resident outside India. But if he was in India at the time of circulation of resolution, the draft resolution and other papers should be sent to him and his presence would be counted for the purpose of quorum and also for the purpose of determining the passing of the resolution. It is needless to say that the resolution can be deemed to have been passed only after it receives the consent of a majority of the directors who are then in India and who are entitled to vote.

Considering the fact that the law contained in Section 289 of the Act requires a thorough compliance so that no defect is noticed in any resolution that is passed by circulation.

Powers of Board of Directors (Sections 291, 292 and 293)

The Board derives general powers under Section 291 of the Act. Section 292 of the Act requires certain powers to be exercised only by means of resolutions passed at meetings of Board. Section 293 of the Act places certain restrictions on the powers of Board. Under Section 293 of the Act in order to exercise certain powers, the Board of a public company would require the consent of the company in general meeting. While it is possible to look at compliance of these provisions on a stand alone basis in respect of select transactions, it is advisable to ensure the compliance of Section 292 and Section 293 of the Act thoroughly so that the legislative intention is taken care with a focus towards it. There are many occasions when non-compliance of these sections has been pressed into service in order to question the validity of a transaction. While the doctrine of indoor management would protect third parties from such threats, it can always cause a lot of nuisance and thereby result in loss of valuable time, energy and money.

Audit Committee (Section 292A)

This section offers a corporate governance tool and provides the need for constitution of audit committees for unlisted companies also. In respect of listed companies, the clauses of the listing agreement are also to be complied with.

Sole Selling Agents (Section 294 & 294AA)

The following question would be adequate to capture the important compliances of the above sections.

Whether the company has obtained the approval of its members and if necessary, also the approval of Central Government as per Sections 294 and 294AA of the Act in respect of sole selling agents, if any, appointed during the year.

Loans to Directors (Section 295)

Section 295 of the Act creates a very important requirement. Prior approval of Central Government should be obtained before a public company lends or gives guarantee or provides security to or for the benefit of any specified person or firm or company. Sub-section (1) of Section 295 of the Act contains 5 clauses and each clause contains a description of a specified person or firm or company. If a company intends to give any loan or provide any security or give any guarantee as security for the repayment of any loan given by any person to any person or firm or company specified in the said clauses, prior approval is necessary. If a company contravenes the requirements of Section 295, the directors responsible for the contravention are not only liable to be punished for such contravention but also they might fall prey to the operation of law relating to automatic vacation of office contained in Section 283 of the Act.

Contracts requiring certain Approvals (Section 297)

Under this section, if a contract or arrangement involves sale/purchase or supply of any goods, materials or services or for providing underwriting services (specified transactions) were to be entered into by a company with a specified person, firm or company, the contract or arrangement requires the approval of the Board of Directors. The following parties require such approvals for entering into any contract or arrangement with a company for specified transactions.

- Director of the company.
- Any relative of the Director of the company.
- A firm in which such a director or relative is a partner.
- Any other partner in such a firm.
- A private company of which the director is a member or director.

Thus, in respect of specified transactions when specified parties propose to enter into any contract or arrangement with a company, the company should have the approval of the Board of Directors and, wherever necessary, approval of Central Government also.

Disclosure of interests by Directors (Section 299)

As a stand-alone section, Section 299 is only a procedural formality. Read with Section 300, 287, 299, 295 and such other similar sections, the disclosure ought to be made by directors as a general requirement under Section 299 of the Act is very useful. Sub-section (6) of Section 299 of the Act states that if the interest of a director of one company in another company arises solely for the reason that he holds less than 2% of the paid up capital of other company, he need not be considered as interested in the other company. However if the director of a company is also a director of another company or if any one of his relative is a director of another company, irrespective of whether such director holds any share in the other company or not, he should be deemed to be interested in the other company. Any failure to disclose interest results in automatic vacation of office under Section 283 of the Act. Therefore the Act envisages this provision as an important provision and in the era of Corporate Governance, these objectives are laudable. Under Section 305, every director is required to disclose particulars of other offices held/relinquished/vacated by him in other companies within 21 days of appointment/relinquishments.

Holding of Office or Place of Profit by Directors and/or their Relatives (Section 314)

Section 314 of the Act read with, the Director’s Relatives (Office or Place of Profit) Rules, 2003, contains two major requirements with respect to appointment of director or any relative of a director to an office or place of profit or a relative of a director who is holding an office or place of profit in a company. The twin requirements of this section are the special resolution and the approval of Central Governments provided the remuneration is beyond a certain ceiling as per the section and/or the said Rules. This section ensures that the directors of companies do not take undue advantage of the position held by them by taking up offices or places of profits in the company, or by appointing their relatives to any office or place of profit in the company.

It is to be checked, whether the company has complied with Section 314 of the Act and The Director’s Relatives (Office or Place of Profit) Rules, 2003 in relation to appointment of a director or any relative of a director to any office or place of profit or appointment of any relative of a director who is already holding an office or place of profit to any office or place of profit.

Inter-Corporate Loans and Investments (Section 372A)

Section 372A requires companies having proposals for inter-corporate loans, investments, guarantees, securities to limit the total inter-corporate exposure, whether by way of loans or investments or securities or guarantees to certain level. The following compliance requirements are noteworthy:

- As per Section 372A the total inter-corporate exposure should not exceed 60% of the aggregate of the paid up capital and free reserves or 100% percentage of the free reserves.
- The proviso under sub-section (1) states that with a special resolution passed in a general meeting the said ceiling can be exceeded.
- Sub-section (8) contains certain cases of loans, investments, guarantees and securities in respect of which the entire Section 372A will not apply.
- Sub-section (3) provides a ceiling on the interest rate applicable for loans.
- Sub-section (2) provides that the resolution sanctioning inter corporate loans/investments/guarantees/securities should be passed at a meeting of a board with the consent of all the directors present at the meeting.
- Sub-section (2) also requires prior approval of public financial institution referred to under Section 4A of the Act if any term loan is subsisting.
- Sub-section (4) provides that if a company has defaulted under Section 58A, it cannot make any inter corporate loans/investments/guarantees/securities.
- Sub-section (5) and (6) provide for the need to keep and maintain a register of investments and at the registered office of the company and states that the said register can be permitted for inspection in the same manner as if it were the register of members.
- Under sub-section (7) the Central Government is empowered to issue necessary guidelines.

As seen above, Section 372A is one of the most important sections of the Companies Act and therefore, it is essential that compliance of Section 372A needs close monitoring.
Lesson 2  ■  Check List - Secretarial Audit  39

Appointent of Company Secretary and issue of Compliance Certificate (Section 383A)

As per Section 383 A(1) every company having such paid-up share capital as may be prescribed shall have a whole time secretary, and where the Board of directors of any such company comprises only two directors, neither of them shall be the secretary of the company.

It may be noted that every company not required to employ a whole time secretary under sub-section (1) and having a paid-up share capital of ten lakhs rupees or more shall file with the Registrar a certificate from a secretary in wholetime practice in such form and within such time and subject to such conditions as may be prescribed, as to whether the company has complied with all provisions of this Act and a copy of such certificate shall be attached with Board's report referred to in section 217.

In exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (1) of section 642 read with proviso to sub-section (1) of section 383A of the Companies Act, 1956, the Central Government notified the Companies (Compliance Certificate) Rules, 2001.

Compounding of Offences (Section 621A)

This is an important provision which relieves the company and its directors from prosecutions and this section is very frequently utilised. But there is no requirement relating to reporting to the shareholders and stakeholders about the compounding fee paid, though there must be a provision for such a disclosure. The compounding fee paid by the company and its directors is not considered as a fine or penalty and the proceedings before the compounding authority are not criminal proceedings.

Penalties under Securities Legislations

All the three pieces of securities legislation namely, the SCRA, the SEBI Act and the Depositories Act provide for imposition of various civil penalties. It was doubtful for a while if imposition of monetary penalty under the securities laws required evidence of mens rea. It is now conclusively settled with a ruling from the Highest Court that the adjudication proceedings are not criminal or quasi-criminal proceedings. These deal with failures to comply with the statutory civil obligations. Penalty is attracted as soon as the non-compliance with the statutory obligation is established even if there is no mens rea. While upholding imposition of monetary penalty in SEBI v. Shriram Mutual Fund (2006) 68 SCL 216 (SC), the Supreme Court held that "In our considered opinion, penalty is attracted as soon as the contravention of the statutory obligation as contemplated by the Act and the Regulations is established and hence the intention of the parties committing such contravention becomes wholly irrelevant...". And, when the state of mind is relevant, what is material is what one does or omits to do and not what he says. In the matter of Sahara India Real Estate Corporation Limited and Ors. v. SEBI (CA No. 2011), the Supreme Court observed that a person's inner intentions are to be read and understood from his acts and omissions.

DEPOSITORIES ACT, 1996

Depositories Act, 1996 enacted to provide for regulation of depositories in securities and for matters connected therewith or incidental thereto. SEBI notified Regulations in order to provide the regulatory framework for the depositories. Depositories gave a new dimension and a new scope for conducting transactions in capital market-primary as well as secondary, in a more efficient and effective manner, in a paperless form on an electronic book entry basis. It provided electronic solution to the aforementioned problems of bad deliveries and long settlement cycles.

A Depository is an organisation like a Central Bank where the securities of a shareholder are held in the electronic form at the request of the shareholder through the medium of a Depository Participant. To utilise the services offered by a Depository, the investor has to open an account with the Depository through a Depository Participant.

Power of Board to give Directions

Section 19 provides that SEBI after making an enquiry or inspection and if satisfied may issue appropriate directions:

(a) to any depository or participant or any person associated with the securities market; or in the interest of investors or the securities market or to prevent the affairs of any depository or participant being conducted in the manner detrimental to the interests of investors or the securities market.
(b) to any issuer;

Penalty for failure to furnish information/return etc

Section 19A provides that any person, who is required under Depositories Act or any rules or regulations or bye-laws made there under—

(a) to furnish any information, document, books, returns or report to the Board, fails to furnish the same within the time specified there for;

(b) to file any return or furnish any information, books or other documents within the time specified there for in the regulations or bye-laws, fails to file return or furnish the same within the time specified there for;

Penalty for delay in dematerialization or issue of certificate of securities

Section 19D provides that if any issuer or its agent or any person, who is a registered intermediary, fails to dematerialize or issue the certificate of securities on opting out of a depository by the investors, within the time specified under this Act or regulations or bye-laws made there under or abets in delaying the process of dematerialization or issue the certificate of securities on opting out of a depository of securities, such intermediary shall be liable to a penalty of one lakh rupees for each day during which such failure continues or one crore rupees, whichever is less.

Penalty for failure to comply with directions issued by Board under section 19 of the Act

Section 19F requires that if any person fails to comply with the directions issued by SEBI under section 19, within the time specified by it, he shall be liable to a penalty of one lakh rupees for each day during which such failure continues or one crore rupees, whichever is less.

Offences

Section 20 provides that without prejudice to any award of penalty by the adjudicating officer under this Act, if any person contravenes or attempts to contravene or abets the contravention of the provisions of this Act or of any rules or regulations or byelaws made there under, he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to ten years, or with fine, which may extend to twenty-five crore rupees, or with both. If any person fails to pay the penalty imposed by the adjudicating officer or fails to comply with any of his directions or orders, he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than one month but which may extend to ten years, or with fine, which may extend to twenty-five crore rupees, or with both.

Offences by companies

Section 21 provides that where an offence under this Act has been committed by a company, every person who at the time the offence was committed was in charge of, and was responsible to, the company for the conduct of the business of the company, as well as the company, shall be deemed to be guilty of the offence and shall be liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly. The proviso to the section also provides that nothing contained in this sub-section shall render any such person liable to any punishment provided in this Act, if he proves that the offence was committed without his knowledge or that he had exercised all due diligence to prevent the commission of such offence. Further Sub-section (2) of the section provides that notwithstanding anything contained in Sub-section (1), where an offence under this Act has been committed by a company and it is proved that the offence has been committed with the consent or connivance of, or is attributable to any neglect on the part of, any director, manager, secretary or other officer of the company, such director, manager, secretary or other officer shall also be deemed to be guilty of the offence and shall be liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly.

Composition of certain offences

Section 22A provides that notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, any offence punishable under this Act, not being an offence punishable with imprisonment only, or with imprisonment and also with fine, may either before or after the institution of any proceeding, be compounded by a Securities Appellate Tribunal or a court before which such proceedings are pending.

Appeal to Securities Appellate Tribunal

Section 23A provides that, any person aggrieved by an order of SEBI made, on and after the commencement of the Securities Laws (Second Amendment) Act, 1999, under this Act, or the regulations made there under or by an order made by an adjudicating officer under this Act may prefer an appeal to a Securities Appellate Tribunal having jurisdiction in the matter. However, no appeal shall lie to the Securities Appellate Tribunal from an order made by SEBI with the consent of the parties. Every appeal under subsection (1) shall be filed within a period of forty-five days from the date on which a copy of the order made by SEBI is received by the person referred to in sub-section (1) and it shall be in such form and be accompanied by such fee as may be prescribed:

Provided that the Securities Appellate Tribunal may entertain an appeal after the expiry of the said period of forty-five days if it is satisfied that there was sufficient cause for not filing it within that period.

Sub-section (4) provides that on receipt of an appeal under sub-section (1), the Securities Appellate Tribunal may, after giving the parties to the appeal an opportunity of being heard, pass such orders thereon as it thinks fit, confirming, modifying or setting aside the order appealed against.

Sub-section (5) provides that the Securities Appellate Tribunal shall send a copy of every order made by it to the Board and parties to the appeal.

Right to Legal Representation

Section 23C provides that the appellant may either appear in person or authorise one or more Chartered Accountants or Company Secretaries or Cost Accountants, in practice or Legal Practitioners or any of its officers to present his/its case before the Securities Appellate Tribunal.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE BOARD OF INDIA (PROHIBITION OF INSIDER TRADING) REGULATIONS, 1992

In simple terms, insider trading implies illegal buying and selling of shares based on privileged information, which is known only to a few who belong to a limited circle of 'insiders' in a company. Insider is a person in possession of corporate information not generally available to the public, as a director, an accountant, or other officer or employee of a corporation. This is clearly dealing in company securities with a view to making a profit or avoiding a loss while in possession of information that, if generally known, would affect their price.

In India, by the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Prohibition of Insider Trading) Regulations, 1992, the SEBI has attempted to give a concrete shape, by a legislative measure, to one of the specific functions which section 11 of the Securities and Exchange Board of India Act, 1992 ("the SEBI Act") requires SEBI to discharge. Where a person is an insider, he will be affected by the prohibitions contained in Regulation 3, which is the key provision for prohibition on insider trading and creating it an offence punishable, on conviction, under section 24 of the SEBI Act.

Prohibition on dealing, communicating or counselling on matters relating to insider trading

The objective of the Regulations is banning insider trading. Regulation 3 contains the main provision in this regard. It prohibits an insider from dealing in listed securities when he possesses any unpublished price sensitive information. It provides that no insider shall either on his own behalf or on behalf of any other person; deal in securities of a company listed on any stock exchange when in possession of any unpublished price sensitive information.

The expression 'when in possession of any unpublished price sensitive information' when read with the expression 'no insider shall deal in securities' indicates that merely having knowledge of unpublished price sensitive information while dealing in securities is enough to charge a person with the wrong of insider trading; actually using the unpublished price sensitive information for or in relation to dealing in securities is not necessary to be proved.

The expression 'dealing in securities' is defined as an act of subscribing, buying, selling or agreeing to subscribe, buy, sell or deal in any securities by any person either as principal or agent.

Price sensitive information

As per Regulation 2(ha) "price sensitive information” means any information which relates directly or indirectly to a company and which if published is likely to materially affect the price of securities of company.

The following shall be deemed to be price sensitive information:—

(i) periodical financial results of the company;
(ii) intended declaration of dividends (both interim and final);
(iii) issue of securities or buy-back of securities;
(iv) any major expansion plans or execution of new projects.
(v) amalgamation, mergers or takeovers;
(vi) disposal of the whole or substantial part of the undertaking;
(vii) and significant changes in policies, plans or operations of the company.

Insider

Under Regulation 2(e), any person who, is or was connected with the company and who is reasonably expected to have access to Unpublished Price Sensitive Information in respect of securities of a company, or who has received or has had access to such unpublished price sensitive information, is 'insider'. It will be noticed from this definition that an 'insider' must be a connected person.

Regulation 2(h) defines the expression 'connected person' and it embraces in its ambit directors, officers or employees of the company and every person who holds a position involving a professional or business relationship between himself and the company whether temporary or permanent and who may reasonably be expected to have an access to unpublished price sensitive information in relation to that company. According to the Explanation appended to the above definition, any person who has been a connected person (according to the above definition) for a period of six months prior to an act of insider trading is also to be treated as connected person.

Company Secretary's Duties

Company secretaries of listed companies are almost all cases compliance officers under the Insider Trading Code recommended by SEBI under the Regulations. There are several compliances of administrative nature that a company secretary has to ensure compliance with in order to get the Code implemented in the company. The company secretary is, however, responsible not only for implantation of the Code, but also for creating awareness among the people in and outside the company who have or likely to have access to unpublished price sensitive information to make it known to them the SEBI Regulations and the Code and dissuade them from indulging in insider trading or tipping insider information to other people. However, making people connected with the company (directly or indirectly) about the SEBI Regulations and consequences of breach is an important duty of company secretary as a compliance officer.

THE FOREIGN EXCHANGE MANAGEMENT ACT, 1999 (FEMA)

The Foreign Exchange Management Act, 1999 (FEMA), is a unique legislation as it has simplified in many respects the erstwhile Foreign Exchange Regulation Act, 1973. FEMA extends to the whole of India and it also applies to all branches, offices, and agencies outside India, owned or controlled by a person resident in India and also to any contravention thereunder committed outside India by any person to whom this Act applies. As part of economic liberalization, our country has witnessed a lot of changes in the provisions of law relating to transactions in foreign exchange, investments in India by persons resident outside India, investments outside India by persons resident outside India, acquisition of properties in India by persons resident in India, acquisition of properties outside India by person resident in India.

The objective of FEMA and the rules and regulations made thereunder is to facilitate economic development and at the same time open up the markets to remove the geographical barriers so that opportunities are available to be capitalised by those who seek to do so. The enactment of FEMA has also signalled a new era of liberalization and the continued removal of restrictions by means of notifications issued under various rules and regulations falling under FEMA suggests categorically the fact that the process of reforms is ‘on going’. In this era of liberalization, there is naturally a spurt in the inflow of foreign funds, which triggers a lot of economic activity within the country. Concomitant with the growth in economic activity there is a growth in the corporate sector in terms of transactions in foreign exchange, joint ventures, foreign collaborations, acquisitions and many other business deals. Growth in Corporate Sector means increase in companies/increase in activities of companies. Whether existing enterprises or new entities, there is no doubt that they do a lot of transactions that fall within the purview of FEMA. Company Secretaries, being professionals, are adequately equipped to address issues under any economic legislation and they would be the right choice for the purpose of guiding the corporate sector in appropriate compliances under FEMA while aiding the regulators by bringing out exceptional reporting system whereby the regulators are able to concentrate on material deviations and defaults. Much like the role of the regulator, the role of the professionals should also be to facilitate economic activity so that the wealth of the country as a whole increases without at the same time allowing material deviations and defaults.

FEMA - An Overview

The Foreign Exchange Management Act, 1999 was enacted to consolidate and amend the law relating to foreign exchange with the objective of facilitating external trade and payments and for promoting the orderly development and maintenance of foreign exchange market in India. LESSON ROUNDUP

• Today adoption of good governance practices has emerged as an integral element for doing business. It is not only a prerequisite to face intense competition for sustainable growth in the emerging global market scenario but is also an embodiment of the parameters of fairness, accountability, disclosures and transparency to maximize value of the stakeholders.

• The purpose of a company, formed as a commercial enterprise, is mainly to make profits by carrying on its business and maximize its wealth. While doing so, a company is directed by the Board of Directors, which is assisted by officers and professionals.

• General Compliance required that whether the company has kept and maintained all the statutory registers, filed all forms, returns and notices to the prescribed authorities as per the provisions of the Companies Act, 1956 and mention the name of each register, return, form or notice together with date of filing of the return, form or notice.

• The Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956 enacted to prevent undesirable transactions in securities by regulating the business of dealing therein, by providing for certain other matters connected therewith. The Act defines various terms in relation to securities and provides the detailed procedure for the stock exchanges to get recognition from Government/SEBI, procedure for listing of securities of companies and operations of the brokers in relation to purchase and sale of securities on behalf of investors.

• Depositories Act, 1996 enacted to provide for regulation of depositories in securities and for matters connected therewith or incidental thereto. SEBI notified Regulations in order to provide the regulatory framework for the depositories. Depositories gave a new dimension and a new scope for conducting transactions in capital market-primary as well as secondary, in a more efficient and effective manner, in a paperless form on an electronic book entry basis. It provided electronic solution to the aforementioned problems of bad deliveries and long settlement cycles.

• In simple terms, insider trading implies illegal buying and selling of shares based on privileged information, which is known only to a few who belong to a limited circle of ‘insiders’ in a company. Insider is a person in possession of corporate information not generally available to the public, as a director, an accountant, or other officer or employee of a corporation.

• Company Secretaries of listed companies are in almost all cases compliance officers under the Insider Trading Code recommended by SEBI under the Regulations. There are several compliances of administrative nature that a company secretary has to ensure compliance with in order to get the Code implemented in the company.

• The objective of FEMA and the rules and regulations made thereunder is to facilitate economic development and at the same time open up the markets to remove the geographical barriers so that opportunities are available to be capitalised by those who seek to do so. The enactment of FEMA has also signalled a new era of liberalization and the continued removal of restrictions by means of notifications issued under various rules and regulations falling under FEMA.

INTRODUCTION

Secretarial Standards - Meaning

Secretarial Standards are the policy documents relating to various aspects of secretarial practices in the corporate sector. These Standards lay down a set of principles which companies are expected to adopt and adhere to, in discharging their responsibilities.

Establishment of Secretarial Standards Board And its Objectives

The Institute of Company Secretaries of India, (ICSI), recognising the need for integration, harmonisation and standardisation of diverse secretarial practices, has constituted the Secretarial Standards Board (SSB) with the objective of formulating Secretarial Standards. The establishment of Secretarial Standards Board by ICSI in the year 2000 is a visionary step.

The Secretarial Standards Board (SSB) formulates Secretarial Standards taking into consideration the applicable laws, business environment and the best secretarial practices prevalent. Secretarial Standards are developed:

Secretarial Standards that are issued will be in conformity with the provisions of the applicable laws.
However, if, due to subsequent changes in the law, a particular Standard or any part thereof becomes inconsistent with such law, the provisions of the said law shall prevail.

Need for Secretarial Standards

Companies follow diverse secretarial practices. These practices have evolved over a period of time through varied usages and as a response to differing business cultures. As an illustration, the Companies Act, 1956, provides that companies must convene their Board Meetings by giving notice to directors in this regard. However, no minimum period for giving such Notice has been laid down and, companies are at liberty to give any or no length of notice for convening a Board Meeting. Further, there is no requirement for sending Agenda for the Meeting. Companies, therefore, follow varied practices with regard to giving Notices and sending Agenda and Notes on Agenda for Meetings of the Board of Directors. Some companies specify the business to be transacted in the Notice itself, while others send a separate Agenda. In addition, some companies also send detailed Notes, explaining each item on the Agenda. While some companies send the Agenda in advance of the Meeting, others place the Agenda at the Meeting itself. Even in case of those companies which send the agenda in advance, the period varies. These divergent practices need to be harmonised by laying down the best practices in this regard.

A need was, therefore, felt to integrate, consolidate, harmonise and standardise all the prevalent diverse secretarial practices, so as to ensure that uniform practices are followed by the companies throughout the country. Such uniformity of practices, consistently applied, would result in the establishment of sound corporate governance principles.

Compliance of Secretarial Standards for Good Governance

The ultimate goal of the Secretarial Standards is to promote good corporate practices leading to better corporate governance. The Standards are for good secretarial practices and desirable corporate governance with a view to ensuring shareholders democracy and utmost transparency, integrity and fair play, going beyond the minimum requirements of law.

The adoption of the Secretarial Standards by the corporate sector will, over the years have a substantial impact on the improvement of quality of secretarial practices being followed by companies, making them comparable with the best practices in the world.

Many companies today are voluntarily adopting the Secretarial Standards in their functioning. The annual reports of several companies released during the last few years include a disclosure with regard to the compliance of the Secretarial Standards.

By following the Secretarial Standards in true letter and spirit, companies will be able to ensure adoption of uniform, consistent and best secretarial practices in the corporate sector. Such uniformity of best practices, consistently applied, will result in furthering the shareholders democracy by laying down principles for better corporate disclosures thus adding value to the general endeavour to strive for good governance.

Secretarial Standards under Companies Bill 2012

Clause 118 of the Companies Bill makes it mandatory for every company to observe such Secretarial Standards as may be prescribed with respect to General and Board Meetings. Every company is required to observe such Secretarial Standards as may be prescribed with respect to General and Board Meetings. [Clause 118 (10)]. Clause 205 casts duty on the Company Secretary to ensure that the company complies with the applicable Secretarial Standards. It is the beginning of a new era where non financial standards have been given importance and statutory recognition besides Financial Standards.

SECRETARIAL STANDARDS ISSUED SO FAR BY THE ICSI

The Institute has so far issued the following Secretarial Standards:

- Secretarial Standard on Meetings of the Board of Directors (SS-1)
- Secretarial Standard on General Meetings (SS-2)
- Secretarial Standard on Dividend (SS-3)
- Secretarial Standard on Registers and Records (SS-4)
BRIEF ANALYSIS OF SECRETARIAL STANDARDS

A Brief Analysis of various Secretarial Standards issued so far is discussed hereunder:

Secretarial Standard on Meetings of the Board of Directors (SS-1)

The Secretarial Standard on Meetings of the Board of Directors lays down a set of principles which companies are expected to adopt in the convening and conduct of meetings of the Board of Directors and committees thereof. These principles relate to frequency of meetings, quorum, attendance, resolutions, recording and preservation of minutes etc. Illustrative lists of items to be considered at different meetings of the Board are enunciated in the Standard. Further, the Standard seeks to enhance stakeholders confidence by focussing on the principles relating to responsibilities of the Chairman of the Board, maintenance of attendance registers, preservation of minutes, disclosures in Annual Report etc.

Briefly, the Secretarial Standard provides for the following, amongst others:

— A Board Meeting should be convened by giving at least 15 days notice. The agenda should be sent at least 7 days before the date of the meeting.

Companies Act does not prescribe any length of Notice for calling a meeting.

— Notice should be given to all Directors, whether in India or abroad and may be sent by hand, post, facsimile or e-mail. Where a director specifies a particular mode, the Notice is to be given to him in that mode.

Section 286 (1) of Companies Act provides that Notice of every meeting of the Board of directors of a company shall be given in writing to every director for the time being in India, and at his usual address in India to every other director.

— Standard provides that the Notice of a meeting should be given even when meetings are held on pre-determined dates or at pre-determined intervals. Companies Act is silent on this issue.

— To avoid any item of significance being considered and approved without the prior knowledge of Directors, the Standard provides that prior Notice for such item is essential.

Companies Act does not provide for any such requirement.

— The quorum should be present at every stage of the Meeting. Any business transacted by a number lesser than the quorum is void. Companies Act only prescribes the quorum requirement - one-third of the total strength of the Board, or two Directors, whichever is higher. As per the standard, it is not sufficient that quorum is present only at the commencement of meeting.

— Leave of absence to Directors should not be granted as a ritual. It should be granted only when specifically sought by a Director.

Section 283(1)(g) of Companies Act only provides for vacation of office if director absents himself from three consecutive meetings without obtaining leave of absence. No mention is made regarding communication of leave of absence. Granting of leave should not be a ritual. Leave be granted only when specifically sought for by a Director. Communication may be oral or written.

— To ascertain the ‘will of the majority’, resolutions to be passed by circulation should be sent to all Directors, whether in India or abroad.

— Recognising its importance, the Standard crystallises the date on which a Resolution sent for passing by circulation shall be deemed to have been passed.

— To ensure authenticity, the standard provides that the Resolutions passed by circulation should be placed before the next Meeting of the Board for noting and should be reproduced as part of the minutes of that Meeting.

— Annual, quarterly or half-yearly financial results should be approved at a meeting of the Board or its Committee and should not be approved by means of a Resolution passed by circulation.

Companies Act does not specify any such requirement.

— The limited review report, in case of material variance, should be discussed and approved at a Meeting of the Board and not by Resolution passed by circulation. Companies Act is silent on this aspect.

— Within seven days from the date of the meeting of the Board, the draft Minutes thereof should be circulated to all the Directors for their comments.

— The Minutes of meetings of any Committee should be circulated to the Board along with the Agenda for the next meeting and should be noted by the Board.

Companies Act does not provide for circulation of minutes amongst directors.

— Apart from the Resolution or decision, the Minutes should mention the brief background of the proposal and the rationale for passing the Resolution or taking the decision. Companies Act is silent on this aspect.

— As decisions taken by the Board are collective decisions. Standard provides that the names of the Directors who dissented or abstained from the decision should be recorded.

Section 193(4) only provides that Minutes should contain the names of Directors dissenting from or not concurring in the resolution. However, as decisions taken by the Board of Directors are collective decisions, the names of the Directors who not only dissented or but also abstained from the decision should also be recorded. This is essential, since the minutes of a meeting of directors are very persuasive evidence of the proceedings therein and prima facie evidence in any subsequent proceeding challenging the directors’ conduct in respect of a particular decision.

— The Minutes of all meetings should be preserved permanently.

Secretarial Standard on General Meetings (SS-2)

The Secretarial Standard on General Meetings prescribes a set of principles which companies are expected to observe in the convening and conducting of General Meetings and matters related thereto. Principles have been laid down with respect to requirements of quorum, voting, proxies, conduct of poll, withdrawal/rescinding/modification of resolutions, adjournment of meetings, recording in and preservation of minutes as well as the duties of the Chairman and the disclosures to be made in the Annual Reports of companies. Further, explicit principles have been laid down on the related critical aspects such as distribution of gifts, presence and duties of Company Secretary/Auditors in the meetings, preservation of minutes. Besides, it intends to integrate and standardize the diverse secretarial practices prevalent in the corporate sector for conducting General meetings.

_The salient features of this Standard which supplement the Company Law and on which the Companies Act is silent are—_ — Notice of every General Meeting should be given to every member at the address provided by him whether in India or outside India and Notice should also be placed on the website of the company, if any. If the venue of the meeting is not a prominent place, a site map of the venue should be enclosed with the Notice. Notice should also be given to the Directors and other specified recipients such as banks and financial institutions and other interested parties.

— In the case of listed companies, the Notice, listing the items of business and the day, date, time and venue of the Meeting, should be hosted on the website of the company.

— All Directors of the company should attend all meetings of shareholders and be available to reply to shareholders’ queries. If any Director is unable to attend the Meeting for reasons beyond his control, the Chairman should explain such absence at the Meeting.

— Framing of Resolutions and explanatory statement in simple language in the Notice is emphasized for the benefit of members.

— The Practicing Company Secretary who has been giving the compliance certificate should attend every Annual General Meeting. The Standard also makes it obligatory for the auditors of the company to attend the Annual General Meeting if there are any reservations, qualifications or adverse remarks in the Auditor’s Report.

— Onerous responsibility has been placed on the Chairman of the meeting who is expected to be fair and impartial in the conduct of his duties. He is enjoined upon to provide a fair opportunity to Members who are entitled to vote to raise questions and/or offer comments and ensure that these are answered.

— The Chairman should explain the objective and implication of each resolution, before the resolution is put to vote.

— The Standard deals in depth with the concept of voting by poll.

— In case of listed companies with over 5,000 Members, the result of the poll should be published in a leading newspaper circulating in the neighbourhood of the registered office of the company.

— Resolutions specified in the Notice for items of business which are likely to affect the market price of the securities of the company should not be withdrawn.

— No gifts, gift coupons or cash in lieu of gifts should be distributed before, at or in connection with the General Meetings.

— Annual Report of companies should disclose the particulars of all general meetings held during the last three years.

— Best practices for entering, recording and signing as well as preservation of the Minutes have been laid down.

_Secretarial Standard on Dividend (SS-3)_

The Secretarial Standard 3 lays down a set of principles in relation to the declaration and payment of dividend, interim dividend, treatment of unpaid Dividend, revocation of dividend as well as the preservation of dividend warrants, maintenance of dividend registers, disclosure requirements and matters incidental thereto. The Standard, by stipulating requirements in regard to all allied and significant matters such as intimation to members before transferring unpaid dividend to Investor Education and Protection Fund, preservation of dividend Registers, validity of dividend warrants etc. attempts to give the right direction to the corporate sector, promote uniformity of practices and ensure effective corporate governance.

The salient features of this standard are:

— Dividend can be declared out of free reserves and surplus in the profit and loss account of the company. However, dividend should not be declared out of the Securities Premium Account or the Capital Redemption Reserve Account or Revaluation Reserve or Amalgamation Reserve or out of profit on reissue of forfeited shares or out of profit earned prior to the incorporation of the company.

— Interim Dividend may be declared after the Board has considered the Interim financial statements for the period for which Interim Dividend is to be declared, after taking into account depreciation for the full year and arrears of depreciation, appropriations and transfers to statutory reserves, taxation, Dividend at the contracted rate on preference shares and transfer to reserves as per provisions of the Companies (Transfer of Profits to Reserves) Rules, 1975.

— Interim Dividend should not be declared out of reserves.

— Dividend may be paid by cash, cheque, qarrent, demand draft, pay order or directly through ECS.

— Calls in arrears and any other sum due from a member may be adjusted against Dividend payable to the member.

— Dividend, whether interim or final, once declared becomes a debt and should not be revoked.

— Unpaid/Unclaimed Dividend should be transferred to the Investor Education and Protection Fund on expiry of seven years from the date on which such Dividends were transferred to unpaid Dividend Account after giving individual intimation to the claimant shareholders.

— Any interest earned on unpaid Dividend Accounts should also be transferred to Investor Education and Protection Fund.

— Paid Dividend warrant instruments returned by the Bank and Dividend Registers should be preserved for a period of eight years.

— The Balance Sheet, Annual Report and Annual Return of the company should make separate disclosures of the amount of Dividend lying in the unpaid or unclaimed Dividend account for seven years. Annual Return and Annual Report should also disclose the amount transferred to Investor Education and Protection Fund.

The salient features of this standard are as below:

A company is required to maintain certain registers and records. There are some registers and records, the maintenance of which is not statutorily required but is essential for the smooth, efficient and systematic functioning of the company. Some of the registers and records are required to be kept open by a company for inspection by directors and members of the company and by other persons, including creditors of the company. The right to inspect such registers and records is an enforceable right. Companies are also required to allow extracts to be made from certain documents, registers and records and to furnish copies thereof. This Standard deals with the various registers/records to be kept, manner of their keeping, their place of keeping, entry of particulars and information to be made and recorded therein, their inspection and preservation etc.
The standard prescribes a set of principles and good practices in relation to various registers and records including the maintenance and inspection thereof and gives a direction to the companies to establish and maintain systems that comply with all statutory provisions and meet the needs of the stakeholders.

The Information Technology Act, 2000 permits the maintenance of registers and records in electronic mode. Such registers and records should be maintained in accordance with the provisions of the said Act.

Every company is required to keep minutes of all proceedings of the meetings conducted during its existence. Minutes kept in accordance with the provisions of the Act, evidence that the meeting has been duly convened and held, all proceedings thereat have taken place and all appointments made thereat are valid.

The Minutes should contain a fair and correct summary of the discussions and decisions taken at the meeting so as to enable absentee directors/ committee members/shareholders to form an idea of what transpired at these meetings.

This Secretarial Standard on Minutes has dealt with Minutes of the Meetings of:

(a) the Board or Committees of the Board,
(b) members,
(c) debentureholders,
(d) creditors,
(e) others as may be required under the Act,

and matters related thereto.

The Standard prescribes a set of principles for maintaining, recording, signing, dating, inspecting and preserving the minutes so as to ensure that the minutes record the true proceedings of the meetings and are accessible for future reference.

Some of the features of this Secretarial Standard which supplement the Companies Act are:

— A separate Minutes Book should be maintained for each type of Meeting.
— Generally, the Minutes should begin with the number and type of the Meeting and then go on to state the name of the company, day, date, venue, time of commencement and time of conclusion of the Meeting.
— Minutes of Meetings of the Board or Committee should also include:

— Minutes Books should be kept in the custody of the Secretary of the company or any director duly authorized for the purpose by the Board.

Secretarial Standard on Transmission of Shares and Debentures (SS-6)

Realizing the divergent practices involved in the transmission of shares and the difficulties faced by both the companies and the investors, the Secretarial Standards Board has formulated the Secretarial Standard on Transmission. This Standard lays down principles in relation to the documentation and for verification of legal claimants in case of physically and electronically held shares for smooth functioning of the process. The Standard inter alia deals with situations where shares are singly or jointly held, nominee has been appointed, shareholder has died intestate etc.

The absence of detailed provisions in the Act has resulted into companies developing varying and diverse documentary compliances and procedures. To address this issue and to evolve a uniform procedure as well as to alleviate and redress the grievances of shareholders arising from disparate practices, this Standard has been evolved.

SS-6 has set standards in several areas to bring clarity and to unify the disparate practices, including:

— Documents required
— Time period within which the transmission process should be completed — Preservation.

Briefly, the Secretarial Standard provides for the following, amongst others:

— In case of transmission of shares of a sole shareholder who has appointed a nominee, the company should register the shares in the name of the nominee within a period of 30 days.

— Similarly, in the case of transmission of shares of a sole shareholder who has not appointed a nominee, the company should register shares in the name of any other person (i.e. beneficiary of a Will or legal Heir) within a period of 30 days.

— The Secretarial Standard lays down the procedure for transmission of shares in case where sole shareholder has not appointed a nominee. It clearly provides for both the situations, i.e. where the sole-shareholder dies leaving a Will and where the sole-shareholder dies intestate.

Regulation 25 of Table A of Schedule I to the Companies Act merely provides that legal representatives shall be entitled to transmission of shares in both these cases.

— In case of transmission of shares held jointly, whether nomination has been made or not, the company should register the shares in the name of the nominee or in the name of any other person elected by such nominee, within a period of 30 days.

— In respect of transmission of shares held jointly, where no nomination has been made, the Secretarial Standard lays down provisions for different permutation and combinations covering all aspects. This is to say that it covers the case where the last shareholder dies leaving a Will; case where shares are held jointly and the last of the surviving shareholders dies intestate without appointing a nominee; case where shares are held jointly and all the shareholders die simultaneously without appointing a nominee but the first holder leaves a Will; case where shares are held jointly and all the shareholders die simultaneously intestate without appointing a nominee.

— The Secretarial Standard requires that every company should maintain a register containing particulars of all transmissions.

— The register and records pertaining to transmission should be preserved permanently and kept in the custody of the secretary of the company or any other person authorized by the Board for the purpose.

Secretarial Standard on Passing of Resolutions by Circulation (SS-7)

Decisions relating to the policy and operations of a Company are arrived at meetings of the Board, held periodically. However, it may not always be practicable to convene a meeting of the Board to discuss matters on which decisions are needed urgently. In such circumstances, passing of resolution by circulation can be resorted to. Section 289 of the Companies Act enables the Board of Directors to pass resolutions by circulation. However, it merely provides that the resolution is to be circulated to all members of the Board or Committee and is to be passed by the requisite majority. As the law is silent on who is to propose the resolution, what matters to be passed through circulation, the mode of circulation, timing of approval of the resolution etc., SS-7 lays down the best practices to be followed.
SS-7 authorizes the Chairman of the Board or Managing Director and in their absence any other director to decide whether the approval of the Board for a particular matter is to be obtained by means of resolution by circulation. The Standard also enlists a number of matters which are to be passed only at duly convened meetings of the Board and which should not be passed by circulation. This is to ensure that the important items of business which require deliberations by the Board are passed only after necessary debate and discussion at Board room.

Briefly, the Secretarial Standard provides, amongst others, for the following:

— The proposed resolution with all the papers should be sent to all directors including interested directors and directors who are usually residing abroad.

— There should be a note with every such resolution setting out the details of the proposal and draft of resolution proposed and also indicating how to signify assent or dissent to the resolution proposed.

— The draft resolution along with necessary papers should be circulated by hand, or by post or by facsimile, or by e-mail or by any other electronic mode.

— The resolution is deemed to have been passed on the date on which it is approved by the majority of the Directors.

— In case a director does not append a date, the date of receipt by the company of the signed resolution should be taken as the date of signing.

— The minutes of the next meeting of the Board or committee should record the text of the resolution passed and dissent, if any.

— Passing of resolution by circulation should be considered valid as if it had been passed at a duly convened meeting. This does not dispense with the requirement for the Board to meet at the specified frequency.

— The standard provides, as an Appendix, list of illustrative notes to be passed at a duly convened Board meeting and which cannot be passed by circulation.

Secretarial Standard on Affixing of Common Seal (SS-8)

Substantive law is mainly silent on fixation of common seal. SS-8 deals with Affixing of Common Seal. The standard aims at clarifying documents which need to be common sealed and procedure thereof. The unique feature of the standard is that it introduces the concept of Official Seal. This would substitute the common seal in case affixation of common seal is not possible physically.

As per the Standard the common seal should be adopted by a resolution of the Board and the impression of the seal should be made part of the minutes of the meeting in which it is adopted. The common seal should be affixed to any document in the presence of Managing Director or any two Directors, and the Company Secretary or any other person as may be authorized by the Board. Every company is required to maintain a register containing details of documents on which the common seal of the company has been affixed for attestation of documents outside India. In order to facilitate Indian MNCs operating abroad, the Standard further provides that a company may have an official seal for use outside India which is a facsimile of the common seal.

Briefly, the Secretarial Standard provides, amongst others, for the following:

— As per the Standard, Common Seal means the metallic seal of a company which can be affixed only with the approval of the Board of directors of the company.
— The Common seal should be adopted by a resolution of the Board and its impression should be made part of the minutes of the meeting in which it is adopted.

— The persons in whose presence the seal is affixed should sign every instrument to which seal of the company is so affixed.

— The common seal should be kept in the custody of a director of the company or the Company Secretary or any other official, as authorised by the Board.

— A company whose objects require or comprise transactions of business outside India may have for use in any territory, district or place not situated in India an official seal, which shall be a facsimile of the common seal.

— Use of official seal requires an enabling provisions in the Articles.

— The official seal should be facsimile of the common seal.

— Official seal should have engraved in it the name of the territory where it is to be so used in addition to the name and state in which the registered office of the company is situated.

— The person affixing the official seal shall sign and write on deed or other instrument, the date and place at which it is affixed.

— Every company should maintain a register containing particulars of documents on which the official seal of the company has been affixed.

— The register should be maintained at the office where the official seal is kept.

Secretarial Standard on Forfeiture of Shares (SS-9)

Articles 29 to 35 of Table ‘A’ deal with forfeiture of shares. The Act being silent on forfeiture gave rise to the need for issuing the secretarial standard. SS-9 ensures that the forfeiture is carried out bona fide and in the interests of the shareholders.

This standard lays down a set of principles for forfeiture both for equity and preference shares arising from non-payment of calls. Initiation of forfeiture process, effect of forfeiture, re-issue of forfeiture sales, pricing of reissue of forfeiture shares, annulment of forfeiture of shares are the major aspects which are being dealt under SS-9. The standard dwells upon the authority for the forfeiture. Forfeiture of shares is to be made only with the approval of the Board. No forfeiture can be made unless notice is served on the shareholder whose shares are being forfeited. The notice to the defaulting member should be served by registered post acknowledgement due. The standard also specifies the contents of notice. The standard also empowers the Board to annul forfeiture at its discretion, if the member pays all outstanding calls due together with interest. The standard also clarifies about the pricing on re-issue of forfeited shares.

Briefly, the Secretarial Standard provides, amongst others, for the following:

— The Articles should contain a provisions for forfeiture of shares.

— Forfeiture of shares requires approval of the Board in a duly convened meeting.

— If a call on the shares, together with interest accrued thereon, in accordance with the terms of issue of shares, remains unpaid after the day appointed for payment thereof, then forfeiture of shares should be made under the authority of the Board.

— The notice should be served by the company on the defaulting member by registered post acknowledgement due.
— The notice should state the amount of the call due and interest accrued thereon. It should specify a date (not more than 21 days from date of posting of notice) before which the payment should be made. Also specify that in case of non-payment forfeiture shall be offered.

— The Board should approve the forfeiture at a duly convened meeting.

— The date of approval by the Board in the date of forfeiture.

— The Board should issue individual notices to the defaulting members whose shares have been forfeited.

— Entries in the register of members should be made with regard to forfeited shares.

— There should be a reference to the forfeiture of shares in the report of the directors to the shareholders.

— On annulment of the forfeited shares, the name of the member should be restored in the register of members for those shares.

— A forfeited share may be reissued or otherwise disposed of or such terms and in such a manner as the Board may think fit.

— On reissue the transferee should be registered as the holder of the share.

— The title of the transferee should not be affected by any irregularity or invalidity in the proceedings in reference to the forfeiture, sale or disposal of the share.

Secretarial Standard on Board’s Report (SS-10)

The Board’s Report is the most important means of communication by the Board of Directors of a company with its stakeholders. The Companies Act, 1956 requires the Board of Directors of every company to present annual accounts to the shareholders along with its report, known as the “Board’s Report”. Disclosures in the Board’s Report are specified under various sections of the Act. The Board’s Report should cover wide spectrum of information that stakeholders need, more than financial data, to understand fully the prospects of the company’s business and the quality of the management. Looking at its importance and substantial information involved in preparation of Board’s report, the Secretarial Standard on Board’s report is prepared.

INTRODUCTION

Due Diligence is the process by which confidential legal, financial and other material information is exchanged, reviewed and appraised by the parties to a business transaction, which is done prior to the transaction.

“Due diligence” is an analysis and risk assessment of an impending business transaction. It is the careful and methodological investigation of a business or persons, or the performance of an act with a certain standard of care to ensure that information is accurate, and to uncover information that may affect the outcome of the transaction.

It is basically a “background check” to make sure that the parties to the transaction have the required information they need, to proceed with the transaction.

Due diligence is used to investigate and evaluate a business opportunity. The term due diligence describes a general duty to exercise care in any transaction. As such, it spans investigation into all relevant aspects of the past, present, and predictable future of the business of a target company.

Due diligence report should provide information and insight on aspects such as the risks of a transaction, the value at which a transaction should be undertaken, the warranties and indemnities that needs be obtained from the vendor etc.

Why Due Diligence?

Misrepresentations and fraudulent dealings are not always obvious or straight. These are to be uncovered, especially in a major business transaction, as it would create a major impact on the business. Proper due diligence services explore and asses the details behind the same and to become fully informed about the financials, business, internal systems, profitability, key operational aspects, management team, promoters and other material factors that will help in making an informed decision about an investment. Due diligence is designed to protect the interests of the Company by providing objective and reliable information on the target company before making any written commitments.

Due diligence is an investigative process for providing, the desired comfort level about the potential investment and to minimize the risks such as hidden uncovered liabilities, poor growth prospects, price claimed for proposed investment being on higher side etc. Due diligence is also necessary to ensure that there are no onerous contracts or other agreements that could affect the acquirer's return on investment.

The procedures and analyses ultimately represent a window into the target Company's success and potential, including what opportunities exist to grow the business further to meet your goals and objectives. Due diligence exercise is needed to confirm that the nature and genuineness of a business, Identify defects/weakness in the target company and to avoid a bad business transaction, to gather information that is required for valuation of assets, and to negotiate in a better manner. In nutshell due diligence is a SWOT analysis of an investment which is essentially required to make an informed decision about a potential investment.

Objectives Of Due Diligence

The objective of due diligence is to verify the strategic identification or attractiveness of the target company, valuation, risk associated etc.
The objective of due diligence includes—

1. Collect material of information from the target company.
2. Conduct a SWOT analysis to identify the strength and to uncover threats and weaknesses.
3. For improving the bargaining position depending on SWOT analysis.
4. To take an informed decision about an investment.
5. Identification of areas where representations and warranties are required.
6. To provide a desired comfort level in a transaction.
7. To ensure complete and accurate disclosure.
8. Bridge the gap between the existing and expected.
9. To take smooth/accurate action/decision.
10. To enhance the confidence of stakeholders.

The SWOT analysis of the target business carried out as a part of due diligence has to reveal the strengths and weaknesses of not only the financials but also intangibles. To do this effectively, the potential buyer needs to be clear about the goals and motives for acquiring the target company, as well as the value the buyer is attempting to create with the purchase. For example, if there is a legal risk, such as an outstanding lawsuit, that will not only jeopardize the financial stability of the company but also the loyalty of existing customers. This will erode the target company’s market by a new and stronger competitor. The target company’s talent is the asset desired, and much of this depends on employee relations and accordingly cultural issues has to be addressed in time.

A thorough due diligence helps to reveal any of the negatives, but the process of due diligence rarely goes smoothly because of one major stumbling block and that is availability of information. The target company is rarely eager to reveal to the other party that it is up for sale and wants to keep this information confidential from its competitors, customers and employees. So getting any information from these sources can be tricky, depending upon what the potential buyer wants to gain from the transaction. The buyer who aims to get new market of customers with the transaction wants to make sure that the target company has a good relationship with existing customers. But, during due diligence, the target company does not want any contact with its existing customers for fear that customers might leave because of the impending sale. As another example, a potential buyer sees the employee talent as the company’s main asset, but the target company is nervous about letting the potential buyer talk to key employees because it does not want to let on that it is going to be sold. Because of the confidential nature of transactions, not all the information that is necessary to make a good decision can be revealed. This is why services of experts are hired in due diligence before beginning the process so the buyer receives reliable guidance. It is also critical to meet with trusted advisors—both inside and outside about what has been discovered and brainstorm the different scenarios of what can go wrong before going ahead with the deal.

Scope Of Due Diligence

Scope of due diligence is transaction-based and is depending on the needs of the people who is involved in the potential investments, in addressing key uncovered issues, areas of concern/threat and in identifying additional opportunities.

of the business being acquired. This information includes financial, human resources, tax, environmental, legal matters, intellectual property matters etc.

Factors To Be Kept In Mind While Conducting Due Diligence

Objectives and purpose

A key step in any due diligence exercise is to develop an understanding of the purpose for the transaction. The goal of due diligence is to provide the party proposing the transaction with sufficient information to make a reasoned decision as to whether or not to complete the transaction as proposed. It should provide a basis for determining or validating the appropriate terms and price for the transaction incorporating consideration of the risks inherent in the proposed transaction. The following factors may be kept in mind in this regard:
Lesson 4  ■ Due Diligence – An Overview  87

(i) Be clear about your expectations in terms of revenues, profits and the probability of the target company to provide you the same.

(ii) Consider whether you have resources to make the business succeed and whether you are willing to put in all the hard work, which is required for any new venture.

(iii) Consider whether the business gives you the opportunity to put your skills and experience to good use.

(iv) Learn as much as you can about the industry you are interested in from media reports, journals and people in the industry.

Planning the schedule

Once it is decided for a particular business, make sure of the following things:

— Steps to be followed in due diligence process
— Areas to be checked
— Aspects to be checked in each area
— Information and other material to be requested from the seller

Negotiation for time

Some times, it may be the case that, sellers want the process to get over as soon as possible and try to hurry the proceedings. When the seller gives a short review period, negotiations can be made for adequate time to have a complete review on crucial financial and legal aspects.

Risk Minimisation

All the information should be double checked—financials, tax returns, patents, copyrights and customer base to ensure that the company does not face a lawsuit or criminal investigation. The financials are very important and one needs to be certain that the target company did not engage in creative accounting. The asset position and profitability of the company are vital.

Since, Due diligence exercise deals with the overall business, it is important to consider aspects such as:

— background of promoters — performance of senior management team
— organizational strategy — business plans
— risk management system
— technological advancement — infrastructure adequacy
— optimum utilization of available resources

Information from external sources

The company’s customers and vendors can be quite informative. It may be found from them whether the target company falls in their most favored clients list.
Any flaws that the audit uncovers would help to negotiate down the sale price. Due diligence is “a chance to get a better deal”. But don’t go overboard. Remember that the whole point of buying a company is to add people to your own organization. Even if the seller and staff do not stay on after the deal, they may prove useful as advisers in the future.

Limit the report with only material facts

While preparing the report it is advisable to be precise and only the information that has a material impact on the target company is required to be included.

Structure of information

Once the due diligence process is over, while preparing the report, information has to be structured in an organized manner in order to have a better correlation on related matters.

Stages/Process of Due Diligence

A due diligence process can be divided into three stages (i) pre diligence, (ii) diligence, and (iii) post diligence.

(i) Pre diligence

A pre diligence is primarily the activity of management of paper, files and people.

1. Signing the Letter of Intent (LOI) and the Non Disclosure Agreement (NDA)/ Engagement letter. (A sample format is enclosed at Annexure I)
2. Receipt of documents from the company and review of the same with the checklist of documents already supplied to the company.
3. Identifying the issues.
4. Organising the papers required for a diligence.
5. Creating a data room.

The first and foremost in a deal for the management of the target company, is that the investor is to sign a Letter of Intent (LOI) or a term sheet which underlines the various terms on which the proposed deal is to be concluded. Immediately on receipt of the LOI the investors sign an NDA with the various agencies conducting a diligence, be it finance, accounting, legal or a secretarial diligence.

The company, would usually receive a checklist from the agency conducting the diligence. The checklist is invariably exhaustive in nature, and therefore, the company may either collate and compile the documents in-house, or outsource this to an external agency. While the data is being collated care should be taken to ensure that there are no loose ends that may probably arise.

As regards a data room, some of the important things that one should take cognizance of from the corporate view point are the following:

(a) Do not delay deadlines (leads to suspicion).
(b) Mark each module of the checklist provided for separately.
(c) In case some issues are not applicable spell it out as “Not Applicable”.
(d) In case some issues cannot be resolved immediately, admit it.
(e) Put a single point contact to oversee the process of diligence.
(f) Keep a register, to track people coming in and going out.

(g) An overview on the placement of files.

(h) Introduction to the point person.

During the diligence, care should be taken to adhere to certain hospitality issues, like:

(a) Be warm and receptive to the professionals who are conducting diligence.

(b) Enquire on the DD team.

(c) Join them for lunch.

(e) In case of any corrections – admit and rectify.

As regards the process of diligence, as a professional care should be taken to scrutinize every document that is made available and ask for details and clarifications, though, generally the time provided to conduct the diligence may not be too long and though things have to be wrapped up at the earliest. The company may be provided an opportunity to clear the various issues that may arise out of the diligence.

(ii) Diligence

After the diligence, is conducted, the professionals submit a report, which is common parlance is called the DD report. These reports can be of various kinds, a summary report; a detailed report or the like; and the findings mentioned in the report can be very significant, in as much as the deal is concerned.

There are certain terms used to define the outcome of these reports:

Deal Breakers: In this report the findings can be very glaring and may expose various non-compliance that may arise – any criminal proceedings or known liabilities.

Deal Diluters: The findings arising out a diligence may contain violations which may have an impact in the form of quantifiable penalties and in turn may result in diminishing the value of company.

Deal Cautioners: It covers those findings in a diligence which may not impact the financials, but there exist certain non compliances which though rectifiable, require the investor to tread a cautious path.

Deal Makers: Which are very hard to come by and may not be a reality in the strict sense, are those reports wherein the diligence team have not been able to come across any violations, leading them to submit what is called a ‘clean report’.

Interestingly, only after the reporting formalities are over and various rectifications are carried out, the “shareholders agreement” (which is the most important document) is executed. This agreement contains certain standard clauses like the tag along and drag along rights; representations and warranties; condition precedents, and other clauses that have an impact on the deal.

(iii) Post Diligence

Post diligence sometimes result in rectification of non-compliances found during the course of due diligence. There can be interesting assignments arising out of the diligence made by the team of professionals. It can range from making applications/filing of petition for compounding of various offences or negotiating the shareholders’ agreement, since the investors will be on a strong wicket and may negotiate the price very hard.
Transactions Requiring Due Diligence

1. Mergers, amalgamations and Acquisitions

Due diligence investigations are generally for corporate acquisitions and mergers—i.e., investigation of the company being acquired or merged. These are also generally the most thorough types of due diligence investigations. The buyer or transferee company wants to make sure it knows what it is buying. Partnerships are another time when parties investigate each other in conjunction with negotiations. Some other transactions where due diligence is appropriate could be:

(a) Strategic Alliances, and Joint Ventures
(b) Strategic partnerships
(c) Partnering Agreements
(d) Business Coalitions
(e) Outsourcing Arrangements
(f) Technology and Product Licensing
(g) Technology Sharing and Cross Licensing Agreements
(h) Distribution Relationships, etc.

As regards the acquirer due diligence is an opportunity to confirm the correct value of the business transaction, accuracy of the information disclosed by the target company as well as determines whether there are any potential business concerns that need to be addressed. This process helps evaluation and plan for the integration of business between the transacting parties. As regards the target company, it is ascertaining the ability of the acquirer to pay or raise funds to complete the transaction, of rights that should be retained by the target company, determination of any obstacles that could delay the closing and aid in the preparation of the target company’s disclosure schedules for the definitive and final transactional document.

2. Joint venture and collaborations

Before entering into a major commercial agreement like a joint venture or other collaboration with a company, a collaboration partner will want to carry out a certain amount of due diligence. This is particularly likely to be the case where a large company is forming a relationship for the first time with a relatively small start-up company. The due diligence may not to be as extensive as in an acquisition, but the larger company will be seeking comfort that its investment will be secure and the small company has the systems personnel, expertise and resources to perform its obligations.

3. Venture Capital Investment

Before making an investment in any company, venture capitalizes will conduct business due diligence, which generally includes aspects such as a review of the market for the product of the company, background check on the founders and key management team, competition for the company, discussions with key customers of the company, analysis of financial projections for the business, review of any weakness/differences in the management team, minutes and consents of the board of directors and shareholders, corporate charter and bylaws, documents on litigations, patents and copyrights, and other intellectual property-related documents etc.

4. Public Offer

(1) Decisions on public issue.
(2) Business due diligence.
(3) Legal and financial due diligence.
(4) Disclosures in prospectus.
(5) Marketing to investors.
(6) Post issue compliance.

THE CONCEPT OF DATA ROOM IN DUE DILIGENCE

What is data room?

A Data Room provides all important business documents/information which may be on Financial, regulatory, IPR, marketing, Press report or any important material aspect pertaining to a business transaction. Otherwise it provides for a common platform/place where all records of important business information are kept for the review by a potential buyer after signing of a Non Disclosure Agreement (NDA). As data room discloses confidential data which is not available for public and may relate to business process, trade secret, technology information etc, the access to data room is made after signing of Non Disclosure Agreement.

Provisions are also made to mitigate the risks of data destruction or data stealing. For this purpose the restrictive provisions are made for entry, study, noting and exit from the data room. This includes physical checking of the persons conducting such study in the data room. Installing close circuit camera in the data room and monitoring the activity of the persons on time to time basis is a regular activity. It results in adequate expenditure and prior to that make proper budgeting is required.

Principles are also laid down for copying documents to clearly state about the nature of documents which could be copied in the data room. For this purpose also photocopiers and scanning machines are kept, electronic data similarly also monitored for which copies are required to be made.
Why Data Room?
1. Removes ambiguity in the minds of buyer about the profitability, growth prospectus, and sustainability of business that is proposed to be bought.
2. Provides material information that helps in doing a SWOT analysis.
3. It enables the buyer to do a better bargain through the analysis of the data.
4. May expose the weakness of the seller which is not directly provided to the buyer—For example, a material off balance sheet transaction.
5. Provides data that helps in better Valuation of business for both buyer and seller.

6. Compliance related information
8. IPR details
9. Information on litigation

Some Occasions those require creation of Data Room.
1. Mergers, amalgamations and Acquisitions
2. Strategic Alliances
3. Partnering agreement
4. Business Coalitions
5. Outsourcing agreement
6. Technology or Product Licensing
7. Joint Ventures through technical or financial collaboration
8. Venture Capital investment
9. Public Issue

Data Room – Virtual or Physical
Earlier data room was a physical location where all confidential and other documents are kept in a paper form and were kept under lock and key with custody of a responsible person. Generally the data room was created at vendor’s premises or lawyer’s office and specific time was allotted to the buyer and the authorised representatives of the buyer to enter and exit the premises which were set up as Data Room. Only one prospective buyer was allowed to view the documents at a time. When a prospective bidder demands additional or new documents it was provided to them in physical copy through courier or registered post. It demanded the physical availability of experts from different fields at the place where the due diligence exercise was being carried out.

Under the prevailing globalised economy, using of traditional physical data rooms for due diligence is not only a time-consuming and difficult process but also is very expensive as it demands the prospective buyers to travel from their place to the place where the data room is located.

Technology has enhanced the efficiency of many business processes and activities. New and creative uses of technology are expected to have similar positive effects on existing businesses. Introduction of Virtual Data Room which is an effect of technology has come as a boon for due diligence exercise.

Virtual Data Room is a site where all the required data of the prospective buyer are stored in digitalized or electronic form. Due diligence exercise these days is carried out through creation of virtual data room in the form of internet site where all the confidential/material business information is stored.

In general the following steps are involved in creation of a virtual data room.

1. Demands of the prospective bidders are identified.
2. Identify a trustworthy data room service provider if necessary and enter into necessary agreement with them.
3. Creation of a website where all the required documents are stored with internet security, restriction to access the site etc
4. Signing of Non-Disclosure Agreement with prospective bidders
5. Service agreement with data room service provider and the prospective bidder
6. Prospective bidders, on signing of Non-Disclosure Agreement and the service agreement, are given Use Id and pass word of the virtual data room so that any number of prospective bidders and access to it.

Major Advantages of Virtual Data Room

1. Savings in cost
2. Saving in time
3. More Comfort to buyer and Seller
4. Availability of information at any time of the day
5. Enables multiple prospective bidders to access the Virtual Data Room
6. Easy to Set up
7. More Secured
8. Improved Efficiency
9. Copying/printing of documents may be restricted.
10. Closure of Virtual Data Room may happen at any time

Some Disadvantages of Virtual Data Room

1. Limited interaction with prospective sellers.
2. Lack of clarity of documents loaded on the data-site
3. inability to copy or print information some times becomes a hurdle
4. access to sensitive information such as contracts to third parties poses legal challenges relating to confidentiality of information.

ISSUE OF SECURITIES

LESSON OUTLINE

- Introduction and Regulatory Framework
- Pre/post issue due diligence –IPO/FPO
- Due diligence of preferential issue by listed and unlisted companies
- Issue of rights/bonus shares, Debt issues, ESOPs, qualified institutional placement
- Issue of securities by SMEs
- Issue of debt securities
- Role of company secretaries in issue of securities

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

The options as to the issue of securities have been getting diversified as the market grows with more number of financial instruments and funding options. To raise the money in the capital market, the company may resort to IPO/FPO, rights issue, preferential issue, issue of different debt instruments etc.

As regards compliances with respect to raising of funds, the listed companies are to comply with SEBI rules and Regulations and unlisted companies are to comply with the rules/circulars etc issued by the Ministry of Corporate Affairs, in addition to the provisions of the Companies Act. Similarly, SEBI(Issue of Capital and Disclosure Requirements)(ICDR) Regulations 2009 regulates the issue of convertible debt instruments and issue of non-convertible debt instruments are regulated by SEBI(Issue and Listing of Debt securities) Regulations 2008.

After reading this lesson you will be able to understand the broader compliances with respect to various types of issues including IPO/FPO, rights issue, bonus issue, ESOPs, preferential issues, debt instruments etc.
INTRODUCTION AND REGULATORY FRAMEWORK

Introduction

Primarily, issues can be classified as a Public, Rights or preferential issues (also known as private placements). While public and rights issues involve a detailed procedure, private placements or preferential issues are relatively simpler. The classification of issues is illustrated below:

Public
- Initial Public Offering (For unlisted companies)
  - Fresh Issue
  - Offer for sale
- Further Public Offering (For listed companies)
  - Fresh Issue
  - Offer for sale
Rights
- Further Public Offering (For listed companies)
Private placement
- Qualified Institutional placement (For listed companies)
- Preferential Issue (For listed companies)
- Private placement (For unlisted companies)

Public issues can be further classified into Initial Public offerings and further public offerings. In a public offering, the issuer makes an offer for new investors to enter into shareholding family. The issuer company makes detailed disclosures as per the SEBI (Issue of Capital and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2009 in its offer document and offers it for subscription.

Initial Public Offering (IPO) is when an unlisted company makes either a fresh issue of securities or an offer for sale of its existing securities or both for the first time to the public. This paves way for listing and trading of the issuer’s securities.

A further public offering (FPO) is when an already listed company makes either a fresh issue of securities to the public or an offer for sale to the public, through an offer document. An offer for sale in such scenario is allowed only if it is made to satisfy listing or continuous listing obligations.

Rights Issue (RI) is when a listed company which proposes to issue fresh securities to its existing shareholders as on a record date. The rights are normally offered in a particular ratio to the number of securities held prior to the issue. This route is best suited for companies who would like to raise capital without diluting stake of its existing shareholders unless they do not intend to subscribe to their entitlements.

Bonus issue: When an issuer makes an issue of securities to its existing shareholders as on a record date, without any consideration from them, it is called a bonus issue. The shares are issued out of the Company’s free reserve or share premium account in a particular ratio to the number of securities held on a record date.

A private placement is an issue of shares or of convertible securities by a company to a select group of persons under Section 81 of the Companies Act, 1956 which is neither a rights issue nor a public issue. This is a faster way for a company to raise equity capital.

A private placement of shares or of convertible securities by a listed company is generally known by name of preferential allotment. A listed company going for preferential allotment has to comply with the requirements contained in Chapter VII of SEBI (Issue of Capital and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations 2009.

“Qualified Institutions Placement” means allotment of eligible securities by a listed issuer to qualified institutional buyers on private placement basis in terms of SEBI (Issue of Capital and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations 2009.

SEcurities AND EXCHANGE BOARD OF INDIA (ISSUE OF CAPITAL AND DISCLOSURE REQUIREMENTS) REGULATIONS, 2009 [(SEBI(ICDR) Regulations]

The SEBI (ICDR) Regulations, 2009 have been introduced by repealing the SEBI (Disclosure and Investor Protection) Guidelines, 2000.

While incorporating the provisions of the rescinded Guidelines into the ICDR Regulations, certain changes have been made, by removing the redundant provisions, modifying certain provisions on account of changes necessitated due to market design and bringing more clarity to the provisions of the rescinded Guidelines.

Applicability of ICDR Regulations

- a public issue;
- a rights issue, where the aggregate value of specified securities offered is fifty lakh rupees or more;
- a preferential issue;
- an issue of bonus shares by a listed issuer;
- a qualified institutions placement by a listed issuer;
- an issue of Indian Depository Receipts.

Provided that the provisions of these regulations shall not apply to issue of securities under clause (b), (d) and (e) of sub-regulation (1) of regulation 9 of Securities and Exchange Board of India (Substantial Acquisition of Shares and Takeovers) Regulations, 2011.

Is SEBI (ICDR) Regulations, 2009 applicable to Companies Issuing Global Depository Receipts?

Yes, as Foreign Convertible Bonds and Ordinary Shares (Through Depository Receipt Mechanism) 1993 requires simultaneous listing of shares in Indian Exchanges, for issue of Global Depository Receipts, it has to comply with SEBI (ICDR) Regulations, 2009.

An issuer may make an initial public offer of convertible debt instruments without making a prior public issue of its equity shares and listing thereof.

II. DUE DILIGENCE - Initial Public Offer (IPO)/Further Public Offer (FPO)

When the due diligence is carried out as part of the steps leading to an IPO, the exercise takes on added meaning and encompasses a wider scope, as it identifies the areas or the issues where the company exhibits weaknesses and the due diligence process becomes a tool, which shows the company the way to optimize its potential and thereby increasing its value to potential investors. Pre-IPO due diligence process will result in a gap analysis between the present status of the company and the company that should be floated i.e., a gap is an expectations gap created as a result of how the market expects a listed company to conduct its affairs. In this scenario, once these gaps have been highlighted the due diligence exercise should not stop there but should include advice given by the advisors to the company on the processes and activities which are required to fill the gaps identified. In an IPO the due diligence exercise is a broader, fuller exercise which apart from identifying the weaknesses also looks at resolving them with the purpose of increasing the value of the company.

The due diligence process aspires to achieve the following:

- to assess the reasonableness of historical and projected earnings and cash flows;
- to identify key vulnerabilities, risk and opportunities;
- to gain an intimate understanding of the company and the market in which the company operates such that the company’s management can anticipate and manage change;
- to set in motion the planning for the post-IPO operations.

It will result in a critical analysis of the control, accounting and reporting systems of the company and a critical appraisal of key personnel. It will identify the value drivers of the company thus enabling the directors to understand where the value is and to focus their efforts on increasing that value.

Due diligence spans the entire public issue process. The steps involved in due diligence are given broadly below:

UNDER SEBI (PUBLIC OFFER AND LISTING OF SECURITISED DEBT INSTRUMENTS) REGULATIONS 2008

Securitisation is the process of conversion of existing assets or future cash flows into marketable securities. In other words, securitisation deals with the conversion of assets which are not marketable into marketable ones.

Securitised Debt Instrument means any certificate or instrument by whatever name called, of the nature referred to in sub-clause (ie) of clause (h) of Section 2 of SCRA.

Section 2(h)(ie) of SCRA reads as follows:

‘Any certificate or instrument(by whatever name called), issued to an investor by any issuer being a special purpose distinct entity which possesses any debt or receivable, including mortgage debt, assigned to such entity, and acknowledging beneficial interest of such investor in such debt or receivable, including mortgage debt, as the case may be.’

Special Purpose Distinct Entity means a trust which acquires debt or receivables not out of funds mobilized by it by issuances of securitized debt instruments through one or more schemes and includes any trust set up by the National Housing Bank under National Housing Bank Act 1987 or by the National Bank for Agricultural and Rural Development Act, 1981.

The amendments in SCRA has enabled SEBI to provide for disclosure based regulation (SEBI (Public Offer And Listing Of Securitised Debt Instruments) Regulations 2008) for public issue of or listing of securitized debt instruments on the recognized stock exchanges.

These regulations are principle based and have been made taking into account the market needs, cost of the transactions, competition policy, the professional expertise of credit rating agencies, disclosures and obligations of the parties involved in the transaction.

The main features of the regulations are as follows:

(a) The special purpose distinct entity (the issuer) will be a trust and the trustees thereof will require registration from SEBI. The instrument issued by the issuer to the investor shall acknowledge the beneficial interest of such investor in underlying debt or receivables assigned to the issuer. The issuer can undertake only the activities permitted by the regulations.

(b) The regulations permit securitization of both existing as well as future receivables.

(c) The regulations provide flexibility in terms of pay through / pass through structures.

(d) In case of public issuances listing will be mandatory. The instruments issued on private placement basis may also be listed subject to the compliance of simplified provisions of the regulations.

Some Major Compliances

— Ensure that special purpose distinct entity files draft offer document with SEBI atleast 15 days before proposed opening of the issue.

— Ensure that special purpose distinct entity has made arrangements with Registered Depositories for dematerialization of the securitized debt instruments.

— Ensure that special purpose distinct entity has made an application for listing to one or more recognized exchanges in terms of 17A(2) of SCRA — Ensure that credit rating is obtained from atleast two registered credit rating agencies and the same is disclosed in the offer document.

— Ensure that the contents of offer document has the required details and does not contain any misleading statements.
— Ensure to file necessary information/reports, post issue as directed by SEBI from time to time.

GLOBAL DEPOSITORY RECEIPTS

I. INTRODUCTION

The Government has taken a number of policy initiatives to allow Indian companies to raise resources from the International markets. Consequently raising funds through Euro Issues has become popular with Indian companies and investors both. Indian companies found this route very attractive and today more and more companies are trying this avenue to raise funds. International offering made by companies for tapping the international capital markets can be through the following modes.

Foreign Currency Convertible Bond, is an Equity-linked convertible security that can be converted/exchanged for a specific number of shares of the issuer company.

Depositary Receipts (DRs) are negotiable securities issued outside India by a Depositary Bank, on behalf of an Indian company, which represent the local Rupee denominated equity shares of the company held as deposit by a Custodian Bank in India. DRs are traded in Stock Exchanges in the US, Singapore, Luxembourg etc. DRs listed and traded in the US markets are known as American Depositary Receipts (ADRs) and those listed and traded elsewhere are known as Global Depositary Receipts (GDRs). In the Indian context, DRs are treated as FDI. Indian companies can raise foreign currency resources abroad through the issue of ADRs/GDRs, in accordance with the Scheme for issue of Foreign Currency Convertible Bonds and Ordinary Shares (Through Depositary Receipt Mechanism) Scheme, 1993 and guidelines issued by the Central Government there under from time to time.

Exchange traded depository receipts from India have been relatively recent phenomenon (i.e. late 90’s) though few companies have issued GDRs through private placement in early 90’s. At present these are several active depository receipts such as Infosys, ITC, Dr. Reddys, L&T etc. that are listed either on American exchanges like the Newyork Stock Exchange or NASDAQ or on European/Asian exchanges such as London, Dubai, Singapore exchanges. Reliance Industries was the first Indian company to be listed on NYSE and Infosys was the first Indian company to be listed on NASDAQ.

II. TYPES OF DEPOSITARY RECEIPTS

1. American Depositary Receipts (ADRs)

An American Depositary Receipt (“ADR”) is a dollar denominated form of equity ownership in the form of depositary receipts in a non-US company. It represents the foreign shares of the company held on deposit by a custodian bank in the company’s home country and carries the corporate and economic rights of the foreign shares.

Following are the types of ADRs

(a) Level I ADR (unlisted, OTC traded/Pink Sheets)

This is the least expensive level to provide for issuance of shares in ADR form in the US. The company issuing ADRs has to comply with the SEC registration requirements but can be exempted from full SEC reporting requirements under certain circumstances. It can only be traded over-the-counter and cannot be listed on a national exchange in the US. The electronic OTC markets are... als also called pink sheets which is a centralized quotation service that collects and publishes market maker quotes for OTC securities in real time.

(b) Level II ADRs (US Listed, Non-capital Raising Transaction (i.e. without going for public issue)

This programme gives more liquidity and marketability as it enables listing of ADRs in one or more of the US exchanges. Under this programme the company has to comply with the registration requirements, reporting requirements of SEC.

(c) Level III ADRs (US listed Capital Raising Transaction i.e., through fresh issue of shares) – This type of ADRs which are to comply with SECA Registration, Reporting requirement and after document filing.

(d) Rule 144A Depositary Receipts (Privately placed for QIBs and cannot be bought on the public exchanges or over the counter.)

2. Global Depositary Receipts

GDRs have access usually to Euro market and US market.

GDRs are often launched for capital raising purposes, so the US element is generally either through Rule 144(a) ADR or a Level III ADR, depending on whether the issuer aims to tap the private placement or public US markets.

The US portion of GDRs to be listed on US exchanges to comply with SEC requirements and the European portion are to be complied with EU directive.

(a) Listing of Global Depositary Receipts

Listing of GDR may take place in international stock exchanges such as London Stock Exchange, New York Stock Exchange, American Stock Exchange, NASDAQ, Luxemburg Stock Exchange etc.

International investors are interested in diversifying their portfolio across their national borders either through direct investment or through investment in depositary receipts from the exchanges of their home country. Investment in depositary receipts is an easier route for a small/medium investor. Through listing of depositary receipts in foreign exchanges, foreign investors gain benefits of diversification of portfolio while trading in their market under their own settlement and clearance process.

(b) Sponsored GDRs Vs GDRs through fresh issue of shares

GDR issue can be through sponsored GDR programme or through fresh issue of shares.

Through Sponsored GDRs the existing holders of shares in Indian Companies can sell their shares in the overseas market. It is a process of disinvestment by Indian shareholders of their holding in overseas market. The concerned Company sponsors the GDRs against the shares offered for disinvestment. These shares are converted into GDRs and sold to foreign investors. The proceeds realized are distributed to the shareholders in proportion to the shares sold by them.

For the benefit of Indian shareholders, RBI has amended Issue of Foreign Currency Convertible Bonds and Ordinary Shares (Through Depository Receipt Mechanism) Scheme, 1993 (‘the Scheme’), to enable such shareholders to sell their shares in overseas markets, by way of Sponsored ADRs/GDRs.

Scheme of Sponsored ADRs/GDRs

Paragraph 4B of the Scheme provides that—

(i) An Indian company may sponsor an issue of ADRs/GDRs with an overseas depository against shares held by its shareholders at a price to be determined by the Lead Manager.

(ii) The proceeds of the issue shall be repatriated to India within a period of one month.

(iii) The sponsoring company shall comply with the provisions of the Scheme and guidelines issued in this regard by the Central Government from time to time.

(iv) The sponsoring company shall furnish full details of such issue, in the form specified under Annexure C to the Scheme, to the Foreign Investment Division, Exchange Control Department, Reserve Bank of India, Central Office, Mumbai within 30 days from the date of closure of the issue.

In a layman’s language, the Scheme of Sponsored ADRs/GDRs is a process of disinvestments by the Indian shareholders of their holdings in overseas markets. The concerned company sponsors the ADRs/GDRs against the shares offered for disinvestments. Such shares are converted into ADRs/GDRs according to a pre-fixed ratio and sold to overseas investors. The proceeds realized are distributed to the shareholders in proportion to the shares sold by them.

Example

Say, a company sponsors 1 million equity shares to be converted into 2 million GDRs (ratio of course depends on the existing market price of shares and GDRs). Shareholders, as on the record date fixed for the purpose, tender their shares in the offering. If the shares offered for sale are more than the prespecified number, in our example it is 1 million shares would be accepted pro-rata. The accepted shares are then converted into GDRs and sold to overseas investors. The sale proceeds, after meeting with the issue expenses, are distributed to the shareholders proportionately.

(c) Two-way Fungibility of GDRs

A limited Two-way Fungibility scheme has been put in place by the Government of India for ADRs/GDRs.
Under this scheme, a stock broker in India, registered with SEBI, can purchase shares of an Indian company from the market for conversion into ADRs/GDRs based on instructions received from overseas investors. Re-issuance of ADRs/GDRs would be permitted to the extent of ADRs/GDRs which have been redeemed into underlying shares and sold in the Indian market.

3. Foreign Currency Convertible Bonds

Foreign Currency Convertible Bond (FCCB) means a bond issued by an Indian company expressed in foreign currency, the principal and interest of which is payable in foreign currency. FCCBs are issued in accordance with the Foreign Currency Convertible Bonds and ordinary shares (through depository receipt mechanism) Scheme 1993 and subscribed by a non-resident entity in foreign currency and convertible into ordinary shares of the issuing company in any manner, either in whole, or in part.

The take over regulations are to be complied with

Lesson 7
DUE DILIGENCE – MERGERS AND AMALGAMATIONS

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

The decision to merge or amalgamate has to be based on rational analysis, which can be formed only after evaluation of information and records available. Due Diligence is the assessment process to judge the benefits vis-à-vis the threats that are likely in post merger scenario. In fact there are several factors financial/non financial/ open/hidden factors that influence the ultimate choice of strategy. The process of analysis of strategic choices on various aspects for merger is done through due diligence process. This involves analysis of business, financial, legal, cultural, governance aspects. After reading this lesson you will be able to understand broadly the aspects to be analyzed during M&A due diligence process.
INTRODUCTION

A company may decide to accelerate its growth by developing into new business areas, which may or may not be connected with its traditional business areas, or by exploiting some competitive advantage that it may have. Once a company has decided to enter into a new business area, it has to explore various alternatives to achieve its aims.

Basically, there can be three alternatives available to it:

(i) the formation of a new company;
(ii) the acquisition of an existing company;
(iii) merger with an existing company.

The decision as to which of these three options are to be accepted, will depend on the company’s assessment of various factors including in particular:

(i) the cost that it is prepared to incur;
(ii) the likelihood of success that is expected;
(iii) the degree of managerial control that it requires to retain.

For a firm desiring immediate growth and quick returns, mergers can offer an attractive opportunity as they obviate the need to start from ‘scratch’ and reduce the cost of entry into an existing business. However, this will need to be weighed against the fact that unless the shareholders of the transferor company (merging company) are paid the consideration in cash, part of the ownership of the existing business remains with the former owners.

Merger with an existing company will, generally, have the same features as an acquisition of an existing company. However, identifying the right candidate for a merger or acquisition is an art, which requires sufficient care and calibre.

Once an organization has identified the various strategic possibilities, it has to make a selection amongst them. There are several factors financial/non financial/ open/hidden factors that influence the ultimate choice of strategy. The process of analysis of strategic choices on various aspects for merger is done through due diligence process.

The students may note that the business financial and other legal aspects of due diligence are dealt under Chapter 9 and 4.
IMPACT OF DUE DILIGENCE ON VALUATION

To arrive at a value of the target company we need to analyze aspects viz. how much should we pay for the target company, how much is the target worth, how does this compare to the current market value of the target company, etc.

Senior management at the acquiring company will delegate the M&A process to a special team of experts responsible for assessing the value of the target company. The composition of the buyer’s team is likely different from that of the seller’s team because of the buyer’s motivation, depending on whether the buyer is strategic or financial. After inspecting the relevant documents, the functional due diligence team provides a summary of findings regarding his or her area of expertise. These summaries are then collected and incorporated into a diligence synthesis and a technical and financial analysis of the target. Expert recommendations are then summarized into an integration recommendation.

As we are aware that the due diligence process helps in identifying the hidden risks/ litigations etc, it helps in arriving at a right price after valuation process, by discounting for the risks identified and vice versa. The techniques of valuations are dealt under Lesson 14, 15 and 16 of Corporate Restructuring, Valuations and Insolvency.

DATA ROOM MANAGEMENT IN STRATEGIC DECISIONS

As regards data room management, security is a critical issue in managing the data room, as sensitive information should not be leaked to the people not covered by nondisclosure or confidentiality agreements executed between the parties. Such information leaks can have detrimental effects on the entire transaction process, and may adversely affect the consideration being paid by a buyer, or the consideration being exchanged in a merger, if either party senses a process damaged or tainted by leaks. A person is generally employed as a coordinator for this purpose and is assigned to manage the operation of the data room by minimizing security and information leaks, recording data room attendance, and searching briefcases and other bags as attendees leave the data room.

The process of collecting the necessary data room documents and information is extensive and time consuming. Data must be compiled, indexed and properly organized and this process takes up valuable resources. Function-wise contact persons are assigned to manage the data room information from their areas. They ensure that their operational area provides the information needed, indexes the relevant documents and information, coordinates with management regarding documents that may be copied, and verifies that information that cannot be copied. Similarly under virtual data room copying or printing of documents may be delayed.

HR AND CULTURAL DUE DILIGENCE IN BUSINESS TRANSACTIONS

Culture is a complex system with a multitude of interrelated processes and mechanisms based on which the organisation functions. It includes vision/mission of the organisation, work flow process, communication mechanism, formal procedures, informal practices, strategy setting mechanism and so on.

Corporate Culture is embedded deeply in the organization and in the behavior of the people there. It is not necessarily equal to the image the company gives itself in brochures and on the website. Therefore, it is difficult to determine an organization's culture from the outside. Especially in pre-merger negotiations – when time and confidentiality are critical factors while trust still needs to be established – it can be a challenging task to find out if the cultures of the potential partners fit together.

The issues of cultural integration and the issues of human behaviour need to be addressed simultaneously if not well before the issues of financial and legal integration are considered. Implementation of structural nature may be financially and legally successful. But if cultural issues are ignored, the success may only be transient.

According to KPMG Study 83% of all mergers and acquisitions failed to produce any benefit for the shareholders and over half actually destroyed value. It revealed that the overwhelming cause for failure is the people and cultural difference. Difficulties encountered in M & As are amplified in cross-cultural situations, when the companies involved are from two or more countries.

Culture of an organization means the sum total of things the people do and the things the people do not do. Behavioral patterns get set because of the culture. These patterns create mental blocks for the people in the organization. Pre-merger survey and summarization of varying cultures of different companies merging, needs to be carried out. People belonging to the each defined culture need to be acquainted with other cultures of other merging companies. They need to be mentally prepared to adopt the good points of other cultures and shed the blockades of their own cultures. Such an open approach will make the fusion of cultures and ethos easy and effective.

The successful merger demands that strategic planners are sensitive to the human issues of the organisations. For the purpose, following checks have to be made constantly to ensure that:

- sensitive areas of the company are pinpointed and personnel in these sections carefully monitored;
- serious efforts are made to retain key people;
- a replacement policy is ready to cope with inevitable personnel loss;
- records are kept of everyone who leaves, when, why and to where;
- employees are informed of what is going on, even bad news is systematically delivered. Uncertainty is more dangerous than the clear, logical presentation of unpleasant facts;
- training department is fully geared to provide short, medium and long term training strategy for both production and managerial staff;
- likely union reaction be assessed in advance;
- estimate cost of redundancy payments, early pensions and the like assets;
- comprehensive policies and procedures be maintained up for employee related issues such as office procedures, new reporting, compensation, recruitment and selection, performance, termination, disciplinary action etc.;
- new policies to be clearly communicated to the employees specially employees at the level of managers, supervisors and line manager to be briefed about the new responsibilities of those reporting to them;
- family gatherings and picnics be organised for the employees and their families of merging companies during the transition period to allow them to get off their inhibitions and breed familiarity.

Why is corporate culture that important?

Corporate culture influences the performance of an organization, since it determines

- Style of tackling problems
- Method or style of communication
- Adaptability of employees
- Organization commitment to strategies and ultimately to vision and mission etc.
A perfect integration would develop a new culture from both former cultures of the partners. Ideally, this new culture should include the best elements from both organizations.

Corporate culture influences the performance of an organization, since it determines:
1. Style of organizational functioning
2. Adaptability of people to changes
3. The way people interact with each other
4. The way the organization interacts with stakeholders
5. Level of commitment

Types of Cultural differences

There are three types of cultural differences:
1. Cross-national differences (especially in cross-boarder mergers),
2. Cross-organizational differences,

Areas of differences in cultural aspects:
- Organizational values
- Management culture and leadership styles
- Organizational myths and stories
- Organizational taboos, rituals
- Cultural symbols

Ideally, this new culture should include the best elements from both organizations.

Survey by Accenture and Economist Intelligence Unit

Accenture and the Economist Intelligence Unit in the first half of 2006, surveyed senior executives in North America, Europe and Asia on their mergers and acquisitions (M&A) activities and their experience in integrating companies. Similar survey was also administered to 156 executives based in India during the fourth quarter of 2006.

Of the total respondents in India, 40% were senior-level. About 64% were from companies that had global annual revenues of US$100m or more and 36% had revenues of US$1bn or more. 45% executive mainly played roles in strategy and business development and 42% in general management. Their companies were from a wide range of industries, including financial services (25%), IT and technology (21%) and professional services (13%).

The Key findings of the Survey

Human and Cultural Factors

Accenture Survey points out that for integrating a cross border company, 43%, respondents found addressing cultural issues as critical. The real challenge, after an acquisition is, therefore, the integration of the two companies. That is why the integration should be given a focused attention. There should be a focus on aligning the acquired company’s processes through the business excellence model.
Human Factor

Studies on post-acquisition performance have primarily been a centre of interest of researchers in strategy, economics and finance. The identified factors of performance variations have usually ranged from the industry match (complementary of assets, similarities of markets and products, synergies in production, strategic orientation, etc.), pricing policy, financing and size of the operation and type of the transaction, bidding conditions, etc.

By contrast to quantitative measurements from finance and economics, the research, which has focused on the organizational and human side of M&As, has mostly dealt with identifying factors that might have played a role in the integration process of the merging entities and led to successful outcomes. Despite the absence of a direct causal correlation, several dimensions have been identified as having an important impact on M&A performance, these include psychological, cultural and managerial factors, knowing that the human factor covers at the same time employees and managers of the companies.

Psychological Factors

A large part of the existing research has looked at the psychological effects of M&A on employees. Scholars have pointed out that strong impact that the operations could have on employees, in particular the resulting increase in stress and anxiety due to changes in work practices and tasks, managerial routines, colleagues environment, the hierarchy, etc. Further, merger and acquisitions often introduce an environment of uncertainty among employees about job losses and future career development. It has been pointed out that stress and insecurity may lead to employee resistance to change, absenteeism and lack of commitment to work and the organisation. Employee resistance prevents the building up of a well functioning organisation and constructive cooperative environment. Lack of work commitments have a negative impact on individual and organizational performance measured in terms of productivity, quality, and service. Moreover, a relationship between organizational and financial performance has also been identified which may have consequences for the market value of company.

On the other hand, it has been argued that satisfied employees are presumed to work harder, better, and longer with higher productivity records. Even though a direct relationship between job satisfaction and corporate performance remains to be established with certainty, it appears that lower job satisfaction is a cause of higher absenteeism, which, in turn is shown to have a negative influence on organizational performance.

Cultural factors

Cultural differences look like playing both ways. Although distant cultural environments make the integration process harder, the lack of culture-fit or cultural compatibility has often been used to explain M&A failure. Cultural differences have also been considered a source of lower commitment to work, making co-operation more difficult, particularly from employees of the acquired company. In this regard, scholars have largely given account of the lack of co-operation momentum stemming from a “we” versus “them” attitude, resulting in hostility among employees.

It is, therefore, no surprise that strong cultural differences are usually associated with a negative impact on M&A performance, since the integration process is less easy and deals with higher employee resistance, communication problems, and lower interest in co-operation. Noticeably, cultural clashes are likely to be more prominent in cross-national than domestic acquisitions, since such mergers bring together not only two companies that have different organizational cultures but also organizational cultures rooted in national diversity. The scholars have identified building up of a common culture as essential for the success of merger and acquisitions. Researchers have found that high levels of employees’ social identification with the organization’s identity results in increased work effort, higher performance, reduced staff turnover and more frequent involvement in positive organizational citizenship.

Cultural Due Diligence

Cultural Due Diligence (CDD) is the process of identifying, assessing, investigating, evaluating and defining the cultures of two or more distinct corporates through a cultural analysis so that the similarities and differences that impact the merged organization are identified and remedial actions are taken well in advance. It should be carried along with M&A due diligence stage itself. The findings of cultural due diligence would be the base for post integration strategies.

Scope of Cultural Due diligence

The Cultural Due Diligence process covers

1. Leadership, Strategies and Governing principles: It covers vision, mission, values, business strategy development, leadership effectiveness, ethics, board room practices, role of independent directors etc.,
2. Relationships and behaviors: It covers trust, inter/intra group relationships, community and customers
3. Communication: feedback, information sharing, employee trust in information
4. Infrastructure: formal procedures, processes, systems, policies, structure and teams
5. Involvement & Decision Making: authority levels, accountability, expectations and the decision making process
6. Change Management: creativity, innovation, recognition, continuous learning and diversity
7. Communication platforms
8. Finance: perception of financial health and the role of the employee and the level of financial comprehension and impact on the business

Cultural Due Diligence is the process which analyzes the cultural aspects which includes:

- leadership vision
- management practices,
- governing principles,
- policies and procedures
- informal practices,
- relationship management,
- employee satisfaction,
- customer satisfaction,
- key business drivers,
- organizational characteristics,
- organizational perceptions
- communication mechanism etc.

Questions being analysed in Cultural Due Diligence

The following questions are being analysed for determining the different corporate culture.

1. What are the primary issues driving the business strategy?
2. What are the levels of relationship with the board and the senior management?
3. What is the nature of the relationship between groups and units in the organization?
4. What formal and informal systems are in place and what part do they play in the daily life of doing the work?
5. How do people dress and address each other?
6. How do the office ambience differ?
7. What are the working hours?
8. What are the variation in utilization of technology in daily routine?
9. How actual work is performed?
10. How authority and responsibility is allocated?
11. How the performance evaluation is done and reward is granted?
12. What are the reporting relationship in the organization?
13. What are the supervisory practices in the organization?

The above questions indicate that the corporate culture is basically focused on:

1. Leadership style and management practices.
2. Manner of organizational functioning.
3. Employees.

How to address Cultural Differences during merger?

1. Formation of strategies for cultural integration.
2. Analyzing the existing cultures.
3. Identifying common aspects and differences.
4. Decide if you want to go on with one of the existing cultures or if you prefer an integration culture.
5. Establish ‘bridges’ between both companies.
6. Establish a basis and mechanisms for the new culture.
7. Extensive interaction with people.

The following mechanism may help in resolving cultural differences:

1. Newsletters and hotlines.
2. Workshops.
3. Surveys, questionnaires and feedback analysis.
4. Synergy teams.
5. Continuous interactions.

CORPORATE GOVERNANCE DUE DILIGENCE

FACTORS INFLUENCING QUALITY OF CORPORATE GOVERNANCE

Quality of governance primarily depends on following factors:

(i) Integrity of the management;
While corporate governance is an important element affecting the long-term financial health of companies, it is only part of the larger economic context in which companies operate. The corporate governance framework depends on the legal, regulatory and institutional environment, business ethics and awareness of the environmental and societal interests of the constituencies in which it operates.

The degree to which corporations observe basic principles of good corporate governance is an increasingly important factor for taking key investment decisions. International flow of capital enables companies to seek financing from a larger pool of investors. If companies are to reap the full benefits of the global capital market, capture efficiency gains, benefit by the economies of scale and attract long term capital, adoption of corporate governance standards must be credible, consistent, coherent and inspiring.

As the final analysis the factors which add greater value through Good Governance, may be summarized as follows:

- Adoption of good governance practices provides stability and growth to the enterprise.
- Good governance system, demonstrated by adoption of good corporate governance practices, builds confidence amongst stakeholders as well as prospective stakeholders.
- Investors pay higher price to the corporates demonstrating strict adherence to internationally accepted norms of corporate governance.
- Effective governance reduces perceived risks, consequently reduces cost of capital and enables Board of directors to take quick and better decisions which ultimately improves bottom line of the corporates.
- Adoption of good corporate governance practices provides long-term sustainability and strengthens stakeholders’ relationship.
- A good corporate citizen becomes an icon and enjoys a position of respect.
- Potential stakeholders aspire to enter into relationships with enterprises whose governance credentials are exemplary.

I. INTRODUCTION

In the light of international economic development, there was a need felt to shift the focus from curbing monopolies to promoting competition. Further, in the wake of economic reforms in 1991 in tune with international environment, a high level committee on competition law and policy was constituted under the chairmanship of Shri S.V.S. Raghavan to examine the provisions of MRTP Act, and to propose modern competition law in view of liberalization of economy. The Committee brought out its report on May 22, 2000 and the Central Government after a detailed consultative process with Chamber of Commerce, trade associations, professional bodies and general public, enacted the Competition Act, 2002 which received the president’s assent on January 13, 2003.

The Competition Act seeks to ensure fair competition by providing for

(a) Prohibition of Anti-Competitive Agreements;
(b) Prohibition of Abuse of Dominance;
(c) Regulation of combinations, acquisitions, mergers etc.,
(d) Competition Advocacy.

To fulfill the objectives of the Act, government established Competition Commission of India with effect from October 14, 2003. This has replaced the MRTP Commission, which has been dissolved with effect from October 14, 2009.

Need for compliance of Competition Law

The basic purpose of the competition law is to ensure that markets remain competitive, to the benefit of both business and consumers. The compliance by the market participants of competition law, rules and directions issued by competition authorities, is a precondition in achieving the purpose of law.

Why Comply?

Business community needs to be fully aware that while anti competitive business practices may bring about short-term profits to individual corporations, in the long run they in fact become less competitive. Genuine business competitiveness is demonstrated through fierce competition in individual markets, and only competitiveness that survives market competition can sustain itself in the long term.

All businesses have a duty to act lawfully, but there are more practical reasons why compliance with competition law is particularly important. On a broad level, the main aim of competition law is to ensure that markets remain competitive. Compliance ensures that this aim is achieved to the benefit of both business and consumers. At an individual level, businesses that comply with the law could avoid the various consequences of non-compliance.

Further, compliance with competition law is more than just good corporate governance, as it reduces the risk of the company being subject to an investigation by the Competition authorities. In the event of violation of competition law, business can face significant financial penalties, third party actions and loss of reputation and goodwill.
In an era of global competition, voluntary compliance with competition law is becoming a global standard led by the world’s most prominent international corporations. This is due to the growing recognition that breach of competition law brings about managerial burdens rather than market benefits to individual companies. Corporations are thus obliged to firmly build up a business philosophy of abiding by established rules of fair market competition. In recognition of these facts, it becomes essential that all companies strive for voluntary observance of fair market discipline, and in the process help lay a cornerstone for a mature culture of corporate compliance.

Anti Competitive Agreements are void (Section 3(2))

Horizontal Agreements (Section 3(3))

Price Fixing (Section 3(3)(a))

Price fixing occurs when two or more firms agree to raise or fix the prices in order to increase their profits by reducing competition. It is an attempt at forming a collective monopoly.

Limiting the Production or supply (Section 3(3)(b))

The object of these agreements or arrangements is to eliminate the competition by limiting the quantity.

Allocation of Market Share (Section 3(3)(c))

It means agreement among enterprises that will have exclusive or preferential rights in a designated area for sale, production or provision of services or otherwise.

Bid Rigging (Section (3(3)(d))

An agreement, between enterprises or persons engaged in identical or similar production or trading of goods or provision of services, which has the effect of eliminating or reducing competition for bids or adversely affecting or manipulating the process for bidding. Bid rigging is a particular form of collusive price-fixing behaviour by which firms coordinate their bids.

Vertical Agreements (Section 3(4))

These are agreement between enterprises that are at different stages or levels of production chain and therefore in different markets. These agreements are not considered anti-competitive per se as in the case of horizontal agreements and have to be judged by the rule of reason.

Tie in arrangement (Section 3(4)(a))

It an agreement requiring a purchaser of goods as a condition of such purchase, to purchase some other goods.
Exclusive Supply agreement (Section 3(4)(b))

Exclusive supply agreement or exclusive dealings means an arrangement or practice whereby a manufacturer or supplier requires his dealers to deal exclusively in his products and not in the products of his competitors.

Exclusive Distribution Agreement (Section 3(4)(c))

Exclusive distribution agreement or exclusive territory includes agreement between enterprises that will have exclusive or preferential rights in a designated area for sales production, performance of services.

Refusal to Deal (Section 3(4)(d))

The practice of restricting persons or class of persons to whom the goods are sold or from whom the goods are bought.

Resale price Maintenance (Section 3(4)(e))

It is a situation in which the supplier forces the distributor/retail seller to sell the good to the customer at prices stipulated by the supplier.

A case Study on Anti-Competitive Agreement.

Competition Commission of India (CCI) finds cement companies guilty of anti-competitive agreements-cartelization, collusive price, dispatch and supplies parallelism, creating artificial scarcity by limiting output to raise prices

Facts

Information was filed under section 19 of the Competition Act, 2002 by the Builders' Association of India ('the informant') against the Cement Manufacturers' Association (CMA) 11 cement manufacturing companies for alleged violation of section 3 (Anti-competitive agreements) and section 4 (Abuse of dominant position) of the Competition Act, 2002.

Held

• Mere examination of data belonging to period prior to 20-5-2009 cannot be construed to mean that provisions of the Act have been applied retrospectively. Moreover, if the effects of an act/conduct, prior to 20-5-2009 continue post notification of the date of coming into force of provisions relating to anti-competitive agreements, the CCI has the necessary jurisdiction to look into such conduct.

• Section 3(3)(a) deals with any agreement which directly or indirectly determines the purchase or sale prices, section 3(3)(b) deals with any agreement which limits or controls production, supply, markets, technical development, investment or provision of services.

• The word 'agreement' used in section 3(3) has been defined in section 2(b). The definition is inclusive and inter-alia includes any arrangement, understanding or action in concert irrespective of whether it is written/formal or otherwise or intended to be legally enforceable. Thus, there is no need for an explicit agreement. The same can be inferred from the intention or conduct of the parties.

• Parties to an anti-competitive agreement will not come out in open and reveal their identity to be punished by the competition agencies. This is also the reason why the legislature in its wisdom has made the definition of 'agreement' wide and inclusive and not restricted it to a documented written agreement between parties.
• In cases of conspiracy or existence of any anti-competitive agreement, proof of formal agreement may not be available and may be established by circumstantial evidence alone.

• In addition to the exchange of information on prices and production using CMA as platform, there were other 'plus' or 'facilitating' factors over and above the existence of price parallelism which indicated collusive behaviour among the cement companies. One of the 'plus' factors that suggested a concerted action among the cement companies is the finding by the Director General (DG) as regards the overall low capacity utilisation and lower supply of cement. The overall capacity utilisation of cement companies dropped from 83% in 2009-10 to 73% during 2011-12. The companies were not able to substantiate their low capacity utilisation even during the period as per their version.

• The act of these Cement Companies in limiting and controlling supplies in the market and determining prices through an anti-competitive agreement is not only detrimental to the cause of the consumers but also to the whole economy since cement is a crucial input in construction and infrastructure industry vital for economic development of the country.

• The Cement Manufacturers were directed to deposit the penalty of `6,300 crores (Approx) within 90 days. They were also directed to 'cease and desist' from indulging in any activity relating to agreement, understanding or arrangement on prices, production and supply of cement in the market.

• CMA was directed to disengage and disassociate itself from collecting wholesale and retail prices through the member cement companies and also from circulating the details on production and dispatches of cement companies to its members.

Abuse of Dominance (Section 4)

As regards Competition Act, 2002, the following points are significant to understand the concept of ‘Abuse of Dominance’

1. What is Dominance?

   Explanation to Section 4(2) of the Competition Act 2002 defines dominant position (dominance) in terms of a position of strength enjoyed by an enterprise, in the relevant market in India, which enables it to:

   a. operate independently of the competitive forces prevailing in the relevant market; or

   b. affect its competitors or consumers or the relevant market in its favour.

2. What is relevant market?

   The definition of the term ‘Dominant Position’ contains the term ‘Relevant Market’ which is very significant to identify whether an enterprise is in a dominant position or not.

   The Competition Act, 2002 defines the term ‘Relevant Market’ also.

   “relevant market” means the market which may be determined by the Commission with reference to the relevant product market or the relevant geographic market or with reference to both the markets;

   “relevant geographic market” means a market comprising the area in which the conditions of competition for supply of goods or provision of services or demand of goods or services are distinctly homogenous and can be distinguished from the conditions prevailing in the neighbouring areas;

   “relevant product market” means a market comprising all those products or services which are regarded as interchangeable or substitutable by the consumer, by reason of characteristics of the products or services, their prices and intended use;
Dominance as such is not bad

Dominance of market as such is not bad under Competition Act, but its abuse is prohibited under the Act.

The Act gives an exhaustive list of practices that constitute abuse of dominant position and, therefore, are prohibited. Such practices shall constitute abuse only when adopted by an enterprise enjoying dominant position in the relevant market in India.

When Dominance gets abused?

Abuse of dominance is judged in terms of the specified types of acts committed by a dominant enterprise alone or in concert. Such acts are prohibited under the law. Section 4 (2) of the Act specifies the following practices by a dominant enterprises or group of enterprises as abuse of dominant position:

- directly or indirectly imposing unfair or discriminatory condition in purchase or sale of goods or service;
- directly or indirectly imposing unfair or discriminatory price in purchase or sale (including predatory price) of goods or service;
- limiting or restricting production of goods or provision of services or market;
- limiting or restricting technical or scientific development to the prejudice of consumers;
- denying market access in any manner;
- making conclusion of contracts subject to acceptance by other parties of supplementary obligations which, by their nature or according to commercial usage, have no connection with the subject of such contracts;
- Using its dominant position in one relevant market to enter into, or protect, other relevant market.

A Case Study - Intel

The European Commission imposed a fine of €1.06 Billion on Intel Corporation for violating EC Treaty antitrust rules on the abuse of a dominant market position by engaging in anti-competitive practices and for excluding competitors from the market for computer chips called x86 central processing units (CPUs).

Facts of the case

Throughout the period October 2002-December 2007, Intel had a dominant position in the worldwide x86 CPU market (at least 70% market share).

The Commission found that Intel engaged in two specific forms of illegal practice.

- First, Intel gave wholly or partially hidden rebates to computer manufacturers on condition that they bought all, or almost all, their x86 CPUs from Intel. Intel also made direct payments to a major retailer on condition to stock only computers with Intel x86 CPUs. Such rebates and payments effectively prevented customers - and ultimately consumers - from choosing alternative products.
- Second, Intel made direct payments to computer manufacturers to halt or delay the launch of specific products containing competitors’ x86 CPUs and to limit the sales channels available to these products.

The Commission found that these practices constituted abuse by Intel of its’ dominant position on the x86 CPU market that harmed consumers throughout the European Economic Area. By undermining its competitors’ ability to compete on the merits of their products, Intel’s actions undermined competition and innovation.
The Commission has also ordered Intel to cease ongoing abusive practices immediately.

A brief Analysis of Intel case under Competition Act, 2002

- In the above mentioned case the relevant market is ‘Relevant Product Market”, and to be more specific, ‘Computer Chip Market’
- The dominance is abused on the grounds of ‘Denial of Market Access’ which is listed as one of the grounds of abuse of dominance, under Section 4(2)(c) of Competition Act, 2002

Regulation of Combinations. (Section 5)

Combination under Competition Act, 2002

Combination means acquisition of control, shares, voting rights or assets, acquisition of control by a person over an enterprise where such person has control over another enterprise engaged in competing businesses, and mergers and amalgamations between or amongst enterprises when the combining parties exceed the thresholds set in the Act. The thresholds are unambiguously specified in the Act in terms of assets or turnover in India and abroad. Entering into a combination which causes or is likely to cause an appreciable adverse effect on competition within the relevant market in India is prohibited and such combination would be void.

Sections 5 and 6 of the Competition Act, 2002 came into force with effect from 1 June 2011

Combinations – Thresholds

The current thresholds for the combined assets/turnover of the combining parties are as follows:

- Individuals: Either the combined assets of the enterprises are more than ₹1,500 crore in India or the combined turnover of the enterprise is more than ₹4,500 crore in India. In case either or both of the enterprises have assets/turnover outside India also, then the combined assets of the enterprises are more than US $750 million, including at least ₹750 crore in India, or turnover is more than US$ 2,250 million, including at least ₹2,250 crore in India.

- Group: The group to which the enterprise whose control, shares assets or voting rights are being acquired would belong after the acquisition or the group to which the enterprise remaining the merger or amalgamation would belong has either than ₹6,000 crore in India or turnover more than ₹18,000 crore in India. Where the group has presence in India as well as outside India then the group has assets more than US $ 3 billion including at least ₹750 crore in India or turnover more than US$ 9 billion including at least ₹2,250 crore in India.

- In exercise of the powers conferred by clause (a) of section 54 of the Competition Act, 2002, the Central Government, in public interest, hereby exempts an enterprise, whose control, shares, voting rights or assets are being acquired has either assets of the value of not more than ₹250 crore in India or turnover of not more than ₹750 crore in India from the provisions of section 5 of the said Act for a period of five years.

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Applicable to</th>

1 Crore = 10 million

The turnover shall be determined by taking into account the values of sale of goods or services. The value of assets shall be determined by taking the book value of the assets as shown in the audited books of account of the enterprise, in the financial year immediately preceding the financial year in which the date of proposed combination falls, as reduced by any depreciation. The value of assets shall also include the brand value, value of goodwill, or intellectual Property Rights etc. referred to in explanation (c) to section 5 of the Act.

Regulation of combinations

Section 6 of the Competition Act, 2002 prohibits any person or enterprise from entering into a combination which causes or is likely to cause an appreciable adverse effect on competition within the relevant market in India and if such a combination is formed, it shall be void.

DUE DILIGENCE OF COMPETITION LAW ASPECTS

Due diligence on competition law aspects is an examination of the actual operations and practices of an enterprise to determine the extent of its compliance with the competition law and to identify potential risks and liabilities, and assess the adherence to and effectiveness of the company’s competition law compliance policy and training program.

Primary components of Competition Law due diligence are:

- An examination of selected company documents.
- Interviews with selected company personnel.
- Identify specific business activities that potentially could create antitrust exposure for the company.
- The results of the due diligence may suggest an enterprise to have an effective competition law compliance programme.
- The results of the due diligence may result in variation of deal value, withdrawal of deal and also make suggestions to structure a compliance program.
How to go about the process of due diligence of competition law?

Due diligence of competition law may be made under the following heads:

(a) Due diligence of various agreements (both existing and proposed)
(b) Due diligence on dominance and its likely abuse if any, (existing)
(c) Due diligence on combinations (i.e. effect of proposed mergers & Acquisition)
(d) Competition law compliance programme of an enterprise

Due Diligence of various agreements include

- agreements relating to production, supply and distribution of goods or services.
- agreement if any with competitor relating to production, marketing or bidding, price etc.
- agreements with customers and distributors.
- purchase agreements.
- non-compete covenants.
- technology transfer/technical know-how agreements.
- Concession agreements

Due diligence on abuse of dominance if any includes

- Examination as to the existence of dominance
- Examination of relevant market, whether product or geographical
- Cases of abuse if any,

Due diligence on regulation of combinations

The following aspects are to be analysed during due diligence process:

- What is the nature of combination? Whether it is acquisition of share, voting rights, assets or control or merger/amalgamation etc?
- Examination of total value of Assets or Turnover and the valuation methodology.
- Status of merger notification to be filed with CCI
- Status of dominance after merger.

DUE DILIGENCE CHECKLIST FOR COMPLIANCE WITH COMPETITION ACT, 2002

I CHECKLIST FOR ANTI COMPETITIVE AGREEMENTS

Section 3 of the Competition Act, 2002 dealing with anti-competitive agreements prohibits such agreements or practices, or decision taken which causes or is likely to cause an appreciable adverse effect on competition within India.
An enterprise might enter into horizontal\(^1\) or vertical\(^2\) agreements during the ordinary course of business. However, when agreements are entered to prevent the competition, such agreements are not in accordance with the principles of fair play in the market, hence anti-competitive.

In this context, it is important to note that the term Agreement\(^3\) would include any arrangement or understanding or action in concert whether or not it is formal or in writing; or it is intended to be enforceable by legal proceedings. This definition is an inclusive one and covers not only an agreement as understood in the conventional sense under the Indian Contract Act, but any arrangement or understanding or action in concert. In other words, the form of agreement is of no importance. Not only written agreements are deemed to come within the scope of competition law but also verbal agreements or so-called co-ordinated policies, i.e. deliberate and intended collaboration between individual companies for the purpose of eliminating or restricting competition in a certain market.

The following general principles/checklist should be considered in connection with Horizontal and Vertical Agreements under Section 3.

DO NOT

- jointly determine selling or purchase prices
- jointly determine price increases
- jointly fix specific minimum or maximum prices or price ranges
- jointly agree on rebates, discounts
- agree to adhere to published price lists
- quote a price without consulting potential competitors
- not to charge less than any other price in the market
- grant discounts or special deals on a published list price or ruling price
- hold prices firm
- adopt a standard formula for computing prices or to the formulae by which prices or ancillary terms are to be calculated.
- maintain certain price differentials between different types, sizes, or quantities of products
- adhere to a minimum fee or price schedule
- fix credit terms, discounts or allowances to be granted, transport charges, payments for additional services, credit terms or the terms of guarantees
- not to advertise prices
- accept recommendations of a trade association in relation to price
- indulge in collective price-fixing or price co-ordination of any product\(^4\)
- fix/exchange any price related conditions including discussions related to aspects of pricing with competitors
- share information about prices, discounts, profit margins, cost structures, during meetings of a trade

1 Horizontal agreements mean agreements between companies acting on the same marketing stage, e.g. agreements with competing manufacturers.
2 Vertical agreements mean agreements between companies acting on different marketing stages, e.g. agreements with distributors and customers, licensees, suppliers or licensors.
3 Section 2 (b) of The Competition Act, 2002
4 Regardless of the form it takes for instance, decision that requires members to post their prices at the association’s premises or on the association’s website etc., as well as any recommendation on prices and charges, including discounts and allowances.
• mutually agree not to supply certain customers or not to purchase from certain suppliers
• agree with competitors to make the supply or purchase of goods subject to certain mutually agreed conditions.
• share or allocate markets between competitors in respect of specific territories, products, customers or sources of supply.
• fix production, buying and selling quotas between competitors.
• submit an offer, which is not capable of being successfully honoured/performed.
• brings multiple bids to a bid opening and submits its bid only after coming to know as to who else is bidding.
• make a statement indicating advance knowledge of the offers of the competitors.
• make a statement that a bid is a ‘complementary’, ‘token’ or ‘cover’ bid.
• make statement that the bidders have discussed prices and reached an understanding.
• give the false impression that the enterprise is a party to any anticompetitive agreement.
• discuss among competitors of such matters as need for changes in price levels, prospective production plans, allocation of markets, action aimed at hindering the prospects of competitors, or the like.
• speculate as to the legal propriety or consequences of specific conduct.
• agree in writing or in any other way on prices or pricing policy.
• exchange specific and recent information with competitors on individual purchasing prices, cost price structure, sales quantities or other trading conditions.
• restrict the liberty of competitors to promote and sell products at independently determined prices and conditions.
• restrict the possibilities of competitors to use a common quality label.
• enter into standardisation agreements with competitors that might make entry for new entrant in the market more difficult.
• fix prices other than maximum or recommended prices.
• restrict import or export or the type of customers.
• in case of exclusive distribution: do not restrict passive sales.
• in case of selective distribution: do not restrict sales inside the system.

II CHECKLIST FOR ABUSE OF DOMINANT POSITION

Competition Act, 2002 does not prohibit the mere possession of dominant position, but only its abuse, thus recognizing that a dominant position may have been achieved through superior economic performance. Once it is determined that an enterprise is in dominant position, then the next question that arises is whether there has been an abuse of dominant position. In particular Section 4(2) states that there shall be an abuse of dominant position if an enterprise indulges in any of the activities listed in the sub-section, these being: unfair or discriminatory condition or price including predatory pricing, limiting or restricting production or technical or scientific development, denying market access, imposing supplementary obligations having no connection with the subject of the contract, or using dominance in one market to enter into or protect another relevant market. Thus, the Act provides for five kinds of abuses and the list of abuses is exhaustive, and not merely illustrative.

The abuses referred under section 4(2) of the Competition Act, 2002 include exploitative abuses such as unfair or discriminatory conditions or prices as well as exclusionary abuses such as denial of market access.

DO NOT

- discriminate between different customers.
- abruptly refuse to supply.
- abruptly refuse to provide services.
- discriminate prices or rebates between similar customers.
- take more restrictive measures than are necessary to protect it business interests.
- give Unjustified rebates, discounts or sale incentives.
- discriminate in regard to granting discount, rebate or allowance to a purchaser over and above any granted to his competitors, in respect of sale of goods of like grade, quality and quantity.
- between purchasers differently located.
- provide Discriminatory differential bonus or discount based on quantity.
- provide Discriminatory discounts based on quantities.
- operate the pricing mechanism in such manner that as and when there is a rise in cost of production, the sale price should be changed proportionately.
- discriminate in relation to prices, terms of sale, or the quality or quantity of what is supplied, and may extend to refusal to sell.
- discriminate in terms and conditions in the supply or purchase of goods or services, for ex- ample, extension of discriminated credit facilities or ancillary services.
- impose discriminatory or unfair conditions to any category of users, or any other enterprise having contractual relationship with the dominant enterprise.

III  CHECKLIST FOR REGULATION OF COMBINATIONS

According to the provisions of the Competition Act, 2002, combinations are discouraged, if they reduce or harm competition. Act does not provide for monitoring all kinds of combinations by the CCI, for the reason that very few Indian companies are of international size and that in the light of continuing economic reforms, opening up of trade and foreign investment, a great deal of corporate restructuring is taking place in the country and that there is a need for mergers, amalgamations etc. as part of the growing economic process before India can be on an equal footing to compete with global giants, as long as the mergers are not prejudicial to consumer interest.

It is in this context, the provisions relating to combinations in the Act are fairly liberal, in the sense that the thresholds are relatively high, and if the Commission fails to complete the investigation and pass an order regarding the combination within the prescribed time period, the combination is deemed to have been approved.

The Competition Act, 2002 regulates those combinations which, in certain circumstances, causes or is likely to cause an appreciable adverse effect on competition within relevant market in India and renders such a combination as void.

FOLLOWING SHOULD BE AVOIDED

- the acquisition of a potential entrant;
- an acquisition, by the market leader, pre-empting the acquisition by another competitor;
- the acquisition of an existing business by a firm that would likely have entered the market in the absence of the combination;
- an acquisition that prevents expansion into new geographic markets;
- an acquisition that prevents pro-competitive effects of new capacity;
- leveraging dominant position in any market into a vertically related market by combined entity;
- restricting access to an essential input;
- raising barriers to new entry;
- evasion of access or downstream price regulation;
- price discrimination;
- price coordination.

Under the provisions of Competition Act, 2002, no documents, are exempt from disclosure. All documents may be subject to production, including agenda, minutes of the meetings, annual reports, statements relating to corporate information made, discussed at various forums. Hence, it is in the interest of the company to ensure that its employees comply with the Competition Act, 2002.

The above checklist is not to be regarded as covering all competition issues that can arise. Rather, they are intended to educate the officer or employee of the enterprise of some of the common situations in which competition issues may arise. It is pertinent to note that failure to comply with Competition Act, 2002 has serious consequences for the enterprise, its officers, and employees.

NEED FOR COMPETITION COMPLIANCE PROGRAMME

It goes without saying that prevention is always better than cure. When businesses fail to have a compliance program, or when it is ineffective, they are essentially relying on others to bring that failure to their attention. It is far better when companies discover a breach first and act to rectify the problem, rather than the competition authorities bringing the breach to the company’s attention. Given today’s rigorous competitive environment, a robust competition compliance programme is an absolute must for enterprises.

As every business is unique, so each company requires different steps to ensure compliance with competition law. These depend on a range of factors, including the size and nature of the business, and the frequency of contact of employees with their competitors. Businesses which are able to significantly affect the market in which they are operating or which have large market shares, may be more vulnerable to allegations of abuse of their strong position in the market. Their agreements may be more likely to have an appreciable adverse effect on competition in the market. Employees or directors of a business who have regular contact with competitors on a business or social basis may run a higher risk of colluding.

A compliance programme therefore provides a formal internal framework for ensuring that businesses, i.e., the management and individual employees, comply with competition law. It may include such elements as training to raise awareness of law, the use of checklists to ensure compliance by individual staff with company policies, recording systems to document any permitted contacts that employees have with competitors and independent reviews of agreements, behavior and staff to monitor ongoing compliance. It can also help identify actual or potential infringements at an early stage, enabling the company to take appropriate remedial action.

When considering whether it is necessary to implement a compliance programme, companies should bear in mind that if they do commit an infringement, the competition authorities may take a lenient view where they can show that they have taken adequate steps to achieve compliance. The larger the business and the greater the risk of infringement, the more likely it is that adequate steps will include the introduction of a compliance programme. As a starting point it is helpful to assess the extent to which competition law will affect the business and the risk of committing an infringement. In case the risk of infringement is high, more elaborate measures may be required to ensure compliance.

Further, if employees understand competition law, they will also be able to recognize when the business is a victim of anti-competitive agreements or conduct, and be better-placed to protect the business’ interests by making a reasoned complaint to the Competition Commission.

Compliance programmes have following three main purposes:

(i) they strive to prevent violation of law,
(ii) promote a culture of compliance, and
(iii) encourage good corporate citizenship.

As the consequences of infringement can be serious a compliance programme must be capable of meeting the changing requirements of business and must make efforts as part of the regular evaluation process to ensure that the compliance programme continues to be relevant.

Competition Compliance programme help reduce legal costs in the short run by enabling the enterprise to avoid violation of competition laws, while in the long run, they increase corporate competitiveness by raising the value of an enterprise. The prescription of behavioral standards under the compliance programme not only prevents officers and employees of an enterprise from unconsciously violating the competition laws, but at the same time, relieve the employees of the fear that accompanies breach of such laws. The enterprises also save time and money by securing the following benefits from compliance programme:

- Corporate officers and employees being well aware of the requirements of competition law may maintain legal transparency.
- Corporate officers have advance perception concerning the activity of employees that might violate competition laws.
- Corporate officers and employees can avoid civil and criminal liability resulting from violation of competition laws.
The costs of legal counseling and litigation incurred from investigation and prosecution of acts of violation, as well as penalties, negative publicity, and disruptions in normal corporate operation, can be reduced.

An effective compliance programme equips the enterprise with the capacity to demonstrate due diligence to the competition authorities. This is a benefit that can make the cost and effort in putting in place a compliance program seem the best possible investment by company. This is because the amount of time the corporate professionals, who have encountered regulatory action, have had to devote in dealing with enforcement action, when they could be better focussed on more constructive activities of the company. This is not to ignore the cost involved in employing lawyers or paying fines or damages, and the negative impact on the business brand if found to be in breach of the law. There is evidence to suggest a strong link between effective compliance programme and maintaining the reputation of an enterprise and its brands.

Compliance embodied by a well-managed and adequately resourced corporate governance system, is aimed at a business enabler. In a paper presented at an Australian compliance forum, the author summarises that the importance of a good governance system, a holistic approach to compliance, can not be over emphasised: in an increasingly responsive stakeholder environment managing regulatory risk and being committed to the principles of good governance is vital to overall strategic management.

One of the greatest potential benefits of a vigorous compliance program is the ability to protect the company from being a victim of waste, fraud and abuse. The very same techniques that help prevent a company from harming others, also helps protect the company from being victimised.

Advantages of Competition Compliance Programme

Competition Compliance programme offers various advantages to the companies during its ordinary course of business. Broadly, the advantages of Competition Compliance programme can be classified as under:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Positive Benefits to Business</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>An effective compliance programme that embeds a culture of compliance throughout the organisation can be a business enhancer offering positive benefits to business. A superior knowledge of the risks faced by the organisation and of the measures in place to guard against those risks can provide a company with a competitive advantage. When employees are aware of their rights and obligations, customer service improves and the employees become more alert and better able to deal with unlawful conduct that the company may be subjected to. A company can obtain value from good governance and compliance, develop a better culture, sustain itself for long term and maintain its reputation, and may avoid or reduce the negative effects of litigation and regulatory intervention.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Reputation and Goodwill</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Companies that contravene the competition law may suffer damage to their reputation, unraveling years of careful marketing and brand development. In the era of information age it is more difficult to escape events that in the past were consigned to fading memories and dusty library shelves. Information on past misconduct by companies can now be retrieved at the stroke of a keyboard.</td>

LESSON ROUND UP

- All businesses have a duty to act lawfully, but there are more practical reasons why compliance with competition law is particularly important. On a broad level, the main aim of competition law is to ensure that markets remain competitive.
- The Competition Act, 2002 was passed to encourage competition in markets in India.
- The Competition Act broadly covers anti-competitive agreements, abuse of dominance and regulation of combinations.
- During combinations, i.e. mergers or takeovers, the businesses of the transferor and transferee are to be studies from the point of view of anti-trust aspects (i.e. Competition aspects). This process is competition law due diligence.
- Competition law due diligence involves examination of various agreements, check into the companies dominance and its' abuse if any, checking combination thresholds, implementing competition compliance programme help reduce legal costs in the short run by enabling the enterprise to avoid violation of competition laws, while in the long run, they increase corporate competitiveness by raising the value of an enterprise.

Lesson 10
DUE DILIGENCE FOR BANKS

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Reserve Bank of India, with a view to facilitate industry has liberalized rules for consortium lending a little more than a decade back. Multiple banking as a concept had also started gaining ground at that time and many corporates opted for the multiple banking route presumably due to the perceived rigidity of the consortium arrangement. Unfortunately, exchange of information between banks was minimal and resultantly unscrupulous borrowers were able to take advantage of the information asymmetry that prevailed. The Central Vigilance Commission concerned at this development had attributed this phenomena to lack of effective sharing of information amongst banks. A need was felt, all along to have certification of statutory compliances by a Company through a professional such as a Company Secretary/Chartered Accountant/Cost Accountant so that the lending banks get the desired comfort. Accordingly, the Reserve Bank of India advised all the scheduled commercial Banks to obtain regular certification (Diligence Report) by a professional, preferably a Company Secretary, regarding compliance of various statutory prescriptions that are in vogue in the specified format. The Diligence Report broadly covers many critical and relevant matters such as details of the Board of Directors, shareholding pattern, details of the forex exposure and overseas borrowings, risk mitigation through insurance cover in respect of all assets, payment of all statutory dues and other compliances, proper utilisation/end-use of the loan funds, compliance with mandatory Accounting Standards, compliance with various clauses of Listing Agreement in case of a listed company etc. The compact structure of the Diligence Report under its twenty-five paragraphs makes it obligatory for a Practicing Company Secretary to prepare the Report after critical examination of all relevant records and documents of the borrowing companies which demands a high degree of care, skill and knowledge. After reading this lesson you will be able to understand the scope, process of due diligence for banks including compliance checklist.
INTRODUCTION

The Reserve Bank of India vide its Circular No. DBOD NO. BP. BC. 46/08.12.001/2008-09 dated September 19, 2008 advised all the scheduled commercial Banks (excluding RRBs and LABs) to obtain regular certification (DILIGENCE REPORT) by a professional, preferably a Company Secretary, regarding compliance of various statutory prescriptions that are in vogue, as per specimen given in the aforesaid notification. Further RBI vide its Circular dated January 21, 2009 also advised all Primary Urban Co-operative Banks to obtain Diligence Report. Subsequently the RBI vide its Circulars dated December 08, 2008 and February 10, 2009 revised the format of Diligence Report for Scheduled Commercial Banks and also for Primary Urban Co-operative Banks vide its Circular dated February 12, 2009.

Background

In October 1996, various regulatory prescriptions regarding conduct of consortium/multiple banking/syndicate arrangements were withdrawn by Reserve Bank of India with a view to introducing flexibility in the credit delivery system and to facilitate smooth flow of credit. However, Central Vigilance Commission (CVC), Government of India, in the light of frauds involving consortium/multiple banking arrangements which have taken place in the recent past, expressed concerns on the working of Consortium Lending and Multiple Banking Arrangements in the banking system. The CVC attributed the incidence of frauds mainly to the lack of effective sharing of information about the credit history and the conduct of the account of the borrowers amongst various banks.

The matter was examined by the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) in consultation with the Indian Banks Association (IBA) who were of the opinion that there is need for improving the sharing/dissemination of information among the banks about the status of the borrowers enjoying credit facilities from more than one bank.

The RBI vide its Circular No. RBI/2008-2009-313/DBOD No. B.P. BC 94/08.12.001/2008-2009 dated December 08, 2008, advised the banks to strengthen their information back-up about the borrowers enjoying credit facilities from multiple banks as under:

(i) At the time of granting fresh facilities, banks may obtain declaration from the borrowers about the credit facilities already enjoyed by them from other banks. In the case of existing lenders, all the banks may seek a declaration from their existing borrowers availing sanctioned limits of `5.00 crore and above or wherever, it is in their knowledge that their borrowers are availing credit facilities from other banks, and introduce a system of exchange of information with other banks as indicated above.

(ii) Subsequently, banks should exchange information about the conduct of the borrowers‘ accounts with other banks at least at quarterly intervals.

(iii) Obtain regular certification by a professional, preferably a Company Secretary, regarding compliance of various statutory prescriptions that are in vogue.

(iv) Make greater use of credit reports available from Credit Information Bureau of India Limited (CIBIL).

(v) The banks should incorporate suitable clauses in the loan agreements in future (at the time of next renewal in the case of existing facilities) regarding exchange of credit information so as to address confidentiality issues.
Need for Diligence Report

In order to streamline consortium/multiple banking arrangements, Reserve Bank of India has been making regulatory prescriptions from time to time regarding conduct of consortium/multiple banking. Banks have also been advised to strengthen their information back-up about the borrowers enjoying credit facilities from multiple banks by following specified criteria.

Way back in October 1996, Reserve Bank of India withdrew various regulatory prescriptions regarding conduct of consortium/multiple banking/syndicate arrangements so as to bring flexibility in the credit delivery system. With the passage of time, however, it was observed that the relaxations meant for providing flexibility to the borrowing community, may also have contributed to various types of frauds, prompting the Central Vigilance Commission to attribute the incidence of frauds mainly to the lack of effective sharing of information about the credit history and the conduct of account of the borrowers among various banks.

Accordingly, Reserve Bank of India in consultation with the Indian Banks’ Association, specified the framework to be observed by banks for improving the sharing/dissemination of information amongst the banks about the status of the borrowers enjoying credit facilities from more than one bank. Further, the banks are required to obtain regular certification of Diligence Report from a professional, preferably a Company Secretary about conformity to statutory prescriptions in vogue. Thus, the banking community in general and the Regulatory in particular have reposed enormous trust on professionals.

The Diligence Report covers many critical and relevant matters such as details of the Board of Directors, shareholding pattern, details of the forex exposure and overseas borrowings, risk mitigation through insurance cover in respect of all assets, payment of all statutory dues and other compliances, proper utilization/end-use of the loan funds, compliance with mandatory Accounting Standards, compliance with various clauses of Listing Agreement in case of a listed company etc. The compact structure of the Diligence Report under its twenty-five paragraphs makes it obligatory for a Practicing Company Secretary to prepare the Report after critical examination of all relevant records and documents of the borrowing companies which demands a high degree of care, skill and knowledge.

The introduction of diligence reporting by Company Secretary in Practice is expected to lay down a strong foundation for good governance culture among borrowing corporates and correspondingly enhance the comfort level of the banks by reducing the information asymmetry prevailing currently.

Scope of Diligence Report

The Practising Company Secretary (PCS) is required to certify compliance in respect of matters specified in the RBI Circular No. DBOD NO. BP. BC. 46/08.12.001/2008-09 dated September 19, 2008. Para (2)(iii) of the RBI Circular specifies that the Diligence Report shall be in the format given in Annex III thereto. The format has been subsequently revised and streamlined by RBI.

GUIDANCE ON DILIGENCE REPORTING

The following paragraphs outline the Compliance Inputs that may be relied upon by the PCS for the purpose of issue of Diligence Report. Compliance Inputs and checklist are indicative and PCS shall not exclusively rely upon that, but use that as a guide and apply his own judgement to determine what is to be checked and to what extent.
Period of Reporting

Annex. III to the RBI Notification provides that the Diligence Report shall be made on a half yearly basis.

Secretary in Whole-Time Practice

Section 2(45A) of the Company Secretaries Act, 1980 defines “secretary in whole-time practice” as a secretary who shall be deemed to be in practice within the meaning of sub-section (2) of section 2 of the Company Secretaries Act, 1980 and who is not in full-time employment. Thus, a member of the Institute of Company Secretaries of India, who is not in full-time employment can become a Secretary in whole-time practice (hereinafter referred to as PCS) after obtaining from the Council of the Institute a Certificate of Practice under section 6 of the Company Secretaries Act, 1980 and the regulations thereunder.

Right to Access Records and Methodology for Diligence Reporting

To enable the PCS to issue the Diligence Report, the Company (borrower) should provide the PCS access at all times to the books, papers, minutes books, forms and returns filed under various statutes, documents and records of the company, whether kept in pursuance of the applicable laws or otherwise and whether kept at the registered office of the company or elsewhere which he considers essential for the purposes of Diligence Reporting. The PCS shall be entitled to require from the officers or agents of the company, such information and explanations as the PCS may think necessary for the purpose of such Reporting. However, depending on the facts and circumstances he/she may obtain a letter of representation from the company in respect of matters where verification by PCS may not be practicable, for example matters like —

(i) dis-qualification of directors;
(ii) show cause notices received;
(iii) persons and concerns in which directors are interested, etc.

Reporting with Qualification

The qualification, reservation or adverse remarks, if any, may be stated by the PCS at the relevant places. It is recommended that the qualifications, reservations or adverse remarks of PCS, if any, should be stated in thick type or in italics in the Diligence Report.

If the PCS is unable to form any opinion with regard to any specific matter, the PCS shall state clearly the fact that he is unable to form an opinion with regard to that matter and the reasons thereof.

If the scope of work required to be performed, is restricted on account of limitations imposed by the company or on account of circumstantial limitations (like certain books or papers being in custody of another person or Government Authority) the Report shall indicate such limitation.

If such limitations are so material as to render the PCS incapable of expressing any opinion, the PCS should state that:

“in the absence of necessary information and records, he is unable to report compliance(s) or otherwise by the Company”.

PCS shall have due regard to the circulars and/or clarifications issued by the Reserve Bank of India from time to time. It is recommended that a specific reference of such circulars at the relevant places in the Report shall be made, wherever possible.

Professional Responsibility and Penalty for False Diligence Report

While the RBI Notification has opened up a significant area of practice for Company Secretaries, it equally casts immense responsibility on them and poses a greater challenge whereby they have to justify fully the faith and confidence reposed by the banking industry and measure up to their expectations. Company Secretaries must take adequate care while issuing Diligence Report.

Any failure or lapse on the part of a Practising Company Secretary (PCS) in issuing a Diligence Report may not only attract penalty for false Reporting and disciplinary action for professional or other misconduct under the provisions of the Company Secretaries Act, 1980 but also make him liable for any injury caused to any person due to his/her negligence in issuing the Diligence Report. Therefore, it becomes imperative for the PCS that he/she exercises great care and caution while issuing the Diligence Report and also adheres to the highest standards of professional ethics and excellence in providing his/her services.

While preparing the Diligence Report the PCS should ensure that no field in the report is left blank. If there is nothing to be reported or the field is not applicable to the company, then the PCS should write ‘none’ or ‘nil’ or ‘not applicable’ as the case may be.

The PCS should obtain a list of statutes applicable to the Company before proceeding with the assignment for issue of Diligence Report.

“1. The management of the Company is carried out by the Board of Directors comprising of as listed in Annexure …., and the Board was duly constituted. During the period under review the changes that took place in the Board of Directors of the Company are listed in the Annexure …., and such changes were carried out in due compliance with the provisions of the Companies Act, 1956.”

LESSON ROUND UP

• In October 1996, various regulatory prescriptions regarding conduct of consortium/multiple banking/syndicate arrangements were withdrawn by Reserve Bank of India with a view to introducing flexibility in the credit delivery system and to facilitate smooth flow of credit. However, Central Vigilance Commission (CVC), Government of India, in the light of frauds involving consortium/multiple banking arrangements which have taken place in the recent past, expressed concerns on the working of Consortium Lending and Multiple Banking Arrangements in the banking system. The CVC attributed the incidence of frauds mainly to the lack of effective sharing of information about the credit history and the conduct of the account of the borrowers among various banks.
• The matter was examined by the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) in consultation with the Indian Banks Association (IBA) who were of the opinion that there is need for improving the sharing/dissemination of information among the banks about the status of the borrowers enjoying credit facilities from more than one bank.

• The Reserve Bank of India vide its Circular No. DBOD NO. BP. BC. 46/08.12.001/2008-09 dated September 19, 2008 advised all the scheduled commercial Banks (excluding RRBs and LABs) to obtain regular certification (DILIGENCE REPORT) by a professional, preferably a Company Secretary, regarding compliance of various statutory prescriptions that are in vogue, as per specimen given in the aforesaid notification.

• Further RBI vide its Circular dated January 21, 2009 also advised all Primary Urban Co-operative Banks to obtain Diligence Report. Subsequently the RBI vide its Circulars dated December 08, 2008 and February 10, 2009 revised the format of Diligence Report for Scheduled Commercial Banks and also for Primary Urban

Lesson 11
ENVIRONMENTAL DUE DILIGENCE

LESSON OUTLINE

- Introduction
- Environmental failures may lead to financial, reputational damage and business discontinuity as well.
- Why Environmental due diligence?
- Process involved in environmental due diligence
- Regulatory framework relating to environment
- Checklist on various compliances
- Environment Impact Assessment
- Environment Management Plan
- Identification of potential issues, impact analysis and remedial measures etc.,

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Environmental failures not only result in financial loss, but reputation loss, public damage and at times total business failure. Compliance with environmental responsibilities from the letter and spirit is the primary requirement of organizations today for business sustainability.

Environmental due diligence has gained importance in the recent past while carrying out inorganic business transactions such as mergers, acquisitions, takeovers etc mainly due to increased awareness and consciousness of the public from potential negative environmental impact of the organization that may be caused by the company on them. Besides the regulatory framework also supports the environmental cleaning mechanism. Any potential non compliance of laws /negligence towards society would cause major environmental risk which will have an impact on the financial side too, in addition to reputational damage.

After reading this study you will be able to understand the impact of environmental failures on business, importance of due diligence on environmental obligations of business, various compliances of environmental laws, environment impact assessment, environment management plan etc.,

“Earth provides enough to satisfy every man's needs, but not every man's greed.”
— Mahatma Gandhi

Environmental Due Diligence has become an important feature of an increasing number of mergers & acquisitions(M&A) transactions.

— Environmental Due Diligence: a survey of major UK companies by KPMG
INTRODUCTION

Environmental problems often threaten the viability of transactions. If a business transaction proceeds without environmental risks being correctly evaluated or addressed, they can significantly reduce the profitability of the acquisition.

Society is increasingly unwilling to tolerate harm to the environment, and those businesses that are perceived to be irresponsible towards environment and community can expect considerable criticisms from the media and public. Environmental risk can have serious negative effects on an organisation’s financial well being and its ability to achieve its business objectives.

Considering the impact of business failures towards environment in terms of cost of non-compliance, in terms of economic and other reputational matters, businesses are to be assessed from the point of view of environment.

Environmental failures may lead to financial, reputational damage and business discontinuity as well.

Environmental non-compliances may not only result in huge financial liability or reputation wreck, but also may result in business discontinuity or huge public damage. The following case studies would throw some light on the impact of environmental failures.

1. Sri Ram Food and Fertilizer Case (M.C. Mehta v. Union of India, AIR 1987 SC 1086)

In that case, a major leakage of Oileum Gas affected a large number of persons, both amongst the workmen and public. The Supreme Court held that where an enterprise is engaged in a hazardous or inherently dangerous activity and harm results to any one on account of an accident in the operation of such hazardous and inherently dangerous activity resulting in the escape of toxic gas the enterprise is strictly and absolutely liable to compensate all those who are affected by the accident and such a liability is not subject to any exception.

In that case, carrying haphazard and dangerous limestone quarrying in the Mussorie Hill range of the Himalaya, mines blasting out the hills with dynamite, extracting limestone from thousand of acres had upset the hydrological system of the valley. The Supreme Court ordered the closing of limestone quarrying in the hills and observed and this would undoubtedly cause hardship to them, but it is a price that has to be paid for protecting and safeguarding the right of the people to live in healthy environment with minimal disturbance of ecological balance.

3. Effluents by tanneries in river Ganga (M.C. Mehta v. Union of India)

In M.C. Mehta v. Union of India the Court directed that the work of those tanneries be stopped, which were discharging effluents in River Ganga and which did not set up primary effluent treatment plants. It held that the financial incapacity of the tanners to set up primary effluent treatment plants was wholly irrelevant. The Court observed the need for (a) imparting lessons in natural environment in educational institutions, (b) group of experts to aid and advise the Court to facilitate judicial decisions, (c) constituting permanent independent centres with professional public spirited experts to provide the necessary scientific and technological information to the Court, and (d) setting up environmental courts on regional basis with a right to appeal to the Supreme Court.
Why Environmental Due diligence?

As discussed, environmental failure may result in ethical disaster and business continuity. For any type of strategic decision, whether it be a strategic alliance, starting up a new venture, merger or acquisition, due diligence of environmental factors, both present and prospective, covering regulatory and social issues, are vital and essential.

Some of the reasons for performing environmental due diligence include:

- To assess hazardous substances emission and the mitigation measures through examination of industrial sites
- Regulatory compliances and the cost of non-compliances if any
- Societal reaction to emission of effluents and its impact on the financial health of the company.
- To have an overall environmental impact assessment
- To suggest remedial course of actions and environmental management plan
- To assess the sustainability initiatives of the company and its potential impact on the business
- To allocate liabilities identified during the investigation, draft indemnities, or perhaps re-price the deal.

Indian Constitution and Environment

Indian Parliament inserted two Articles, i.e., Article 48A and Article 51A in the Constitution of India in 1976. Article 48A of the Constitution rightly directs that the State shall endeavour to protect and improve the environment and safeguard forests and wildlife of the country. Similarly, clause (g) of Article 51A imposes a duty on every citizen of India, to protect and improve the natural environment including forests, lakes, river, and wildlife and to have compassion for living creatures. The cumulative effect of Articles 48A and 51A (g) seems to be that the 'State' as well as the 'citizens' both are now under constitutional obligation to conserve, perceive, protect and improve the environment.

Besides, a number of Central/State Legislations/Regulations etc., govern environmental aspects India. It includes the following

Acts

- The Water (Prevention and Control of Pollution) Act was enacted in 1974 to provide for the prevention and control of water pollution, and for the maintaining or restoring of wholesomeness of water in the country.
- The Water (Prevention and Control of Pollution) Cess Act was enacted in 1977, to provide for the levy and collection of a cess on water consumed by persons operating and carrying on certain types of industrial activities.
- The Air (Prevention and Control of Pollution) Act was enacted in 1981 and amended in 1987 to provide for the prevention, control and abatement of air pollution in India.
- The Environment (Protection) Act was enacted in 1986 with the objective of providing for the protection and improvement of the environment.
- Public Liability Insurance Act 1991 is to provide for damages to victims of an accident which occurs as a result of handling any hazardous substance.
- National Green Tribunal Act 2010 for effective and expeditious disposal of cases relating to environmental protection and conservation of forests and other natural resources including enforcement of any legal right relating to environment and giving relief and compensation for damages to persons and property and for matters connected therewith or incidental thereto.

Rules

2. The Water (Prevention and Control of Pollution) Rules, 1975
3. The Air (Prevention and Control of Pollution) (Union Territories) Rules, 1983
4. The Air (Prevention and Control of Pollution) Rules, 1982
5. The Environment (Protection) Rules, 1986

From the above facts, we can derive that there is no dearth of legislations in India. What is needed is the effective and efficient enforcement of the constitutional mandate and the other environmental legislations. This can be achieved with the co-ordinated efforts of the states as well as citizens.

Environmental Guidelines for Industries by Ministry of Environment

Location of industry

In order to help the concerned authorities and the entrepreneurs, it is necessary to frame certain broad guidelines for siting an industry. It is also necessary to identify the parameters that should be taken into account while setting up an industry. With this in view, the following environmental guidelines are recommended for siting of Industries to ensure optimum use of natural and man-made resources in sustainable manner with minimal depletion, degradation and/or destruction of environment. Those are in addition to those directives that are already in existence under the Industries (Development and Regulation) Act.

Areas to be avoided

In siting industries, care should be taken to minimise the adverse impact of the industries on the immediate neighbourhood as well as distant places. Some of the natural life sustaining systems and some specific land uses are sensitive to industrial impacts because of the nature and extent of fragility. With a view to protecting such an industrial sites shall maintain the following distances from the areas listed:

- Ecologically and/or otherwise sensitive areas: At least 25 km; depending on the geo-climatic conditions the requisite distance shall have to be increased by the appropriate agency.

- Ecological and/or otherwise sensitive areas include:
  - (i) Religious and Historic Places;
  - (ii) Archaeological Monuments (e.g. identified zone around Taj Mahal);
  - (iii) Scenic Areas;
  - (iv) Hill Resorts;
  - (v) Beach Resorts;
  - (vi) Health Resorts;
  - (vii) Coastal Areas rich in Coral, Mangroves, Breeding Grounds of Specific Species;
  - (viii) Estuaries rich in Mangroves, Breeding Ground of Specific Species;
  - (ix) Gulf Areas;
  - (x) Biosphere Reserves;
  - (xi) National Parks and Sanctuaries;
  - (xii) Natural Lakes, Swamps;
  - (xiii) Seismic Zones;
  - (xiv) Tribal Settlements;
  - (xv) Areas of Scientific and Geological interest;
  - (xvi) Defence Installations, specially those of security importance and sensitive to pollution;
  - (xvii) Border Areas (International) and (xviii) Airports.

- Coastal areas: at least 1/2 km from High Tide Line.

- Flood Plain of the Riverine Systems: at least 1/2 km from flood plain or modified flood plain affected by dam in the upstream or by flood control systems.

- Transport/Communication System: at least 1/2 km from highway and railway.

- Major settlements (3,00,000 population): distance from settlements is difficult to maintain because of urban sprawl. At the time of siting of the industry if any major settlement's notified limit is within 50 km, the spatial direction of growth of the settlement for at least a decade must be assessed and the industry shall be sited at least 25 km from the projected growth boundary of the settlement.

Pre-requisite: State and Central Governments are required to identify such areas on a priority basis.

Economic and social factors are recognized and assessed while siting an industry. Environmental factors must be taken into consideration in industrial siting. Proximity of water sources, highway, major settlements, markets for products and raw material resources is desired for economy of production, but all the above listed systems must be away for environmental protection. Industries are, therefore, required to be sited, striking a balance between economic and environmental considerations. In such a selected site, the following factors must be recognized:

1  www.moef.gov.in
• No forest land shall be converted into non-forest activity for the sustenance of the industry (Ref: Forest Conservation Act, 1980).

• Within the acquired site the industry must locate itself at the lowest location to remain obscured from general sight.

• Land acquired shall be sufficiently large to provide space for appropriate treatment of waste water still left for treatment after maximum possible reuse and recycle. Reclaimed(treated) wastewater shall be used to raise green belt and to create water body for aesthetics, recreation and if possible, for aquaculture. The green belt shall be 1/2 km wide around the battery limit of the industry. For industry having odour problem it shall be a kilometer wide.

• Enough space should be provided for storage of solid wastes so that these could be available for possible reuse.

• Lay out and form of the industry that may come up in the area must conform to the landscape of the area without affecting the scenic features of that place.

• Associated township of the industry must be created at a space having physiographic barrier between the industry and the township.

• Each industry is required to maintain three ambient air quality measuring stations within 120 degree angle between stations.

Environmental Impact Assessment (EIA)

1. The purpose of Environmental Impact Assessment (EIA) is to identify and evaluate the potential impacts (beneficial and adverse) of development and projects on the environmental system. It is an useful aid for decision making based on understanding of the environment implications including social, cultural and aesthetic concerns which could be integrated with the analysis of the project costs and benefits. This exercise should be undertaken early enough in the planning stage of projects for selection of environmentally compatible sites, process technologies and such other environmental safeguards.

2. While all industrial projects may have some environmental impacts all of them may not be significant enough to warrant elaborate assessment procedures. The need for such exercises will have to be decided after initial evaluation of the possible implications of a particular project and its location. The projects which could be the candidates for detailed Environment Impact Assessment include the following:-

   - Those which can significantly alter the landscape, land use pattern and lead to concentration of working and service population;
   - Those which need upstream development activity like assured mineral and forest products supply or downstream industrial process development;
   - Those involving manufacture, handling and use of hazardous materials;
   - Those which are sited near ecologically sensitive areas, urban centers, hill resorts, places of scientific and religious importance.
   - Industrial Estates with constituent units of various types which could cumulatively cause significant environmental damage.
3. The Environmental Impact Assessment (EIA) should be prepared on the basis of the existing background pollution levels vis-a-vis contributions of pollutants from the proposed plant. The EIA should address some of the basic factors listed below:

- Meteorology and air quality
  Ambient levels of pollutants such as Sulphur Dioxide, oxides of nitrogen, carbon monoxide, suspended particulate matters, should be determined at the center and at 3 other locations on a radius of 10 km with 120 degrees angle between stations. Additional contribution of pollutants at the locations are required to be predicted after taking into account the emission rates of the pollutants from the stacks of the proposed plant, under different meteorological conditions prevailing in the area.
- Hydrology and water quality
- Site and its surroundings
- Occupational safety and health
- Details of the treatment and disposal of effluents (liquid, air and solid) and the methods of alternative uses
- Transportation of raw material and details of material handling
- Control equipment and measures proposed to be adopted.

4. Preparation of Environmental Management Plan is required for formulation, implementation and monitoring of environmental protection measures during and after commissioning of projects.

ISO standards for Environment.

The ISO 14000 family addresses various aspects of environmental management. It provides practical tools for companies and organizations looking to identify and control their environmental impact and constantly improve their environmental performance. ISO 14001:2004 and ISO 14004:2004 focus on environmental management systems. The other standards in the family focus on specific environmental aspects such as life cycle analysis, communication and auditing.

Elements of the ISO 14001 standard

ISO 14001 contains the core elements for an effective environmental management system. It can be applied to both service and manufacturing sectors. The main elements of the standard are:

- Environmental policy
- Planning
- Implementation and operation
- Checking and corrective action
- Management review
- Continuous improvement

Environmental Management Plan (EMP) for commissioning of projects.

Preparation of environmental management plan is required for formulation, implementation and monitoring of environmental protection measures during and after commissioning of projects. The plans should indicate the details as to how various measures have been or are proposed to be taken including cost components as may be required. Cost of measures for environmental safeguards should be treated as an integral component of the project cost and environmental aspects should be taken into account at various stages of the projects:

- Conceptualization: preliminary environmental assessment
- Planning: detailed studies of environmental impacts and design of safeguards
- Execution: implementation of environmental safety measures
- Operation: monitoring of effectiveness of built-in safeguards

The management plans should be necessarily based on considerations of resource conservation and pollution abatement, some of which are:

- Liquid Effluents
- Air Pollution
- Solid Wastes
- Noise and Vibration
- Occupational Safety and Health
- Prevention, maintenance and operation of Environment Control Systems
- House-Keeping
- Human Settlements
- Transport Systems
- Recovery - reuse of waste products
- Vegetal Cover
- Disaster Planning
- Environment Management Cell

1. Liquid Effluents

- Effluents from the industrial plants should be treated well to the standards as prescribed by the Central/State Water Pollution Control Boards.
- Soil permeability studies should be made prior to effluents being discharged into holding tanks or impoundments and steps taken to prevent percolation and ground water contamination.
- Special precautions should be taken regarding flight patterns of birds in the area. Effluents containing toxic compounds, oil and grease have been known to cause extensive death of migratory birds. Location of plants should be prohibited in such type of sensitive areas.
- Deep well burial of toxic effluents should not be resorted to as it can result in re-surfacing and ground water contamination. Re-surfacing has been known to cause extensive damage to crop and livestocks.
- In all cases, efforts should be made for re-use of water and its conservation.

2. Air Pollution

- The emission levels of pollutants from the different stacks, should conform to the pollution control standards prescribed by Central or State Boards.
Adequate control equipment should be installed for minimising the emission of pollutants from the various stacks.

In-plant control measures should be taken to contain the fugitive emissions.

Infrastructural facilities should be provided for monitoring the stack emissions and measuring the ambient air quality including micro-meteorological data (wherever required) in the area.

Proper stack height as prescribed by the Central/State Pollution Control Boards should be provided for better dispersion of pollutants over a wider area to minimise the effect of pollution.

Community buildings and townships should be built up-wind of plant with one-half to one kilometer greenbelt in addition to physiographical barrier.

3. Solid Wastes

The site for waste disposal should be checked to verify permeability so that no contaminants percolate into the ground water or river/lake.

Waste disposal areas should be planned down-wind of villages and townships.

Reactive materials should be disposed of by immobilising the reactive materials with suitable additives.

The pattern of filling disposal site should be planned to create better landscape and be approved by appropriate agency and the appropriately pretreated solid wastes should be disposed according to the approved plan.

Intensive programs of tree plantation on disposal areas should be undertaken.

4. Noise and Vibration: Adequate measures should be taken for control of noise and vibrations in the industry.

5. Occupational Safety and Health: Proper precautionary measures for adopting occupational safety and health standards should be taken.

6. Prevention, maintenance and operation of Environment Control Systems:

Adequate safety precautions should be taken during preventive maintenance and shut down of the control systems.

A system of inter-locking with the production equipment should be implemented where highly toxic compounds are involved.

7. House-Keeping: Proper house-keeping and cleanliness should be maintained both inside and outside of the industry.

8. Human Settlements

Residential colonies should be located away from the solid and liquid waste dumping areas. Meteorological and environmental conditions should be studied properly before selecting the site for residential areas in order to avoid air pollution problems.

Persons who are displaced or have lost agricultural lands as a result of locating the industries in the area, should be properly rehabilitated.

9. Transport Systems

Proper parking places should be provided for the trucks and other vehicles by the industries to avoid any congestion or blocking of roads.

Siting of industries on the highways should be avoided as it may add to more road accidents.
because of substantial increase in the movements of heavy vehicles and unauthorised shops and settlements coming up around the industrial complex.

- Spillage of chemicals/substances on roads inside the plant may lead to accidents. Proper road safety signs both inside and outside the plant should be displayed for avoiding road accidents.

10. Recovery - reuse of waste products: Efforts should be made to recycle or recover the waste materials to the extent possible. The treated liquid effluents can be conveniently and safely used for irrigation of lands, plants and fields for growing non-edible crops.

11. Vegetal Cover

   Industries should plant trees and ensure vegetal cover in their premises. This is particularly advisable for those industries having more than 10 acres of land.

12. Disaster Planning: Proper disaster planning should be done to meet any emergency situation arising due to fire, explosion, sudden leakage of gas etc. Fire fighting equipment and other safety appliances should be kept ready for use during disaster/emergency situation including natural calamities like earthquake/flood.

13. Environment Management Cell: Each industry should identify within its setup a Department/Section/Cell with trained personnel to take up the model responsibility of environmental management as required for planning and implementation of the projects.

PREPARING A RISK ANALYSIS MATRIX

Preparation of Risk Analysis matrix includes the following aspects

ENVIRONMENTAL MANAGEMENT AS A TOOL- FOR VALUE CREATION

Proper compliance of laws relating to Environment will increase the credibility and would also create value for a business organisation. Companies do earmark separate budget to meet the business expenditure relating to investments for meeting environmental compliances. There is a strong evidence and proof that improved environmental performance is positively correlated with increased competitiveness. Further, the effective environmental systems based on fundamentally sound regulatory structures can play an important role in encouraging business organisations to improve environmental performance, which can strengthen broader competitiveness related goals. Now-a-days, people are willing to pay more for a product which is environment friendly for e.g. lead free paint, jute bags instead of plastic, green homes etc and business houses are also being attracted to the liberalised policies of Indian Government which has encouraged the same. Companies should not view the total amount to be spent on protection of environment as an expenditure. They should consider that it is an investment for creating value, for building goodwill and for making the presence felt. Reputation of an organisation often correlated with the way they function i.e. compliance of rules and regulations, adherence to environment safety, health policy, creating awareness to the workers/employees and also to the outsiders regarding various safety techniques and policies to be observed while entering into a factory, hazardous industry, mines etc. and last but not least is accomplishing the task of corporate social responsibility etc.

Because of the various advantages and value creation, almost all businesses across the world come forward to introduce and implement proper implementation of Environmental Management. The advantages of proper environmental management are as follows:-

(c) Avoids loss in value of land.
(d) Avoids destruction of brand values, loss of sales, consumer boycotts and inability to secure inances.
(e) Avoids loss of insurance cover and contingent liabilities.
(f) Fixes and ensures more accurate and comprehensive information about responsibility of business houses towards environment for improving corporate image with stakeholders, customers, local communities, employees, government and bankers.
(g) Helps to attain competitive advantage in respect of identification of costs and benefits associated with it.

(i) Ultimately add value to the economy as a whole.

LESSON ROUND UP

- The Indian regulatory framework for environmental protection are enforced through legislations like Environmental Protection Act, 1986, National Green Tribunal Act, 2010, Air/Water Pollution Prevention Acts etc.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

MCA-21 offers the facility to view certain public documents which include documents relating to registration, modification and satisfaction of charges.

This facility is handy for users and banks and financial institutions while sanctioning loans and to evaluate the extent up to which the company has already borrowed moneys and created charges on the security of its movable and/or immovable properties. The Banks/Financial Institutions view these documents by an online inspection process by paying a nominal fee. The report generated out of Inspection Process is called Search/Status report.

After reading this lesson you will be able to understand the meaning, nature of search report, process involved in online inspection of documents while preparing search reports, provisions of companies act relating to creation, modification or satisfaction of charges.
INTRODUCTION

Company as a separate entity has a facility of raising capital for earning large-scale profits, which is normally not within the purview of individual efforts and means. In the past, the companies used to raise money by way of issue of equity or preference shares. However, with the increasing pressure of capital requirements, different and alternative modes of financing were explored and the concept of loan capital came into being. The loan requirements of a company to be met, had to be raised frequently and also by a number of individuals as in the case of share capital. This brought to the fore the concept of pari passu ranking.

A charge is created when the security on the property of the company is conferred on another person. Where in a transaction for value, both parties evidence an intention that the property existing or future, shall be made available as security, the charge on the property is created.

The Companies Act, 1956 provides for a comprehensive list of charges which require registration and it also provides for the consequences of non-registration. The Act envisages registration of charges with the Registrar of Companies so that any person acquiring the property of the company has constructive notice of the charge prior to acquisition. Once a certificate of charge is issued by the Registrar of Companies, it is conclusive evidence that the document creating the charge is properly registered.

Banks and various State Financial/Industrial Investment Corporations, while granting loans to companies invariably obtain a status report on the position of borrowings made by the company and the particulars of charges already created by the company on its assets. This is a part of the security aspect of the amount proposed to be lent.

The Report, inter alia, informs the lenders, about the status of charges held by them vis-à-vis charges, if any held by others. The Search and Status Report acts as a tool to confirm and evidence information and contains information on status of charges. It is basically a report furnished based on the information gathered by a search of specific records made available for inspection in a Public Office or in any other convenient form. It is not merely verbatim reporting of the information as made available but also supplemented by observations/comments by the person who furnishes the Report.

The Search and Status Report enables furnishing of information to the lender as to whether the charges created through various documents are in fact registered with Registrar of Companies and whether such particulars reflect the correct position of charges held by Lenders. As the Report provides information on the charges created in favour of other lenders, it enables the lenders to assess the exact position of the company and to foresee where they would stand, if the company would go into liquidation. Normally, practicing Company Secretaries are entrusted with the preparation of status/search reports.

SCOPE AND IMPORTANCE

The scope of a Search report depends upon the requirements of the Bank or Financial Institution concerned.

A Search report prepared enables the Bank/Financial Institution to evaluate the extent upto which the company has already borrowed moneys and created charges on the security of its movable and/or immovable properties. This information is very vital for considering the company's request for grant of loans and other credit facilities. The Bank/Financial Institution, while assessing the company's needs for funds, can take a conscious decision regarding the quantum of loan/credit facility to be sanctioned, sufficiency of security required and its nature, as also other terms and conditions to be stipulated. The Search report, thus, acts as an important source of information enabling the lending Bank/Institution to take an informed and speedy decision, and also assures it about the credit-worthiness or otherwise of the borrowing company.
Lesson 12  ■  Search/Status Reports  333

SEARCH/STATUS REPORT

A Search and Status Report as is apparent from, its name contains two aspects. The first being ‘search’ which involves physical inspection of documents and the second activity 'status' which comprises of reporting of the information as made available by the search.

Thus a search and status report de facto acts as a ‘Progress Report’ on the legal aspects and also a ready reckoner of the exact position.

(a) Particulars of Charges

When a charge on the assets of the Company is created or modified or when a property subject to charge is acquired by a company, particulars thereof are filed in Form No. 8 with the Registrar of Companies (ROC). When the charge is satisfied, the fact is intimated in Form No. 17 to the ROC (now e-forms 8 and 17).

Particulars of a series of debentures containing or giving reference to any other instrument any charge to the benefit of which the debentureholders of the said series are entitled, are filed with the ROC in Form No. 10 (now e-form 10).

After the Registrar registers it, a certificate of registration of the charge is then given by the ROC stating the amounts thereby secured. Such certificate is the conclusive evidence that the legal requirements relating thereto have been complied with.

(b) Examination of documents and registration

MCA-21 offers the facility to view documents and also search and other facilities of public documents. This facility is handy for users and banks and financial institutions while sanctioning loans.

This facility enables viewing of public documents of companies for which payment has been made by user. The document can be viewed only within 7 days after the payment has been confirmed. Also, the documents are available for only 3 hours after the user has started viewing the first document of the company-

(a) User has to access My MCA portal and login to the My MCA portal.

(c) List of company names will be displayed, for which user have already paid for public viewing. It also displays

(i) Date of request i.e. the date, when user made the request to view the company document.

(ii) Status of the request i.e. whether viewed or to view.

(e) The documents are grouped under five categories i.e. user has to click on the desired category under which the document falls.

(g) On clicking the document name, the document shall be displayed for viewing.

The public documents under this facility are available for viewing by public on payment of requisite fee. Public documents include Incorporation documents, charge documents, annual returns and balance sheet, change in directors and other documents.
The basic record on the basis of which the report was previously submitted to the banks/institutions, was the Register of Charges maintained in the Office of the ROC. With respect to each company, a Register of charges is maintained by the ROC.

Particulars of charges which are registrable with the ROC can be filed by the company or the creditor (Section 125). Particulars of modification of charges have to be filed only by the company concerned (Section 135). The satisfaction of any charge in full has to be informed only by the company concerned under Section 138 except in cases covered under Section 139. Thereafter, the Registrar would make appropriate noting in the Register of Charges in accordance with Sub-section (2) of Section 138.

(c) Inspection

Form 8, Form 10, Form 17 and copies of certificates of registration thereof are available for inspection at the website.

Prior to introduction of e-filing the documents in the Document File at the ROC’s office could be inspected by any person after making an application in writing and paying Rs. 50* towards the fee. Normally, more than two persons were not allowed to carry out jointly the inspection of Document File(s) of one company.

While taking the inspection at Registrar’s office, a verbatim copy of the contents was not allowed. Notes could be made by using pencil. Pen or ballpen could not be used for taking down the notes.

(d) Verification of Documents Relating to Charges

Before proceeding with the inspection it would be advisable for the company secretary in practice to know if the concerned bank/financial institution or the client requires the Search Report, in any specific format and if so, the contents of the format.

Meticulous care will have to be taken in noting down the following particulars from the Register of Charges:

(a) Date of registration (preferably with the serial number) of the document
(b) Date and nature of the document creating the charge
(c) Amount of the charge
(d) Brief particulars of the property charged

In respect of each of the charges created, it would be essential to identify the modifications effected from time to time by noting down carefully the following particulars:

(a) Date of registration of the document (preferably with the serial number)
(b) Nature and date of the instrument modifying the charge
(c) Effect of Modification.

Each modification should be noted in chronological order and the above particulars should be compiled together for each charge.

If and when the charge is satisfied, fool-proof identification of the exact charge which is satisfied is of paramount necessity. The following particulars can be noted chronologically by way of modification by the Search Report.

(a) Date of registration (preferably with the serial number) of the document

Non-essential particulars of charges comprise of the gist of terms and conditions with regard to (a) mode of repayment (b) rate of interest and (c) margin; these need not be given in the Search Report unless specifically so required by the client.

If the client requires particulars of the charges pending registration, it is advisable to give a separate report based on the verification of the registers and records maintained by or available with the company.

Some financial institutions require a Report by Company Secretaries in Practice, on certain additional points relevant and important for them. A separate Report can be given after inspecting or verifying the documents and records available with the Registrar and/or the company. The points normally covered under such Report are:

Apart from the above, the master data available at the My MCA portal can be resorted to mere reproduction of the particulars of charges in form of Search and Status Report is not sufficient. It also requires:

- A thorough study of the particulars relating to the amount secured by the charge and the terms and conditions governing the charge.
- An analysis of the security available to a particular lender for its advances.
- A comparison of charges created in favour of a particular lender vis-à-vis other lenders.

In other words, it does not necessary mean verbatim reporting of the information as made available but also supplemented by observations/comments by the person who furnishes the Report.

In nutshell, the following have to be borne in mind:

- The Search and Status Report should give exact details of particulars of charges/modifications/satisfactions as effected, filed and registered from time to time.
- Identify those charges and modification of charges, which have been created in favour of a particular lender.
- Take the particulars of the documents creating the charge as specified in Form Nos.8 and 10.
- Ascertain as to whether the amount secured by the charge as per the documents executed has been duly mentioned.
- Ascertain as to whether ‘properties’ offered as security are mentioned as per the documents creating the charge and attached with the Forms and verify whether they are as per the terms of Sanction.
- Check whether the terms and conditions governing the charge have been mentioned.
- Ascertain whether the name of the lender is properly mentioned.
- In case of modification of charge ascertain whether the names of documents effecting the modification are mentioned and whether the particulars of modification are clearly mentioned.
- In case of charge, the particulars of documents attached with forms, amount secured by the charge... as per the documents and/or sanction ticket, the properties/assets secured by the charge, the terms and conditions governing the charge and the name of the lender is properly mentioned in the relevant columns of Forms Nos.8.

Further, a Search and Status Report should always be supported by expert observations on the charges created by the borrower in respect of the subject lender. It is necessary to peruse the observations/comments offered and the same should be read in conjunction with the Report. The observations/comments of the experts/professional (company secretary in practice) will certainly help to throw additional light on certain points which would have missed the attention of the "lenders" when the Form Nos. 8 was presented before them for signature.

Company Secretary in Practice giving the above information is required to certify that his report has been submitted on the basis of the search carried by him on a particular date, with the Registrar's office/MCA portal. He is also required to certify that the company has filed all returns/forms within stipulated time with the Registrar's office upto the date required to be filed in regard to the above matters and also to report, if any notices have been served upon the company for breaches/non-compliance of any provisions of the Companies Act, 1956.

(e) Compilation and Preparation of Search Report

Search Report compiled on the basis of the scrutiny of the above documents is, therefore, related and restricted to only those documents which are available for the inspection on the date(s) when the search is carried out.

An index of the charges is prepared at the website of MCA. This index provides, charge ID, the date of filing of the document charge amount secured, name of chargeholder and its address. In order to view index of charges, it is primarily necessary to quote CIN/FCRN of the company. This number will primarily be available at the website of the ministry.

It is advisable to note down from the index, the short particulars of all Form Nos. 8, 10, and 17 for the purpose of cross-checking and ensuring that no document is missed in the Search Report.

Also, it would be advisable to mention in the Search Report by way of a footnote as to what was the last document which was available for inspection when the scrutiny was taken/completed. This information can be helpful in identifying the forms and based on which the Search Report is given. If a charge which is registered and in respect of which the certificate of registration is issued by the Registrar, but, if the document is not available for inspection, the aforesaid footnote can readily clarify the position.

(f) Format of Search Report and its Preparation

Some of the banks and financial institutions insist that the Search Report be given in their own format. It would, therefore, be advisable to know if any specific format is insisted upon by the client.

In the absence of any specific format, the Search Report may be given in the format given at Annexure.

LEGAL PROVISIONS

Sections 124 to 145 in Part V of the Companies Act, 1956 provide for the registration of charges in so far as any security on the company's property or undertaking is conferred, modified or satisfied thereby.

Prescribed particulars of the charge together with the instrument, if any, evidencing, creating or modifying the charge (or a certified copy thereof) are required to be filed with the Registrar of Companies within thirty days after the date of creation or modification of the charges. In case of satisfaction of charge, the intimation is required to be given to the Registrar within thirty days from the date of payment or satisfaction of the charge.

The Registrar has discretionary powers to condone the delays upto thirty days in case of particulars relating to creation or modification of the charge. In the case of satisfaction of charge, the delays can be condoned by Regional Director of the respective regions upon a petition (application) filed by the company or interested person.

The prescribed particulars in e-Form 8 or e-Form 10 together with copy of the instrument creating or modifying the charge and those relating to satisfaction of charge in e-Form 17 are required to be filed with the Registrar of Companies. All these forms should be in triplicate and should be duly signed on behalf of the concerned company as well as the respective charge holder.

Non-filing of particulars of a charge renders the charge void against the liquidator or against any other creditor of the company. This implies that if particulars of a subsequent charge created on the property are filed and the particulars of the earlier charge particulars are not filed, then the subsequent charge-holder would enjoy precedence over the earlier charge-holder, e.g., in selling the property in order to satisfy his debt. It should be noted that the concerned company cannot, even in the event of non-filing of particulars of charge, repudiate its contractual obligation vis-à-vis the creditor in whose favour charge is created.

REQUIREMENTS OF VARIOUS FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS AND OTHER CORPORATE LENDERS

The All-India Financial Institutions while granting term loans to companies insist on certain formalities to be completed by a company availing such loan. These include furnishing of certificates by Company Secretaries in Practice in regard to the following:

(b) Borrowing limits of a company under Section 293(1)(d) of the Companies Act, 1956, including details of share capital – authorised, issued, subscribed and paid-up, and the actual borrowing.

(c) List of members of a company.

Many State Financial/Industrial Investment/Development Corporations have also agreed to accept the certificates issued by Company Secretaries in Practice, in regard to all/some of the aforesaid matters.

Certification by Company Secretaries in Practice

The certification to be done by Company Secretaries in Practice has to conform to any specific requirement of the Institution/Corporation. It may be stated that the matters to which certification extends can be verified by the Institutions themselves from the Memorandum/Articles of Association of companies, which are submitted to them. However, Institutions, by way of abundant caution insist for stipulation on certificates by independent professionals like Company Secretaries in Practice, in respect of these matters. The various certifications are explained in the following paragraphs.

Necessary Powers of a Company and its Directors to Enter into an Agreement

Resolutions passed at the meeting of the board/general meeting for exercising the power of borrowing have to be checked; in the absence of any provision to the contrary in the articles of association, the borrowing power may be exercised by the Board of directors.

Section 292 of the Companies Act requires inter alia, that the power to borrow moneys otherwise than on debentures can be exercised by the Board of Directors only by means of resolution passed at meetings of the Board. This power of borrowings may also be delegated to any committee of directors, managing director, manager or any other principal officer. The delegation should be only by means of resolution passed at board meeting and not by circulation. Every resolution delegating this power should specify the total amount upto which moneys may be borrowed by the delegate.

The financial institutions require that this certificate will have to refer to the relevant clause(s) of the Memorandum of Association of the company, which gives specific powers to the company, and to secure the repayment of the same by mortgage, charge, lien, etc. the opinion will also have to refer to the relevant article(s) of the Article of Association and the general body resolution, if any, under which the Board of Directors are authorised to borrow or raise moneys, secure the repayment thereof and execute on behalf of the company, bonds, deeds, documents, etc. The opinion should also spell out the limitations and restrictions, if any, on the powers of the Board of directors to borrow or raise money.

(i) In the case of a public company or a private company which is a subsidiary of a public company, the consent of general meeting is required if the moneys to be borrowed alongwith the moneys already borrowed exceeds the aggregate of paid-up capital and free reserves. If the borrowings exceed this limit check the minutes of the general meeting of members to ensure that the Board is authorised to borrow and also that the proposed borrowing does not exceed the amount specified in the resolution passed by the company in general meeting. Temporary loans repayable on demand or within six months obtained from the company's bankers in the ordinary course of business are excluded from the purview of borrowings under this section.

(ii) Obtain a certified true copy of the resolution passed by the members of the company under Section 293(1)(d) of the Companies Act, 1956.

(iii) Check the resolution passed by the Board to borrow the money.

(iv) Check the latest audited balance sheet of the company for verifying the amount of share capital, free reserves and the total amount of borrowings.

(v) Also check the Register of Charges.

Any change in these items after the date of balance sheet should be checked from the accounts of the company, allotment register and agreements entered to borrow the moneys and such other records and documents.

INTRODUCTION

A compliance management system is the method by which corporate manage the entire compliance process. It includes the compliance program, compliance audit, compliance report etc. and in other words it is called compliance solution.

The compliance program consists of the policies and procedures which guide in adherence of laws and regulations. The compliance audit is independent testing of level of compliance with various laws and regulations applicable.

Compliance with law and regulation must be managed as an integral part of any corporate strategy. The board of directors and management must recognize the scope and implications of laws and regulations that apply to the company. They must establish a compliance management system as a supporting system of risk management system as it reduces compliance risk to a great extent. To ensure an effective approach to compliance, the participation of senior management in the development and maintenance of a compliance program is necessary. They should review the effectiveness of its compliance management system at periodic intervals, so as to ensure that it remains updated and relevant in terms of modifications/changes in regulatory regime including acts, rules, regulations etc. and business environment.

Corporate compliance management involves a full process of research and analysis as well as investigation and evaluation. Such an exercise is undertaken in order to determine the potential issues and get a realistic view about how the entity is performing and how it is likely to perform in the future. Company Secretaries with core competence in compliance and corporate governance play a crucial role in the corporate compliance management.

NEED FOR COMPLIANCE

Corporate accountability is on everyone’s mind today. Business executive face significant pressure to comply with multiple regulations. Many companies are adopting comprehensive compliance plans to address emerging regulatory paradigm and those that fail to address the new regulations, pay hefty fines or incurring punitive restrictions on their operations.

The organizations face mounting pressures that are driving them towards a structured approach to enterprise-wide compliance management. Increased liability and regulatory oversight has amplified risk to a point where it demands continuous evaluation of compliance management systems. Furthermore, the multiplication of compliance requirements that organizations face increases the risk of non-compliance, which may have potential civil and criminal penalties.

This focused attention on compliances with spirit and details of laws casts upon Company Secretaries an onerous responsibility to guide the corporates in this direction. They have to advise companies in totality to provide full, timely and intelligible information. To enable companies to put in place an effective Compliance Management System, company secretaries should ensure that companies:

- adhere to necessary industry and government regulations,
- Change business processes according to legislative change,
- Realign resources to meet compliance deadlines,
- React quickly and cost-effectively if regulations change.
Risk of Non-compliance

The risks of non-compliance of the law are many:

1. Cessation of business activities
2. Civil action by the authorities
3. Punitive action resulting in fines against the company/officials
4. Imprisonment of the errant officials
5. Public embarrassment
6. Damage to the reputation of the company and its employees
7. Attachment of bank accounts.

SIGNIFICANCE OF CORPORATE COMPLIANCE MANAGEMENT

1. Better compliance of the law
2. Real time status of legal/statutory compliances
3. Safety valve against unintended non compliances/ prosecutions, etc.
4. Real time status on the progress of pending litigation before the judicial/quasi-judicial fora
5. Cost savings by avoiding penalties/fines and minimizing litigation
6. Better brand image and positioning of the company in the market
7. Enhanced credibility/creditworthiness that only a law abiding company can command
8. Goodwill among the shareholders, investors, and stakeholders.
9. Recognition as Good corporate citizen.

Compliance with the requirements of law through a compliance management programme can produce positive results at several levels:

— Companies that go the extra mile with their compliance programs lay the foundation for the control environment.
— Companies with effective compliance management programme are more likely to avoid stiff personal penalties, both monetary and imprisonment.
— Companies that embed positive ethics and effective compliance management programme deep within their culture often enjoy healthy returns through employee and customer loyalty and public respect for their brand, both of which can translate into stronger market capitalization and shareholder returns.

Clearly, the benefits of implementing and maintaining an effective ethics and compliance program far outweigh its costs. Not only does the compliance management protect investors wealth but also helps the business in running successfully with any potential risk being addressed in a timely and accurate manner.

Establishment of compliance management framework

The Compliance Management encompasses (1) Compliance Identification (2) Compliance Ownership (3) Compliance Awareness (4) Compliance Reporting and (5) Periodical Compliance MIS.

Compliance Identification

This process involves the identification of compliances under various legislations applicable to the company, in consultation with the functional heads. The legal team has to identify the legislations applicable to the company and identify the compliances that are required under each legislation or rules and regulations made there under.

Compliance Ownership

The next important aspect of compliance management is ownership. The ownership of the various compliances has to be described function wise and individual wise. Clear description of primary and secondary ownership is also very important. While the primary owner is mainly responsible for the compliance the secondary owner (usually the supervisor of the primary owner) has to supervise the compliance. Ex: Secretarial Officer /Asst Company Secretary may be primarily responsible and Group Company Secretary’s responsibility is secondary.

Compliance Awareness

The next important step in establishing a legal compliance Management is creation of awareness of the various Legal Compliances amongst those responsible. Many a times compliances are handled by persons who are not fully aware of the requirements of the legislations and hence creating appropriate awareness amongst the owners is very important. This could be done in the form of meetings/trainings explaining the various compliances or some manual containing the details of compliances.

Compliance Reporting

Compliances or non-compliances should be communicated to the Concerned. Reporting of non-compliances ensures that appropriate corrective action is taken by the responsible person, Ex. Automated escalation emails in case of non compliance

Process of Corporate Compliance Reporting (CCR)

Although the actual process of compiling the information under the various laws may vary from company to company and is dependent on various factors such as the number of units and scale of operations, a brief process of the CCR mechanism is as follows:

(A) Functional heads for the reporting of various laws have to be identified. For instance, the Company Secretary would be the functional head for reporting of company law, listing agreement and commercial laws. Similarly, the head of the Personnel Department could report the compliance of labour and industrial laws and the fiscal law compliance would be the domain of finance/accounts departments.

(B) Each of the functional heads may collect and classify the relevant information from the various units/locations pertaining to their department and consolidate them in the form of a report.

(C) The report shall carry an affirmation from the functional heads that the said report has been prepared based on the inputs received from the various units/offices and then list out the specific compliances/non-compliances, as already circulated to the functional heads.
(D) Each of the functional heads will forward their respective compliance reports to the Company Secretary/Managing Director.

(E) The Company Secretary would then brief the Managing Director and with suitable inputs from the Company Secretary, the Managing Director would consolidate and present, under his signature, a comprehensive CCR to the Board for its information, advice and noting.

(F) The whole process of CCR is contingent on the creation and implementation of comprehensive legal Management Information System (MIS).

Role of Information Technology in Compliance Management Systems Through Web Based Compliance Systems

A critical component of an effective compliance program is the ability to monitor and audit compliance in a “real time manner.” Yet, as companies cross geographical and industry boundaries, it is becoming harder to perform this role in the traditional manner. As a result, companies are increasingly seeking technology solutions.

Information Technology can play an effective role in implementation of a Corporate Compliance Management Programme across various departments of an organization in terms of real-time compliance reminders, generation of reports, sending warning signals, generation of compliance calendar etc.

Many companies are introducing comprehensive web-based compliance systems that links various offices/units for better co-ordination and continued compliance. Companies prefer to introduce full-fledged compliance management systems for smooth compliance of multiple laws. Web-based compliance software are available industry-wise and tailor made compliance software can also be made according to company specifications which has to be updated on continuous basis.

The Systems Approach to compliance management

A well-designed compliance management programme has abilities to perform the following key functions across the enterprise:

— Compliance Dashboard: The compliance programme must provide a single enterprise-wide dashboard for all users to track and trend compliance events. All compliance events should be easily viewed interactively through the enterprise compliance dashboard. External auditors, internal auditors, compliance officers can use the dashboards to make decisions on the compliance status of the organization.

— Policy and Procedure Management: A well-designed document management system forms the basis of managing the entire lifecycle of policies and procedures within an enterprise. Ensuring that these policies and procedures are in conformity with the ever-changing rules and regulations is a critical requirement. The creation, review, approval and release process of the policy documents and SOPs (Standard Operating Procedures) should be driven by collaborative tools that provide core document management functionality.

— Event Management: The compliance management system must have ability to capture and track events, cases and incidents across the extended enterprise. Compliance officers, call center personnel, IT departments, QA personnel, ethics hotline should be able to log in any adverse event across the enterprise, upon which the necessary corrective and preventive actions are initiated.

— Rules and Regulations: A well-designed compliance management solution must offer capabilities for organization to continuously stay in sync with changing rules and regulations. As soon as there are regulatory changes, the various departments should be notified proactively through “email based” collaboration. This process critically enables the organization to dynamically change their policies and procedures in adherence to the rules and regulations. While tracking a single regulation may be manually feasible, it becomes an error-prone task to track all local, state, and central regulations including those taking place across the globe. A well-designed Compliance management programme offers up-to-date regulatory alerts across the enterprise.

Audit Management: Audits have now become part of the enterprise core infrastructure. Internal audits, financial audits, external audits, vendor audits must be facilitated through a real-time system. Audits are no more an annual activity and corporations offer appropriate audit capabilities. Appropriate evidence of internal audits becomes critical in defending compliance to regulations.

---

Quality Management: Most organizations have internal operational, plant-level or departmental quality initiatives to industry mandates like Six-sigma or ISO 9000. A well-designed compliance management program incorporates and supports ongoing quality initiatives. Most quality practitioners agree that compliance and quality are two sides of the same coin. Therefore, it is critical to ensure that compliance management solution offers support for enterprise-wide quality initiatives.

---

Training Management: Most compliance programs often require evidence of employee training. Regulations like Clause 49 of Listing Agreement and Sarbanes-Oxley Act, stress on employee training. In USA, lack of documented training can lead to fines and penalties. Often the compliance office has to work closely with the HR organization to facilitate employee training. Well-designed compliance program requires a well-integrated approach to training management.

---

Compliance Task Management: Organizations must plan, manage and report status of all compliance related activities from a centralized solution. Automated updates from the various compliance modules should provide for up-to-the-minute status reporting that could be viewed by the Board, corporate compliance officer, entity compliance coordinators, quality offices and others as designated.

Compliance solutions

In this age of information technology and outsourcing, where corporate solutions are available at every step and in respect of every matter, there are several companies offering ‘compliance solutions’.

Approach to Compliance Solutions

Compliance solution providers adopts following approaches for creating or enhancing an ethics and compliance program for companies—

Risk/Cultural Assessment: Through employee surveys, interviews, and document reviews, a company’s culture of ethics and compliance at all levels of the organization is validated. Our Reports and recommendations with detail observations identify gaps between company’s current practices and benchmarks with international practices.

Program Design/Update: In this phase, compliance solution providers help company in creating guideline documents that outline the reporting structure, communications methods, and other key components of the code of ethics and compliance program. This encompasses all aspects of the program, from grass roots policies to structuring board committees that oversee the program; from establishing the mandatory anonymous complaint reporting mechanism—i.e., compliance and ethics help line or whistleblower hot line—to spelling out the specifics of the code of ethics in a way that is easily understood by everyone at all levels of organization.
Policies and Procedures: In this phase compliance solution providers help company to develop or enhance the detailed policies of the program, including issues of financial reporting, antitrust, conflicts of interest, gifts and entertainment, records accuracy and retention, employment, the environment, global business, fraud, political activities, securities, and sexual harassment, among others.

Communication, Training, and Implementation: Even the best policies and procedures are useless if they are not institutionalized— they must become part of the fabric of the organization. Compliance solution providers help company to clearly articulate, communicate, and reinforce not only the specifics of the program, but also the philosophy behind it, and the day-to-day realities of it. In this way, key stakeholders and other personnel are more likely to embrace the program and incorporate it into their attitudes and behaviours.

Ongoing self-Assessment, Monitoring, and Reporting: The true test of a company’s ethics and compliance program comes over time. How do one know in one year or five that both the intent and letter of the law are still being observed throughout organization? How does the program and the organization adapt to changing legislation and business conditions? As the organization evolves for example, through mergers and acquisitions will the program remain relevant? The cultural assessment, mechanisms, and processes put in place including employee surveys, internal controls, and monitoring and auditing programs, help organisations achieve sustained success.

APPARENT, ADEQUATE AND ABSOLUTE COMPLIANCES

Corporates are expected to comply with the regulatory prescriptions in their true letter and spirit and should be seen as an opportunity to make their systems and processes more robust and bring them in line with global practice, resulting in the enhanced trust level of stakeholders. As regards corporate disclosure, there has been a paradigm shift from letter to spirit because of factors like demand from stakeholders, regulatory shift from control to self regulation, market competition etc.

Good Corporate Governance demands compliances level that match the intentions of legislature, expectations of stakeholders and requirements of regulators. The compliances, however, generally found to fall in three categories, i.e. Apparent Compliances, Adequate Compliances and Absolute Compliances.

Apparent compliance is a disguise form of non-compliance, which is worse than a non compliance. The classic example for Apparent Compliances are generating documents such as notice, agenda, minutes on papers for board and general meeting which are not actually held.

Adequate compliance is compliance in letters. The aspects specified in law are complied in letters, without getting into the spirit of the law, e.g. box ticking practices.

Absolute compliances are those which are in line with the spirit and intent of the law. A typical example in this regard is demonstrating shareholder democracy as prescribed by law. When a company complies with law in spirit it gains public confidence as well. For example, Infosys has set new and effective standards in communicating with shareholders, stock exchanges and general public at large. Its Annual Report is said to be a trend setter and has been commended as an ideal report by SEC. This company has demonstrated through its practices and procedures its commitment to enhance investor-relations and has amply rewarded its shareholders through its impressive performance and its value based management philosophyy helps increase its brand value. The company has achieved trust of stakeholders by having a strategic balance between wealth and welfare.

Experts view Annual report as self appraisal report of the company. The shift from shareholder concept to stakeholder concept has necessitated the corporates to provide a transparent report which is viewed by all stakeholders such as shareholders, creditors, lenders, strategic investors etc as a potential source of information. In order to attain corporate sustainability and to ensure a level playing field with international market, corporates has to necessarily increase their level of compliance from apparent to adequate leading to level of absolute, compliances.

SECRETARIAL AUDIT AND COMPLIANCE MANAGEMENT SYSTEM

The compliance system and processes in a company are dependent mainly on the following factors:

(a) Nature of business(es).
(b) Geographical domain of its area of operation(s).
(c) Size of the company both in terms of operations as well as investments, technology, multiplicity of business activities and manpower employed.
(d) Jurisdictions in which it operates.
(e) Whether the company is a listed company or not.
(f) Regulatory authority(ies) in respect of its business operations.
(g) Nature of the company viz., private, public, government company, etc.

Based on the above the Secretarial Auditor can constitute a broad idea about the desired system and process to be adopted by a company. For example, a multi product / multi operation company is supposed to comply all the applicable corporate laws in addition to regulatory framework applicable at products/operations.

At corporate level, monitoring of such complex web of compliances are generally made on a back-to-back mechanism. In such cases Boards’ reporting on compliances are made on the basis of reports/certification provided by field level management. As a better compliance structure in such cases it is desired to have a internal checking mechanism about the quality of such report either on regular basis or sample basis.

Now-a-days most of the large companies have adopted Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) Systems to cater to their complex operations. In many a cases, compliance system becomes a part of these modules. Auditing in such systems requires the Auditor to enter and to have access within the system. While taking up the audit assignment, the Auditor needs to ensure that access would be given so that assessment of proper system and process of compliance is made.

Auditing of compliance system and process is not a fault finding exercise, rather a device to scale up compliance mechanism of a company commensurate to its size and operations. It is desired that the Secretarial Auditor as an expert in corporate compliance would advice the companies to build up strong corporate compliance system in case the system appears to be insufficient during the audit process.

Role of Company Secretaries in Compliance Management

Corporate Compliance Management can add substantial business value only if compliance is done with due diligence. A Company Secretary is the ‘Compliance Manager’ of the company. It is he who ensures that the company is in total compliance with all regulatory provisions. Corporate disclosures, which play a vital role in enhancing corporate valuation, is the forte of a Company Secretary. These disclosures can be classified into statutory disclosures, non-statutory disclosures, specifies disclosures and continuous disclosures. Clause 49 of Listing Agreement spells out elaborately on various aspects of disclosures which are to be made by the company such as contingent liabilities, related party transactions, proceeds from initial public offerings, remuneration of directors and various details giving the threats, risks and opportunities under management discussion and analysis in the corporate governance report which is published in the annual accounts duly certified by the professional like company secretaries. A Company Secretary has to ensure that these disclosures are made to shareholders and other stakeholders in true letter and spirit.

In nutshell, the Company Secretary is the professional who guides the Board and the company in all matters, renders advice in terms of compliance and ensures that the Board procedures are duly followed, best global practices are brought in and the organisation is taken forward towards good corporate citizenship.
