Suite 210
Hagerstown, MD 21740

www.wccp-online.org
Mon-Fri, 7:30AM-4:30PM.

The Washington County Community Partnership for Children & Families (WCCP) is a State of Maryland Local Management Board (LMB) Initiative. Local Management Boards in each jurisdiction promote an interagency, collaborative approach to serving children that involve all stakeholders, parents and families in the process. This collaborative effort ensures a more effective system of care for youth and families across a continuum of services from prevention to intervention to aftercare. Local Management Boards represent no single perspective but, rather, convene a community’s public and private partners to address the needs of the “whole child” through collaboration, coordination, community and capacity-building.

Fundamentally, LMBs bring communities together to better serve children and their families. Local Management Boards not only focus on services for children with intensive needs but focus on services for all children in their jurisdictions. Local Management Boards do not provide direct service - instead, they work through partnerships with local and regional providers to maximize and leverage resources for positive results for children in every jurisdiction in Maryland.

Washington County Department of Juvenile Services

Hagerstown, MD 21740

www.djs.state.md.us
Mon-Fri, 8AM-4:30PM.

Placement Services is designed to provide systematic early screening and assessment of youth who come to the attention of the Department. This system is designed to address certain important objectives:
· Protecting public safety;
· Holding youth accountable for their behaviors;
· Identifying the health, family, and educational needs of each youth; and · Developing a service plan that will provide for the youth in the least restrictive environment. Whether youth are first time offenders committing relatively minor misdemeanor offenses, repeat offenders with serious felony charges, or children who have not committed a crime but who are exhibiting uncontrollable behavior, all are referred to case managers within the Community Justice Division for appropriate assessment, intervention, and assistance.

Upon referral by law enforcement or other governmental agencies, parents or concerned citizens, youth are screened by case managers designated in the juvenile law as “intake officers” to determine what course of action is appropriate in each case. The intake officer may forward a case to the State’s Attorney’s Office recommending formal court action, place the youth on voluntary informal supervision for up to 90 days, close the case with a warning, or disapprove a case for insufficient evidence. Informal supervision may entail referral to another agency or individual for specialized counseling, coordinating payment of restitution for damages to victims, directing community service and/or providing appropriate supervision of the youth as needed. To facilitate such services to Maryland’s children, the State has been divided into five geographical “areas.” Maryland law places youth between the ages of 7 and 21 under the jurisdiction of the Juvenile Court. However, youth between 14 and 18 years of age comprise the majority served. Young people whose cases go to court and who are adjudicated delinquent may be placed on probation under the supervision of a probation case manager. If necessary, they may be placed outside of the home in a variety of specialized settings to meet their needs. When this occurs, emphasis on returning them to their own homes is an important component of Departmental philosophy and practice. Aftercare services are also an important part of reintegrating youth into their families and the community. Case managers in the areas of intake, probation and aftercare perform a variety of tasks including but not limited to:
· Screening police and citizen complaints
· Assessing client actions, needs and prior history
· Developing appropriate action plans for treatment, behavior modification or services
· Counseling and supervision
· Evaluating youths’ progress and making recommendations to juvenile court
· Coordinating additional social, educational or mental health services
· Placing youth in community service programs
· Identifying employment and recreational opportunities

In addition to case managers, a variety of specialized staff provide counseling, diagnostic and volunteer services.

The Washington County Diversion Program provides case management and diversion services focusing on two core components: diverting eligible juvenile offenders from the Department of Juvenile Services (DJS) and redirecting alleged Children In Need of Supervision (CINS) youth away from DJS to community-based services. The diversion component is based on a Restorative Justice philosophy, by engaging the eligible offender, offender’s parents and the victim in the diversion process to restore the harm done and make the offender accountable for their actions, while generally avoiding formal court proceedings. CINS Case Management services provide family support, advocacy and linkage to community based services. Services require strong collaborations with other community organizations in order to assist youth and families in exploring and accessing community-based interventions as an alternative to entering the juvenile justice system. In addition, the program provides parent and teen educational/support groups, led by a trained facilitator. Service goals for these groups include providing practical strategies to parents for preventing ongoing discipline problems, teaching prosocial behavior, promoting personal responsibility, reinforcing parenting skills, improving communication, etc.

Mission Statement: Strengthening the future of our children, primarily through one-to-one mentoring. As an affiliate of Big Brothers Big Sisters America, BBBS of the Capital Region has been serving communities since 1981. Locally, the program began serving Franklin County on January 1, 1998. The purpose is to serve children who are in need of additional adult support and guidance. Qualified adult mentors, who are supported by skilled professional staff, help children make responsible decisions. Long term one-to-one relationships with caring adults fulfill a critical developmental need for children. Four local high schools, Chambersburg, Waynesboro, Greencastle, and James Buchanan, as well as Shippensburg University also have programs through BBBS that allow more children to be served in Franklin County. Male children need to come from single mother homes with no adult male in the house and have limited contact with father. Big Brothers Big Sisters of the Capital Region provides services for five counties in an attempt to best meet community needs: Dauphin, Perry, Lebanon, Cumberland, and Franklin County. Procedure for program application requires parent / guardian consent. Referral candidates should be supplied with program information and should call the office to begin process.

The CCIS is contracted by the PA Department of Public Welfare, Office of Child Development, to administer this child care subsidy program to county residents. This program, which receives federal and state funding, was established to give financial support to working families for help in paying their child care expenses. In addition to offering child care subsidies, we also provide referrals to parents seeking child care. Child care providers may request information on training and workshops in their area, as well as information on providing quality child care for working families. Our program also has a resource library which includes books, magazines, pamphlets, videos, and toys that offer a wide variety of information that is helpful to both providers and families.

The Cumberland Valley Breast Care Alliance is a faith based, non-profit ministry which was founded in November 1997. Our objective is to make the community aware of what is available in the areas of breast education, mammography accessibility, and support groups. The Breast Care Alliance mission is as follows:
- To provide education to women of all ages, races, and socioeconomic levels. This includes preventive health measures, current information on breast cancer, and professional instruction of the MammaCare® technique of breast self-exam.
- To provide women, particularly the underserved and uninsured, information about programs for low or no cost mammograms, location of facilities, and transportation if needed.
- To increase public awareness of a disease that has taken too many lives of our loved ones, and to step up the fight against breast cancer.
- To assist the Pennsylvania Breast Cancer Coalition with public advocacy and legislation to improve medical care for breast cancer patients. Also, to support fund-raisers and projects on a local level.
- To provide local residents with information on the various support groups available to patients and their families.
- To provide spiritual support for breast cancer patients and their families.

MammaGift Project

The MammaGift Project is a very unique program which was created and is managed by the Cumberland Valley Breast Care Alliance. This program enables uninsured women to obtain mammograms. There are still many women in our own community that are not getting these potentially lifesaving tests. If this is because of financial reasons such as no insurance coverage or low income, there is help! If you are one of those women or you know someone else that needs assistance, simply make a call. This call could save a life. Remember, we are here to offer quality education, public awareness, and support systems for patients and their loved ones. We are not qualified to do clinical exams, diagnose, or recommend treatment.

The Pennsylvania Farm worker Project of Philadelphia Legal Assistance is a federally funded program which provides legal services to migrant and seasonal farm workers throughout the state of Pennsylvania. The Project represents income-eligible farm workers in administrative and civil proceedings regarding violations of labor laws, the Migrant and Seasonal Agricultural Workers Protection Act, the Fair Labor Standards Act and violations of state laws, including but not limited to, the Pennsylvania Seasonal Farm Labor Act. The Project assists income-eligible farm workers with problems such as lack of protections from pesticides, unsafe living and working conditions, exploitation by farm labor contractors and employers, public benefits issues and income tax issues. The Project works with community and governmental groups who serve migrant and seasonal farm workers to provide legal education to workers and service providers regarding farm workers' legal rights. The Project's staff conducts extensive outreach to seasonal farm labor camps during the peak crop seasons in Pennsylvania. The staff is also available to visit workers during non-peak season, as needed. We also operate a tax preparation site in Kennett Square, PA on Saturdays between February and April. Low income workers are helped with their tax returns and/or tax problems. Lawyers and Spanish speaking translators are available on-site and all services are free of charge. Programs:
The United Way serves to build a strong community by identifying the area's most pressing human service needs and then working to meet those needs by funding area programs which can help. A large volunteer network is put into action each fall to canvas area businesses, organizations, professionals, and individuals for their financial support of area programs. Funds are then distributed by a volunteer panel that assesses program requests and their ability to serve the community. The United Way also serves as a community resource on social service needs and problems. Note: no direct assistance is rendered to individuals by the United Way. United Way also serves as a local Gift-In-Kind resource for area non-profits, matching up donated surplus / outdated equipment and supplies with groups that can utilize it in their programming efforts. Also serves to provide informal consultation to area groups regarding non-profit organizations and issues of that status.

Programs:
WIC provides women and children with a nutritionally valuable food package to supplement their dietary intake during critical stages of growth and development in order to prevent health and nutrition problems. The WIC food package is not intended to be a complete diet, but to supplement other food available to the individual. The types and amount of food purchased each month are printed on a set of food vouchers. The food vouchers are then redeemed at a WIC participating retail store. Beyond offering nutrition education, the WIC program is deeply involved in addressing other areas of maternal and child health, such as educating participants about the dangers of drugs, alcohol and tobacco use, the importance of childhood immunizations and the benefits of breastfeeding. WIC Clinics are located in Chambersburg, Waynesboro, Greencastle, Shippensburg, Mercersburg, and Fannettsburg.
