1. Purpose
This policy addresses the use of conviction and driving record checks during the employment process, as part of a broader effort to provide a safe and secure environment and protect university assets.

The university recognizes that its interests in investigating employees’ backgrounds must be balanced with the need to protect the privacy of employees and prospective employees. Information obtained in the conviction check process is public record and is provided by a third party specializing in gathering this data. However, university policy and state and federal laws recognize the individual’s right to privacy and prohibits university employees from seeking, using, or disclosing information except within the scope of their assigned duties. Any information related to personal history, including conviction records, must be maintained in confidence. Only those personnel involved in the employment process should be informed on a need-to-know basis.

2. Policy
In order to protect university interests, institutional resources, and the welfare of its students, employees, and the public, it is the policy of the university to conduct conviction and/or driving record checks on all newly hired non-student positions for full-time, part-time and temporary/wage positions. This policy also applies to certain student positions and volunteer positions such as those that handle cash, work as resident advisors, or other positions as defined by senior management.

Applicants will be advised in the job advertisement that a conviction and/or driving record check is required as a condition of employment. The conviction/driving check should be initiated after a contingent offer is made. At no time should a non-student employee begin work until Human Resources has reviewed and communicated the results of the check to those making the hiring decision.

2.1 Types of Checks
Employment checks typically consist of conviction checks and/or driving record checks. Additional employment checks such as financial/credit checks may be conducted if job related or required by other laws or policies.

\[1\] Note: A faculty rank change by itself does not constitute a job change.
A. Conviction Checks - required for all non-student positions (full-time, part-time, temporary/wage). Human Resources will obtain through a third party vendor or the Virginia State Police.
   a. An employee changing jobs, or adding additional job(s), is not subject to a second conviction check if he/she has previously undergone a conviction check with no break in service.
   b. An employee returning to Virginia Tech in any appointment after a break in service of less than 24 months is not subject to another conviction check if he/she had previously undergone a conviction check when hired originally, or at some subsequent point. Any employee returning after a break in service of 24 months or greater is required to undergo a conviction check.
   c. Hiring officials, in consultation with Human Resources and Senior Management, may designate certain areas or job types that require a second conviction check based on job related duties, even if the candidate falls into category a or b above.

B. Driving Check (Motor Vehicle Records) - required for all final candidates in a position that requires driving as part of their normal job duties. The employee may be driving a state/university vehicle, a rental vehicle, or their own personal vehicle. The employee must have an acceptable driving record, as determined by the hiring authority after consultation with Human Resources, to drive as part of their job. Human Resources will obtain through the Department of Motor Vehicles or a third party vendor.

C. Other checks such as a Financial/Credit report, Civil Actions, or other related reports may be required if job related.

2.1.1 Safety Sensitive Positions Responsible for Public Welfare and Critical Infrastructures

Additionally, some positions have been identified for a fingerprint-based conviction check because the position carries direct responsibility for the health, safety, and welfare of the general populace, or protection of critical infrastructures, as required by Virginia Code § 2.2-1201.1.

2.1.2 Checks on Current Employees

At this time, current Virginia Tech employees will not be subject to retroactive conviction/driving checks, unless the check is required by a state or federal law or university policy. Otherwise, current employees will be subject to future checks as outlined in this policy, only when changing jobs or responsibilities.

Current employees may also be required to undergo conviction and/ or driving record checks if there is evidence that they may have falsified their employment applications when initially hired by the university or have subsequently been convicted of law violations that may be job-related. Conviction or driving record checks may also be conducted when required by state or federal law or university policy.

2.2 Disclosure and Use of Conviction Information

The university’s employment application and/or form P12W requires an applicant to describe any convictions of law violations, including misdemeanors. Convictions include Virginia juvenile adjudications for Capital Murder, First and Second Degree Murder, Lynching, or Aggravated Malicious Wounding, if the individual was age fourteen (14) to eighteen (18) when charged. The application/P12W form includes a statement certifying accuracy and completeness, agreement to submit to verification of applicant materials, and acknowledgement that misrepresentation, omission, or falsification may constitute grounds for dismissal and disqualification for future University employment.

It is acceptable and appropriate to inquire about convictions, but not arrests, during the interview process. Hiring officials should review the conviction statements on the employment application of interviewed candidates and should inquire about potentially job-related convictions during the interview. Individuals who do not disclose all required convictions on the application may be denied employment for falsification of the application. Convictions disclosed on the application or during the employment process will not be used to influence the selection decision if they have been determined to be unrelated to the job. In making the determination of job-relatedness, consideration may be given to the recency of the conviction, the frequency and severity of the crimes, the honesty of the candidate in disclosing the information, and the candidate’s subsequent work history.

Any information about job-related convictions or falsification of information should be communicated to the Department of Human Resources for further investigation and appropriate action. This policy is subject to the provisions of the Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA).

3. Procedures
The hiring official is responsible for ensuring that the selected candidate completes the necessary paperwork and that a conviction check and/or driving check is completed prior to starting employment.

All conviction and driving record checks on university employees must be coordinated through Human Resources. The cost of conviction/driving checks are paid through a central fund account for all non-auxiliary positions. Auxiliary departments will be charged for the cost of the checks.

3.1 Initiating the Conviction and Driving Record Checks
A preliminary offer is made to the selected candidate, with the final offer contingent on the results of the check. At no time should a non-student employee begin work until Human Resources has reviewed and communicated the results of the check to those making the hiring decision.

The hiring department must provide the applicant with the necessary forms, which are available on the Human Resources website. The completed form should be faxed or mailed to Human Resources to initiate the check. Results of the conviction and/or driving check are normally reported within 48 hours.

Human Resources will contact the hiring department with the results.

3.2 Determination of Job-related Convictions
The Department of Human Resources will review the conviction records and/or driving records to assist the hiring official in determining job relatedness. Human Resources will coordinate a review of any job related convictions or driving infractions and make a recommendation to the hiring official. This review may include the supervisor, senior management, Provost, Legal Counsel, and/or the Virginia Tech Police Department. The determination to deny employment to the selected candidate will be made by the hiring manager, in consultation with senior management.

4. Definitions
Conviction: The result of a trial that ends in judgment or sentence that the person is guilty as charged.

  Approved June 18, 1993, by Associate Vice President for Personnel and Administrative Services, Ann Spencer.

- Revision 2

  Section 3.3 Initiating the Conviction Check. Procedural changes were made for the selected candidate. In addition, both on and off-campus instructions on initiating a check have been added. Personnel Services will contact the department if there is a problem with the results of the check.

  References for additional information on temporary wage positions were previously made to Policy 4035, Wage Employment Guidelines. This policy has been rewritten and merged with other related policies; reference information can now be found in Policy 4032, Recruitment Guidelines for On- and Off-campus Wage and Salaried Classified Positions.

- Revision 3

  The title of the policy was revised from “Criminal History and Driver’s Record Investigation” to “Background and Driving Record Investigation.” These terms were changed throughout the policy.

  The policy was revised to include the following changes: (a) clarification that the checks are completed prior to commencement of employment; (b) stating the importance of confidentiality; (c) clarifying the types of positions for which driving records checks may be required under Section 2.1; (d) expanding the types of sensitive responsibilities under Section 2.2; (e) expanding the covered employees to include administrators, faculty, and staff in identified sensitive positions or departments; and (f) including provisions for finger-print based conviction checks for certain positions as required under Virginia Code § 2.2-1201.1.

  Other changes included significant re-formatting.

- Revision 4
Major revisions to the policy were made to require that all non-student new hire employees for full-time, part-time and temporary/wage positions, including teaching and special research faculty, submit to a conviction and/or driving record check.

Throughout the policy, the modifying word “background” was changed to “conviction” (in reference to the type of check which will be conducted) to more accurately reflect the information collected.
