Now, thinking about something else...

Q8 I'm going to read you two statements about the role of government, and I'd like to know which one comes closer to your point of view. (ROTATE STATEMENTS.)

Statement A: Government should do more to solve problems and help meet the needs of people, Q24 As you may know, if elected president in 2016, Hillary Clinton would be the first woman president. Which best describes your reaction to this? Are you (ROTATE) -- enthusiastic, comfortable with it, have some reservations about it, very uncomfortable with it -- or does it make no difference to you?

1 In March 2007, the question was asked a part of a list of candidate attributes and read: "Now I'm going to read you some things that you might learn about some of the candidates running for president. For each one, please tell me whether (A) you are enthusiastic about the candidate having this attribute, (B) you are comfortable with it, (C) you have some reservations about it, (D) if you are very uncomfortable with it, or (E) if it makes no difference to you. [Hillary Clinton would be the first woman president.]"
Turning to the issue of education...

Q25  I’d like to know how well you think our public schools are working. When it comes to education in grades K through twelve, please tell me whether you think (a) our public schools work pretty well as they are now, (b) some changes are needed, but basically they should be kept the same, (c) major changes are needed, or (d) a complete overhaul is needed.

Q27  Just to make sure that everyone has the same information let me describe the Common Core standards in a bit more detail. The Common Core standards are a new set of education standards for English and math that have been set to internationally competitive levels and would be used in every state for students in grades K through 12.

Based on this information, do you support or oppose the adoption and implementation of the Common Core standards in your state? (IF SUPPORT/Oppose, ASK) And, do you STRONGLY (support/oppose) or just SOMewhat (support/oppose) this?

Q33  Now, as you may know, President Obama has directed the Environmental Protection Agency, known as the EPA for short, to set strict carbon dioxide emission limits on existing coal-fired power plants with a goal to reduce emissions significantly by the year 2030. Q34  When it comes to the new limits on carbon dioxide emissions being set by the Obama administration and the EPA, which comes closer to your point of view? (ROTATE)

Supporters say action is needed because coal plants are a major source of carbon pollution. These reductions will mean cleaner air and reduce the health care costs associated with asthma and respiratory diseases by billions of dollars. Significantly lowering carbon pollution is the critical step in addressing climate change and the natural disasters and property damage it causes. These reductions will help create a new generation of clean energy and jobs.

Opponents say coal plant carbon emissions have already dropped over the last decade and this action will mean fewer jobs. The compliance costs for electric companies will be three times more expensive than any current EPA regulation, which means higher prices. Consumers and businesses will both end up paying more for electricity. These regulations will mean only a small change to the global climate as carbon emissions in China, India, and other developing countries will continue to rise.

¹In June 2009, the question was asked as part of a list of items.

And, thinking about something slightly different…
Q38  As you may know, the Obama administration recently secured the release of US Army Sergeant Bowe Bergdahl, who had been held by the Afghanistan Taliban for five years. In exchange, five Taliban fighters that were being held by the US were released. On balance, do you think the Obama administration (ROTATE) -- should or should not -- have made this prisoner exchange, or do you not have an opinion one way or the other?

- Should have made prisoner exchange: 30
- Should not have made prisoner exchange: 44
- No opinion: 25
- Not sure: 1

Q39  Do the details of Sergeant Bergdahl's disappearance from a base in Afghanistan and how he ended up a prisoner of the Taliban matter or not matter when it comes to the United States' decision to secure his release?

- Do matter: 47
- Do not matter: 46
- Not sure: 7
