The Scotiabank StartRight® Program for Newcomers welcomes you to Canada.
Canada Overview

Government
Canada is a constitutional monarchy with Queen Elizabeth II as head of state. It has a federal system of parliamentary government with strong democratic traditions.

Provinces & Territories
Canada is composed of 10 provinces and 3 territories.

Territories: Northwest Territories, Nunavut and Yukon.

Geography
Canada occupies most of the northern portion of North America. It is the world’s second-largest country in total area, after Russia. Canada has a population of 3.5 people per square kilometre, which is among the lowest in the world.

Climate
Canada’s temperature varies depending on the location. Winters can be harsh with severe wind chills in many regions of the country, particularly in the Prairie provinces. Coastal British Columbia is an exception and enjoys a temperate climate with a mild and rainy winter.

Economy
Canada is one of the world’s wealthiest nations with a high per capita income and low unemployment level. The Canadian economy is dominated by the service industry, which employs about three quarters of Canadians. Canada exports energy found in Alberta, British Columbia and Saskatchewan. It is also the world’s largest producer of zinc and uranium and a world leader in many other natural resources such as gold, nickel, aluminum and lead.

People*
The 2011 national census recorded approximately 34.5 million people in Canada, an increase of 5.8% since 2006. Population growth is largely due to immigration, making Canada an ethnically diverse nation. According to the 2011 census, most of the 1.2 million immigrants who arrived in Canada between 2006 and 2011, chose to settle in the three largest metropolitan areas— Toronto, Montréal and Vancouver.

Religion
Canadians adhere to a wide variety of religions, as people in Canada have the freedom of religion as one of their rights.

Language*
Canada’s two official languages are English and French. 59.7% of the population speak English as their first language, while 23.2% of the population speak French. Other significant non-official first languages include Chinese, Italian, German and Punjabi.

GLOSSARY OF TERMS

Automated Banking Machines (ABMs)
Self-service machines that allow you to perform everyday basic banking transactions, e.g. deposits, withdrawals, bill payments and transfers between accounts using a bank card. Scotiabank has over 3,800 ABMs (also known as Automated Teller Machines) across Canada.

Bank Card
Another name for a debit card that allows you to access your accounts. You can use it at ABMs or to pay for purchases at retailers using the direct payment service.

Bank Draft
This is a cheque issued by a bank after debiting the paying customer’s account. This is considered a secure form of payment. In some countries, this is also known as Banker’s Draft or Cashier’s Cheque.

Cheque
A formal written instruction to a bank to transfer the stated amount of money from the payer’s account to the payee named on the cheque.

Cheque Hold
A “hold” on the deposit of the cheque is placed to ensure that the financial institution on which the cheque is drawn will not return the cheque. No withdrawals or negotiation of the amount represented on the cheque can be made until the hold is released.

Chequing Account
This is a type of account where you can access your money on demand. You must make sure you always have enough money in your chequing account to cover the cheques that you have written. To provide added protection against insufficient funds, you can apply for Overdraft Protection on your chequing account. In some countries, this type of account is also known as a Current Account.

Credit Cards
A credit card such as a VISA card allows the holder to charge purchases rather than pay cash. Generally, no interest is charged on new purchases as long as the monthly balance is paid in full each month by the due date (with the exception of cash advances, balance transfers and Scotia® Credit Card Cheques).

Credit Limit
The maximum balance you may charge on a credit card or borrow from a line of credit.

Credit History
Your credit history is a record of any debt or loan that you hold, held in the past, or for which you have applied. It also includes the credit limits of those debts, loans or debts guaranteed and your payment history. It is used by lenders as part of the decision-making process when evaluating whether to extend new or additional credit to a borrower. Your credit history is compiled by Canada’s major credit bureaus (Equifax, TransUnion).

Credit Rating
An assessment made by an individual credit grantor of an individual’s credit worthiness to estimate his/her ability and willingness to pay credit obligations. Banks and financial organizations refer to credit ratings when considering applications for loans and credit cards.

Customer Service Representative
A front-line bank employee to assist with your banking queries and provide banking services, e.g. accept/pay cash, exchange currencies, issue drafts and wire transfers, etc. Traditionally, in some countries, they are also known as Bank Tellers.

Debit Card
Another name for a bank card that allows you to access your accounts. You can use it at banking machines or to pay for purchases at retailers using the direct payment service.

Guaranteed Investment Certificates (GICs)
Also called Term or Fixed Deposits, GICs are an investment in which you deposit money, for a fixed period of time, and are paid a set rate of interest. Cashable GICs offer the flexibility of withdrawing all or part of your funds prior to maturity without penalty (certain conditions may apply).

Interest
Interest is a charge paid on borrowed funds. For example, if money is borrowed from a bank in the form of a loan or line of credit, the bank will charge interest for the use of that money. It does not include any other costs or fees incurred because of the loan.

Internet/Online Banking
Online banking enables customers with internet access and authorization from their bank(s) to manage their banking transactions electronically. It can be used for checking bank account and credit card balances, transferring funds, paying bills and applying for new products and services. Scotiabank offers free internet banking – Scotia OnLine® Financial Services – to its customers.

Mobile Banking
Mobile banking lets you bank anywhere, anytime using your mobile device. You can check your balances, move your money, pay your bills and more depending on what kind of device you use. You can access any of your day-to-day and small business accounts, VISA, and lines of credits. You can view the balances of your mortgage and brokerage accounts.
Money Order
Similar to a bank draft, a money order is an order for the payment of a specified amount of money issued by an institution.

Mortgage
A loan secured by real estate. It is often granted to purchase a home. Some types of mortgages are defined below:

- Conventional Mortgage – A mortgage loan that does not exceed 80% of the lesser of the appraised value or the purchase price of the property.
- Fixed Rate Mortgage – The rate of interest and payment amount is fixed for a specific term.
- Variable Rate Mortgage – A variable rate mortgage is where the rate of interest changes when the lender’s prime lending rate changes, usually not more than once a month. Depending on the terms of the mortgage, the payments may change each time the interest rate changes or the payment may be fixed for all or part of the mortgage term.

Mortgagee and Mortgagor
The lender is the mortgagee and the borrower is the mortgagor.

Non-Sufficient Funds (NSF)
A cheque considered to be NSF indicates that the funds in the bank account that the cheque was drawn on were less than the amount of the cheque.

Overdraft Protection
Overdraft Protection is an agreement with the bank that temporarily allows you to overdraw your bank account up to a pre-approved limit. In addition to interest charges, banks usually charge a monthly fee for this service.

Passbook
A book provided by the bank at the request of a customer, in which all transactions in a bank account are noted.

Personal Identification Number (PIN)
A unique number or security access code created by the user. This is used to access the bank account in combination with the bank card when making an Automated Banking Machine or point-of-sale transaction or for internet and telephone banking transactions.

Registered Education Savings Plan (RESP)
An RESP is designed to help you save for the post-secondary education of a child. Although RESP contributions are not tax-deductible, they do allow savings to compound and grow on a tax-deferred basis until the funds are withdrawn for a qualified education program.

Registered Retirement Savings Plan (RRSP)
Registered savings accounts allow you to save for retirement. Income and capital gains from your investments accumulate, free from income tax, until withdrawn from the account. Income and capital gains earned in these accounts are tax as regular income when withdrawn.

Savings Account
This type of bank account usually pays interest on the funds deposited and provides easy access to your money, although a cheque book is not provided.

Telephone Banking
This service enables you to make banking transactions remotely, by phone. Scotiabank offers a free telephone banking facility – TeleScotia telephone banking – to its customers.

Term
The period of time that an investment or a loan remains in effect.

Transaction
An activity in a bank account. It may be a deposit, withdrawal, debit card or bill payment, service charge or interest payment.

Wire Transfer
A wire transfer is a transfer of money from one bank account to another account at the same or another institution/country. In some countries, this is also known as Telegraphic Transfer.

Health, Safety & Your Rights

Canada’s Health Care System

Canada has one of the finest public health insurance systems in the world, known as Medicare. Under Medicare, you don’t have to “pay” directly for most health care services. They are paid through your taxes.

Medicare is available to all permanent residents and Canadian citizens.

The federal government sets health care standards for all of Canada, but each province manages its own health care program. In some provinces, there is a small monthly fee for health insurance. Ontario charges annual OHIP premium through your tax return. There are also minor differences in eligibility and services provided from province to province.

Applying for a Health Card

You should apply for a health card as soon as you arrive in Canada. Each member of your family, even babies, must have their own health card.

All Canadian citizens and permanent residents are eligible for Medicare. In some provinces, foreign workers and students, and others who are in Canada temporarily, may also be eligible. To apply for a health card, contact the Ministry of Health in the province or territory where you live.

Medical Services Covered by Medicare

Health care services covered by Medicare include:
- Examination and treatment by family doctors
- Many types of surgery
- Most treatments by specialists
- Hospital care
- X-rays
- Many laboratory tests
- Most vaccinations

Medical Services Not Covered by Medicare

Your public health insurance will only pay for essential or medically necessary services. In most provinces, Medicare does not typically cover the following services:
- Ambulance services
- Dental care
- Prescription drugs
- Glasses and contact lenses

You will have to pay for these services yourself. If you have a job in Canada, you may be covered for some or all of the costs of these services through a workplace benefits package. Ask your employer if you are not sure.

Some provinces do pay for non-medical services, such as prescription drugs. In some cases, only a portion of the total cost is covered.

Some Rights Related to Health and Safety Standards

Canadian Centre for Occupational Health and Safety (CCOHS)
www.ccohs.ca/oshanswers/legisl/responsi.html

What are the employee's rights and responsibilities?

Employee’s responsibilities include the following:
- Responsibility to work in compliance with Occupational Health and Safety regulations
- Responsibility to use personal protective equipment and clothing as directed by the employer
- Responsibility to report workplace hazards and dangers

Employees have the following three basic rights:
- Right to refuse unsafe work
- Right to participate in the workplace health and safety activities through Joint Health and Safety Committee (JHSC)
- Right to be informed about actual and potential dangers in the workplace

Human Rights Information in Canada

Equitas, formerly the Canadian Human Rights Foundation, is a non-governmental organization (NGO) dedicated to the defence and promotion of human rights through education, in Canada and around the world.
http://www.equitas.org

Under the Canadian Human Rights Act, it is against the law for any employer to discriminate on the basis of:
- Race, colour or ethnic origin
- Religion
- Age
- Sex (including pregnancy and childbearing)
- Sexual orientation
- Marital/family status
- Physical or mental disability (including dependence on alcohol or drugs)
- Pardoned criminal conviction
Public Education for Children

Public education is run by the provinces and territories and is paid for through taxes. Public education is free and available to every child in Canada.

Most children start going to school when they are 4 or 5. By law, they must attend school until the age of 15 or 16, depending on where they live.

Elementary and Secondary School

Children begin their education in elementary school. Elementary school starts with kindergarten for young children, and runs through to grade 6 or 8. This is followed by secondary school, or high school, which is for children in grade 8 or 9 to grade 12.

How to Enrol Your Children in School

Parents must register children at the local school or school board office. For more information, please visit cic.gc.ca/english/newcomers/after-education.asp.

When you register your child, you must bring your child's:

- Permanent Resident Card, Record of Landing (IMM 5688) or Confirmation of Permanent Residence (IMM 5292);
- birth certificate; and
- vaccination certificate.

Planning Ahead for Your Child’s Post-Secondary Education

A Registered Education Savings Plan (RESP) is one of the easiest and best ways to fund the future ambitions of your child.

All you need to do is ensure that your child has a valid Social Insurance Number (SIN) and open an RESP. You can then use the plan to save for your child’s education while deferring taxes on the earnings.

For more information on how you can open and contribute to an RESP, visit www.scotiabank.com/resp.

Free Basic English and French Classes
http://www.servicecanada.gc.ca/eng/goc/linc.shtml

The Government of Canada, in cooperation with provincial governments, school boards and organizations, offers FREE language training across the country for adult permanent residents. In most provinces, the name of the program is LINC (Language Instruction for Newcomers to Canada).

LINC offers both full- and part-time classes to suit your needs, and some centres offer free child care while you attend classes. Most LINC centres can also refer you to other language training classes in your area.

Remember, language classes are available for every adult in your family, not just the person who may be looking for work.

Most individuals who plan to come to Canada to settle permanently and who wish to enter the labour force will need to know the value of the education, training and experience they have acquired outside Canada.

The procedures for evaluating and recognizing qualifications earned outside Canada will depend on whether you wish to enter an occupation or pursue further studies, whether your chosen occupation is regulated or non-regulated, and the province/territory in which you intend to settle.
