Hon'ble Justice Dr S. Radhakrishnan, Chairman, Maharashtra Administrative Tribunal, INDIA
The Chairperson of the session, Hon'ble Justice Dr S. Radhakrishnan said that it is essential to promote peace for which we need a democratic form of government with three basic requirements — equality, freedom and liberty. Dr Radhakrishnan made reference to Right to Education (RTE) of children and right to approach Supreme Court itself for seeking redressal of individual's problems. He further spoke on principle of Natural Justice and equality for all in eyes of law on which Indian constitution was framed.

Hon'ble Ms Justice Maria del Carmen Battaini, Judge, Supreme Court, Tierra del Fuego Province, ARGENTINA
In her address, Hon'ble Ms Justice Battaini expressed her concern about discrimination regarding violence affecting minors and stressed on understanding the necessity to implement law. She stressed on Judges' training in a judicial school for understanding problems of young people, specially children and adolescents. Expressing her concern about political situation in her country, Justice Battaini further laid emphasis on understanding problems of youth punished for various offenses and stressed on working with young people of community at large and make justice easily accessible. She expressed her belief that judges' interaction would greatly help to understand psychology of young people while giving judgments.

Hon'ble Ms Justice Joke van Wouw, Former Juvenile Court Judge, NETHERLANDS
Hon'ble Ms Justice Wouw spoke on ratification and binding of International law in respect of self executing professions, rights of children and power of church in enforcing provisions of treaties. She further spoke on rule of construction applied in respect to cases of divorce and other family disputes and stressed on training of judges to learn about psychology of children and spoke on role of Juvenile court settlements. She stressed on the need to protect the rights of children saying that we all are one and we must organize to give a respectable happy future to our children by ensuring protection of their rights.

Hon'ble Ms Justice Dora Mondaca Rosales, Judge, Court of Appeals, Antofagasta Province, CHILE
In her address, Hon'ble Ms Justice Rosales said that we must not forget that children are the future parents, teachers, technicians, engineers, doctors etc. If they are discriminated against, they learn to discriminate too, if they are not treated with dignity, they will not know the respect for others, if they are struck, they will learn to hit, etc., so it is in our hands to take indispensable measures so that they are not violated and, generate the necessary palliative to help its development, always looking for the right balance between protection and enforcement, for which we can only continue the work already begun.

Hon'ble Ms Justice Martha Gomez Alsina, Judge, Family Law, ARGENTINA
Hon'ble Ms Justice Alsina conveyed that her message is to ask all of us to work together in order to apply on daily basis International Conventions in our working places. She further said that our job might be more or less significant, however, we, judges, are all missionaries: where we find violence, we should work to deliver peace.

Hon'ble Ms Esra Alan Akcan, Istanbul Culture University, TURKEY
In her address, Ms Akcan said that justice does not mean to divide; instead it means to abide by the rights. Humans are the most sensible creatures of the world with the power of thinking. Knowledge makes a human being special. No religion is more real than humanity. The world is ours and there is no other planet where we can dwell. Justice means providing equality. Principle of equality is to get what one deserves. The work to make peace belongs to all of us. Civilization should not be based on revenge but on conference and friendship. Our creator is one. We are one state. Our boundaries should be removed.