Top Early Childhood Trends in 2016

Excerpt from the Camp Fire Blog – read the full article at CampFireFW.org

January might be over, but conversations about early education are reaching their peak. Last year laid the stepping stones for discussion starters; 2016 will be the beginning of a lasting effort to reassess, strengthen and improve the early education playing field. At Camp Fire, we are fortunate to help drive this change. Now that both our national and local community has moved from asking questions to seeking answers, there are a few key trends to keep an eye on in 2016.

1. Expanding the focus. In recent years there has been a heavy focus on ‘zero to three.’ In 2016 that focus will expand to include ages zero to three and a half.

2. Importance of play. Thanks to a local initiative led by Texas Christian University, the importance of recess and outdoor, unstructured play has garnered national attention.

3. Outdoor therapy. The outdoor classroom is something that will really be taking shape this year. By exposing children to both an indoor and outdoor environment, youth are getting a quicker grasp of methods and lessons though a two-step process.

4. A united effort. The long standing phrase ‘it takes a village to raise a child’ is proving to be true in 2016. Instead of working separately towards the same goal, Fort Worth is seeing a purposeful effort to align research, funding and action plans – all for the better of early education.

5. Funding and politics. It’s an election year and with that comes a heightened focus on educational spending and outcomes.

SIDS/Child Abuse/Neglect:
Your Role as a Child Care Provider
Dawn Hallman, M.A., Denise Collins, Ph.D. and Judy Dillon, RN

One of our roles is to protect and care for one of the most vulnerable populations. In this session we tackle three situations to be intimately aware of to live up to that role. Learn how to recognize the signs of shaken baby brain damage and how to help parents recognize the danger of shaking a baby or small child.

Additionally, we will explore and learn to recognize signs of child abuse and neglect, what your legal rights and responsibilities are, and how to be helpful to traumatized children. Finally, this course will teach you ways to lessen the chance of SIDS (Sudden Infant Death Syndrome) from happening in your classroom.

Infant/ Toddler MINI-CONFERENCE

Session 1: Foundational Learning for Infants
Stacy Benge, M.S.

Literacy, math, and science with infants? What does that look like? Discover developmentally appropriate ways to approach these core subjects with our youngest children using practical, everyday experiences. Learn also how the foundational skills we are laying in infancy will promote academic success in the later years of childhood. This session is for educators working with 0-18 month old children.

Session 2: Math and Science in the Toddler Learning Environment
Pam Arnold, M.Ed.

Play is a child’s work. Let’s explore principles, methods and materials for teaching math and science concepts to children 18-36 months through discovery and play.

NEW! No Cash Policy

We appreciate your business and want to let you know of a change to how Camp Fire First Texas will accept payment for program tuition and enrollment fees. Beginning on February 1, 2016, we no longer accept CASH payments. The only acceptable forms of payment are: money order, cashier’s check, personal check or credit/debit card (including pre-paid cards).

It is our responsibility to anticipate situations that have the potential to compromise the safety of our staff and program participants. Maintaining any amount of cash on-site has the potential to make our programs a target. Additionally, this change in payment provides you with a level of financial protection by being able to track payments to a class that does not rely on handwritten receipts. This change provides safety and peace of mind for our staff and participants. It is a win-win!

This particularly impacts those classes that offer registration at the door, space permitting. Thank you for understanding this important change.
