Notes about the Guide

For our purposes, different housing options are divided into five groups: Emergency Housing, Transitional Housing, Permanent Supportive Housing, Recovery Housing, and Subsidized Housing. Please note the following definitions:

- Emergency Housing: Emergency shelter where individuals can stay up to 90 days.
- Transitional Housing: Housing that has a time limitation on occupancy, usually of no more than two years. The goal of transitional housing is to provide the support needed for participants to move into permanent housing.
- Permanent Supportive Housing: Permanent affordable housing, in any housing configuration, with supportive services attached that are designed to help people maintain the housing.
- Recovery Housing: Rental property where residents commit to sobriety and providing mutual support to one another.
- Subsidized Housing: Housing that is required to offer apartments to low-income individuals; rent is calculated as a percentage of income.

The information included in the Guide is meant to be a starting point and is by no means exhaustive. We have included space for those who use the guide to update and add information as they see fit.

Practical Tips on How to Access Services

With the help of the Housing Forum Planning Committee Members, we have compiled this list of strategies for case managers to help their clients navigate the system:

- Keep a paper trail. Make copies of all applications, ask for receipts, get it in writing, write letters, and have clients keep logs of where they have applied.
- Follow up. Be persistent, contact by phone, email, or make a visit.
- Make appointments to meet with the right people.
- Build relationships. Get to know the staff at the Housing Authority, DSS, and staff at other agencies. Network at workshops and conferences.
- Have clients put their names on several waiting lists. Waiting list times vary from about six months to two years, so it is very doubtful that any units would be immediately available.
- Regularly check status on waiting lists.
- Encourage your clients to ask you for help in filling out applications and make sure that they are complete!
- Use the Housing Resource Guide to find additional resources.
- Have clients keep their addresses current with agencies since many of them communicate through the mail.

Section 8 Assistance

Service Type: Financial assistance

Brief Description: The housing choice voucher program is the government’s major program for assisting very low-income families to afford decent, safe, and sanitary housing in the private market; participants are free to choose any private rental housing that meets the requirements of the program; families that are issued housing vouchers are responsible for finding suitable housing where the owner agrees to rent under the program; this may include the family's present residence; rental units must meet minimum standards of quality and safety as determined by HUD; housing subsidies are paid by the public housing authority (PHA) to the landlord directly; families then pay the difference between the actual rent charged by the landlord and the amount subsidized by the program.

Eligibility: Information on family composition, income, and assets is collected by the public housing authority (PHA); the PHA then verifies this information and uses it to determine a family's eligibility and the amount of their housing assistance payment; an eligible family is then placed on a waiting list, unless the PHA is able to assist them immediately; once a family is chosen from the waiting list, the PHA will contact them and issue them a voucher.

Services Offered: Housing vouchers

Application Process: Contact local PHA to find out about waiting list status and other important details
