Example 1: Show how the word choice in these lines helps point up the contrast described here. (2A)

Transferring the sultry sensuality of a Latin street dance to Edinburgh on a wet winter’s night would not appear the easiest of tasks. The rain batters the glass roof of the studio, competing in volume with the merengue blaring from the sound system. In the background, the castle, lit up, stares down grandly against the foreboding skies.
