Born: 1715 VA, USA
Married: Priscilla Unknown
Died: 1796
Parents: Isaac Hall & Judith Green
Lewis Hall, Sr. was born in Southwark Parish, Surry County, Virginia about 1715. He was the son of Isaac Hall and Judith Green. Along with his brothers, George, William, and Isaac, Jr., he was an heir in his father’s will, dated December 20, 1728, recorded August 19, 1730 in Southwark Parish, Surry County, Virginia.

Isaac Hall’s forebearers are not known in chronological order, however, we know that by repeated given names and family name all through the family lines they are prima facie descendants of William Hall of "The Third Charter" which was "The 1612 Charter of King James, I of England". (See Conquest of Virginia" --- "Third Attempt" by Conway Whittle Sams.).

The name of Lewis Hall, Sr.’s wife (or wives) is unknown. At least two of his sons, Lewis Hall, Jr. and Enoch Hall, had a daughter named "Priscilla" indicating their mother’s name may have been Priscilla.

The chronological order of his children is unknown; his known children are:

1. Mary
   b. ????, m. Richard Gilmore, lived in Bladen/Robeson Co.

2. Instance
   b. ????, m. unknown.

3. Lewis, Jr.
   b. 6/25/1753, m. 1) Flora Beatty (?), dau. of John (?).
   d. 4/22/1821, 2) Nancy Colly of Robeson County, N.C.
      He is buried in Tattan (now Tombs) Co., Ga.

4. Enoch
   b. 1754, m. Ann "Nancy" Jackson, before 4/29/1775 in Bladen County, Georgia.
   d. 1815, County, N.C. He is buried near Glennville, Tattanall County, Georgia.

5. Thomas
   b. ????, m. unknown, Bladen County, North Carolina.
   d. 1811, He died in Tattanall County, Georgia.

Lewis Hall, Sr. and his sons were supporters of the Revolutionary War. All of his known sons were Revolutionary Soldiers. It is thought that this Hall family was related to Thomas Hall, who was hanged for participating in Bacon’s Rebellion in 1676. (See Hening’s Statutes At Large, Volume 2, pages 245/246). Historians say Bacon’s Rebellion was the Colonists first attempt to break away from the Mother Country. The name “Thomas” is very prominent in the Hall family.

North Carolina Deed Records indicate that Lewis Hall, Sr. received land and bought and sold land in Bladen County until Robeson County was formed in 1787. The Halls operated a Hall’s Ferry across Drowning Creek, now Lumber River in Robeson County. The Hall’s Ferry Landing was used as a survey point in some deeds. Bladen County Court House has been burned about three times and many records have been lost.

Lewis Hall, Sr. made a Deed of Gift to Richard and William Gilmore, children of Mary Gilmore on September 14, 1791 in Robeson County, North Carolina. There were many land transactions from 1791 to 1796 among the Halls. Lewis Hall, Sr. probably died before 1797 when his four sons, and maybe Mary Gilmore and family, moved from Robeson County, North Carolina to Montgomery County after it was formed from Washington County, Georgia.

Lewis Hall, Sr.’s burial place is unknown, but it is probably in Bladen/Robeson County, North Carolina where his wife or wives would have been buried.

Lewis Hall, Sr. received from his Virginia ancestors a noble purpose and left his descendants a wonderful heritage.
