The mission of The Patrick Dempsey Center for Cancer Hope & Healing is to improve the quality of life for individuals, families and communities impacted by cancer through support, education, integrative medicine, outreach and prevention.

It is incredible to think that five years have passed since the Center first opened its doors in 2008. The overwhelming support we’ve received from people like you has allowed us to work together to grow and expand our services, all of which are provided at no cost to anyone impacted by cancer. We’ve moved into a warm, healing space for our patients and their families, raised over $5 million for the Center through five Dempsey Challenges, and seen our number of contacts grow from just over 1,200 in our first year to over 20,000 in 2013.

As we look to the next five years and beyond, we will continue to adapt and evolve to meet the needs of the people we’re here for and expand our reach to fulfill our mission of helping those impacted by cancer.

Five years ago this organization was just an idea, but thanks to you - our donors, Dempsey Challenge participants, volunteers, corporate partners, community members and private foundations - the Dempsey Center is a reality. You are part of a collective effort to build hope, improve lives, and provide support. It’s a beautiful thing, and I’m so proud to be a part of it.

With gratitude,

Patrick Dempsey
Founder, The Patrick Dempsey Center for Cancer Hope & Healing

Cancer doesn’t just impact the people who are diagnosed with cancer; it changes the lives of their family and friends too. At the Dempsey Center, we are committed to complementing the medical care a cancer patient receives by providing social, emotional and educational support for anyone impacted by cancer. And we are able to provide our services and programs at no cost because of YOU, our donors, community partners, Challenge participants, fundraisers, volunteers and corporate sponsors.

As a staff, we are mindful every day that working with cancer patients, families, cancer survivors and friends is a privilege and an honor. We continue to listen to our clients as well as the community and add programs and services accordingly. Our areas of growth and successes in 2013 can be found highlighted throughout this report. Overall, we are pleased to report that our hours of operation increased by 29%, and our total number of contacts increased by nearly 34%.

It is your support which allows us to work every day toward improving the quality of life of those impacted by cancer...thank you!

Youth and Family Services
The Dempsey Center’s Healing Tree program is a model of care that is family-centered and youth-oriented. Specially designed programs and services meet the unique needs of children, teens, and families impacted by cancer. In 2013:

- We added pediatric massage and Reiki services for youth.
- Developed the Stress Busters Wellness Series, which offers children and their caregivers a way to explore different coping styles.
- Collaborated with the Young Photographers Initiative (YPI) kids photography program. Eight teenagers who have a parent with cancer participated in the program, creating photos of their parent as they see them through the lens of a camera.
- Teen Group membership grew to 29 adolescents.

Peer Support
Cancer support groups relay information, provide comfort, teach coping skills, and provide a means for people to share common concerns. The Center offers ten professionally-facilitated support groups. In 2013:

- We added two new support groups: Women’s Support Group, available to any woman with cancer and the NOMO (Not On My Own) young adult support group.

Individualized Services
The Dempsey Center offers a variety of individualized services to help patients and their families during their cancer journey. Services offered include counseling, connecting patients with cancer resources, and individual nutrition consults. In 2013:

- We added two clinicians to our staff, allowing us to add an additional 1,150 counseling appointments per year.
- Our registered dietitian provided individual nutrition consults to 189 patients.
- We automated our Lending Library.

“After joining the [NOMO young adult support] group, I quickly realized that NOMO was helping me just as much as I was helping others. It was a group that became so therapeutic for me, so much more than I expected!”

– Jennifer Blankenbeckler, brain cancer survivor
On free cancer screenings in the community: “Thank you for everything you do for our community. Without this [skin cancer] screening, this patient, who had no insurance, may not have sought care. Thank you!”
- Maryann G. Leonard, Practice Manager
Bates Mill Dermatology

Prevention & Early Detection
In 2013:

- Community Outreach: 132 presentations to community groups, schools, worksites and health fairs focused on prevention and early detection.

- No Sun for Babies: 727 parents of newborns received sun safety educational information and bonnets.

- 122 free cancer screenings were offered in the community.

- Held three successful “Quit for Life” tobacco cessation series and one “Tobacco Helper Training” in partnership with Healthy Androscoggin.

- Partnered with the Melanoma Foundation of New England on “The Skinny on Skin”, training over 90 hair professionals to be aware of suspicious moles on clients.

- Added “Survivors Teaching Students” education program to teach 80 future healthcare professionals about symptoms and risk factors for ovarian cancer, in collaboration with the Ovarian Cancer National Alliance.

Massage & Reiki
Our oncology certified massage therapists provide therapeutic services to patients and their caregivers at the Dempsey Center, as well as to patients undergoing treatment in the medical oncology infusion and in-patient units at CMMC. Certified Reiki practitioners also provide services at the Dempsey Center aimed at easing stress and pain for both patients and their caregivers.

Total programs presented in 2013: 264
(77% increase over 2012)

Total attendees in 2013: 1,573
(32% increase over 2012)

Our educational programs continue to focus on meeting the needs of a broad and varied population from those recently diagnosed with cancer, to family and loved ones, to long term survivors, and community members interested in cancer prevention topics. Program highlights this year included:

- Presentations from CMMC healthcare professionals on Lymphedema, “Chemo-brain” (thinking and memory problems that can occur after cancer treatment).

- Successful new programs Fighting Cancer Related Fatigue and Cancer and Genetics.

- Planted and harvested our first Community Garden.

- One of our most popular programs, yoga, was enhanced with the addition of classes: Restorative Yoga, Pilates Yoga, and Yoga for Littles, a class for youth ages 5-10 years old.

The Dempsey Center Community Garden is run by Center volunteers on land generously donated by Cascades Auburn Fiber. Produce from the garden is used for Nutrition for Life programs and given to Dempsey Center clients.
\textbf{Volunteers}

Our volunteers continue to give an incredible amount of time, energy and support. They offer valuable skills that help us meet the needs of our clients and extend our reach and impact. In 2013:

“Words cannot express the appreciation we have for your Center and the volunteers that give of themselves to create knitted blankets of amazing color to give to patients who are searching for a small glimmer of hope in a sad circumstance. The blanket drapes an embroidered wingback chair in the corner of a room. It holds the pleasant and comforting scent of our mother... and continues to make us feel close to her.”

– The Family of Louise C. Ouellette

“... As you already know, and I am learning now, there is a great difference that can be found at the Center, in so many different ways, i.e. massages, Reiki, and just the warmth of the staff, and the feeling that they do really care.”

– Dale H., Prostate Cancer Survivor

DONORS

The Center provided a tremendous amount of support to him and his family throughout the duration of his illness. His daughters thoroughly enjoyed being part of the teen activities and the trips they were able to take. The photograph that his daughter took of her father as part of the photography project is treasured and would not have been possible, if not for the programs that you provide.”

*This Christmas our family decided to forego gifts and make a donation to the Dempsey Center in memory of my brother, who passed away in October. I found these teachings very enlightening and helpful. So often I beat myself up for not being physically able to do this or that any more. This attitude eats away at me of course, which isn’t any good to me or anyone else! Thanks for all the programs that the Dempsey Center offers.”

"With life being so rushed all the time, all my dad wanted to do was drive slower, talk more and savor everything. I know he appreciated that "time" at the center was never hurried, that he felt (and so did I) that I/he was important and special to you. That is a gift in itself that your Center provides."
