Birth to 3 is Wisconsin’s early intervention program for infants and toddlers with developmental delays and disabilities and their families. A federal law, the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA), provides a framework for a comprehensive program and coordinates developmental, health and social services within a community. The Department of Health Services oversees the Birth to 3 Program in Wisconsin.

The Birth to 3 Program is for children ages birth to 36 months. Eligibility is based on a diagnosed disability or significant delay in one or more areas of development. The team will evaluate the child’s ability to learn (cognitive development); move, see and hear (physical/motor development); communicate and understand other’s communication (speech and language development); respond to and relate with others (social and emotional development); and eat, dress and care for daily living needs (adaptive development). A Birth to 3 service coordinator helps the family understand and participate in the evaluation process.

Education for Homeless Children and Youth (EHCY) Program
Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction
Website: http://dpi.wi.gov/homeless

The EHCY Program’s major responsibility is to implement the McKinney-Vento Homeless Education Assistance Act. Homeless children and unaccompanied youth must have access to public school educational programs and services that allow them to meet the same challenging state academic standards to which all students are held, without being segregated or stigmatized. The homeless liaison in each school district identifies and immediately enrolls homeless children and youth (preschool to grade 12), ensures that no barriers block their full educational participation, and helps them succeed in school. School districts partner with community agencies to identify and assist with basic services for homeless families, children, and youth. See http://dpi.wi.gov/homeless/faq#presch for details about how EHCY applies to preschool children.

Family Resource Centers (FRCs) provide services and support systems that emphasize and build on family strengths. Each Family Resource Center is unique, but there are commonalities across programs. FRCs primarily focus on parents or primary caregivers and their children from prenatal through early childhood, and offer a wide range of services to meet the individual needs of each family and community. Each center aims to help parents and families develop additional positive parenting skills, and even grand-parenting skills. The specific services each center offers may be located at the center, in homes or at other locations in the community. In Wisconsin, FRCs may provide a combination of any of these core services and more:

- Group services: delivering parent education courses, workshops, support groups, drop-in programs, respite care, and play groups.
- Individual services: providing families with personal consultations and support through services such as telephone "warm-lines" for non-emergency parenting information, home visits, supervised visitation or safe exchange programs.
- Outreach and family visiting services: reaching out to parents and families in their homes or in other community-based locations convenient for families. This might be through collaborations with birthing hospitals to connect with new families, through community response to ensure families have support in times of need or through universal services such as car seat checks.
- Community resource and referral and follow-up services: offering a reliable link to public and private agencies and providing strong family advocacy within local communities. Families can receive referrals to other community programs, public benefits, and assistance with transportation.

2. PALS Early Literacy Screener
PALS Website:  http://dpi.wi.gov/assessment/pals
The Phonological Awareness Literacy Screening (PALS) is a research-based screening, diagnostic, and progress monitoring tool. Teachers use PALS to identify students at risk of developing reading difficulties, diagnose students' knowledge of literacy fundamentals, monitor progress, and plan instruction that targets students’ needs. Early literacy screening is required by Wisconsin Statute 118.016. Beginning in the 2016-17 school year, however, districts can continue to use PALS or select a different assessment of reading readiness for use with each child enrolled in four-year-old kindergarten to second grade. The assessment of reading readiness must be administered at least annually, evaluate whether a child possesses phonemic awareness and letter sound knowledge, be an appropriate, valid, and reliable assessment of literacy fundamentals, and include students enrolled in special education programs. Results of the assessment must be communicated to each child’s parent or guardian, and for children whose assessment performance indicates a risk of reading difficulty, the school/district will provide interventions or remedial reading services.

Typically, these programs have been in public school buildings. An increased number of school districts have initiated community-based approaches through partnerships that bring 4 and 5-year-old kindergarten programs into child care, preschool, or Head Start center settings. In these locations, licensed teachers may still have separate kindergarten classrooms, may team-teach in a blended program, or teach through other arrangements. As of the 2015-16 school year, 96.6 percent of public school districts were offering 4K, serving 48,111 students.

Website: http://dpi.wi.gov/sped/educators/consultation/state-personnel-development-grant
The 2013-2017 Wisconsin State Personnel Development Grant (SPDG) has been developed to support public schools in which there is concern about the performance of students with disabilities on statewide assessments. Schools participating in SPDG will be offered professional development and ongoing support from SPDG partners (WI FACETS - Wisconsin Family Assistance Center for Education, Training and Support, ECCAN - Early Childhood Curriculum and Assessment Network, and IHE - Institutions of Higher Education). To improve outcomes for children with disabilities, the SPDG project supports the following Wisconsin State Performance Plan Indicators: Indicator #1: Graduation Rates, Indicator #3: Assessments, and Indicator #7: Preschool Outcomes. Wisconsin’s SPDG grant is authorized by the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) and funded by the U.S. Department of Education’s Office of Special Education Programs.
The Registry maintains a statewide, profession-wide, free, web-based interactive training calendar for anyone in the field of child care and education in Wisconsin. From the website, events, trainings, and for-credit courses may be sorted according to area of the state, date, topic, sponsor, presenter, tier level, or language. Those looking for trainings to attend can create a personalized calendar or training “shopping cart” by selecting only those events in which they are interested. Agencies offering training are encouraged to register as sponsors and post their event information directly on the interactive website.

Wisconsin was one of the first seven states to pilot the Strengthening Families through Early Care and Education Initiative, an innovative, research-based strategy to prevent child maltreatment by building on the strong relationships that parents of young children typically have with their child care providers. YoungStar, Wisconsin’s child care quality rating and improvement system, gives early care and education programs the opportunity to earn a point towards their quality rating when they participate in training on the Protective Factors Framework. The statewide network of child care resource and referral agencies and family resource centers, known as the Supporting Families Together Association (SFTA), offers Strengthening Families training and technical assistance to early care and education providers and child care centers.

Supporting Families Together Association envisions in every Wisconsin community, that all children have the opportunity to reach their highest potential and all adults embrace their role and responsibility to children. To make this happen, SFTA supports and sustains an effective network of family support and early care and education systems through statewide membership of Child Care Resource & Referral Agencies, Family Resource Centers, and individuals committed to early childhood. SFTA focuses efforts on four early childhood priorities to promote quality, strengths-based, early childhood services in all communities:

- Quality Early Care and Education: SFTA is committed to working with our community-based organizations to advocate, educate and build Wisconsin’s capacity to deliver high-quality early care and education experiences to all of Wisconsin’s children. This is supported through programming like YoungStar, Training & Technical Assistance and Child Care Resource & Referral services.

- Strong Families: SFTA provides concrete support to families in a strengths-based and evidence-informed manner in order to prevent child abuse and neglect. This is supported through child abuse and neglect prevention efforts such as Parent Cafés, and through training, including Strengthening Families™, Stewards of Children and SFTA’s annual Small Change Makes a Big Difference Teach-a-Thon. SFTA also provides support and technical assistance to Family Resource Centers throughout Wisconsin.

- Healthy Children: SFTA is actively engaged in a broad range of health promotion efforts that are designed to create better health outcomes for all of Wisconsin’s children. This is supported through promotion of The Pyramid Model of Social Emotional Competence and obesity prevention initiatives like Active Early and Healthy Bites.

- Responsive Systems: SFTA builds systems and supports to early childhood that result in opportunities for all children to reach their highest potential. This is integrated into all programming at SFTA, including the radio program, Apoyando Familias, Aprendiendo Juntos and intentional supports for Wisconsin’s 11 First Nations.

Wisconsin’s Child Care Quality Rating and Improvement System. YoungStar sets a five-star rating system for child care providers based on four quality components: the provider’s education and training, the learning environment and curriculum, the program’s business and professional practices, and the children’s health and well-being. Through this rating system the state is addressing several key issues in Wisconsin’s child care system. It is:
1. Improving the overall quality of child care.
2. Giving parents a clear, understandable tool to compare their child care options and choose high quality care.
3. Creating tools, training, and incentives for providers to improve services, particularly for low-income children.
4. Establishing a connection between child care quality and the rate of Wisconsin Shares payments, and helping prevent fraud in the Wisconsin Shares system.

Supporting Families Together Association (SFTA) and Wisconsin Early Childhood Association (WECA) manage YoungStar across the state. These organizations combined are recognized as The YoungStar Consortium, the contracted agency for the delivery of YoungStar administrative services.
