Dr. Dennis Prutow grew up in southern New Jersey. After high school and one year at the University of Delaware, he attended the US Military Academy at West Point. After graduating in 1963, his first tour of duty was in South Korea where he came to faith in Christ through the ministry of an Army Chaplain. Denny then attended Fuller Theological Seminary in Pasadena, California where he obtained his Master of Divinity in 1968. There he met the former Erma Jean Orr and the two of them married in 1967. After graduating from seminary, Denny served as an Army Chaplain with Special Forces at Fort Bragg and then with a mechanized infantry battalion in Vietnam. After his time in the military, he served as a pastor in the Orthodox Presbyterian Church in Bartlesville, Oklahoma and in the Reformed Presbyterian Church in Sterling, Kansas. in 1998, He obtained his Doctor of Ministry from Reformed Theological Seminary, Orlando and became Professor of Homiletics and Pastoral Theology at Reformed Presbyterian Theological Seminary in 2001.

He retired in 2013 after forty-five years of active ministry and is now RPTS Professor Emeritus of Homiletics. His books include So Pastor, What’s Your Point?, Joyful Voices, and Public Worship 101. He was elected moderator of the RPCNA Synod in 2008. He and his wife, Erma, reside in Indianapolis, Indiana and have three grown daughters and seven grandchildren.

Course Description

This Course is a detailed study in the historical writings of the Old Testament, from Joshua to Esther.

The Objective of the Course in Historical Writings is to survey the Old Testament books of Joshua through Esther and to give students an understanding of the introductory material of each book, the general content of the respective books, and a Biblical theological perspective on these historical narratives pointing forward to Christ. The course will lay out the chronology associated with these books to help students position major events and the dates of the prophets. The course will also explore the important differences in the perspective and lessons of Kings and Chronicles.

This Course is being offered through The Great Lakes-Gulf Presbytery in cooperation with ITS.

Dates and Location

September 14 - November 16, 2015
Monday Evenings | 7pm-9:30pm

Second Reformed Presbyterian Church
4800 N. Michigan Rd. Indianapolis 46228
317.255.7557 | www.secondrpc.org

Registration Form

Old Testament Historical Writings

Student Information

Name: ____________________________________________
Address: ____________________________________________
__________________________________________________
Primary Email: _____________________________________
Secondary Email: ____________________________________
Phone #: (h)_______________  (c)___________________
(w)__________________
Do you have an undergraduate degree:  ____Yes   ____No
If yes, from what college? ___________________________
GPA_________

Church Information

Church: ____________________________________________
Pastor: _____________________________________________
Phone#: ___________________________________________
Are you a member?  ____Yes   ____No
How are you involved? _______________________________

Course Information

Prefix: BL515  Name: Old Testament Historical Writings
2 semester credits OR 3 quarter credits
Are you taking this course for credit? ____or as an auditing student? ____
Cost for credit: $270 ($135 per credit)
Cost for audit: $75
Make checks payable to Second Reformed Presbyterian Church.
Mail to The Registrar
4800 N. Michigan Rd.
Indianapolis, IN 46228
ALL CLASSES SPONSORED BY:

Great Lakes – Gulf Presbytery

Candidates & Credentials Committee

Reformed Presbyterian Church of North America

THIS CLASS IS OFFERED in conjunction with the newly-formed Indianapolis Theological Seminary (indysem.org) as part of its course curriculum. Indianapolis Theological Seminary (ITS) is a non-accredited collaborative effort of churches to promote theological education in Indianapolis. Because of this partnership, ITS will facilitate some of the administrative work related to certain classes offered by the Great Lakes-Gulf Presbytery. Working with ITS helps to make others more aware of classes long-offered by our presbytery. Our partnership also helps students who take these classes and later seek credit for them from various accredited seminaries. Now, you will see the ITS logo on many of our documents, and our classes will be advertised on the ITS website. The Great Lakes-Gulf Presbytery Candidates and Credentials Committee retains oversight of and responsibility for our courses.

OTHER RECENT COURSES have covered Hermeneutics, Ministry of Worship, and Apologetics. Tentatively planned courses in the future include further Old Testament Biblical Studies, Church History, and Evangelism.