In Brief…

While negotiating with a potential anchor tenant, a Bethesda partnership has submitted plans to develop some ‘median strip’ retail.

The 810 Crain LLC, an affiliate of the SGA Companies, submitted plans in Anne Arundel recently showing just over 18,000 feet of retail in the Route 3 median opposite St. Stephens Church Road, in Gambrills. The partnership shows three pads, the largest of 11,000 square feet of space. To either side is a pad for a restaurant and another 3,000 feet of retail.

…Judging from the initial closings at Two Rivers in Odenton, the 55-and-over buyer is feeling somewhat flush. The first three settlements by NVHomes have all clocked in over $740,000, and the highest hit $881,000. NV is one of four builders in the age-restricted community, developed by Classic Group and Koch Associates.

…The former Phillips Seafood restaurant property in Annapolis has been sold – and another restaurant is said to be coming. HV Properties Inc. paid $3 million for 10-12 Dock Street recently, overlooking Ego Alley. Though HV is unidentified, the Capital newspaper has previously linked developer Harvey Blonder to the coming opening of the Harbor Grill at the waterfront location. Lou Hyatt, Bill Greenfield and John Sindler of Hyatt Commercial brokered the transaction.

‘Talks Are Underway’

Four Howard Properties Spark Builder Interest

Four substantial residential properties are in play right now in Howard County, all moving toward negotiations with potential buyers or builders.

Between them, the four properties amount to nearly 500 lots, most of them singles, and all yet to be developed.

First, Greenfield Partners has the answers to its offering of 184 units on the former W. R. Grace and now ‘Simpson Oaks’ property off Route 32 in Columbia. Sources believe the developer has already culled the 15 or so responses down to a short-list and is working toward selecting a finalist. The top bidder gets 103 singles and 81 townhouse lots. Fraser Forbes Real Estate is handling the brokerage.

Next, the Silver Spring-based owner of Patapsco Park offered some 195 single-family lots on the north side of Route 99 at Route 29. This is the property that was deeded back to the original owner after the State Highway Administration shelved plans for a highway and deemed the ground surplus. A partnership that is the lead contender is said negotiating to acquire Patapsco. NAI Michael is handling the disposition.

Simpson Oaks, Tierney, Patapsco Park and Westmount are all in play.

Third, sources believe the Enclave at Tierney Farm, located on Guilford Road, is likewise in negotiations with a builder buyer. Tierney is 150 single-family lots in Clarksville on Guilford Road at Route 108. The family that owns the property has worked through entitlements with Land Design & Development.

Finally, at Westmount, the Carroll family is in something of a more slow-motion rollout. The family, owners of the Doughoregan Manor land in Ellicott City that goes back to an original colonial grant, are choosing to finish lots themselves and sell them to builders.

It’s an unusual choice among landowners today, but then, the Carroll’s have owned the land back to the 1700’s and want to exert control over its outcome. About a quarter of the approximately 900-acre estate has been parcelled off for development. Right now, working with Land Design & Development, the Carroll’s are proceeding toward final plan approval for a first phase of 50 of the 325 total single-family lots. On this schedule, land development could begin in the fall. The Carroll’s are said to be looking to sign several builders, primarily along the lines of high-end custom builders, and are believed getting a lot of interest toward that end.
For Sale: Coastal’s To-be-Built

Coastal Sunbelt’s headquarters and warehouse building is for sale.

That it doesn’t exist yet is beside the point. It is under construction and will fully materialize next spring, the latest in a series of industrial buildings sold off blueprints. Called a ‘forward commitment sale,’ the eventual buyer puts down a sizable deposit and closes after the final nail is driven and the last piece of sod laid. Investors have lined up several times to buy buildings that are yet under construction, as they generally offer the tantalizing prospect of long-term leases. In this case, Coastal will stay for a 15 year term.

But such is the demand that even partially or still un-leased new buildings have found buyers and at strong prices. Feld Entertainment’s lease at 8235 Patuxent Range Road drove a similar ‘forward commitment’ sale, with approximately 50,000 feet trading unoccupied. Atapco Properties, a partner in that sale, likewise parceled off two buildings in Steeplechase 95 that were only partly leased.

Coastal is slated to occupy close to 305,000 feet in all on Whiskey Bottom Road in Laurel, through a development deal handled by Preston Scheffenacker. The produce firm will move out of its present quarters on Bollman Place and nearly double in size.

Scheffenacker is slated to take offers soon on the building and choose a buyer thereafter. The new buyer would see the finished product at delivery, in March, 2016. CBRE is handling the sale.

Ryan Buys Lots in Age-Restricted Jobs

Ryan Homes is now the proud owner of lots in two new age-restricted communities. The builder bought a first lot in Two Rivers, the Odenton community it will share with affiliate NVHomes, Comstock Homes and Classic Group, and it bought a pair of lots in ‘Enclave at Park Forest.’

The lot in the first job, Two Rivers, off Conway Road, was sold to Ryan courtesy of Koch Associates, for $185,000. Running about 10,000 feet in size, it’s the first of over 500 lots to come in Koch-to-Ryan exchange at Two Rivers. In an effort to segment the market within the community, Ryan is in with smaller product and at a lower price point than is NVHomes, which is paying developer Classic Group $200,000 to $220,000 per single-family lot so far, according to the Land Records. Ryan to this point is advertising a summer opening.

In Park Forest, Ryan is newly selling to the 55-and-over crowd off Montgomery Road near Monterey Road in Elkridge. Ryan bought a pair of villa lots that are roughly equivalent to two townhouse lots, for $284,948. At about $142,000 apiece, those are two of the lower priced lots, as overall the average will be $146,000 per lot as additional lot takedowns occur. Sales began on May 1 in the 46-lot community, and Ryan, with three sales so far, is priced from $442,000.

Taylor Fires Up Jessup Office Park Marketing

Taylor Properties is looking for tenants to fill the office side of ‘Parkside,’ in Jessup. The Howard County developer is marketing 260,000 square feet in three buildings off Route 175 at Rockenbach Road. Though Taylor has tabbed the coming complex ‘Eagle Park,’ it was subdivided as part of the residential ‘Parkside’ development next door. That Taylor has government contractors on the top of its list is an easy guess: Rockenbach leads straight into Fort Meade. But the developer will also be looking to test the market for medical tenants. MacKenzie Commercial is handling the leasing, which entails nailing a first tenant before any building gets underway.

Short Takes

….Gilbane Building Company landed one of the biggest bricks and mortar jobs in Howard County: the new engineering and technology building at Howard Community College. Gilbane pulled a building permit valued at $61.2 million for the building at 4950 Campus Drive, Columbia;

….A planned community in Glen Burnie won approval at the Administrative Hearing level but has been taken to the Board of Appeals. A group headed by Glen Burnie-based Spectec Inc. wants to build 156 units on Nolberry Drive, but a nearby property owner says the project will negatively impact the mobile home park next door. (See the data for case information).

……Shelter Development wants to implement a hard-won zoning appeal to build its third ‘Brightview’ assisted living in Anne Arundel. The Baltimore developer submitted a site development plan showing the 165-unit complex it plans for 1933 – 1935 Generals Highway in Annapolis. It took a two-year battle to win the special exception Shelter needed for the complex, as it was first denied by the Hearing Officer, but then granted upon appeal.
Manekin, AEW
Paid $45.2M

AEW and partner Manekin LLC paid $45.2 million, or approximately $58 per foot, for the former Giant distribution center.

A deed recorded in the Land Records says the partners settled last month on 7600 Assateague Drive, a 775,000 square foot industrial complex within the Maryland Wholesale Food Center in Jessup. It’s now the Baltimore-Washington Logistics Center.

Seller Mosaic Realty and New York Life had bought the 58.9 acre property for $33.075 million two years prior. Chalk the $12 million price gain up to investors’ ongoing appetite for Corridor industrial space. To the folks placing the money, the Corridor’s market is seen as improving, with rental rates strengthening and product at a premium.

Affordable Plans

An affordable housing complex in Annapolis would get a full makeover under plans now pending at the City.

Through a mixture of rehab and redevelopment, the Hampstead Companies and the City would collaborate to overhaul the Woodside Gardens and Newtowne complexes. Hempstead owns the 144 units in Woodside, and the City the 78 units at Newtowne.

But in plans newly submitted, the pair would replace most of the aging complexes with a plan for 258 units. Brand new units include 101 townhouses and 54 apartments, as well as 36 senior rental cottages. Another 67 apartments would be renovated under the plans.

San Diego-based Hampstead and the City are set to apply for HUD financing in September, and are eying a construction start in 2016.

Commercial Deals

MXD Is New Tenant in Elkridge

…A deal with MXD Group gives TA Associates Realty a second tenant at 6930 San Tomas Road in Elkridge. MXD, a ‘final mile delivery service,’ took 78,871 square feet in the approximately 205,000 square foot building. Two vacant spaces remain, at 37,000 square feet and 25,000 square feet. Ed Harris of CBRE represented the tenant, while Tilghman Herring and Jarred Testa of DTZ represented landlord TA.

…..New to the area, Rhino Shield leased space at 9090 Junction Drive in Jessup. Rhino says its’ ceramic coating, once applied to metal surfaces like outdoor railings and water tanks, means you never have to paint them again. The firm leased 1,800 square feet for an office and small warehouse in the Junction Business Park. Scott Skogmo of Chesapeake Real Estate Group brokered the deal.

…..A Gracie Jui-Jitsu Academy, complete with all the moves that can take down any opponent, is coming to Columbia. The school leased 7,500 square feet at 9570 Berger Road, in a newly completed deal. Chuck Breitenother of NAI KLN B represented the tenant, while Kate Jordan and Marley Welsh of Lee & Associates repped the landlord.

…..Vision Financial Group applied its far-seeing powers to a relocation, and settled on 9881 Broken Land Parkway, in Columbia. The financial planning firm took 3,675 square feet in the building. Bethany Hobbs of MacKenzie Commercial Real Estate Services represented VFG in the deal.

…..The recent Capital Bank lease in Annapolis falls squarely into the category of ‘stories that we missed.’ But it’s a worthy milestone for St. John Properties, which signed the bank to 7,000 square feet at its Annapolis Corporate Park. The deal is the first in the park, located at Riva Road and Harry S. Truman Parkway, where St. John will ultimately build 230,000 feet. Right now three buildings are underway, including a two-story, 63,668 foot building.

The bank is headed into a single-story, 31,280 foot building and will take occupancy in mid-summer. John Rosso of Murphy Commercial brought the tenant and St. John represented itself.

Harris Teeter Getting Some Retail Company

Three new retail buildings are coming down the pike at Maple Lawn, to fill out the Harris Teeter pod.

Of course that’s a figure of speech; there aren’t three buildings making their way down Route 29. But Maple Lawn developer Greenebaum & Rose has pulled permits and the trio of buildings will go up in short order on West Market Street, bringing about 26,000 feet of space, as well as a new public ‘green.’

Greenebaum officials say November is the target delivery date, and while no deals are yet signed, there are prospects for much of the space.
Builders Want to Hold Line on APF

A task force newly assembled to study APF in Howard County gives builders a chance to make improvements to controversial issues like the school test. But the coming effort could just as easily result in a tougher APF system, too.

Among the potential pitfalls are applying the APF tests more widely, and whether the existing tests should be tightened even further. Thus, builders find themselves approaching the task force with a mantra of at least ‘holding the line.’

The schools test is proving the most frustrating to the development community and will surely be the subject of spirited discussion among the 24-member group. Even though the latest Open/Close chart for school capacity is peppered with closed elementary schools, the overall system shows some schools operating well under capacity, particularly in the western part of the county. But the Board of Education has largely taken redistricting off the table. Builders wonder whether there is a palatable alternative to freeing up that capacity.

The task force began meeting this week, and will take six months to generate new recommendations.

Riverwatch Loans

An approval this week at the Board of Public Works means the state will provide nearly $5 million in loans for the ‘Riverwatch’ community in Elkridge.

According to paperwork at the Board, the state’s Housing and Community Development agency will provide $4.9 million in loans towards the construction of an 84-unit complex on Furnace Avenue in Elkridge.

KB Companies, headed by developer Jeff Kirby, is turning 42 of the units over to households with low incomes, and leaving 42 units at market rates.

AA New Homes

Hawthorne is Top Dog in Towns

NV Homes vied for the price-point top of the townhouse market with its Deep Creek product on the Broadneck peninsula a couple of years back. Now it’s doing so again with Hawthorne’s Grant in Arnold.

According to the Land Records, NV has settled five homes so far in Hawthorne’s, located off Route 2 near Joyce Lane, and has gotten $517,000 on average, putting it on the top of the totem pole for Anne Arundel towns. The actual settled prices range from $460,000 to a high of $554,000.

Since opening up shop last fall, NV has sold 34 units, with 21 remaining. It’s buying the lots from Winchester Homes, which first bought and developed the community, then settled 15 towns before selling the remaining 55 lots to NV. Its closings, too, were among the highest in the county, but NV has managed to push Winchester’s $490,000 average up over the half-million mark.

NV opened last fall in the $399,000 range, but has since gradually bumped its base price to $429,990.

Winchester, meanwhile, exited Hawthorne’s to concentrate on Watson’s Glen in Millersville, where it opens from $329,990.

Glen Abbey Settlement Possible

Negotiations are underway to reach a settlement over water and sewer allocation charges for one of Anne Arundel’s largest undeveloped PUDs.

Earlier this week, the county and representatives for Glen Abbey LLC agreed to postpone a hearing in front of the county Board of Appeals until August so they could finalize a settlement. The two have been tangling in court over approximately $3.7 million in fees and penalties the county says is due for capital facility and allocation charges. Glen Abbey disputes the charges.

Glen Abbey, long known as Cedar Hill, is 29 assembled parcels totaling 263 acres off Route 2 in Brooklyn Park. A total of 1300 units are planned. Developer allocations have become a controversial topic for the millions of dollars that can accumulate in fees.

An Anchor Store

Harris Teeter will anchor a coming shopping center redevelopment halfway up Route 2. The North Carolina grocer will occupy 48,775 feet at Magothy Gateway shopping center on Route 2 in Severna Park, just north of Earleigh Heights Road. It’ll join a CVS already slated for the MFI Realty-owned center. MFI has another 43,000 feet of inline space available as well as about 8,000 feet of pad sites out front.

Harris Teeter’s arrival marks the biggest change in MFI’s effort to redevelop about 10,000 feet of strip retail into a much larger neighborhood center. It started with a rezoning several years back when MFI successfully argued that its 16 acre tract was dramatically under-utilized.
