You’ll choose from some of the best programs in the country, including:

BUSINESS

For the third consecutive year, Monfort College of Business seniors scored in the top five percent among students nationwide taking the Educational Testing Service Major Field Test in business.

UNC’s AACSB-accredited Monfort College of Business is the only Colorado business college that requires professional-experience internships.

More than 92 percent of our graduating seniors say they would recommend Monfort College of Business to a friend or family member.

HEALTHCARE

UNC’s College of Natural and Health Sciences is well-known for its highly competitive and outstanding nursing program.

UNC nursing graduates’ pass rates exceed the national licensure examination pass rates every year.

UNC’s Sport Administration graduate program earned a top five worldwide ranking from the leading publication covering the international sport business community.

UNC dietetics graduates meet or exceed the national average for passing the Dietetic Registration exam on their first attempt.
EDUCATION

UNC leads the state in teacher preparation and employment.

One-third of Colorado’s Teachers of the Year graduated from UNC.

UNC’s Center for Integrated Arts Education is one of the top 24 university programs in the nation that successfully improves K-12 arts education.

UNC has more students enrolled in Science Licensure programs than any other Colorado institution.

ARTS

In the College of Performing and Visual Arts, our National Association of Schools of Theatre (NAST)-accredited theater program was named a Colorado Program of Excellence and offers more than 250 performances and events to choose from annually.

UNC alumni are Grammy winners and Broadway performers, including UNC alumna Neyla Pekarek, member of the Grammy-nominated band, The Lumineers.

Downbeat Magazine has named UNC’s University Orchestra the top university orchestra in the U.S. seven times in the past 10 years.

Take advantage of 90,000+ SQUARE FEET OF REC FACILITIES, including an indoor track, basketball courts, strength and conditioning spaces, classes and an indoor climbing wall.
UNC’s residence halls were ranked number one in the state by Niche College Rankings (colleges.niche.com) based on cost, safety and student surveys.
Live in the best residence halls in Colorado.

UNC has more housing options than any other Colorado campus, with an apartment-style vibe, great amenities and close access to classes.

By living on campus, you’ll build a support system and get involved — both are big factors in a first-year student’s success, which is why freshmen are required to live on campus.

Select a residential learning community that reflects your academic goals or interests — everything from our pet-friendly residence hall to the biology learning community.

Our Faculty-in-Residence program allows faculty to live in the residence halls and sponsor activities with students, such as ski trips, Avalanche hockey games, baking cookies and international film nights.

Living units include cable, internet and laundry; lounges with flat-screen TVs; fully equipped community kitchens; study spaces; music practice rooms and more.

150-PLUS clubs and organizations.

20 Greek organizations and FOUR cultural centers.

“One reason I chose UNC was the staff’s ability to accommodate unique circumstances. I have severe and difficult food allergies, and UNC is committed to accommodating the various needs of students. From my first visit, I was shown their devotion, and I knew that I would be taken care of as a UNC student.”

~Amanda Byars, English Secondary Education
Attend an event like UNC’s annual Luau or the Marcus Garvey Pre-Kwanzaa Celebration, or march in Take Back The Night to protest violence against people of all genders, ethnicities and orientations.

Listen to speakers like No-Impact Man author Colin Beavis; Big Fish author Daniel Wallace; and Temple Grandin, renowned author and educator.

More than 500 UNC alumni have served in the Peace Corps.

Students have free access to a fleet of 100 Blue Cruiser Bicycles and 20 Trek Mountain Bikes.

Alternative Spring Break offers students opportunities to volunteer for a week giving time to causes like women’s issues and domestic violence in California or to an animal sanctuary in Utah.
