of all countries be listed as officials, and that selections be made from such an approved list by lot.

3. More teams should be encouraged to play water polo, especially in colleges and universities, in order to develop stronger Olympic teams. The winning team should be selected to play as a unit, and the personnel of such a team strengthened by the addition of outstanding men from other teams. In the selection of this supplemental list the desires of the coach of water polo should be given a good deal of weight, since he is likely to know the strength as well as the weakness of players on his team.

4. A uniform system of refereeing and interpretation of the rules should be established and communicated to coaches and players well before the try-outs. Differences of interpretation of the rules in different sections of the country should be ironed out before the try-outs.

5. Perhaps one referee should officiate at all the games in the tournament, so that absolute uniformity of interpretation of rules could be secured. Such a person should be selected by the water polo sub-committee only after securing the opinion of persons directly interested in the selection. It would be well to have him selected several months in advance of the tournament and have his expense paid to and through the tournament.

6. There should be a separate manager for the water polo team. The swimming team, being larger, demands much more of the manager's attention, and frequently the polo team, swimmers, and divers must practice in different pools. In case of a shortage of funds, however, the coach of the water polo team might be given the added responsibility of managing his team.

before sailing of the housing facilities, heat, meals, etc.
That something be done regarding the fitting of the competitor both on parade costume and suits for competition.
I would recommend that at future Olympiads, one member of the Housing Committee be assigned to the Women's Team until such time as everything is settled and in working condition.
Secondly, I do not favor the plan of raising funds whereby each Committee competes against other Committees as happened in the last Olympiad. I feel that some other plan of raising funds should be devised.
