National Competency Based Teacher Standards

Milagros Lim - Borabo, PhD
TEDP

- DepEd’s articulation of a new paradigm for quality teaching
- A common framework for understanding teaching quality
- Policy initiatives to reform the teaching system and to improve teaching quality
The NCBTS Structure

DOMAIN 1: SOCIAL REGARD FOR LEARNING

DOMAIN 2: THE LEARNING ENVIRONMENT

DOMAIN 3: THE DIVERSITY OF LEARNERS

DOMAIN 4: CURRICULUM

DOMAIN 5: PLANNING, ASSESSING & REPORTING

DOMAIN 6: COMMUNITY LINKAGES

DOMAIN 7: PERSONAL & PROFESSIONAL GROWTH
The Old and New Paradigms

The Old Paradigm
- Teacher knowledge is technical knowledge applicable to all learners and contexts.

The NCBTS Paradigm
- Teacher knowledge is essentially complex and problematic; applicability varies across learners and contexts.
The Old and New Paradigms

The Old Paradigm
- Teaching involves consistent application of technical knowledge.

The NCBTS Paradigm
- Teaching involves reflective and flexible application of technical knowledge in ways that best bring about student learning.
The Old and New Paradigms

The Old Paradigm
- Effective application of teacher knowledge dependent on prerequisite inputs in teaching environment.

The NCBTS Paradigm
- Effective teaching is determined within the limits and opportunities found in the learning environment.
The Old and New Paradigms

The Old Paradigm
- The teacher is a subordinate of the formal educational bureaucracy who is monitored for compliance with directives from higher authorities.

The NCBTS Paradigm
- The teacher is a professional who is empowered to make important decisions in the educational process and is accountable for their students’ attainment of learning goals.
The Old and New Paradigms

The Old Paradigm
- Teacher development is informational; it involves providing new and updated technical knowledge for teachers.

The NCBTS Paradigm
- Teacher development is transformational, experiential & contextual; it involves engaging teachers to critically reflect on old and new technical knowledge as these facilitate student learning in actual contexts.
The Old and New Paradigms

The Old Paradigm
- Teachers are passive recipients of new technical knowledge in the teacher development process.

The NCBTS Paradigm
- Teachers are active and reflective processors and constructors of teacher knowledge, who are responsible for their own development as teachers.
Proposed Reforms

The articulation of a singular competency-based framework for teaching and teacher development that would guide all policies, reforms, and activities related to teaching and teacher development, and which shall be called the National Competency Based Teacher Standards (NCBTS).
NCBTS

NCBTS is not new, it draws from many existing positive expressions of good teaching found in Philippine experiences.

- Good teaching is defined in terms of actual competencies associated with features of teaching in high-learning classroom activities.

- The qualities of good teaching are unified under a the teaching paradigm.
NCBTS

The NCBTS is the proposed common framework for all teaching and teacher development programs in the Philippine formal education sector.

The NCBTS defines seven domains within which teachers can develop professionally.

Under each domain, specific strands and indicators are defined.
The domains can be classified into 2 broad categories, the first category can further be divided into two sub-categories:

- Domains that relate to the teacher as facilitator of learning (Domains 2 to 6)
  - Domains on the knowledge and skills for facilitating learning (Domains 3-5)
  - Domains on linking the knowledge and skills to context (Domains 2 & 6)
- Domains that relate to the teacher as a learner (Domains 1 & 7)
Domains

Definitions and Key Questions
Domain 1: Social Regard for Learning

Key Question for the Teacher:

“Can my students appreciate and model the value of learning through my interactions with them?”
Domain 1: Social Regard for Learning

Explanation:

The domain of Social Regard for Learning focuses on the ideal that teachers serve as positive & powerful role models of the values of the pursuit of learning & of the effort to learn, & that the teachers actions, statements, & different types of social interactions with students exemplify this ideal.
Domain 2: Learning Environment

Key Question for the Teacher:

“Do I create a physical and social environment in class that allows my students to attain maximum learning?”
Domain 2: Learning Environment

Explanation:

The domain of Learning Environment focuses on importance of providing for a social and physical environment within which all students, regardless of their individual differences in learning, can engage the different learning activities and work towards attaining high standards of learning.
Domain 3: Diversity of Learners

Key Question for the Teacher:

“Can I help my students learn whatever their capabilities, learning styles, cultural heritage, socio-economic backgrounds, and other differences are?”
Domain 3: Diversity of Learners

Explanation:

The domain of Diversity of Learners emphasizes the ideal that teachers can facilitate the learning process in diverse types of learners, by first recognizing and respecting individual differences, then using knowledge about students’ differences to design diverse sets of learning activities to ensure that all students can attain appropriate learning goals.
Domain 4: Curriculum

Key Question for the Teacher:

“Can my students understand and attain the goals of the curriculum through the various learning resources and activities I prepared?”
Domain 4: Curriculum

Explanation:
The domain of Curriculum refers to all elements of the teaching-learning process that work in convergence to help students attain high standards of learning and understanding of the curricular goals and objectives. These elements include the teacher’s knowledge of subject matter, teaching-learning approaches and activities, instructional materials and learning resources.
Domain 5: Planning, Assessing & Reporting

Key Question for the Teacher:

“Do I assess my students’ learning and knowledge using appropriate educational assessment procedures, and do I use the information from these assessment procedures in planning my teaching-learning activities for the students?”
Domain 5: Planning, Assessing and Reporting

Explanation:

The domain of Planning, Assessing & Reporting refers to the aligned use of assessment and planning activities to ensure that the teaching-learning activities are maximally appropriate to the students’ current knowledge and learning levels. In particular, the domain focuses on the use of assessment data to plan & revise teaching-learning plans, as well as the integration of formative assessment procedures in the plan and implementation of teaching-learning activities.
Domain 6: Community Linkages

Key Question for the Teacher:

“Are the goals and characteristics of the teaching-learning activities I implement relevant to the experiences, values and aspirations in my students’ communities?”
Domain 6: Community Linkages

Explanation:

The domain of Community Linkages focuses on the ideal that school activities are meaningfully linked to the experiences and aspirations of the students in their homes and communities. Thus the domain focuses on teachers’ efforts directed at strengthening the links between school and community activities, particularly as these links help in the attainment of the curricular objectives.
Domain 7: Personal Growth and Professional Development

Key Question for the Teacher:

“Do my actions and statements indicate a high regard for the teaching profession and for my continuous development as a professional teacher?”
Domain 7: Personal Growth and Professional Development

Explanation:
The domain of Personal Growth and Professional Development emphasizes the ideal that teachers value having a high personal regard, concern for professional development, and continuous improvement as teachers.
NCBTS Domain
1. Social Regard for Learning
