Welcome

We invite you to visit the Central area of the Adirondacks. Here you can forget your worries watching the sunset from an Adirondack chair at one of our lakeside resorts or in a remote lean to backpack camping. You might just row rhythmically in a traditional guide boat or rediscover your youth on a scenic seaplane, on horseback, or paddling a canoe through our part of the Adirondacks.

You will encounter the area’s charm at our varied accommodations, restaurants, and specialty shops, where the always personable owners are usually working and ready to greet each visitor with a smile. You might just splash the time away in one of our many Adirondack lakes, or view those same lakes from the top of a mountain or on a scenic chairlift ride. Or if snowmobiling is your passion, the Towns of Inlet and Webb trail system offers hundreds of miles of professionally groomed trails, where accommodations and eateries are easily accessible. Known as the “Snowmobile Capital of the East,” the trail system attracts snowmobilers from all over the country. Many of these snowmobile trails are also open in the summer to hikers and mountain bikers, allowing visitors an opportunity to enjoy the beauty of the Adirondacks while testing their skills on unique and diverse terrain. Thus, hiking, mountain biking, primitive backpacking and in-season big game hunting fill the forest space around us. Numerous flat-water canoe and kayak routes exist between and around the villages. Sport fishing for trout, bass and salmon is available in the Fulton Chain of Lakes, as well as in the many streams and ponds in the area.
