   Both government insurance policies and statutes providing for such policies are to be construed liberally to effectuate their beneficial purpose. 6. Right to insurance

Serviceman's right to insurance benefits must be distinguished from general compensation benefits, since insurance benefits are contracts creating rights which Congress cannot take away without making just compensation. Lynch v United States (1934) 292 US 571, 78 L Ed 1434, 54 S Ct 840 (ovrd in part as stated in Pro-Eco v Board of Comm'r's (1995, CA7 Ind) 57 F.3d 505, 26 ELR 20445)

Serviceman's right to insurance benefits is stronger than his right to general compensation benefits, since insurance benefits are not gratuities of government. Eggen v United States (1932, CA8 Minn) 58 F.2d 616

Personnel of organized military forces of commonwealth of Philippines called and ordered into armed forces of United States under authority of President's Military Order of July 26, 1941, are in active service in land and naval forces of United States and are entitled to insurance. (1942) 40 Op Atty Gen 185

7. Regulations

Since regulations of Administrator [now Secretary] necessary to carry out purposes of statutes providing for government insurance have force of law and are generally as binding as though incorporated in contract of insurance, terms of government insurance policies are to be found in part in policy, in part in statutes under which policies were issued, and in part in regulations promulgated thereunder. Lynch v United States (1934) 292 US 571, 78 L Ed 1434, 54 S Ct 840 (ovrd in part as stated in Pro-Eco v Board of Comm'r's (1995, CA7 Ind) 57 F.3d 505, 26 ELR 20445)

When reviewing insurance regulations of Administrator [now Secretary], court must examine pertinent sections of National Service Life Insurance Act (predecessor to 38 USCS §§ 1901 et seq.) in relation to other sections and in relation to its legislative history in order to determine whether regulation is "not inconsistent" with act and whether it is necessary or appropriate to carry out its purposes. United States v Short (1956, CA9 Cal) 240 F.2d 292

II. CONSTRUCTION OF TERMS

8. Widow or widower

Beneficiary is not widow within meaning of National Service Life Insurance Act (predecessor to 38 USCS §§ 1901 et seq.) where insured obtained divorce from her shortly before his death, although divorce decree prohibited remarriage for 60 days, since decree was final at time of entry. Schurink v United States (1949, CA5 Ala) 177 F.2d 809, cert den (1950) 339 US 928, 94 L Ed 1349, 70 S Ct 627

Congress in using word "widow" intended meaning to be determined by application of local law. Lembcke v United States (1950, CA2 NY) 181 F.2d 703

Proxy marriage between residents of Texas and California, performed in Nevada, was valid marriage, hence wife was "widow" of deceased soldier. Barrons v United States (1951, CA9 Cal) 191 F.2d 92

Person who married insured prior to date of his final divorce decree was not insured's widow where, under local law, attempted marriage was void ab initio. Hendrich v Anderson (1951, CA10 Utah) 191 F.2d 242

In contest between first and second wife of insured, who lived in Durham, North Carolina at the time of his entry into service, certificates of clerks from six counties located in vicinity of Durham that no divorce proceedings had been instituted between insured and first wife overcame presumption in favor of validity of second marriage. Page v United States (1952, CA4 NC) 193 F.2d 936

9. Child

   Illegitimate child is child within meaning of National Service Life Insurance Act (predecessor to 38 USCS §§ 1901 et seq.). United States v Philippine Nat'l Bank (1961, App DC) 110 US App DC 250, 292 F.2d 743

   Stepdaughter of insured remains his stepdaughter even after insured divorced her mother, and where, after divorce, insured continued from time to time to make contributions to her support and maintenance, stepdaughter has insurable interest in life of insured. Benefield v United States (1945, DC Tex) 58 F Supp 904

10. Parent

   Insured's putative father, who had never married insured's mother, adopted insured, or been subject of court order determining relationship, was not within permitted class under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1916. Gibbs v United States (1948, DC NC) 80 F Supp 907

   Putative father designated as beneficiary of NSLI policy by insured is ineligible beneficiary unless shown to be in loco parentis. Hawkey v United States (1952, DC Ill) 108 F Supp 941

   Natural father is not within permitted class as one who last bore parental relationship to insured, where father deserted family when insured was 8 years old. Conley v United States (1954, DC W Va) 119 F Supp 832

11. Person standing in loco parentis

   Person stands in loco parentis where he has intentionally assumed and established common-law rights and duties of natural parent under common law. Niewiadomski v United States (1947, CA6 Mich) 159 F.2d 683, cert den (1947) 331 US 850, 91 L Ed 1859, 67 S Ct 1730

   Term "in loco parentis" cannot be defined by common-law principles, since such term never had generally accepted common-law meaning. Thomas v United States (1951, CA6 Tenn) 189 F.2d 494, reh den (1952) 343 US 932, 96 L Ed 1341, 72 S Ct 756 and cert den (1951) 342 US 850, 96 L Ed 641, 72 S Ct 78

   Term "in loco parentis", as used in predecessor to 38 USCS § 1901 refers to common-law relationship. Powledge v United States (1951, CA5 Ga) 193 F.2d 438

   Term "in loco parentis" as used in National Service Life Insurance Act (predecessor to 38 USCS §§ 1901 et seq.) should be construed in its usual common-law sense, rather than liberally construed as descriptive term. Bourbeau v United States (1948, DC Me) 76 F Supp 778

   Common-law definition of "in loco parentis," as person who puts himself in situation of lawful parent, by assuming obligations of parenthood, is majority rule in cases involving NSLT policies. Lewis v United States (1952, DC W Va) 105 F Supp 73

12. -Elements of relationship

   Responsibility for support of insured during insured's minority is essential to establish relationship of one in loco parentis. Strauss v United States (1947, CA2 NY) 160 F.2d 1017, cert den (1947) 331 US 820, 91 L Ed 1859, 67 S Ct 1741

   Term "in loco parentis" means any person who has assumed obligations of parents, and obligation is not restricted to support, but includes assumption of other parental obligations. Thomas v United States (1951, CA6 Tenn) 189 F.2d 494, reh den (1952) 343 US 932, 96 L Ed 1341, 72 S Ct 756 and cert den (1951) 342 US 850, 96 L Ed 641, 72 S Ct 78

   Responsibility for support of insured is essential to finding that in loco parentis relationship exists. Baumat v United States (1951, CA2 NY) 191 F.2d 194, revd on other grounds (1952) 344 US 82, 97 L Ed 111, 73 S Ct 122, reh den (1953) 344 US 916, 97 L Ed 706, 73 S Ct 332 and (superseded by statute as stated in Short v United States (1954, DC Cal) 123 F Supp 414)
Family relationship rather than assumption of legal responsibility for support is test for in loco parentis relationship. Jadin v United States (1947, DC Wis) 74 F Supp 589

Support and maintenance of insured are essential to establishing in loco parentis status during minority, but relationship may continue into adulthood without them; to establish in loco parentis relationship, it is not necessary to show that such person and insured lived together continuously. Derrell v United States (1949, DC Mo) 82 F Supp 18

Relative ages of parties is not controlling on question whether person has attained in loco parentis status, but has some bearing on question. Lewis v United States (1952, DC W Va) 105 F Supp 73

13. Intent

Assumption of relationship in loco parentis is primarily question of intention, to be shown by acts, conduct, and declarations of person alleged to stand in that relationship. Leyerly v United States (1947, CA10 Colo) 162 F.2d 79

Existence of in loco parentis relationship is question of intent, and relationship may arise upon assumption of parental duties and offices other than duty to make provision for child which, in some situations, may be relatively unimportant. Thomas v United States (1951, CA6 Tenn) 189 F.2d 494, reh den (1952) 343 US 932, 96 L Ed 1341, 72 S Ct 756 and cert den (1951) 342 US 850, 96 L Ed 641, 72 S Ct 78

Whether person has assumed standing of in loco parentis is primarily question of intent. Reynolds v United States (1951, DC Kan) 96 F Supp 257

14. Inception and duration

Relationship may continue beyond child’s minority, where child continues to treat such persons as parents. Leyerly v United States (1947, CA10 Colo) 162 F.2d 79

In loco parentis relationship may begin after adulthood of insured, but is not established as to adult insured under no mental or physical disability without evidence of adoption and legal liability for support. Powledge v United States (1951, CA5 Ga) 193 F.2d 438

In loco parentis relationship need not have its inception during minority of insured, even though insured is not mentally or physically incapacitated. United States v Rock (1952, App DC) 92 US App DC 1, 200 F.2d 357

In determining questions involving in loco parentis status under laws administered by Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs], generally accepted common-law rule that minority extends to age of 21 years in case of male or female veteran is applicable. 1948 ADVA 793

§ 1904. Plans of insurance
(a) Insurance may be issued on the following plans: Five-year level premium term, ordinary life, twenty-payment life, thirty-payment life, twenty-year endowment, endowment at age sixty, and endowment at age sixty-five. Level premium term insurance may be converted as of the date when any premium becomes or has become due, or exchanged as of the date of the original policy, upon payment of the difference in reserve, at any time while such insurance is in force and within the term period to any of the foregoing permanent plans of insurance, except that conversion to an endowment plan may not be made while the insured is totally disabled.

(b) Under such regulations as the Secretary may promulgate a policy of participating insurance may be converted to or exchanged for insurance issued under this subsection on a modified life plan. Insurance issued under this subsection shall be on the same terms and conditions as the insurance which it replaces, except (1) the premium rates for such insurance shall be based on the 1958 Commissioners Standard Ordinary Basic Table of Mortality and interest at the rate of 3 per centum per annum; (2) all cash, loan, paid-up, and extended values shall be based on the 1958 Commissioners Standard Ordinary Basic Table of Mortality and interest at the rate of 3 per centum per annum; and (3) at the end of the day preceding the sixty-fifth birthday of the insured the face value of the modified life insurance policy or the amount of extended term insurance thereunder shall be automatically reduced by one-half thereof, without any reduction in premium.

(c) Under such regulations as the Secretary may promulgate, a policy of nonparticipating insurance may be converted to or exchanged for insurance issued under this subsection on a modified life plan. Insurance issued under this subsection shall be on the same terms and conditions as the insurance which it replaces, except that (1) term insurance issued under section 621 of the National Service Life Insurance Act of 1940 shall be deemed for the purposes of this subsection to have been issued under section 1923(b) of this title [38 USCS § 1923(b)]; and (2) at the end of the day preceding the sixty-fifth birthday of the insured the face value of the modified life insurance policy or the amount of extended term insurance thereunder shall be automatically reduced by one-half thereof, without any reduction in premium. Any person eligible for insurance under section 1922(a) [38 USCS § 1922(a)], or section 1925 of this title [38 USCS § 1925] may be granted a modified life insurance policy under this subsection which, subject to exception (2) above, shall be issued on the same terms and conditions specified in section 1922(a) or section 1925 [38 USCS § 1922(a) or 1925], whichever is applicable.

(d) Any insured whose modified life insurance policy is in force by payment or waiver of premiums on the day before the insured's sixty-fifth birthday may upon written application and payment of premiums made before such birthday be granted National Service Life Insurance, on an ordinary life plan, without physical examination, in an amount of not less than $500, in multiples of $250, but not in excess of one-half of the face amount of the modified life insurance policy in force on the day before the insured's sixty-fifth birthday. Insurance issued under this subsection shall be effective on the sixty-fifth birthday of the insured. The premium rate, cash, loan, paid-up, and extended values on the ordinary life insurance issued under this subsection shall be based on the same mortality tables and interest rates as the insurance issued under the modified life policy. Settlement on policies involving annuities on insurance issued under this subsection shall be based on the same mortality or annuity tables and interest rates as.
such settlements on the modified life policy. If the insured is totally disabled on the day before the insured's sixty-fifth birthday and premiums on his modified life insurance policy are being waived under section 1912 of this title [38 USCS § 1912] or the insured is entitled on that date to waiver under such section the insured shall be automatically granted the maximum amount of insurance authorized under this subsection and premiums on such insurance shall be waived during the continuous total disability of the insured.

(e) After June 30, 1972, and under such regulations as the Secretary may promulgate, insurance may be converted to or exchanged for insurance on a modified life plan under the same terms and conditions as are set forth in subsections (b) and (c) of this section except that at the end of the day preceding the seventieth birthday of the insured the face value of the modified life insurance policy or the amount of extended insurance thereunder shall be automatically reduced by one-half thereof, without any reduction in premium. Any insured whose modified life insurance policy issued under this subsection is in force by payment or waiver of premiums on the day before the insured's seventieth birthday may be granted insurance on the ordinary life plan upon the same terms and conditions as are set forth in subsection (d) of this section except that in applying such provisions the seventieth birthday is to be substituted for the sixty-fifth birthday. Notwithstanding any other provision of law or regulations the Secretary under such terms and conditions as the Secretary determines to be reasonable and practicable and upon written application and payment of the required premiums, reserves, or other necessary amounts made within one year from the effective date of this subsection by an insured having in force a modified life plan issued under subsection (b) or (c) of this section, including any replacement insurance issued under subsection (d) of this section or other provision of this title, can exchange such insurance without proof of good health for an amount of insurance issued under this subsection equal to the insurance then in force or which was in force on the day before such insured's sixty-fifth birthday, whichever is the greater.

1. Conversion of policies

2. Substitution of policies

1. Conversion of policies

Insured's letter to Veterans Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs], offering to purchase endowment policy at stated premium, does not constitute application for conversion of term policies which he held at that time, even though endowment policy could not have been issued without canceling term policies due to limitation on maximum amount of insurance, where there was no indication that insured knew term policies would have to be cancelled, or that he would have preferred to cancel term policies rather than request for endowment policy. Dupree
v United States (1954, DC Ga) 125 F Supp 122

2. Substitution of policies

Policy upon authorized plan is to be substituted for endowment policy, inadvertently issued, only with consent of insured. 1947 ADVA 737
§ 1905. Renewal

All level premium term policies, except as otherwise provided in this section, shall cease and terminate at the expiration of the term period. At the expiration of any term period any five-year level premium term policy which has not been exchanged or converted to a permanent plan of insurance and which is not lapsed shall be renewed as level premium term insurance without application for a successive five-year period at the premium rate for the attained age without medical examination. However, renewal will be effected in cases where the policy is lapsed only if the insured makes application for reinstatement and renewal of the term policy within five years after the date of lapse, and reinstatement in such cases shall be under the terms and conditions prescribed by the Secretary. In any case in which the insured is shown by evidence satisfactory to the Secretary to be totally disabled at the expiration of the level premium term period of the insurance under conditions which would entitle the insured to continued insurance protection but for such expiration, his insurance, if subject to renewal under this section, shall be automatically renewed for an additional period of five years at the premium rate for the then attained age, unless the insured has elected insurance on some other available plan.

1970. Act June 25, 1970 (effective 6/25/70, as provided by § 14(a) of such Act, which appears as 38 USCS § 1317 note), substituted "insured makes application for reinstatement and renewal of his term policy within five years after the date of lapse" for "lapse occurred not earlier than two months before the expiration of the term period".

1986. Act Oct. 28, 1986, substituted "the" for "his" preceding "term policy" and "insurance" and substituted "the insured" for "him" following "entitle".

1991. Act Aug. 6, 1991, redesignated this section, formerly 38 USCS § 705, as 38 USCS § 1905, and substituted "Secretary" for "Administrator".

I. EXPIRATION AND RENEWAL

1. Generally
   Policy of released prisoner of war ceased and terminated where he was released on September 12, 1945, and did not apply for continuation of gratuitous policy or waiver of premiums due to disability by September 30, 1945. Fox v United States (1953, CA5 Tex) 201 F.2d 883

2. Renewal
   Beneficiary's filing of claim on expired gratuitous policy and request for waiver of premiums due to insured's disability prior to death do not effect renewal of policy which insured allowed to lapse for nonpayment of premiums. Fox v United States (1953, CA5 Tex) 201 F.2d 883

3. -Effective date
   Administration [now Department] may not apply premium accompanying renewal application to month of January, although veteran signed renewal application on January 31, and also mailed required premiums on that date, where administration [now Department] did not receive application and premiums until February 4, since effective date of insurance is when administration [now Department] approved application. Collier v United States (1950, DC Va) 90 F Supp 215

4. -Disability or death of insured
   When term of contract expires in interim between inception of total disability and 6 months later, or death prior to expiration of 6 months, test whether insured has continued insurance protection is existence of conditions which would entitle him to continued insurance protection but for such expiration. 1950 ADVA 847

II. REINSTATEMENT AND RENEWAL

A. In General

5. Generally
   Predecessor to 38 USCS § 1910, while making reinstated policies incontestable, does not operate to reinstate policies when Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] unreasonably delays taking action on application for reinstatement. James v United States (1950, CA4 NC) 185 F.2d 115, 22 ALR2d 830
   Right to reinstatement is not governed by provisions of insurance contract. Rowan v United States (1954, CA3 Pa) 211 F.2d 237
   Upon lapse or cash surrender of insurance issued pursuant to 38 USCS § 722 [now 38 USCS § 1922], reinstatement of previously lapsed policies issued under 38 USCS § 723 [now 38 USCS § 1923] is proper, so long as all requirements for reinstatement are met within 5-year term period. 1959 ADVA 966

   Reinstatement implies placing insured in same position that he occupied prior to lapse of policy, but does not imply making of new contract or policy, or changing contractual relation or status of parties. Cleveland v United States (1953, CA6 Tenn) 201 F.2d 398
Reinstatement implies placing insured in condition he was in before forfeiture and does not imply making of new contract or policy. Kalter v United States (1955, DC NY) 130 F Supp 79

7. Miscellaneous

Issuance of new policy upon insured's re-enlistment is not reinstatement of previous 5-year level premium policy allowed to lapse after end of first enlistment, or of beneficiary thereof, even though application for new policy was designated application for reinstatement. Wright v United States (1953, DC Mo) 114 F Supp 693

B. Reinstatement Application

8. Generally

Insurance Service of Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] is legally justified in relying upon representations of applicant for reinstatement of his national service life insurance. United States v Willoughby (1957, CA9 Cal) 250 F.2d 524

Mere mailing of application for reinstatement of NSLI policy does not effect such reinstatement, even though premium payment is included with application, since reinstatement depends upon application being accepted and approved by Administrator [now Secretary]. Collier v United States (1950, DC Va) 90 F Supp 215

9. Compliance with statutes and regulations

Whatever right insured has to reinstate NSLI policy is contained in statute and regulations, not in insurance contract, and no reinstatement can be effected where application for reinstatement did not conform to requirements of regulations, even though Administrator [now Secretary] accepted such application. United States v Fitch (1950, CA10 NM) 185 F.2d 471

It is duty of Administrator [now Secretary] to deny reinstatement where insured, in applying for reinstatement, has not complied with statutory requirements and regulations. Klish v United States (1962, CA5 Ga) 308 F.2d 371

Upon lapse or cash surrender of insurance issued pursuant to 38 USCS § 722 [now 38 USCS § 1922], reinstatement of previously lapsed policies issued under 38 USCS § 723 [now 38 USCS § 1923] is proper, so long as all requirements for reinstatement are met within 5-year term period. 1959 ADVA 966

10. Health of applicant

Application for reinstatement of NSLI policy which failed to answer question as to whether applicant was in same physical condition as at time policy lapsed, cannot effect reinstatement of policy where applicant was discovered to be suffering from cancer during time period in question, since evidence of insurability as required by statute in regulations was completely lacking. James v United States (1950, CA4 NC) 185 F.2d 115, 22 ALR2d 830

Administrator [now Secretary] cannot waive requirement of proof showing insured is in as good health at time of application for reinstatement as at time policy lapsed, since estoppel by act of agent does not apply against United States. United States v Fitch (1950, CA10 NM) 185 F.2d 471

Applicant's poor health at time agency received application for reinstatement of NSLI policy precludes reinstatement of policy, even though applicant had been in good physical health at time he gave application and check for premium payment to relative, requesting him to mail it to agency, where applicant's relative held application more than 5 days, during which time applicant suffered grave illness. Johnson v United States (1964, CA6 Tenn) 335 F.2d 873

Recovery of insurance benefits may properly be denied where veteran did not furnish evidence of good health when seeking reinstatement, even though administrator [now Secretary] accepted monthly payments from date of application until death three months later. Colizza v United States (1951, DC Pa) 101 F Supp 695

11. Approval or denial of applications

Interoffice memoranda of Veterans’ Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs], indicating that some officials at various times thought insured's health would not prevent reinstatement, or that policy had actually become reinstated, do not indicate approval of application for reinstatement, but merely represent tentative opinions not inconsistent with later interoffice memorandum stating that insured was totally disabled on date of application and ineligible for reinstatement. James v United States (1950, CA4 NC) 185 F.2d 115, 22 ALR2d 830

Acceptance of insured's application for reinstatement cannot be established by waiver or estoppel, as anyone who enters into arrangement with United States assumes risk of accurately ascertaining whether agent, purporting to act in name of government, is acting within bounds of his authority. United States v Holley (1952, CA5 Ga) 199 F.2d 575

Acceptance of premiums by Administrator [now Secretary] does not, by itself, operate to reinstate policy. Klish v United States (1962, CA5 Ga) 308 F.2d 371

12. Estoppel to deny application

Government is not estopped to deny application for reinstatement of NSLI policy by reason of its having failed to act on application for period of 6 months, at which time applicant died, where applicant failed to perfect application by giving evidence of insurability as required by regulations and government delay was not unreasonable under circumstances existing at time of application. James v United States (1950, CA4 NC) 185 F.2d 115, 22 ALR2d 830

Since United States cannot be estopped by unauthorized acts of its agents, government is not estopped to deny application for reinstatement of NSLI policy where applicant failed to furnish evidence of his present health as required by statute and regulations, even though Administration [now Department] accepted application without questioning lack of medical evidence. United States v Fitch (1950, CA10 NM) 185 F.2d 471

Letter from Director of Insurance Service stating that insured's premium account had been adjusted does not estop government from denying application for reinstatement of NSLI policy, where such letter was improper under statute and regulations. United States v Holley (1952, CA5 Ga) 199 F.2d 575

Administrator's [now Secretary's] failure to examine veteran's compensation file to determine true state of veteran's health does not estop United States from denying reinstatement of NSLI policy. United States v Willoughby (1957, CA9 Cal) 250 F.2d 524

Administration [now Department] is not estopped to deny reinstatement of NSLI policy by retention of premiums, issuance of receipt, and failure to take action to approve or deny reinstatement application. Colizza v United States (1951, DC Pa) 101 F Supp 695

13. Effective date of reinstatement

Effective date of reinstatement of NSLI policy is date that application therefore was approved by Veterans’ Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs]. Collier v United States (1950, DC Va) 90 F Supp 215

Although reinstatement does not occur until administrator [now Department] approves application therefore, once approved, reinstatement may be made effective as of prior date. Karas v United States (1954, DC Pa) 118 F Supp 446, affd (1954, CA3 Pa) 214 F.2d 130

14. Premiums

Two months' premiums accompanying application for reinstatement may properly be applied to month of grace and month of application for reinstatement, although such application leaves no premium to be applied to month in which reinstatement became effective by approval. Cleveland v United States (1953, CA6 Tenn) 201 F.2d 398

Premium payments enclosed with reinstatement application may not be applied to periods prior to approval of such application. Collier v United States (1950, DC Va) 90 F Supp 215

Absent requests by applicant as to application of premiums, Veterans’ Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] may apply premiums accompanying application to prior month of grace and to premium month of application; thus policy was not in force where applicant died, without paying additional premiums, after expiration of month of application. Karas v United States (1954, DC Pa) 118 F Supp 446, affd (1954, CA3 Pa) 214 F.2d 130

§ 1906. Policy provisions

3. Distribution of dividends

1. Generally
A.D.V.A. 187-A is not applicable to claim for insurance benefits as bar to such claim in case where loan was made on insurance and where maturity of policy is alleged as of date policy was in force, prior to loan and interest reaching amount equaling reserve value of policy. 1942 ADVA 499

2. Surrender of policy for cash
Surrender of policy of National Service Life Insurance for its cash value extinguishes all rights under policy unless insured can show that, at time of surrender, he was incompetent or insane; was misled or overreached, to his detriment by Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs]; or contracting parties acted on what was, admittedly, mutual mistake of fact at that time. 1947 ADVA 751

3. Distribution of dividends
In making distribution of special dividend on National Service Life Insurance, law of state under which distribution is made governs, even if person who wrongfully caused death of veteran may share in distribution under law of that state. 1950 ADVA 856

§ 1907. Payment or use of dividends

(a) Until and unless the Secretary has received from the insured a request or directive in writing exercising any other dividend option allowable under the insured's policy, any dividend accumulations and unpaid dividends shall be applied in payment of premiums becoming due on insurance subsequent to the date the dividend is payable after January 1, 1952.

(b) No claim by an insured for payment in cash of a special dividend declared prior to January 1, 1952, shall be processed by the Secretary unless such claim was received within six years after such dividend was declared. Whenever any claim for payment of a special dividend, the processing of which is barred by this subsection, is received by the Secretary, it shall be returned to the claimant, with a copy of this subsection, and such action shall be a complete response without further communication.

(c) The Secretary, upon application in writing made by the insured for insurance under this subsection, and without proof of good health, is authorized to apply any dividend due and payable on national service life insurance after the date of such application to purchase paid up insurance. Also, the Secretary, upon application in writing made by the insured during the one-year period beginning September 1, 1991, and without proof of good health, is authorized to apply any national service life insurance dividend credits and deposits of such insured existing at the date of the insured's application to purchase paid up insurance. After September 1, 1992, the Secretary may, from time to time, provide for further one-year periods during which insureds may purchase additional paid up insurance from existing dividend credits and deposits. Any such period for the purchase of additional paid up insurance may be allowed only if the Secretary determines in the case of any such period that it would be actuarially and administratively sound to do so. Any dividends, dividend credits, or deposits on endowment policies may be used under this subsection only to purchase additional paid up endowment insurance which matures concurrently with the basic policy. Any dividends, dividend credits, or deposits on policies (other than endowment policies) may be used under this section only to purchase additional paid up whole life insurance. The paid up insurance granted under this subsection shall be in addition to any insurance otherwise authorized under this title, or under prior provisions of law. The paid up insurance granted under this subsection shall be issued on the same terms and conditions as are contained in the standard policies of national service life insurance except (1) the premium rates for such insurance and all cash and loan values thereon shall be based on such table of mortality and rate of interest per annum as may be prescribed by the Secretary; (2) the total disability income provision authorized under section 1915 of this title [38 USCS § 1915] may not be added to insurance issued under this section; and (3) the insurance shall include such other changes in terms and conditions as the Secretary determines to be reasonable and practicable.

Prior law and revision:

This section is based on 38 USC § 802(f) (Act Oct. 8, 1940, ch 757, Title VI, Part I, § 602(f), 54 Stat. 1009; May 18, 1951, ch 94, 65 Stat. 44).

Amendments:

1970. Act June 25, 1970 (effective 6/25/70, as provided by § 14(a) of such Act, which appears as 38 USCS § 1317 note), designated existing matter as subsec. (a); and added subsec. (b).
1971. Act Dec. 15, 1971 (effective as provided by § 4 of such Act, which appears as a note to this section), substituted new section catchline for one which read: "Dividends to pay premiums"; in subsec. (a), substituted "or directive in writing exercising any other dividend option allowable under his policy," for "in writing for repayment in cash,"; and added subsec. (c).

1982. Act Oct. 12, 1982, in subsec. (c), substituted "before February 1, 1973" for "within six calendar months after the effective date of this subsection".

1986. Act Oct. 28, 1986, in subsecs. (a) and (c) substituted "the insured's" for "his" wherever appearing.

1991. Act Aug. 6, 1991, redesignated this section, formerly 38 USCS § 707, as 38 USCS § 1907, and amended the references in this section to reflect the redesignations made by § 5(a) of such Act (see Table III preceding 38 USCS § 101).

Such Act further, in subsec. (a), substituted "Secretary" for "Veterans' Administration"; and, in subsec. (b), in the sentence beginning "No claim by . . .", substituted "Secretary" for "Veterans' Administration", and in the sentence beginning "Whenever any claim . . .", substituted "by the Secretary" for "in the Veterans' Administration".

Such Act further substituted "Secretary" for "Administrator" wherever appearing.

The Secretary shall, by regulations, prescribe the time and method of payment of the premiums on insurance, but payments of premiums in advance shall not be required for periods of more than one month each, and may at the election of the insured be deducted from the insured's active-service pay or be otherwise made. An amount equal to the first premium due under a National Service Life Insurance policy may be advanced from current appropriations for active-service pay to any person in the active service in the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard, which amount shall constitute a lien upon any service or other pay accruing to the person for whom such advance was made and shall be collected therefrom if not otherwise paid. No disbursing or certifying officer shall be responsible for any loss incurred by reason of such advance. 1. Generally

   Rule holding forfeitures of insurance policies in disfavor is applicable to government's liability under National Service Life Insurance policies, since purpose of such policies is to protect servicemen by low cost insurance otherwise unobtainable. United States v Morrell (1953, CA4 Md) 204 F.2d 490, 36 ALR2d 1374, cert den (1953) 346 US 875, 98 L Ed 383, 74 S Ct 128

2. Acknowledgment of remittance

   Administration's [now Department's] "Acknowledgement of Remittance" form neither constitutes receipt for payment of premiums relating to specific period of time, nor creates inference that all prior premiums were paid, since form includes express statement that remittance will be applied in conformance with National Service Life Insurance Act (predecessor to 38 USCS §§ 1901 et seq.) and regulations promulgated thereunder.    War risk insurance policy issued to enlisted seaman who died in service will be deemed to have been abandoned by insured where, notwithstanding he had authorized deduction from his pay of premiums not otherwise paid, no such deductions were made after end of his first enlistment and, during subsequent enlistments covering period of more than three years, insured accepted every month full amount of his pay and made no effort to provide for payment of premiums. 4. Deductions from retirement pay

   Premiums will be considered paid where, upon retirement, soldier indicated upon retirement certificate, in space provided therein, that he desired to continue his national service life insurance allotment from his retirement pay, although no deductions were in fact made and regulations did not provide for allotments or deductions from persons receiving retirement pay. Gray v United States (1957, CA9 Cal) 241 F.2d 626

5. Application of premiums

   Refundable premiums for policy of National Service life insurance paid by insured during period of total disability should be applied by Veterans Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] to unpaid premiums due after termination of such disability, where refundable premiums are sufficient to prevent forfeiture of policy, even though request for such application and determination of right to refund is not made until after death of insured. United States v Morrell (1953, CA4 Md) 204 F.2d 490, 36 ALR2d 1374, cert den (1953) 346 US 875, 98 L Ed 383, 74 S Ct 128

6. Credits
Premium credit item held to account of insured on date of lapse of insurance, sufficient to prevent lapse is to be so used, even though credit resulted in connection with another insurance contract, unless insured has directed that credit is to be used for another purpose; such direction is to be found in provisions of insurance contract, either express or necessarily implied, in communication by insured to Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs], or in any manner in which intention of insured is manifested. 1952 ADVA 902

7. Waiver of premium
Facts that Veterans' Bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs] failed to notify insured concerning allocation of payment in excess of premium then due, failed to give notice of due dates of premiums or that policy had lapsed or was about to lapse, and retained two monthly premiums after policy had lapsed by its terms for nonpayment of premiums, do not give rise to estoppel or amount to waiver of provision of policy that it shall lapse upon nonpayment of any premium, where Bureau [now Department], at time it received payments, was ignorant of fact that insured had become disabled, so that, by terms of policy, Bureau [now Department] had no power to reinstate it, and where it is not shown that insured was deceived or misled to his detriment, or that he had adequate reason to suppose contract would not be enforced or that forfeiture provided for by policy could be waived. 8. Lapse of policy

Failure of government to notify insured of lapse until three months after default in payment of premium and after receipt of two checks mailed over 30 days after premium was due does not estop government from asserting lapse of policy as defense in suit to recover proceeds under policy. Failure of Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] to inform veteran that his life insurance policy had lapsed for nonpayment of premiums was harmless since veteran's death certificate indicated that veteran had suffered from lung cancer for one year prior to death and thus, at time he was contacted by VA, he could not have furnished satisfactory...

   totally disabled is incontestable. 1947 ADVA 737
Incontestable provision of policy does not apply where no valid insurance contract resulted from application of Philippine scout who was not eligible for benefits of National Service Life Insurance Act at time of application or thereafter. 1948 ADVA 785

Insurance issued to person during enlistment subsequently terminated on ground that enlistment was fraudulent is incontestable under provisions of predecessor to 38 USC § 1910, except for fraud relating to insurance or for nonpayment of premium; however, government is not precluded from contesting validity for lack of service in case, if one arises, in which enlistment is shown to have been void ab initio for lack of capacity or other reason. 1950 ADVA 849

Insurance policy issued under provisions of predecessor to 38 USCS § 1922 to person who had indemnity protection under former § 851 and who was discharged prior to April 25, 1951 is incontestable under provisions of predecessor to 38 USCS § 1910. 1953 ADVA 924

5. Regulations

Regulation allowing return of premium payments rather than payment of policy's face value in certain instances arising under 38 USCS § 725 [now 38 USCS § 1925] does not conflict with incontestability provision of 38 USCS § 710 [now 38 USCS § 1910], since regulation deals with terms of insurance contract rather than with validity of policy. Kapourelos v United States (1969, ED Pa) 306 F Supp 1034, affd (1971, CA3 Pa) 446 F.2d 1181

II. FRAUD

6. Generally

Intentional, false, material statements made in written application for reinstatement bar recovery on reinstated policy. Meadors v United States (1954, DC Ky) 118 F Supp 277, affd (1955, CA6 Ky) 219 F.2d 438; Collins v United States (1957, DC Wis) 150 F Supp 334, revd on other grounds (1958, CA7 Wis) 254 F.2d 66; Tupper v United States (1958, DC Ala) 165 F Supp 399, revd on other grounds (1959, CA5 Ala) 270 F.2d 681

7. Intent of applicant

False statements as to health of applicant for reinstatement do not invalidate reinstatement in absence of evidence of applicant's intent to deceive. United States v Thompson (1953, App DC) 93 US App DC 231, 210 F.2d 724

Applicant's statement of good health, at time when he suffered from heart condition, is not sufficient to void reinstatement of NSLI policy on ground of fraud, where application for reinstatement included claim number showing that insured had made application for government compensation and evidence showed that insured acted without fraudulent intent. Thompson v United States (1952, DC Dist Col) 109 F Supp 283, affd (1953, App DC) 93 US App DC 231, 210 F.2d 724

8. Actual or constructive knowledge of government

Government may avoid reinstatement obtained upon insured's false representation of good health, even though reinstatement application disclosed that insured had applied for disability pension, and examination of such application would have disclosed his condition. McDaniel v United States (1952, CA5 Ga) 196 F.2d 291

Reinstatement authorized on basis of insured's false claim of good health may be voided, even though Compensation Division of Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] had actual knowledge of applicant's true state of health, where compensation files and insurance files were not consolidated until after insured's death. Clohesy v United States (1952, CA7 Ill) 199 F.2d 475

Applicant's fraud in misrepresenting state of health in application for reinstatement is defense available to Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs], even though one section of Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs], which did not handle insurance, had knowledge of such misrepresentations. United States v Cooper (1953, CA6 Ky) 200 F.2d 954

False statement as to health contained in application for reinstatement of NSLI policy bars such reinstatement, and government may not be charged with constructive notice as to applicant's actual health on basis that insured disclosed existence and number of Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] file containing information from which true health was determinable. United States v Kiefer (1955, App DC) 97 US App DC 101, 228 F.2d 448, cert den (1956) 350 US 933, 100 L Ed 815, 76 S Ct 305, reh den (1956) 350 US 977, 100 L Ed 847, 76 S Ct 431

Applicant's fraud in misrepresenting state of health in application for reinstatement is defense available to Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs], even though information as to applicant's actual health was in section of Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] other than that which handled insurance. Clarke v United States (1951, DC Mo) 102 F Supp 338

Administrator [now Secretary] is not estopped to avoid policy for fraudulent statement regarding health, made in application for reinstatement by fact that records of agency showed insured was attending veterans' hospital and was totally disabled, since one branch of agency cannot be held to knowledge of records of other branch. Brown v United States (1952, DC Mo) 102 F Supp 132

9. Evidence

Government's burden of proving fraud in application for reinstatement of NSLI policy is not met by evidence that veteran failed to disclose names and addresses of physicians he had consulted. Kent v United States (1964, WD Va) 227 F Supp 899

10. Miscellaneous

Insured's application for reinstatement of NSLI policy, which stated that applicant's health was as good at that time as at time policy lapsed, is not made fraudulent by fact that insured was suffering from cancer at time of application where, although insured had been to doctor, diagnosis of cancer was not made until after application had been made. Cardwell v United States (1951, CA5 Tex) 186 F.2d 382

Applicant's statement in application for reinstatement that his health was as good on that date as on due date of first premium in default is not fraudulent so as to bar reinstatement of policy, where applicant suffered from slow-developing type of cancer, and expert testimony indicated that health at date of application was substantially same as health on due date of premium. Tupper v United States (1959, CA5 Ala) 270 F.2d 681

Reinstatement of NSLI policy is not voidable on ground that applicant fraudulently misrepresented his health, where veteran, who believed he was in good health, committed suicide, veteran's absence from work was explainable on other grounds, and veteran consulted psychiatrist unable to diagnose any mental disease. Kammer v United States (1952, DC Pa) 107 F Supp 426

§ 1911. Forfeiture

Any person guilty of mutiny, treason, spying, or desertion, or who, because of conscientious objections, refuses to perform service in the Armed Forces of the United States or refuses to wear the uniform of such force, shall forfeit all rights to National Service Life Insurance. No insurance shall be payable for death inflicted as a lawful punishment for crime or for military or naval offense, except when inflicted by an enemy of the United States; but the cash surrender value, if any, of such insurance on the date of such death shall be paid to the designated beneficiary, if living, or otherwise to the beneficiary or beneficiaries within the permitted class in accordance with the order specified in section 1916(b) of this title [38 USCS § 1916(b)].

1. Generally

Constitutional and statutory prohibitions against forfeiture are not pertinent to section of predecessor to 38 USCS § 1911, prohibiting payment for death inflicted as punishment for crime, since such prohibition is limitation on risks insured against, rather than forfeiture. Simmons v United States (1954, DC Pa) 120 F Supp 641

2. Purpose

Predecessor to 38 USCS § 1911 was meant to embody public policy of not insuring against death inflicted as punishment for crime. Simmons v United States (1954, DC Pa) 120 F Supp 641

3. Construction

Predecessor to 38 USCS § 1911 contains no ambiguity requiring that it be liberally construed in favor of insured. Simmons v United States (1954, DC Pa) 120 F Supp 641

Word "crime", as used in predecessor to 38 USCS § 1911, refers to civil crimes as opposed to military crimes; since word is not otherwise qualified, it should be construed to mean civil crimes of any type, as long as such crime is punishable by death; no insurance is payable under policy upon life of insured who was lawfully executed by state for murder committed after his discharge from service. Simmons v United States (1954, DC Pa) 120 F Supp 641

4. Application

Word "crime", as used in predecessor to 38 USCS § 1911, refers to civil crimes as opposed to military crimes; since word is not otherwise qualified, it should be construed to mean civil crimes of any type, as long as such crime is punishable by death; no insurance is payable under policy upon life of insured who was lawfully executed by state for murder committed after his discharge from service. Simmons v United States (1954, DC Pa) 120 F Supp 641

Predecessor to 38 USCS § 1911 specifying forfeiture of benefits for commission of certain crimes is not applicable to beneficiaries; thus, beneficiary does not forfeit insurance upon conviction of any of crimes such section enumerates. 1948 ADVA 773
5. Desertion

Insured forfeited benefits of NSLI policy by reason of desertion, regardless of Army's issuance of certificate of honorable service which stated that it was awarded for honest and faithful service, where policy lapsed for default on payments since government is not required to allot payments from accrued service pay to continue insurance in force. United States v Griffin (1954, CA8 Ark) 216 F.2d 217, cert den (1955) 348 US 927, 99 L Ed 726, 75 S Ct 339

Notation in company morning report that insured was AWOL and would be dropped from rolls as deserter is insufficient to show that insured's actions constituted desertion under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1911. Liles v United States (1957, DC NC) 153 F Supp 54

Naval veteran's record, which showed fact of desertion but recorded no discharge or other resulting action, is sufficient to show guilt, and such desertion works forfeiture voiding insurance policy prior to date of sailor's death. 1941 ADVA 483

Insurance granted on application of decedent, following his enlistment in Army in 1942, is not voided or forfeited by fact that he had deserted from prior enlistment in Navy, or that mark of desertion from such enlistment had not been removed from his record. 1943 ADVA 539

Desertion by veteran during 1 period of service is not grounds for forfeiture of special dividend otherwise payable to him by reason of premium payments made during earlier period of service. 1952 ADVA 910

§ 1912. Total disability waiver

(a) Upon application by the insured and under such regulations as the Secretary may promulgate, payment of premiums on insurance may be waived during the continuous total disability of the insured, which continues or has continued for six or more consecutive months, if such disability began (1) after the date of the insured's application for insurance, (2) while the insurance was in force under premium-paying conditions, and (3) before the insured's sixty-fifth birthday. Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter [38 USCS §§ 1901 et seq.], in any case in which the total disability of the insured commenced on or after the insured's sixtieth birthday but before the insured's sixty-fifth birthday, the Secretary shall not grant waiver of any premium becoming due prior to January 1, 1965.

(b) The Secretary, upon any application made after August 1, 1947, shall not grant waiver of any premium becoming due more than one year before the receipt by the Secretary of application for the same, except as provided in this section. Any premiums paid for months during which waiver is effective shall be refunded. The Secretary shall provide by regulations for examination or reexamination of an insured claiming benefits under this section, and may deny benefits for failure to cooperate. If it is found that an insured is no longer totally disabled, the waiver of premiums shall cease as of the date of such finding and the policy of insurance may be continued by payment of premiums as provided in said policy. In any case in which the Secretary finds that the insured's failure to make timely application for waiver of premiums or the insured's failure to submit satisfactory evidence of the existence or continuance of total disability was due to circumstances beyond the insured's control, the Secretary may grant waiver or continuance of waiver of premiums.

(c) If the insured dies without filing application for waiver, the beneficiary, within one year after the death of the insured, or, if the beneficiary is insane or a minor, within one year after removal of such legal disability, may file application for waiver with evidence.
of the insured's right to waiver under this section. Premium rates shall be calculated without charge for the cost of waiver of premiums provided in this section and no deduction from benefits otherwise payable shall be made on account thereof.

(d) In any case in which an insured has been denied or would have been denied premium waiver under section 602(n) of the National Service Life Insurance Act of 1940 or this section solely because the insured became totally disabled between the date of valid application for insurance and the subsequent effective date thereof, and in which it is shown that (1) the total disability was incurred in line of duty between October 8, 1940, and July 31, 1946, inclusive, or June 27, 1950, and April 30, 1951, inclusive, and (2) the insured remained continuously so totally disabled to the date of death or June 8, 1960, whichever is earlier, the Secretary may grant waiver of premiums from the beginning of and during the continuous total disability of such insured. Application for waiver of premiums under this subsection must be filed by the insured or, in the event of the insured's death, by the beneficiary within two years after the date of enactment of this subsection [enacted June 8, 1960], except that if the insured or the beneficiary be insane or a minor within the two-year period, application for such waiver may be filed within two years after removal of such legal disability, or if an insane insured shall die before the removal of the disability, application may be filed by the beneficiary within two years after the insured's death. No insurance shall be placed in force under this subsection in any case in which there was an award of benefits under the Servicemen's Indemnity Act of 1951 or of gratuitous insurance under section 1922(b) of this title [38 USCS § 1922(b)]. The amount of insurance placed in force hereunder together with any other United States Government life insurance or national service life insurance in force at the time of death, or at the time of the insured's application for waiver hereunder, may not exceed $10,000 and shall be reduced by the amount of any gratuitous insurance awarded under the National Service Life Insurance Act of 1940. Waiver of premiums under this subsection shall render the insurance nonparticipating during the period such premium waiver is in effect. The cost of waiver of premium and death benefits paid as a result of this subsection shall be borne by the United States.

Amendments:

1964. Act July 7, 1964 (effective 1/1/65, as provided therein), substituted subsec. I. IN GENERAL

1. Generally

Cases arising under War Risk Insurance Act are pertinent to question of insured's total disability under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1912, since definition of disability in agency regulations is practically identical to definition contained in War Risk Insurance Act. McHam v United States (1949, DC SC) 87 F Supp 84

2. Construction

Predecessor to 38 USCS § 1912 was enacted with humanitarian purpose, and should be accorded liberal interpretation in aid of veteran. Martin v United States (1956, CA7 Ill) 238 F.2d 245

3. Relationship with other laws

Conditions enumerated in predecessor to 38 USCS § 1912 as prerequisites for premium waiver on ground of total disability are not affected by provision of predecessor to 38 USCS § 1921, making government liable for premiums so waived. Weiss v United States (1951, CA2 NY) 187 F.2d 610, cert den (1951) 342 US 820, 96 L Ed 620, 72 S Ct 38, reh den (1951) 342 US 874, 96 L Ed 684, 72 S Ct 357

Cases arising under War Risk Insurance Act are pertinent to question of insured's total disability under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1912, since definition of disability in agency regulations is practically identical to definition contained in War Risk Insurance Act. McHam v United States (1949, DC SC) 87 F Supp 84

4. Application for waiver

Right to waiver of premiums due on national service life insurance policy is not self-executing upon occurrence of disability, but operates only after application therefor is granted; thus, where disabled veteran made such application more than one year after payment of last premium, and more than one year after effective date of statute authorizing waiver of premium on policies held by disabled veterans where such application is made within one year after the effective date of the statute, or one year after payment of the last premium, the policy had lapsed for nonpayment of premiums; and, although widow beneficiary made application for waiver within one year from date of insured's death, she was not entitled to recover on policy upon death of veteran. Cain v United States (1953, DC La) 116 F Supp 150
Papers prepared or caused to be prepared or adopted by insured in applying for waiver of premiums and then sent in to Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] or so authorized constitute "Written application" required by former 38 USC § 823, irrespective of whether veteran physically signed such application at bottom or elsewhere. 1951 ADVA 885

5. Notice of waiver
   Administration's [now Department] failure to give notice of waiver and termination thereof to insured does not extend waiver to include period subsequent to termination of total disability. 1947 ADVA 745

6. Termination of waiver
   Policy lapses 31 days after due date of premium where Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] discontinued waiver of premiums and sent notice to veteran, but veteran did not ask for review of decision, seek reinstatement of waiver, or resume payment of premiums. McIntosh v United States (1953, DC Ky) 114 F Supp 241

7. -Grounds
   Insured's failure to cooperate by filling out form showing work history is not such failure to cooperate as would justify terminating waiver under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1912, since relevance of insured's work history to question of disability is, at best, indirect. United States v Barnett (1956, CA5 Tex) 230 F.2d 926

8. -Notice
   Administration's [now Department] failure to give notice of waiver and termination thereof to insured does not extend waiver to include period subsequent to termination of total disability. 1947 ADVA 745

   Amendment of regulation omitting language regarding advising insured of due date of first premium payable after termination of waiver and of amount of premiums payable does not alter insured's rights and responsibilities under contract, and letter notifying insured of termination of waiver but omitting information regarding date and amount of first premium does not invalidate such termination since knowledge of these facts is imputed to insured. 1949 ADVA 808

9. -Failure to appeal termination
   Failure to appeal at time Administrator [now Secretary] decided to terminate waiver did not constitute acquiescence in decision, since predecessor to 38 USCS § 1984 afforded alternative of later suit in District Court. United States v Barnett (1956, CA5 Tex) 230 F.2d 926

10. -Failure to reapply for waiver
    Insured's failure to reapply for waiver within one year of termination of original waiver on ground of failure to cooperate did not bar action by beneficiary, although such action would be barred if termination had been for lack of disability, since one year limitation in predecessor to 38 USCS § 1912(b) did not apply to terminations for other than lack of disability. United States v Barnett (1956, CA5 Tex) 230 F.2d 926

11. Refund of premiums
    Claimant is entitled to refund, notwithstanding that insurance to which it relates has been surrendered for cash, in any case in which claim for premium refund complies with conditions of predecessor to 38 USCS § 1912. 1947 ADVA 751

    Premiums paid but waived under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1912 are to be refunded and are not to be applied as premiums for period subsequent to expiration of waiver. 1948 ADVA 794

II. TOTAL DISABILITY

12. Generally
Total disability in and of itself is not sufficient to establish waiver of premiums. United States v Cooper (1953, CA6 Ky) 200 F.2d 954

Total disability, within meaning of national service insurance, is such disability that any type of work, no matter how light, would aggravate danger from disease which insured is suffering. Stephens v United States (1949, DC Ky) 85 F Supp 620

Premiums may properly be waived under 38 USCS § 712 [now 38 USCS § 1912] for total disability which commenced while insurance was "deemed not to have lapsed" under former 38 USCS § 802(m)(2). 1968 ADVA 990

13. Time of commencement of disability

Insured is not entitled to waiver of premiums on reinstated policy for total disability which began after lapse of original policy but prior to application for reinstatement. Huckaby v United States (1952, CA5 La) 196 F.2d 307

If insured is inducted into service, government cannot refuse to waive premiums on ground that disability of insured existed prior to induction. Tutten v United States (1952, DC Fla) 108 F Supp 404

Premiums on insurance issued to service disabled veteran pursuant to predecessor to 38 USCS § 1922 may properly be waived for disability commencing prior to 60th [now 65th] birthday, even though insurance became effective after 60th [now 65th] birthday. 1956 ADVA 959

14. Determination of disability

Since test for total disability sufficient to waive premiums under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1912 was whether insured was able to work, rather than whether he did work, fact that insured performed some work during period before disease was diagnosed was not conclusive on question whether insured was totally disabled and entitled to waiver. McHam v United States (1949, DC SC) 87 F Supp 84

Test to be applied in determining whether insured was totally disabled under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1912 is not whether he worked, but whether he was in fact able to work. Makowski v United States (1952, DC Pa) 105 F Supp 575

Person might be totally disabled within meaning of predecessor to 38 USCS § 1912, although working full time, as where disease did not manifest itself until policy had lapsed for nonpayment, in which case beneficiary could apply for waiver on ground of insured's disability during period that insured was working, but would not have been if he had known of existence and severity of disease. Sauer v United States (1954, DC Wis) 119 F Supp 137

15. Effect of compensation rating

Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] grant of 100 per cent disability allowance did not establish insured's disability for purpose of waiver of premiums. Guihan v United States (1953, DC NY) 110 F Supp 738

16. Finality of decision

Administrator's [now Secretary's] decision as to existence and continuity of disability sufficient to grant waiver of premiums is not final, and District Court has jurisdiction of suit alleging that insured was totally disabled prior to default in premiums, which disability continued until his death. United States v Roberts (1951, CA5 Ga) 192 F.2d 893; Hassey v United States (1956, DC Ala) 140 F Supp 1

Facts that insured was often intoxicated and had fits of despondency culminating in suicide did not establish continuous total disability so as to excuse nonpayment of premiums, where insured worked for short intervals, drew unemployment compensation, and purchased and drove his own car. Walker v United States (1952, CA5 Miss) 197 F.2d 226
Evidence that insured was nervous and sleepy, acted strange, was unable to take orders, and was diagnosed as suffering from dementia praecox, aggravated by his factory job, was sufficient to support conclusion by jury that insured was permanently and totally disabled for purpose of waiver of premium, even though insured worked as assembler in factory for 8 months. Makowski v United States (1952, DC Pa) 105 F Supp 575

Evidence that insured was semi-recluse and acted eccentrically did not establish such disability as excused payment of premiums, where record also disclosed that insured had excellent memory, lived alone and cared for himself, frequently traveled alone, and drove his own car. McNeil v United States (1975, SD Ohio) 392 F Supp 713

III. CIRCUMSTANCES BEYOND CONTROL OF INSURED

18. Generally

Circumstances beyond insured's control excuse his failure to supply sufficient information on his application, as well as failure to make application, and beneficiary is entitled to recover proceeds where application was rejected for such lack of information. Swart v United States (1958, DC Va) 158 F Supp 874

19. Lack of knowledge of condition by insured

Lack of knowledge on part of insured of his true physical condition, induced by humane acts of veterans' administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] doctors, constitutes circumstance beyond his control, and his beneficiary is entitled to make such application after his death. Kershner v United States (1954, CA9 Or) 215 F.2d 737

Fact that father concealed seriousness of disease from insured does not estop father from asserting, as beneficiary, that insured's unawareness was circumstance beyond insured's control excuseing failure to apply for premium waiver, where insured was totally and permanently disabled from incurable and fatal disease. Sly v United States (1955, CA7 Ill) 220 F.2d 212

Regardless of whether veteran knows that he has total disability, if he does not know that he has incurable disease which is to bring about his death in short time, his lack of knowledge of true condition, induced by either encouragement or ignorance of doctors of Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs], is circumstance beyond his control that excuses his failure to apply for waiver of premiums. United States v Vandver (1956, CA6 Ky) 232 F.2d 398

Doctor's withholding of information as to seriousness and effect of disease is circumstance beyond insured's control, excusing failure to apply for waiver, and entitling beneficiary to waiver upon application within one year of veteran's death. Martin v United States (1956, CA7 Ill) 238 F.2d 245

Insured's failure to apply for waiver of premiums is due to circumstances beyond his control when, during time he could have applied for such waiver, he was suffering from Hodgkin's disease, said to be invariably fatal, but which was incorrectly diagnosed as different, curable disease. United States v Donaldson (1957, CA9 Wash) 246 F.2d 148

Ignorance of insured that he had serious disease, entitling him to waiver of premium because of total disability, is "circumstance beyond his control" excusing requirement that he make application for waiver of premium within one year after premium was due. Klish v United States (1962, CA5 Ga) 308 F.2d 371

Failure to apply for waiver of premiums due to insured's ignorance of disability by Hodgkin's disease, contracted during military service, which fact was unknown until he was on his deathbed, is not unexcused, as a matter of law, on ground that such ignorance was not circumstance beyond his control. Landsman v United States (1953, App DC) 92 US App DC 276, 205 F.2d 18, cert den (1953) 346 US 876, 98 L Ed 383, 74 S Ct 127

Insured's unawareness of his serious illness is circumstance beyond his control, entitling insured to waiver of premiums without application therefor. Alvarez v United States (1955, DC Pa) 133 F Supp 609
20. Mental incapacity of insured

"Circumstances beyond control" means mental incapacity to make application for waiver.
Aylor v United States (1952, CA5 Tex) 194 F.2d 968

Chronic glomerular nephritis which prevented veteran from thinking clearly did not constitute "circumstances beyond his control."
Aylor v United States (1952, CA5 Tex) 194 F.2d 968

In order to excuse making of application for waiver of premiums on basis of insured's condition of health as circumstance beyond his control, plaintiff must show that insured was mentally incapable of making application for waiver.
Horton v United States (1953, CA5 Ala) 207 F.2d 91, cert den (1953) 346 US 903, 98 L Ed 403, 74 S Ct 233

In order for deceased insured's "circumstances beyond his control" to excuse nonpayment of premiums and failure to apply for waiver, beneficiary must show that deceased's mental incapacity was complete and continuous during entire time that he could have applied for waiver to excuse nonpayment.
Linton v United States (1955, CA5 Ga) 227 F.2d 254

Insured's failure to apply for waiver is not due to circumstances beyond his control where insured was aware of his physical condition and demonstrated his awareness of rights by filing numerous claims and requests with Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs].
Gossage v United States (1956, CA6 Tenn) 229 F.2d 166

Failure to apply for waiver is not due to circumstances beyond insured's control, even though he was rated 100% disabled for compensation purposes, where he was rational, able to drive his own car and attend to personal business during pertinent period.
United States v Sinor (1956, CA5 Fla) 238 F.2d 271, cert den (1957) 353 US 985, 1 L Ed 2d 1144, 77 S Ct 1287

Evidence that member of Women's Army Corps contracted Banti's disease during service in Philippines, and thereafter suffered gradual mental deterioration as result of ravages of disease warrants finding by jury that veteran was prevented from filing application for waiver of premiums due to circumstances beyond her control.
Jensen v United States (1950, DC Utah) 94 F Supp 468

Effects of veteran's various and serious disabilities, in conjunction with constitutional psychopathic state, on his mentality constitute "circumstances beyond his control."
White v United States (1954, DC Va) 123 F Supp 869

When condition of health is relied upon as circumstance preventing timely application for premium waiver, proof is required to show insured was mentally incapable of doing so.
Ferguson v United States (1970, ED Va) 309 F Supp 632

Insured, who had excellent memory, lived alone and cared for himself, and frequently traveled alone in his car was not so incompetent as to excuse failure to apply for waiver on grounds that failure was due to circumstances beyond his control.
McNeil v United States (1975, SD Ohio) 392 F Supp 713

21. Misrepresentations of government

Acts of government, whether negligent or not, in leading serviceman to believe he had no physical ailment, are circumstances beyond his control, entitling him to reinstatement of policy with premiums waived, after he was hospitalized for active tuberculosis, even though application therefor was made after statutory period had expired, where government's failure to discover or notify serviceman that he was totally disabled at time of discharge was cause of late application.
United States v Myers (1954, CA8 Mo) 213 F.2d 223

Administration's [now Department] failure to advise insured that he could apply for waiver, and statement that lapsed policy would be eligible for reinstatement in 3 years, amounted to misrepresentation of veteran's rights excusing failure to apply for waiver within one year of premium due date.
Martin v United States (1956, CA7 Ill) 238 F.2d 245

22. Miscellaneous
Failure of insured to apply for waiver of premiums because of illiteracy and advanced tuberculosis is not "due to circumstances beyond his control." Scott v United States (1951, CA5 Miss) 189 F.2d 863, cert den (1951) 342 US 878, 96 L Ed 660, 72 S Ct 169

Blanchette v United States (1952, DC Me) 102 F Supp 311

§ 1913. Death before six months' total disability

Whenever premiums are not waived under section 1912 of this title [38 USCS § 1912] solely because the insured died prior to the continuance of total disability for six months, and proof of such facts, satisfactory to the Secretary, is filed by the beneficiary with the Department within one year after the insured's death, the insurance shall be deemed to be in force at the date of the death, and the unpaid premiums shall become a lien against the proceeds of the insurance. If the beneficiary is insane or a minor, proof of such facts may be filed within one year after removal of such legal disability.

§ 1916.  Insurance which matured before August 1, 1946

(a) Insurance which matured before August 1, 1946, is payable in the following manner:
   (1) If the beneficiary to whom payment is first made was under thirty years of age at the time of maturity, in two hundred and forty equal monthly installments.
   (2) If the beneficiary to whom payment is first made was thirty or more years of age at the time of maturity, in equal monthly installments for one hundred and twenty months certain, with such payments continuing during the remaining lifetime of such beneficiary.
   (3) If elected by the insured or a beneficiary entitled to make such an election under prior provisions of law, as a refund life income in monthly installments payable for such period certain as may be required in order that the sum of the installments certain, including a last installment of such reduced amount as may be necessary, shall equal the face value of the contract, less any indebtedness, with such payments continuing throughout the lifetime of the first beneficiary. A refund life income optional settlement is not available in any case in which such settlement would result in payments of installments over a shorter period than one hundred and twenty months. If the mode of payment is changed to a refund life income in accordance with prior provisions of law, after payment has commenced, payment of monthly installments will be adjusted as of the date of maturity of such policy with credit being allowed for payments previously made on the insurance.

(b) Such insurance shall be payable only to a widow, widower, child, parent, brother or sister of the insured. Any installments certain of such insurance remaining unpaid at the death of any beneficiary shall be paid in equal monthly installments in an amount equal to the monthly installments paid to the first beneficiary, to the person or persons then in being within the following classes, and in the order named, unless designated by the insured in a different order:

(1) To the widow or widower of the insured, if living.
(2) If no widow or widower, to the child or children of the insured, if living, in equal shares.
(3) If no widow, widower, or child, to the parent or parents of the insured who last bore that relationship, if living, in equal shares.
(4) If no widow, widower, child, or parent, to the brothers and sisters of the insured, if living, in equal shares.

(c) The provisions of this section shall not be construed to enlarge the classes of beneficiaries heretofore authorized under section 602(d) of the National Service Life Insurance Act of 1940, for payment of gratuitous insurance.

(d) If no beneficiary of insurance which matured before August 1, 1946, was designated by the insured or if the designated beneficiary did not survive the insured, the beneficiary shall be determined in accordance with the order specified in subsection (b) and the insurance shall be payable in equal monthly installments in accordance with subsection (a). The right of any beneficiary to payment of any installments of such insurance shall be conditioned upon his or her being alive to receive such payments. No person shall have a vested right to any installment or installments of any such insurance and any installments not paid to a beneficiary during such beneficiary's lifetime shall be paid to the beneficiary or beneficiaries within the permitted class next entitled to priority, as provided in subsection (b).

(e) No installments of insurance which matured before August 1, 1946, shall be paid to the heirs or legal representatives as such of the insured or of any beneficiary, and if no person within the permitted class survives to receive the insurance or any part thereof no payment of the unpaid installments shall be made, except that if the reserve of a contract of converted National Service Life Insurance, together with dividends accumulated thereon, less any indebtedness under such contract, exceeds the aggregate amount paid to beneficiaries, the excess shall be paid to the estate of the insured unless the estate of the insured would escheat under the laws of the insured's place of residence, in which event no payment shall be made. When the amount of an individual monthly payment of such insurance is less than $5, such amount may, in the discretion of the Secretary, be allowed to accumulate without interest and be disbursed annually.

65. Criminal conduct of beneficiary
66. Error regarding age of insured
67. Contingent beneficiary
68. Estate of insured
69. Estate of beneficiary
   70. -Particular persons
   71. Miscellaneous

I. IN GENERAL

1. Generally
   Title to proceeds of service insurance is subject to federal control both before and after payment by government.  Barton v United States (1948, DC Cal) 75 F Supp 703 Predecessor to 38 USCS § 1916, setting forth class of permitted beneficiaries, is a term of insurance contracts.  Neuhard v United States (1949, DC Pa) 83 F Supp 911

2. Constitutionality
   Restrictions on permitted class of beneficiaries in predecessor to 38 USCS § 1916 are constitutional.  United States v Zazove (1948) 334 US 602, 92 L Ed 1601, 68 S Ct 1284, reh den
   (1948) 335 US 837, 93 L Ed 389, 69 S Ct 12
   Predecessor to 38 USCS § 1916(f), deeming payments to satisfy government's obligation if made to person represented to be within permitted class, is within power of Congress.  United States v Hoffman (1955, DC NJ) 129 F Supp 580

3. Construction
   In determining whether National Service Life Insurance Act of 1940 (predecessor to 38 USCS §§ 1901 et seq.) bars payments to deceased beneficiaries' estates, consistent course of administrative practice under both  National Service Life Insurance Act and War Risk Insurance Act of 1917 is factor which must be accorded weight.  United States v Henning (1952) 344 US
   66, 97 L Ed 101, 73 S Ct 114, reh den (1952) 344 US 910, 97 L Ed 702, 73 S Ct 327

4. Relationship with other laws
   Removal of restrictions on permitted class of beneficiaries under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1919 does not apply to payment of benefits under policies which matured by reason of insured's death prior to August 1, 1946, which continue to be governed by restrictions contained in predecessor to 38 USCS § 1916.  Walker v United States (1950, CA7 Ill) 180 F.2d 217

5. Miscellaneous
   Maturity date of policy, for purpose of deciding whether 38 USCS §§ 716 or 717 [now 38
   USCS §§ 1916 or 1917] applies to such policy, is date that payment becomes due, meaning date of insured's death.  Walker v United States (1950, CA7 Ill) 180 F.2d 217

II. PAYMENT OPTIONS

6. Generally
Failure of principal beneficiary to complete and return form of election as to mode of payment operates, pursuant to regulation, as election to receive 20 monthly installments certain and for life, and contingent beneficiary is bound by such election and entitled to only remaining installments certain, though neither of beneficiaries was aware that payments would cease in such situation before face value of policy was paid. United States v Foulger (1957, CA10 Utah) 249 F.2d 237

7. Computation of installments

Monthly installments payable for life to beneficiary who was over 30 years of age when insured died are not to be computed by dividing face value of policy by 120 and adding interest at three per cent, but are payable in accordance with mortality tables. United States v Zazove (1948) 334 US 602, 92 L Ed 1601, 68 S Ct 1284, reh den (1948) 335 US 837, 93 L Ed 389, 69 S Ct 12

8. -Death of primary beneficiary

Upon death of primary beneficiary, who elected to receive proceeds of two policies in monthly installments for 120 months certain and for life thereafter, after receiving 52 installments, contingent beneficiary is entitled only to remaining 68 installments, though payments to both beneficiaries totaled less than face value of policies. United States v Yost (1956, CA5 Tex) 229 F.2d 75, cert den (1956) 351 US 971, 100 L Ed 1490, 76 S Ct 1042

9. Regulations

Regulation that if first beneficiary of policy is thirty or more years of age at time of death of insured, amount of monthly payment to which such beneficiary is entitled for 120 months certain and thereafter throughout beneficiary's lifetime shall, for each $1,000 of insurance, be determined by age of beneficiary as of last birthday at time of death of insured in accordance with prescribed schedule based upon American Experience Table of Mortality and interest at 3 per cent per annum, is in accord with proper construction of predecessor to 38 USCS § 1916. United States v Zazove (1948) 334 US 602, 92 L Ed 1601, 68 S Ct 1284, reh den (1948) 335 US 837, 93 L Ed 389, 69 S Ct 12

III. AUTHORIZED CLASSES OF BENEFICIARIES

A. In General

10. Generally

Court will assume that insured was fully advised with respect to his rights to select any person he desired within statutory classes to receive benefits of policy. Washburn v United States (1945, DC Mo) 63 F Supp 224

With exception of spouse of insured and stepchild, and possible exception of adopted child, Congress has limited permissible class of beneficiaries to immediate relatives by blood of insured. Beach v United States (1946, DC Ohio) 79 F Supp 747

11. Purpose of statutory scheme

Purpose of restricting class of permissible beneficiaries under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1916 was to encourage servicemen to meet moral claims of near relatives with whom they have lived. McDonald v United States (1950, DC Mass) 91 F Supp 163

12. Governing law

Question as to whether beneficiary was wife of deceased is determined by law of state in which alleged marriage took place. Brown v United States (1947, CA3 NJ) 164 F.2d 490, cert den (1948) 333 US 873, 92 L Ed 1149, 68 S Ct 902

Whether person from whom insured obtained divorce remains legal widow of insured, eligible to receive proceeds of national service life insurance policy during period between issuance of interlocutory decree and time such decree becomes final is question of state law. Schurink v
Validity of insured's second marriage in Maryland, after obtaining Mexican divorce by correspondence from first wife, must be determined by law of state where both insured and second wife had been domiciled at time of Maryland marriage and, since such law treats as absolutely void any divorce granted by foreign state in which neither of parties is bona fide resident, first wife is legal widow entitled to proceeds of national service life insurance policy.

United States v Snyder (1949, App DC) 85 US App DC 198, 177 F.2d 44

Eligibility for benefits under national service life insurance policy of person who married insured after issuance of interlocutory divorce decree, but before such decree became final, depends upon validity of such marriage under applicable state law. Gehm v United States (1949, DC NY) 83 F Supp 1003

Determination of designated beneficiary's status as legal widow of insured is question of state law, both as to validity of marriage entered into in such state and as to marriages entered into outside state which are recognized by state as valid. Madewell v United States (1949, DC Tenn) 84 F Supp 329

Decision by Connecticut state court as to validity of marriage is binding on Federal court where regulation of administrator [now Secretary] provided that validity of marriage should be determined by law of place where parties resided at time compensation was claimed, and alleged wives lived in Connecticut at such time. United States v Oswald (1950, DC Del) 91 F Supp 639

B. Widow or Widower

13. Generally

Term widow as used in predecessor to 38 USCS § 1916 means insured's lawful wife at time of his death. Hendrich v Anderson (1951, CA10 Utah) 191 F.2d 242; Trathen v United States (1952, CA3 Pa) 198 F.2d 757; Muir v United States (1950, DC Cal) 93 F Supp 939

14. Right of recovery

Right of deceased soldier's widow to recover is dependent upon her legal status as unremarried widow of deceased, and not upon her morals, her worthiness, or her social standing. Rittgers v United States (1946, CA8 Minn) 154 F.2d 768; Burke v United States (1948, DC Pa) 85 F Supp 93, affd (1949, CA3 Pa) 176 F.2d 438

15. Common law marriage

Under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1916, alleged common-law wife is not within class having insurable interest in insured's life where common-law marriage was void under state law. Branch v United States (1949, DC Okla) 83 F Supp 641

16. Proxy marriage

Woman who had married insured by proxy is legal widow and properly designated as beneficiary of national service life insurance policy, where proxy marriage between woman in Florida and soldier in Scotland was recognized as valid common-law marriage under Florida Law. United States v Layton (1946, DC Fla) 68 F Supp 247

17. Bigamous marriage

Annulment of wife's former marriage subsequent to death of insured does not validate marriage to insured, nor entitle her to benefits of service policy. Castor v United States (1949, CA8 Mo) 174 F.2d 481, cert den (1949) 338 US 836, 94 L Ed 511, 70 S Ct 45, reh den (1949) 338 US 901, 94 L Ed 555, 70 S Ct 245

Wife may not recover under national life insurance policy, where evidence showed that she was married to another at time she married insured, and that no marriage took place with insured after her subsequent divorce from first husband. Walker v United States (1950, CA7 Ill) 180 F.2d 217

Claimant is not "widow" of veteran if she did not live with veteran after obtaining divorce from former husband to whom she was married at time of her purported marriage to veteran. Erickson v Stogner (1952, App DC) 90 US App DC 278, 195 F.2d 777

Designated beneficiary is not insured's widow, thus not member of permitted class under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1916, where her marriage to insured took place before insured's divorce decree became final. Brown v United States (1947, DC NJ) 72 F Supp 153, affd (1947, CA3 NJ) 164 F.2d 490, cert den (1948) 333 US 873, 92 L Ed 1149, 68 S Ct 902; Gehm v United States (1949, DC NY) 83 F Supp 1003

Second wife of insured is not within class of persons permitted as beneficiaries where her marriage with insured was void because of previous marriage of insured. Derrell v United States (1949, DC Mo) 82 F Supp 18

Insured's second wife is not within permitted class under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1916 where her marriage to insured was void due to failure to obtain divorce from first husband. United States v Leary (1950, DC Dist Col) 90 F Supp 590; Haupt v United States (1953, DC RI) 109 F Supp 762

18. Cohabitation

Wife of deceased insured is not precluded from benefits by alleged common-law marriage where wife, under prevailing state law, is not considered common-law wife of man with whom she lived both before and after insured's death. Rittgers v United States (1946, CA8 Minn) 154 F.2d 768

Fact that veteran's widow was admittedly living with another man, have borne son by such man, does not preclude her from receiving further benefits, where she had not gone through marriage ceremony, either canonical or civil, and local law did not recognize common law marriage. De Lano v United States (1959, DC Dist Col) 183 F Supp 781

19. Remarriage prior to death of insured

Neither insured's first wife, who went through marriage ceremony with another man after insured left her, nor woman who went through legal form of marriage with insured while still married to previous husband, is entitled to proceeds. United States v Burns (1951, DC Ark) 95 F Supp 628, app dismd (1951, CA8 Ark) 190 F.2d 206

Brothers and sisters of insured, rather than person claiming as wife, are entitled to proceeds, where wife did not live with insured after her return from prison and married another prior to death of insured, since presumption of validity of second marriage is not overcome by statement that she knew of no divorce proceeding. United States v Mason (1951, DC Iowa) 103 F Supp 619

First wife of insured, who had remarried without benefit of divorce, is entitled to insurance proceeds. United States v Wilson (1953, DC Tenn) 112 F Supp 428

20. Remarriage after death of insured

Remarriage shortly after insured's death does not disqualify widow under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1916. Trathen v United States (1952, CA3 Pa) 198 F.2d 757

Widow's remarriage after death of insured has no effect on her statutory preference over brothers and sisters upon death of named beneficiary. Riley v United States (1954, CA4 W Va) 212 F.2d 692, 44 ALR2d 1182

Widow receiving monthly installments of insurance under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1916 who remarries is not entitled to duplication of installments of insurance already paid, but is eligible for payment of unpaid installments upon recognition by Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] of decree annulling such remarriage. 1945 ADVA 636

C. Child
21. Generally
Son of insured by void marriage is entitled to share insurance with children of insured by prior valid marriage where contingent clause merely stated that proceeds should go to "The Surviving children, equally to the Survivor or Survivors" but children by prior marriage of woman who entered into void marriage with insured are not within permitted class. Hendrich v Anderson (1951, CA10 Utah) 191 F.2d 242

22. Stepchild
Stepchild remains within permitted class of beneficiaries under National Service Life Insurance Act (predecessor to 38 USCS §§ 1901 et seq.) after divorce of her mother and insured, where insured continued to make contributions for her support after divorce, such contributions continuing even after stepchild's marriage. Benefield v United States (1945, DC Tex) 58 F Supp 904

Insured's stepchild, designated as beneficiary, is not member of permitted class where marriage of insured and mother is void. Gehm v United States (1949, DC NY) 83 F Supp 1003; Muir v United States (1950, DC Cal) 93 F Supp 939

Insured's stepchild remains member of permitted class under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1916 although insured and stepchild's mother have divorced, where insured continued to live with divorced wife and continued to furnish support for both wife and child as he had done prior to divorce. 1947 ADVA 755

23. Illegitimate child
Illegitimate child is child within meaning of the National Service Life Insurance Act (predecessor to 38 USCS §§ 1901 et seq.) making gratuitous insurance payable, if no widow or widower entitled thereto, to "child or children" of insured, if living, in equal shares. United States v Philippine Nat'l Bank (1961, App DC) 110 US App DC 250, 292 F.2d 743

D. Parent

1. Natural Parent

24. Generally
Father, who through force of circumstances was required to go from one community to another, but who constantly assumed obligation of education of his son, although often placing son in custody of others for temporary periods, is entitled to proceeds of policy in preference to uncle and brother-in-law of insured with whom insured stayed for short intervals. Lewis v United States (1952, DC W Va) 105 F Supp 73

25. Putative father
Insured's putative father, who had never married insured's mother, adopted insured, or been subject of court order determining relationship, is not within permitted class under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1916. Gibbs v United States (1948, DC NC) 80 F Supp 907

Putative father designated as beneficiary of NSLI policy by insured is ineligible beneficiary unless shown to be in loco parentis. Hawkey v United States (1952, DC III) 108 F Supp 941

26. Abandonment or desertion
Under National Service Life Insurance Act of 1940 (predecessor to 38 USCS §§ 1901 et seq.), foster mother of deceased insured takes, after designated beneficiary's death, all accrued policy proceeds, to exclusion of beneficiary's estate and of insured's natural father, who had abandoned his son. Baumet v United States (1952) 344 US 82, 97 L Ed 111, 73 S Ct 122, reh den (1953) 344 US 916, 97 L Ed 706, 73 S Ct 332 and (superseded by statute as stated in Short v United States (1954, DC Cal) 123 F Supp 414)

Natural father is not entitled to payments upon death of person who stood in loco parentis to insured at his death, where father had, in fact, abandoned insured. Baumet v United States
Natural father who had failed to support his children for many years, had not visited them, and had not acted as parent should, is not entitled to balance of proceeds under national insurance policy upon death of natural mother. United States v Kwasniewski (1950, DC Mich) 91 F Supp 847

Natural father is not within permitted class as one who last bore parental relationship to insured, where father deserted family when insured was 8 years old. Conley v United States (1954, DC W Va) 119 F Supp 832

27. Existence of person in loco parentis

Whether natural parent is excluded from permitted class by existence of person standing in loco parentis to insured depends upon whether or not natural parent has ceased to be such in truth and in fact. United States v Henning (1952) 344 US 66, 97 L Ed 101, 73 S Ct 114, reh den (1952) 344 US 910, 97 L Ed 702, 73 S Ct 327

Since assumed parental relationship of insured's grandfather affects relationship of natural father only during grandfather's life, death of grandfather named as beneficiary terminates assumed parental relationship and allows natural father to receive remaining proceeds. Strunk v United States (1948, DC Ky) 80 F Supp 432

Upon death of insured's stepgrandmother, who had last occupied relationship of parent to insured, brother and sister of insured, rather than surviving natural mother, are entitled to proceeds of policy. Seavey v United States (1956, DC Me) 137 F Supp 529

2. Persons In Loco Parentis

a. In General

28. Generally

Congress intended to give serviceman broad discretion in naming as his beneficiary person in whose home he had lived for at least one year as member of family. Jadin v United States (1947, DC Wis) 74 F Supp 589

Court will not interpret term "in loco parentis" liberally for purpose of determining whether person has attained such status in order to take proceeds by operation of law under priorities listed in predecessor to 38 USCS § 1916, since purpose of liberal construction is to effectuate intention of insured, requiring that insured have manifested such intention by naming person as beneficiary; in such case, person claiming as in loco parentis must meet strict standards of common-law. Mansfield v Hester (1949, DC W Va) 81 F Supp 772

29. Acquisition of status

One assuming duties and obligations of either father or mother may qualify as in loco parentis although natural parent is member of same household. Burke v United States (1948, DC Pa) 85 F Supp 93, affd (1949, CA3 Pa) 176 F.2d 438

Two individuals may be found to stand in loco parentis to insured, where grandmother achieved such status prior to being incapacitated, whereupon insured's aunt took over duties of caring for insured. Reynolds v United States (1951, DC Kan) 96 F Supp 257

Only one individual is to occupy status of father, and one of mother, in loco parentis at same time to insured under predecessor to 38 USC § 1916. 1948 ADVA 792

30. -Time

To be within permitted class of beneficiaries, persons standing in loco parentis must have attained such status prior to insured's entry into service. United States v McMaster (1949, CA5 Fla) 174 F.2d 257
31. Duration of status

Person having attained relationship of in loco parentis 11 months prior to insured's entering service is not permissible beneficiary under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1916, since relationship must have existed for at least 1 year for such person to be within permitted class. Campbell v United States (1949, CA5 Miss) 174 F.2d 395

Aunt may not be beneficiary unless she stood in loco parentis to insured for one year prior to his entry into armed forces. Maldonado v United States (1946, DC NY) 69 F Supp 302

Once parental relationship exists for period of one year prior to insured's entry into service, person in loco parentis remains members of permitted class even if relationship subsequently changes. Burke v United States (1948, DC Pa) 85 F Supp 93, aff'd (1949, CA3 Pa) 176 F.2d 438

32. Receipt of benefits

Persons in loco parentis are not restricted to receiving benefits only when named as beneficiary, but may take proceeds by devolution as well. Bland v United States (1950, CA5 Tex) 185 F.2d 395

Person in loco parentis is entitled to benefit of statutory preference accorded parent upon death of named beneficiaries. Dodd v United States (1948, DC Ark) 76 F Supp 991

Person standing in loco parentis need not be named principal beneficiary, but is eligible to take as contingent beneficiary upon determination that named principal beneficiary was not within permitted class. Derrell v United States (1949, DC Mo) 82 F Supp 18

b. Particular Persons

33. Aunt or uncle

Aunt and uncle, who took insured into home at suggestion of natural father after natural mother became mentally ill, and cared for him till he left school stand in loco parentis where natural father suggested they adopt insured, never made attempt to provide support for insured, and moved out of household short time after placing insured there. Leyerly v United States (1947, CA10 Colo) 162 F.2d 79

Aunt stood in loco parentis to insured and is permissible beneficiary of his NSLI policy, where aunt cared for him as if she were his mother, and natural mother, although still alive, never conducted herself towards insured as mother's duty would require. McClendon v United States (1947, CA7 Ill) 163 F.2d 895

Aunt may stand in loco parentis to insured, even though insured had reached majority by time of entrance into service. Bland v United States (1950, CA5 Tex) 185 F.2d 395

Aunt stands "in loco parentis" to insured, who lived, ate, and slept in home of aunt after death of his parents, even though insured was 22 at time he moved into home, where she mended his clothes, took care of him with medicine paid for by her, and treated him as one of her own household. Thomas v United States (1951, CA6 Tenn) 189 F.2d 494, reh den (1952) 343 US 932, 96 L Ed 1341, 72 S Ct 756 and cert den (1951) 342 US 850, 96 L Ed 641, 72 S Ct 78

Fact that uncle sponsored insured's entry into United States at age 15 and aided in his support does not establish relationship in loco parentis, where insured was self-supporting and not living with uncle at time he entered service, and natural father had not delegated parental responsibilities to uncle. Helfgott v United States (1958, CA2 NY) 250 F.2d 818

Aunt may be considered to have stood in loco parentis to insured where, since insured was 13 years old, aunt provided him with home and maintenance, and performed all other services with respect to his living requirements while in her home, although natural mother, who was financially unable to provide for insured, remained on friendly terms with him at all times. Baldwin v United States (1946, DC Mo) 68 F Supp 657

Aunt is not within permitted class as person who stood in loco parentis to insured, where she took insured into her home at time when insured was over 20 years of age and married, and evidence indicated that insured contributed to support of his wife and child. Maldonado v United States (1946, DC NY) 69 F Supp 302

Aunt may not be regarded as having stood in loco parentis to insured by virtue of having accepted him into her home after death of his mother, where insured worked and paid board, and there was no evidence that aunt intended to assume responsibilities of any other relationship than one explainable by and consistent with blood relationship and affection that exists between aunt and nephew. Bourbeau v United States (1948, DC Me) 76 F Supp 778

Aunt of insured is not, merely by reason of that relationship, within class of permissible beneficiaries, but must stand in loco parentis to insured to be within permitted class. Strunk v United States (1948, DC Ky) 80 F Supp 432

Aunt does not stand in loco parentis to insured where mutual conduct and relationship between her and insured, during time in which insured lived in home of his grandmother, did not extend beyond what is ordinarily and customarily observed between aunt and nephew in like situations, and no intention appeared to have existed on part of either that she should assume any parental obligations toward him, or he any filial duties toward her. Mansfield v Hester (1949, DC W Va) 81 F Supp 772

Aunt designated as contingent beneficiary is in loco parentis and entitled to proceeds, where aunt had raised insured and insured's designation of principal beneficiary was too vague for determination. United States v Collins (1955, DC NC) 136 F Supp 410

34. Cousin

Insured's cousin does not stand in loco parentis so as to be within permitted class, even though cousin provided food and shelter and treated insured as member of family, where insured was 26 years old at time he moved in with cousin, insured worked and paid board, and cousin testified that she had considered insured as brother rather than son. Niewiadomski v United States (1947, CA6 Mich) 159 F.2d 683, cert den (1947) 331 US 850, 91 L Ed 1859, 67 S Ct 1730

Cousin, named beneficiary under policy and described as guardian is in loco parentis as against natural mother, where evidence showed that insured voluntarily left home of his mother due to disagreement and lived at home of cousin, who supported him for 21 months prior to entry into service. Golden v United States (1950, DC Ala) 91 F Supp 950, affd (1951, CA5 Ala) 192 F.2d 81

35. Foster parent

Person is not within permitted class of beneficiaries under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1916 as having stood in loco parentis to insured, where she took insured into her home at request of welfare society, received stipulated sum from society for insured's board, society provided insured with spending money and clothing, and natural father, who was unable to support himself or family due to poor health, never contemplated giving son up for adoption. Strauss v United States (1947, CA2 NY) 160 F.2d 1017, cert den (1947) 331 US 820, 91 L Ed 1859, 67 S Ct 1741

Woman designated as beneficiary by insured, who described her as foster mother, is not in loco parentis as against claim of natural father, where insured never met woman until he had reached adulthood and insured suffered no disability. United States v McMaster (1949, CA5 Fla) 174 F.2d 257

Person into whose home insured was placed by Indian agency, who received monthly support from agency, is permissible beneficiary under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1916 as one standing in loco parentis, where insured and sister were treated as members of family, although natural parents were living. Jadin v United States (1947, DC Wis) 74 F Supp 589

36. Grandparent

Maternal grandmother of insured is within permitted class where he had lived with her more than three years before he entered military service. Smith v United States (1946, DC RI) 69 F Supp 387

37. Miscellaneous
Plaintiffs, who had taken insured into their home when he was 18 years old, fed and clothed him with little or no interruption for 3 or 4 years, and provided him with spending money and separate room have attained relationship of in loco parentis to insured, whom evidence showed to be mentally unstable. Horsman v United States (1946, DC Mo) 68 F Supp 522

Insured's former employer, who took insured into his house when insured was 18 years old and from that time on treated him as member of family, is in loco parentis to insured, even though natural parents were still living. Wood v United States (1947, DC SC) 74 F Supp 732

Person stood in loco parentis to insured and may receive proceeds of insured's NSLI policy where insured had been committed to State Department of Children's Guardian after separation of his natural parents, plaintiff took insured into her home after he graduated from high school, where he lived for more than 2 years as member of her family, plaintiff and her husband maintained separate room for insured in their house, and insured's letters indicated that he considered plaintiff, rather than his natural mother, as real mother. Jensen v United States (1948, DC Me) 78 F Supp 974

Abbot does not stand in loco parentis to monk in abbey so as to entitle Abbot to proceeds of national service life insurance policy, even though named as beneficiary. O'Brien v United States (1949, DC NJ) 84 F Supp 531

Person with whom insured went to live after reaching age 21, who treated him as son, but did not adopt him, is not in loco parentis in order to be eligible as beneficiary under national life insurance. Powledge v United States (1950, DC Ga) 88 F Supp 561, affd (1951, CA5 Ga) 193 F.2d 438

Daughter of adoptive parents of insured does not qualify as his beneficiary upon ground that she stood in loco parentis to him, where evidence showed that though she had contributed materially to his support prior to his entrance into army, her mother was considered head of household and real parent of insured. McDonald v United States (1950, DC Mass) 91 F Supp 163

Beneficiary designated by insured may recover as in loco parentis where beneficiary took insured into his home at age 16 for period of 20 months, when insured was estranged from his mother. Golden v United States (1950, DC Ala) 91 F Supp 950, affd (1951, CA5 Ala) 192 F.2d 81

Elderly woman whom insured had designated as beneficiary is entitled to proceeds as being in loco parentis where, even though insured had never lived in her home, was not related to her by blood or marriage, and had not supported her when working, insured intended to live with her after service, looked upon her as his closest connection, and designated her to be notified if anything happened to him. Banks v United States (1958, DC Conn) 170 F Supp 534, affd (1959, CA2 Conn) 267 F.2d 535

E. Brother or Sister

38. Consanguinity

Halfblood brothers and sisters are members of permitted class under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1916. Woodward v United States (1948, CA8 Mo) 167 F.2d 774; Strunk v United States (1948, DC Ky) 80 F Supp 432

Contingent beneficiary, half-brother of insured, is entitled to insurance where putative father of insured, principal beneficiary, did not occupy relationship of "in loco parentis" to insured. Gibbs v United States (1948, DC NC) 80 F Supp 907

Designated beneficiary, legitimate child of father of soldier, and hence half-sister of insured (illegitimate), is within class of permitted beneficiaries of National Service Life Insurance benefits. 1950 ADVA 854

39. Adoption

Brother by adoption is permissible beneficiary, entitled to recover proceeds of sister's policy designating him as beneficiary. Woodward v United States (1951) 341 US 112, 95 L Ed 806, 71
S Ct 605; McDonald v United States (1950, DC Mass) 91 F Supp 163; Barnes v United States (1951, DC Pa) 95 F Supp 541

Term "sister" as used in National Service Life Insurance Act (predecessor to 38 USCS §§ 1901 et seq.) is to be given liberal construction, thus including insured's adoptive sister within permitted class of beneficiaries under predecessor to 38 USCS § 716. Carpenter v United States (1948, CA3 Pa) 168 F.2d 369, 3 ALR2d 841

40. Foster relationship

Brother or sister by foster relationship is not within term "brother or sister of the insured," as used in predecessor to 38 USCS § 1916 of National Service Life Insurance Act of 1940 (38 USCS §§ 701 et seq. [now 38 USCS §§ 1901 et seq.]). 1952 ADVA 894

41. Miscellaneous

Person adopted by insured's father during father's first marriage is not insured's sister for purposes of predecessor to 38 USCS § 1916. Beach v United States (1946, DC Ohio) 79 F Supp 747

Daughter of insured's putative father is not insured's sister within meaning of predecessor to 38 USCS § 1916. Hawkey v United States (1952, DC Ill) 108 F Supp 941

IV. DESIGNATION AND CHANGE OF BENEFICIARIES

A. Designation

42. Generally

Congress intended that insured should have right to designate person to whom, within permitted class, proceeds would be paid if primary beneficiary did not survive to collect all or any of benefits due under policy, and, unlike situation in nongovernment insurance, rights of such contingent beneficiary are not extinguished by fact that primary beneficiary survives insured. Washburn v United States (1945, DC Mo) 63 F Supp 224

Court will effectuate express wishes of deceased soldier unless it appears that beneficiary does not come within permissible class. Wood v United States (1947, DC SC) 74 F Supp 732

Original designation of beneficiary is subject to same requirement, that insured have intent to make designation and perform some affirmative act to that end, as governs change of beneficiary. Blanchard v United States (1950, DC NH) 91 F Supp 889

43. Validity of particular designations

Widow of soldier killed in line of duty may not be denied benefits of policy issued by government merely because instrument designating wife as beneficiary happened to be in files of war department instead of in files of Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs]. Van Doren v United States (1946, DC Cal) 68 F Supp 222

Neither insured's designation of wife as beneficiary of $2,000 policy left in force after cancellation of all other policies, nor fact that mother was named beneficiary of canceled policies, operates to designate beneficiary of $8,000 insurance to which Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] determined that insured was entitled, proceeds of which must pass as though insured failed to designate beneficiary. Sights v United States (1950, DC Dist Col) 89 F Supp 235

44. Trustee beneficiary

Evidence that insured intended proceeds of NSLI policy to be held by beneficiaries in trust for his children, although no limitation was evident from insurance policy, is sufficient to award proceeds to insured's wife to be held in trust for children, although wife was not designated as beneficiary, since wife is guardian of children for whom proceeds are being held. Burgess v Murray (1952, CA5 Fla) 194 F.2d 131
Designated beneficiary of NSLI policy holds proceeds subject to constructive trust to distribute them equally among insured's brothers and sisters, where beneficiary promised insured that such distribution would be made if insured designated her as beneficiary, insured's will provided for such distribution, and beneficiary had promised brothers and sisters that proceeds would be divided equally. Voelkel v Tohulka (1957) 236 Ind 588, 141 NE2d 344, 70 ALR2d 1349, cert den (1957) 355 US 891, 2 L Ed 2d 189, 78 S Ct 263

45. Validity of agreement between insured and beneficiary

Agreement between beneficiary and insured that beneficiary would hold proceeds of all NSLI policy for benefit of person not within permitted class of beneficiaries is invalid and unenforceable. Jones v United States (1945, DC Mass) 61 F Supp 406

Contract between insured and beneficiary of NSLI policy, to effect that beneficiary would hold proceeds of policy for benefit of insured's wife and expected child, is valid and enforceable. French v French (1946) 161 Kan 327, 167 P2d 305, cert den (1946) 329 US 727, 91 L Ed 629, 67 S Ct 81

B. Change of Beneficiary

1. In General

46. Generally

Judicial decisions dealing with beneficiary changes under war risk insurance policies are relevant to questions concerning change of beneficiary of National Service Life Insurance cases. Van Doren v United States (1946, DC Cal) 68 F Supp 222; Fleming v Smith (1964) 64 Wash 2d 181, 390 P2d 990

47. Governing law

All cases involving changes of beneficiary under National Service Life Insurance policies are governed by federal law. Dyke v Dyke (1955, CA6 Tenn) 227 F.2d 461, cert den (1956) 352 US 850, 1 L Ed 2d 61, 77 S Ct 70; Fitzstephens v United States (1960, DC Wyo) 189 F Supp 919; Morris v United States (1963, ND Tex) 217 F Supp 220

48. Right to change beneficiary

Right to change beneficiary under policy of National Service life insurance is as absolute as right to designate original beneficiary. Bradley v United States (1944, CA10 Okla) 143 F.2d 573, cert den (1944) 323 US 793, 89 L Ed 632, 65 S Ct 429

Agreement not to change beneficiary of National Service life insurance policy cannot affect insured's statutory right to make such change. Heifner v Soderstrom (1955, DC Iowa) 134 F Supp 174

Insured's right to change beneficiaries of National Service life insurance policy cannot be defeated by claim that insured unalterably transferred title to his insurance policy by delivery of policy with donative purpose. Tompkins v Tompkins (1944, NJ Super Ct) 132 NJL 217, 38 A2d 890

49. -Guardian

Guardian appointed for incompetent insured has power to change beneficiary of NSLI policy upon receiving express authorization from probate court to do so. Murray v United States (1950, DC Mich) 107 F Supp 290, affd (1951, CA6 Mich) 188 F.2d 362, cert den (1951) 342 US 816, 96 L Ed 617, 72 S Ct 30

50. Divorce or separation agreement

Separation agreement between veteran and his first wife in which he agreed to irrevocably name her and their children as beneficiaries of policy and to pay at least specified monthly support money, which agreement was approved in divorce decree granted to first wife, has no force and effect so far as proceeds of veteran's policy are concerned.  Eldin v United States (1957, DC III) 157 F Supp 34

51. Effectuation of change requirements

Government may waive compliance with regulations as to change of beneficiary of National Service life insurance, since such regulations are for protection of government. Collins v United States (1947, CA10 Okla) 161 F.2d 64, cert den (1947) 331 US 859, 91 L Ed 1866, 67 S Ct 1756

Literal compliance with requirements as to change of beneficiary of National Service life insurance is never necessary to make change effective, and legal technicalities will be brushed aside in order to effectuate intent of insured. Mitchell v United States (1948, CA5 La) 165 F.2d 758, 2 ALR2d 484; Stone v United States (1959, CA5 Ala) 272 F.2d 746

52. Competency of insured

Insured must be mentally competent to effect valid change of beneficiary of National Service Life Insurance policy. Taylor v Taylor (1954, CA8 Ark) 211 F.2d 794; Roecker v United States (1967, CA5 Miss) 379 F.2d 400, cert den (1967) 389 US 1005, 19 L Ed 2d 600, 88 S Ct 563; Lyle v Bentley (1969, CA5 Tex) 406 F.2d 325 (criticized in Coursey v Pudda (2004, SD Ga) 299 F Supp 2d 1368)

Since determination of insured's mental capacity to effect lawful change of beneficiary is governed by federal law, finding of competency is not precluded by state court order adjudicating insured incompetent; veteran's change of beneficiary may properly be given effect, even though he had been adjudged incompetent by state court and treated in state hospital, where medical testimony as to veteran's competency was in conflict and person who prepared change of beneficiary form testified that veteran knew he was taking insurance away from mother and giving it to wife and child. Dyke v Dyke (1955, CA6 Tenn) 227 F.2d 461, cert den (1956) 352 US 850, 1 L Ed 2d 61, 77 S Ct 70

Standard for determining mental capacity for making beneficiary change under NSLI policy is same as that required for executing valid will, deed, or contract. Morris v United States (1963, ND Tex) 217 F Supp 220

Fact that veteran had long history of alcoholism and had been recommended for hospitalization due to mental incompetency does not invalidate his change of beneficiary, where psychiatrist who had examined veteran in hospital testified that veteran was sane and had testamentary capacity to execute change of beneficiary. Frakes v United States (1964, ND Ga) 228 F Supp 475

53. Formal requirements

Insured's formal request for change of beneficiary from mother to wife is sufficient to effect such change, even though form never arrived at VA and subsequent letter to his brother indicated that mother was still beneficiary, where wartime conditions made loss of mail common, at both insured's station in combat zone and at Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs]. Gann v Meek (1948, CA5 Tex) 165 F.2d 857, cert den (1948) 334 US 849, 92 L Ed 1772, 68 S Ct 1500

It is not necessary that change of beneficiary form be delivered to Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] before death of insured, if insured set in motion steps for its delivery which manifested his intent that it should be so delivered, and change of beneficiary form is effective although lost after mailing. Widney v United States (1949, CA10 Okla) 178 F.2d 880

Loss of form for changing beneficiary, due to wartime circumstances beyond insured's control, does not invalidate insured's change of beneficiary from former wife to sister, since insured had done everything within his power to effectuate change. Elders v United States (1953, DC SC) 116 F Supp 757

54. Affirmative action

© 2006 Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. Use of this product is subject to the restrictions and terms and conditions of the Matthew Bender Master Agreement.
Insured's intent to change beneficiary of National Service life insurance policy must be followed by some affirmative act on part of insured evidencing his exercise of right to change beneficiary. Collins v United States (1947, CA10 Okla) 161 F.2d 64, cert den (1947) 331 US 859, 91 L Ed 1866, 67 S Ct 1756; Gann v Meek (1948, CA5 Tex) 165 F.2d 857, cert den (1948) 334 US 849, 92 L Ed 1772, 68 S Ct 1500; Kluge v United States (1953, CA4 SC) 206 F.2d 344; Stone v United States (1959, CA5 Ala) 272 F.2d 746

Manifest intent of insured to change beneficiary of National Service life insurance policy is given effect when he has done everything reasonably within his power to accomplish his purpose, leaving only ministerial acts to be performed by insurer. Mitchell v United States (1948, CA5 La) 165 F.2d 758, 2 ALR2d 484

Although veteran wrote letter to alleged substitute beneficiary stating that he had already changed beneficiary, told fellow officer of his intention to divorce wife and change beneficiary from wife to mother, and later told same officer that such change had been made, veteran's failure to take any affirmative action to effect change precludes finding that mother was beneficiary, since any change of beneficiary of NSLI insurance requires both insured's intention to make change and some affirmative act having change as its objective. Ford v United States (1949, DC Tenn) 94 F Supp 223

55. Ineligible beneficiary

Even if letter of insured to veterans' administration, by which he attempted to change his designated beneficiary from his wife to his ineligible adopted sister, had effect of nullifying original designation of wife as beneficiary, wife, as insured's widow, is entitled to receive proceeds by operation of law. Drony v United States (1945, DC Dist Col) 59 F Supp 154

Upon insured's otherwise effective change of beneficiary from mother to son and girl friend, fact that girl friend is not within permitted class operates to nullify only her designation, leaving beneficiaries as mother and son, with each entitled to half of proceeds. Lincoln Bank & Trust Co. v United States (1947, DC Ky) 71 F Supp 745

Attempted substitution of ineligible beneficiary does not automatically nullify insured's original designation of eligible beneficiary, and where attempted change was not motivated by ill will toward original beneficiary, proceeds of policy will be distributed to original beneficiary. Batts v United States (1954, DC NC) 120 F Supp 26

2. Affirmative Action Effecting Change

56. Generally

Some form of writing is minimum requirement to give effect to insured's intent to change beneficiary of National Service life insurance policy. Moths v United States (1950, CA7 Ind) 179 F.2d 824

57. Execution of government document

Insured's execution of confidential report to group headquarters, required of all flying officers, that wife was beneficiary of NSLI policy is insufficient to effect valid change of beneficiary from mother to wife, where no formal written change of beneficiary was filed with Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs], even though insured had told wife that she was beneficiary and Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] determination was that valid change had been effected. Bradley v United States (1944, CA10 Okla) 143 F.2d 573, cert den (1944) 323 US 793, 89 L Ed 632, 65 S Ct 429

Valid change of beneficiary is effected by insured's execution of proper change form and instructions to wife to deliver form to her father in event of insured's death, since insured's actions left undone only ministerial acts of mailing form and recording change. Collins v United States (1947, CA10 Okla) 161 F.2d 64, cert den (1947) 331 US 859, 91 L Ed 1866, 67 S Ct 1756

Insured's execution of Government Insurance Report Form stating that wife was beneficiary of NSLI policy, while mother had been originally designated as beneficiary of such policy, is sufficient to effect valid change of beneficiary, even though original of document was never found, where copy was introduced in evidence. Mitchell v United States (1948, CA5 La) 165 F.2d 758, 2 ALR2d 484

Insured's execution of 3 different government forms, all designating wife as beneficiary of NSLI policy, is sufficient to effect change of beneficiary from mother to wife. McKewen v McKewen (1948, CA5 Miss) 165 F.2d 761, cert den (1948) 334 US 860, 92 L Ed 1780, 68 S Ct 1530

Insured's execution of form entitled "Designation of Beneficiary" is sufficient to effect change of beneficiary of NSLI policy, even though form was intended for use in connection with 6-month gratuity pay, where both insured and officer who supplied form believed such form was to be used for changing beneficiary of NSLI policies. Shapiro v United States (1948, CA2 NY) 166 F.2d 240, cert den (1948) 334 US 859, 92 L Ed 1779, 68 S Ct 1533; Rosenschein v Citron (1948, App DC) 83 US App DC 346, 169 F.2d 885; Senato v United States (1949, CA2 NY) 173 F.2d 493; Prose v Davis (1949, CA7 Ind) 177 F.2d 478, cert den (1950) 339 US 920, 94 L Ed 1344, 70 S Ct 624; Boring v United States (1950, CA10 Okla) 181 F.2d 931; Woods v United States (1947, DC Ala) 69 F Supp 760; Hartman v United States (1948, DC Mo) 78 F Supp 227; Shannon v United States (1948, DC Ga) 78 F Supp 263; Vaughn v United States (1948, DC Tenn) 78 F Supp 494; Cotter v United States (1948, DC Md) 78 F Supp 495; Horn v United States (1949, DC Pa) 88 F Supp 310; Royer v United States (1950, DC Tenn) 93 F Supp 694; Hornbaker v United States (1951, DC Pa) 94 F Supp 881

Insured's execution of "Designation of Beneficiary" form does not effect change of beneficiary of NSLI policy where such form was meant to be used in connection with 6 months' gratuity pay and evidence of insured's intent at time of execution of form is ambiguous. Butler v Butler (1949, CA5 Ga) 177 F.2d 471

Insured's execution of legal assistance record stating that wife was beneficiary of his NSLI policy is sufficient to effect change of beneficiary from father to wife, where insured also left will bequeathing all property to wife and sent both will and legal assistance record to wife, along with letter indicating that wife was now beneficiary. Moths v United States (1950, CA7 Ind) 179 F.2d 824

Insured's execution of Personal Affairs Statement, declaring beneficiary under NSLI policy different from beneficiary originally designated, is sufficient to effect change of beneficiary to person named in such statement, where evidence indicated that insured considered such change to have been effected. Farmakis v Farmakis (1949, App DC) 84 US App DC 297, 172 F.2d 291, cert den (1949) 337 US 958, 93 L Ed 1757, 69 S Ct 1535; Riley v United States (1953, DC W Va) 116 F Supp 155, affd (1954, CA4 W Va) 212 F.2d 692, 44 ALR2d 1182

Fact that insured executed and signed "Government Insurance Report Form" stating that he had named wife as beneficiary of his NSLI policy is, by itself, insufficient to establish that such change occurred. Coleman v United States (1949, App DC) 85 US App DC 145, 176 F.2d 469

Insured's execution of form for designating or changing address of beneficiary of his 6 months' gratuity pay is sufficient to operate as change of beneficiary of NSLI policy where that was insured's intention, even though such form was also filed with War Department, instead of in files of Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] as required. Van Doren v United States (1946, DC Cal) 68 F Supp 222

Changing official listing of next of kin is not such affirmative act as will constitute change of beneficiary of NSLI policy. Ramsay v United States (1947, DC Fla) 72 F Supp 613

Insured's execution of government forms entitled "Designation of Beneficiary" and "Personal Affairs Statement" is sufficient to change beneficiary of NSLI policy where insured thought that by such affirmative action he had done all that was necessary to effect such change. Brown v United States (1949, DC Iowa) 84 F Supp 489

58. Correspondence

Written expression of insured's intent or desire to change beneficiaries, directed to original beneficiary, is sufficient to effect change. Lincoln Bank & Trust Co. v United States (1947, DC Ky) 71 F Supp 745
59. -To government agency

Letter from insured to Veterans’ Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] requesting change of beneficiary does not constitute affirmative act necessary to accomplish such change, where insured gave orders that letter was to be kept in secure place, indicating that insured retained control over disposition of letter. Hester v Hester (1948, CA5 Tex) 171 F.2d 477

Insured's letter to Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] stating that he had recently married and wished to change beneficiary from mother to wife is sufficient to effect change of beneficiary to wife, although mother had only been contingent beneficiary, while father was principal beneficiary. Orschein v United States (1949, DC Mo) 85 F Supp 210

60. -To third party

Written expression of insured's intent to change beneficiaries is sufficient to effect change, even though directed to third persons rather than to original beneficiary. Gann v Meek (1948, CA5 Tex) 165 F.2d 857, cert den (1948) 334 US 849, 92 L Ed 1772, 68 S Ct 1500

Letter written by insured to his wife informing her that he had insurance made payable to her is insufficient to change beneficiary without proof that such request was made by him to Veterans Administration. Butler v Butler (1949, CA5 Ga) 177 F.2d 471

Three letters written by insured to his parents stating that he was going to change beneficiary and had named father as substitute beneficiary are insufficient to effect change. Littlefield v Littlefield (1952, CA10 Okla) 194 F.2d 695

Insured's letter to wife, telling her to write to Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] to have herself, rather than mother, made principal beneficiary of NSLI policy is sufficient to effect valid change of beneficiary, even though Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] refused to comply with wife's subsequent request. Egleston v United States (1947, DC Ill) 71 F Supp 114, affd (1948, CA7 Ill) 168 F.2d 67

Letter from insured may constitute affirmative act necessary to effect change of beneficiary where it names recipient of letter as insured's agent to effect such change, but mere statement that insured has changed beneficiary, contained in letter from insured to alleged substitute beneficiary, is insufficient to effect such change. Angle v Baker (1948, DC Tenn) 94 F Supp 386

Suggestion of deceased in letter to his aunt alleged to be "person in loco parentis" to insured, advising that he had left her his insurance, does not constitute change of beneficiary, where insurance was made payable to estate of insured. Bearhart v United States (1949, DC Minn) 82 F Supp 652

Letter from insured to wife stating that he had made her beneficiary of his NSLI policy is insufficient to effectuate change where Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] records contained no request for change and insured's subsequent letters made no mention of insurance. Kell v United States (1952, DC La) 104 F Supp 699, affd (1953, CA5 La) 202 F.2d 143

61. Application for additional insurance

Insured's application for additional insurance is insufficient to constitute affirmative act necessary to change beneficiary of NSLI policy, where insured's original policy was for less than maximum amount and there was no evidence that insured was aware that additional insurance exceeded maximum amount. Bowens v United States (1950, CA5 Ala) 184 F.2d 730

62. Wills

Unmailed letter from insured to Veterans Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] requesting change of beneficiary, even assuming letter constituted valid will, does not operate to change beneficiaries where regulation expressly provides that no change of beneficiary may be made by will. Hester v Hester (1948, CA5 Tex) 171 F.2d 477

Prohibition against change of beneficiary by will is found in regulations, not statute. Woods v United States (1947, DC Ala) 69 F Supp 760
Provision of insured's will designating mother as sole beneficiary, rather than joint beneficiary, is insufficient to effect such change, where applicable regulation prohibits testamentary change of beneficiaries under NSLI policies. Owens v Owens (1947) 305 Ky 460, 204 SW2d 580

V. PAYMENT OF PROCEEDS

63. Generally

Phrase "then in being", as used in predecessor to 38 USCS § 1916, requires that such person be alive, and does not disqualify person who was insured's lawful wife on date of his death, even though she has since remarried. Trathen v United States (1952, CA3 Pa) 198 F.2d 757

Title to proceeds of service insurance is subject to federal control both before and after payment by government. Barton v United States (1948, DC Cal) 75 F Supp 703

64. State community property laws

State community property laws cannot operate to divert proceeds of national service life insurance policy to person not designated by insured as beneficiary of such policy. Wissner v Wissner (1950) 338 US 655, 94 L Ed 424, 70 S Ct 398, reh den (1950) 339 US 926, 94 L Ed 1348, 70 S Ct 619; Barton v United States (1948, DC Cal) 75 F Supp 703

Fact that wife made payments on policy premiums from community property funds does not give her equity in, or right to, proceeds of policy as against designated beneficiary. Heifner v Soderstrom (1955, DC Iowa) 134 F Supp 174

65. Criminal conduct of beneficiary

Although situation is not specifically covered by statute, wife who killed husband other than in self-defense or while insane is not entitled to proceeds of his insurance. Shoemaker v Shoemaker (1959, CA6 Tenn) 263 F.2d 931

Contingent beneficiary, who killed principal beneficiary in fit of anger, may not recover remaining installments due principal beneficiary, even though jury in criminal case acquitted contingent beneficiary of murder. United States v Kwasniewski (1950, DC Mich) 91 F Supp 847

Fact that insured's brother killed mother during period of insanity does not preclude his receipt of balance of benefits upon being adjudicated restored to sanity. Moran v United States Veterans' Administration (1953, DC Mich) 115 F Supp 640

Where person otherwise eligible to take proceeds of NSLI policy causes death of insured, proceeds will be paid as if such person predeceased insured. United States v Foster (1965, ED Mich) 238 F Supp 867

66. Error regarding age of insured

Government is not liable to beneficiary for face amount of policy where insured misrepresented his age when applying for insurance, but must pay only that amount which premiums would have purchased for person of insured's true age. Horsman v United States (1946, DC Mo) 68 F Supp 522

Additional amount of National Service Life Insurance, equal to difference between amount paid and amount which would have been payable if correct age of principal beneficiary had been established during his lifetime, is payable to estate of principal beneficiary who has received installments provided for by his election, based on age younger than actual age and whose correct age is established subsequent to his death. 1955 ADVA 956

Surviving wife is entitled, to exclusion of contingent beneficiaries, to all unpaid installment where insured designated wife and father principal beneficiaries, proceeds "to be divided equally or all to survivor," and father died before all installments had been paid. United States on behalf of Jones v Williams (1955, CA5 La) 220 F.2d 46
Veteran’s Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] regulation providing that all installments accrued but unpaid to deceased principal beneficiary, who is not entitled to lump sum settlement, should be paid to contingent beneficiary rather than principal beneficiary’s estate is consistent with predecessor to 38 USCS § 1916. United States v Short (1956, CA9 Cal) 240 F.2d 292

Insured's sister, designated as contingent beneficiary, rather than child of insured and wife/primary beneficiary, is entitled to payments, where principal beneficiary survived insured, but not long enough to receive any benefits. Washburn v United States (1945, DC Mo) 63 F Supp 224

68. Estate of insured

Absent lump sum settlement, Congress clearly intended that payment be made to insured's estate only when all beneficiaries and contingent beneficiaries die prior to receiving all remaining payments, whether such payments have accrued or not. United States v Short (1956, CA9 Cal) 240 F.2d 292

69. Estate of beneficiary

Unpaid installments under policy which matured prior to August 1, 1946 do not pass to beneficiary's estate, even though right to payment accrued prior to beneficiary's death. United States v Henning (1952) 344 US 66, 97 L Ed 101, 73 S Ct 114, reh den (1952) 344 US 910, 97 L Ed 702, 73 S Ct 327

Estate of deceased beneficiary may not take proceeds of policies issued under National Service Life Insurance Act (predecessor to 38 USCS §§ 1901 et seq.), even though installments matured prior to beneficiary's death. Baument v United States (1952) 344 US 82, 97 L Ed 111, 73 S Ct 122, reh den (1953) 344 US 916, 97 L Ed 706, 73 S Ct 332 and (superseded by statute as stated in Short v United States (1954, DC Cal) 123 F Supp 414)

Executors of deceased beneficiary are not entitled to recovery under policy where beneficiary died after death of insured, but before any part of proceeds was paid to him, and there was no parent, or person standing in loco parentis, widow, child, brother, or sister of insured soldier surviving him the executors of the deceased beneficiary were not entitled to recover anything under the policy. Hurd v United States (1953, DC Wis) 116 F Supp 343

Government may stop payment on checks representing payment of proceeds where checks were received by primary beneficiary prior to his death, but were never cashed, since such amounts represent payments accrued but unpaid at time of beneficiary's death, which do not pass to beneficiary's estate. Wilson v United States (1956, DC Pa) 144 F Supp 851

Stipulation that aunt, uncle, and stepfather, all claiming in loco parentis, were to share proceeds equally is proper as approximation of congressional policy, where government counsel approved stipulation. United States v Hoth (1953, CA9 Wash) 207 F.2d 386

Brothers and sisters are without right to interest in proceeds of national service life insurance where parent of insured is living. Strunk v United States (1948, DC Ky) 80 F Supp 432

Sisters of insured are entitled to remaining installments due natural mother under national insurance policy, where stepfather could not recover, as contingent beneficiary, and natural father could not recover, as parent who last bore relationship. United States v Kwasniewski (1950, DC Mich) 91 F Supp 847

Insured's only surviving sibling is entitled to balance of benefits under insurance contract where mother, principal beneficiary, died after receipt of only part of proceeds, father, named as contingent beneficiary, predeceased principal beneficiary, and insured left neither wife nor children. Moran v United States Veterans' Administration (1953, DC Mich) 115 F Supp 640

Upon death of insured's uncle, who received payments as person standing in loco parentis to insured, neither son nor wife of uncle is eligible to receive remaining payments where neither person could establish relationship of in loco parentis. Seeley v United States (1957, DC NY) 161 F Supp 888

71. Miscellaneous

   Government's notice to widow that unless she filed claim within sixty days it would start making payments to mother, who was designated beneficiary, entitles government to credit in amount of payments made to mother between expiration of 60-day period and date of suit by widow. Hornbaker v United States (1951, DC Pa) 94 F Supp 881

   Government has no obligation to pay proceeds to woman ultimately determined to be insured's lawful widow where government, in good faith, paid proceeds to woman whose marriage to insure was invalid. United States v Wilson (1953, DC Tenn) 112 F Supp 428

   Proceeds of National Service life insurance policy will be treated as originating in community property for purposes of intestate succession, and divided equally among relatives of insured and spouse named as beneficiary, where premiums were paid during marriage of insured and beneficiary and both insured and beneficiary died intestate without issue. Estate of Allie (1958) 50 Cal 2d 794, 329 P2d 903

§ 1917. Insurance maturing on or after August 1, 1946

(a) The insured shall have the right to designate the beneficiary or beneficiaries of insurance maturing on or after August 1, 1946, and shall, subject to regulations, at all times have the right to change the beneficiary or beneficiaries of such insurance without the consent of such beneficiary or beneficiaries.

(b) Insurance maturing on or after August 1, 1946, shall be payable in accordance with the following optional modes of settlement:

   (1) In one sum.

   (2) In equal monthly installments of from thirty-six to two hundred and forty in number, in multiples of twelve.

   (3) In equal monthly installments for one hundred and twenty months certain with such payments continuing during the remaining lifetime of the first beneficiary.

   (4) As a refund life income in monthly installments payable for such period certain as may be required in order that the sum of the installments certain, including a last installment of such reduced amount as may be necessary, shall equal the face value of the contract, less any indebtedness, with such payments continuing throughout the lifetime of the first beneficiary; however, such optional settlement shall not be available in any case in which such settlement would result in payments of installments over a shorter period than one hundred and twenty months.

(c) Except as provided in the second and third sentences of this subsection, unless the insured elects some other mode of settlement, such insurance shall be payable to the designated beneficiary or beneficiaries in thirty-six equal monthly installments. The first beneficiary may elect to receive payment under any option which provides for payment over a longer period of time than the option elected by the insured, or if no option has been elected by the insured, in excess of thirty-six months. In the case of insurance maturing after September 30, 1981, and for which no option has been elected by the insured, the first beneficiary may elect to receive payment in one sum. If the option selected requires payment to any one beneficiary of monthly installments of less than $10, the amount payable to such beneficiary shall be paid in such maximum number of monthly installments as are a multiple of twelve as will provide a monthly installment of not less than $10. If the present value of the amount payable at the time any person initially becomes entitled to payment thereof is not sufficient to pay at least twelve monthly installments of not less than $10 each, such amount shall be payable in one sum. Options (3) and (4) shall not be available if any firm, corporation, legal entity (including the estate of the insured), or trustee is beneficiary.

(d) If the beneficiary of such insurance is entitled to a lump-sum settlement but elects some other mode of settlement and dies before receiving all the benefits due and payable under such mode of settlement, the present value of the remaining unpaid amount shall be payable to the estate of the beneficiary. If no beneficiary is designated by the insured, or if the designated beneficiary does not survive the insured, or if a designated beneficiary not entitled to a lump-sum settlement survives the insured, and dies before receiving all the benefits due and payable, then the commuted value of the remaining unpaid insurance (whether accrued or not) shall be paid in one sum to the estate of the insured. In no event shall there be any payment to the estate of the insured or of the beneficiary of any sums unless it is shown that any sums paid will not escheat.

(e) Under such regulations as the Secretary may promulgate, the cash surrender value of any policy of insurance or the proceeds of an endowment contract which matures by reason of completion of the endowment period may be paid to the insured under option (2) or (4) of this section. All settlements under option (4), however, shall be calculated on the basis of The Annuity Table for 1949. If the option selected requires payment of monthly installments of less than $10, the amount of payable shall be paid in such maximum number of monthly installments as are a multiple of twelve as will provide a monthly installment of not less than $10.

(f) (1) Following the death of the insured and in a case not covered by subsection (d)--
(A) if the first beneficiary otherwise entitled to payment of the insurance does not make a claim for such payment within two years after the death of the insured, payment may be made to another beneficiary designated by the insured, in the order of precedence as designated by the insured, as if the first beneficiary had predeceased the insured; and
(B) if, within four years after the death of the insured, no claim has been filed by a person designated by the insured as a beneficiary and the Secretary has not received any notice in writing that any such claim will be made, payment may (notwithstanding any other provision of law) be made to such person as may in the judgment of the Secretary be equitably entitled thereto.

(2) Payment of insurance under paragraph (1) shall be a bar to recovery by any other person.

3. Relationship with other laws
   Removal of restrictions on permitted class of beneficiaries under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1917 does not apply to payment of benefits under policies which matured by reason of insured’s death prior to August 1, 1946, which continue to be governed by restrictions contained in predecessor to 38 USCS § 1916. Walker v United States (1950, CA7 Ill) 180 F.2d 217
   Intent of Congress, under both War Risk Insurance Act and National Service Life Insurance Act (predecessors to 38 USCS §§ 1901 et seq.), that proceeds of matured policy of veterans’ insurance should be exempt from claims of creditors of insured, was not retracted by 1946 amendment removing restrictions on class of permissible beneficiaries. II. BENEFICIARIES

A. Designation

5. Generally
   Right to designate beneficiary remains with insured at all times and no other person has right to designate beneficiary, even though such other person paid all premiums on policy. United States v Green (1958, DC W Va) 164 F Supp 697
   Under provisions of statute, holder of national service life insurance contract has absolute right to designate beneficiary of his choice and to change beneficiary at any time without that person’s consent. Dutton v United States (1965, ND Ga) 237 F Supp 670; Spaulding v United States (1966, WD Okla) 261 F Supp 232

6. Permissible beneficiaries
   Wife, named as beneficiary, whose divorce from former husband was void, is entitled to recover proceeds of policy, since restriction on beneficiary eligibility does not apply to policies governed by predecessor to 38 USCS § 1917. Wilson v Kyle (1951, CA5 Tex) 186 F.2d 621
   All restrictions as to permissible beneficiaries were removed as to policies maturing after August 1, 1946. Burton v United States (1951, DC La) 95 F Supp 474, revd on other grounds (1955, CA5 La) 220 F.2d 46

7. Acts constituting designation
   Neither insured's designation of wife as beneficiary of $2,000 policy left in force after cancellation of all other policies, nor fact that mother was named beneficiary of canceled policies, operates to designate beneficiary of $8,000 insurance to which Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] determined that insured was entitled, proceeds of which must pass as though insured failed to designate beneficiary. Sights v United States (1950, DC Dist Col) 89 F Supp 235

8. Trusts
Although agreement between insured and beneficiary that beneficiary will hold proceeds of NSLI policy for benefit of another is enforceable, there must be clear evidence of such agreement before court will impose constructive or resulting trust. Henderson v Gifford (1957, Okla) 318 P2d 404

Although trust may be imposed upon proceeds of NSLI policy where insured intended that designated beneficiary hold such proceeds for benefit of another, no such trust arises where insured merely contemplated in will that debts of estate would be paid from proceeds of insurance and never informed beneficiary that he was to hold proceeds in trust. 1. In General

9. Generally

10. Governing law

All questions involving beneficiary changes of National Service Life Insurance policies are to be resolved according to federal law. Dyke v Dyke (1955, CA6 Tenn) 227 F.2d 461, cert den (1956) 352 US 850, 1 L Ed 2d 61, 77 S Ct 70; Fitzstephens v United States (1960, DC Wyo) 189 F Supp 919; Morris v United States (1963, ND Tex) 217 F Supp 220

Whether guardian may change beneficiary of incompetent's NSLI policy is issue governed by state law and state court must decide validity of state court decree ordering such change of beneficiary. Roecker v United States (1967, CA5 Miss) 379 F.2d 400, cert den (1967) 389 US 1005, 19 L Ed 2d 600, 88 S Ct 563

Right to change beneficiary under policy of National Service life insurance is as absolute as right to designate original beneficiary. Bradley v United States (1944, CA10 Okla) 143 F.2d 573, cert den (1944) 323 US 793, 89 L Ed 632, 65 S Ct 429

Beneficiary, in cases involving national service life insurance, who paid all premiums, has no vested right to proceeds, insured having absolute right to change beneficiaries. United States v Green (1958, DC W Va) 164 F Supp 697

Insured's right to change beneficiaries of National Service life insurance policy cannot be defeated by claim that insured unalterably transferred title to his insurance policy by delivery of policy with donative purpose. Tompkins v Tompkins (1944, NJ Super Ct) 132 NJL 217, 38 A2d 890

12. -Guardians

Whether guardian may change beneficiary of incompetent's NSLI policy is issue governed by state law and state court must decide validity of state court decree ordering such change of beneficiary. Roecker v United States (1967, CA5 Miss) 379 F.2d 400, cert den (1967) 389 US 1005, 19 L Ed 2d 600, 88 S Ct 563

Guardian appointed for incompetent insured has power to change beneficiary of NSLI policy upon receiving express authorization from probate court to do so. Murray v United States (1950, DC Mich) 107 F Supp 290, affd (1951, CA6 Mich) 188 F.2d 362, cert den (1951) 342 US 816, 96 L Ed 617, 72 S Ct 30

Original principal beneficiary need not be notified of change by insured's guardian for such change to be effective, and when such change is effected under order of state court, it may be set aside only for fraud. United States v Tighe (1964, SD Miss) 229 F Supp 680

13. Divorce or separation agreements

Property settlement incident to divorce of insured does not, by itself, operate to change beneficiary of NSLI policy absent affirmative action by insured to effect such change. McCollum v Sieben (1954, CA8 Minn) 211 F.2d 708; United States v Donall (1972, CA6 Mich) 466 F.2d 1246; Kaske v Rothert (1955, DC Cal) 133 F Supp 427; Fitzstephens v United States (1960, DC Wyo) 189 F Supp 919

Provision of separation agreement that neither party would have any claim on other party effects relinquishment of divorced wife's interest in proceeds of NSLI policy, even though insured never effected valid change of beneficiary. O'Brien v Elder (1957, CA5 Fla) 250 F.2d 275

Divorce decree providing that former wife waived and relinquished any claim which she might have against husband for payment of support and any claim she has or might have as heir against husband's estate, does not effect change of beneficiary under husband's government life policy designating wife as beneficiary, since wife relinquished claims against husband but not claim against United States as insurer. Taylor v United States (1972, CA9 Or) 459 F.2d 1007, cert den (1972) 409 US 967, 34 L Ed 2d 232, 93 S Ct 273

State divorce decree providing that all rights of either party to proceeds of any life insurance of other party were extinguished does not, by itself, eliminate former wife as beneficiary of insured's NSLI policy. United States v Donall (1972, CA6 Mich) 466 F.2d 1246

Property settlement executed upon divorce, which provided that all life insurance would be property of insured, does not effect change of beneficiary where insured failed to notify Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] of change of beneficiary. Fitzstephens v United States (1960, DC Wyo) 189 F Supp 919

Any order in divorce decree purporting to restrict right of policyholder of NSLI to change beneficiary is void ab initio and may be collaterally attacked in probate court. In re Estate of Pechman (1974, Colo App) 532 P2d 385

38 USCS §§ 717 and 3101 [now 38 USCS §§ 1917 and 5301] clearly preclude enforcement of divorce settlement, whereby insured promised to make former wife irrevocable beneficiary of his NSLI policy, but former wife is not statutorily precluded from recovering equivalent of policy proceeds from assets of insured's estate, where insured failed to designate her as beneficiary as required by terms of separation agreement. Will of Hilton (1976) 88 Misc 2d 760, 388 NYS2d 985
Provisions of 38 USCS §§ 717 and 3101 [now 38 USCS §§ 1917 and 5301] guarantee decedent's absolute right to determine beneficiary of NSLI policy and state court has no jurisdiction to enter judgment requiring irrevocable designation of beneficiary of any part of proceeds, nor to place lien on proceeds. Sessions v Sessions (1974, Okla App) 525 P2d 1269

State court in dissolution decree is without authority under 38 USCS § 717(a) [now 38 USCS § 1917(a)] to limit the right of owner of National Service Life Insurance policy to change beneficiaries. In re Marriage of Baratta (1974) 18 Or App 261, 524 P2d 1233

Community property settlement agreement executed by insured, agreeing to name son as irrevocable beneficiary of NSLI policy and to surrender right to change beneficiary of policy is illegal and unenforceable, and son is neither entitled to proceeds of policy, nor to damages for breach of contract. McJunkin v Estate of McJunkin (1973, Tex Civ App Dallas) 493 SW2d 278

Provision of property settlement between insured and ex-wife, to effect that insured would designate his son as beneficiary of NSLI until son reached majority, constitutes assignment of policy proceeds prohibited by 38 USCS § 3101 [now 38 USCS § 5301] and cannot operate to change beneficiary. Fleming v Smith (1966) 69 Wash 2d 277, 418 P2d 147

Under Supremacy Clause, state divorce decree cannot bar veteran from exercising right under 38 USCS § 1917(a) to change beneficiary of National Service Life Insurance policy and denial of former spouse's claim to proceeds is affirmed. Wolfe v Gober (1997) 11 Vet App 1

14. Effectuation of change

Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] may waive technical requirements for its own protection, but it may not thereby adjudicate question whether valid change of beneficiary has been effected in accordance with prescribed means and method which is legal standard for that purpose. Bradley v United States (1944, CA10 Okla) 143 F.2d 573, cert den (1944) 323 US 793, 89 L Ed 632, 65 S Ct 429

Government may waive compliance with regulations as to change of beneficiary of National Service life insurance, since such regulations are for protection of government. Collins v United States (1947, CA10 Okla) 161 F.2d 64, cert den (1947) 331 US 859, 91 L Ed 1866, 67 S Ct 1756; Mac Farlane v United States (1947, WD La) 161 F.2d 64, cert den (1947) 331 US 859, 91 L Ed 1866, 67 S Ct 1756; Mac Farlane v United States (1979, WD La) 476 F Supp 787

Literal compliance with requirements as to change of beneficiary of National Service life insurance is never necessary to make change effective, and legal technicalities will be brushed aside in order to effectuate intent of insured. Mitchell v United States (1948, CA5 La) 165 F.2d 758, 2 ALR2d 484; Senato v United States (1949, CA2 NY) 173 F.2d 493; Bratcher v United States (1953, CA8 Mo) 205 F.2d 953; Stone v United States (1959, CA5 Ala) 272 F.2d 746; Dutton v United States (1965, ND Ga) 237 F Supp 670; Elmore v United States (1965, ED NC) 240 F Supp 460; Hawkins v United States (1965, ED NY) 245 F Supp 1022

Veteran's manifest intent to change beneficiary, when accompanied by affirmative act of executing official change of beneficiary form, is sufficient to accomplish change of beneficiary even though form was technically incomplete due to failure to include correct policy numbers. Wiley v United States (1968, CA10 Okla) 399 F.2d 844

Literal compliance with regulation which requires that change of beneficiary to be effective must be made by notice in writing signed by insured and forwarded to Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] is not required. Hart v United States (1949, DC NJ) 84 F Supp 912; Joseph v United States (1950, DC Pa) 89 F Supp 144

The controlling feature as to the effectiveness of a change of beneficiary by the insured under a national service life insurance policy is the real intention of the insured with regard to such change as against a failure to comply with all of the formalities for making his purpose effective, since requirements for change of beneficiary are for benefit and protection of United States and can be waived by government. Spaulding v United States (1966, WD Okla) 261 F Supp 232

Literal compliance with government regulations is unnecessary to effect change of beneficiary of NSLI policy, where it is shown that insured intended to make change and took some affirmative action evidencing exercise of right to make change. Watenpaugh v State Teachers' Retirement System (1959) 51 Cal 2d 675, 336 P2d 165
15. -Competency of insured

Insured must be mentally competent to effect valid change of beneficiary of National Service Life Insurance policy. Taylor v Taylor (1954, CA8 Ark) 211 F.2d 794; Roecker v United States (1967, CA5 Miss) 379 F.2d 400, cert den (1967) 389 US 1005, 19 L Ed 2d 600, 88 S Ct 563; Lyle v Bentley (1969, CA5 Tex) 406 F.2d 325 (criticized in Coursey v Pudda (2004, SD Ga) 299 F Supp 2d 1368)

Since determination of insured' mental capacity to effect lawful change of beneficiary is governed by federal law, finding of competency is not precluded by state court order adjudicating insured incompetent. Dyke v Dyke (1955, CA6 Tenn) 227 F.2d 461, cert den (1956) 352 US 850, 1 L Ed 2d 61, 77 S Ct 70

No presumption of incompetency arises from fact that Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] has waived payment of premiums due to veteran's incompetence, but presumption of competency does arise from veteran's having been declared competent by both Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] and state court. Wiley v United States (1968, CA10 Okla) 399 F.2d 844

Standard for determining mental capacity for making beneficiary change under NSLI policy is same as that required for executing valid will, deed, or contract. Morris v United States (1963, ND Tex) 217 F Supp 220

Fact that veteran had long history of alcoholism and had been recommended for hospitalization due to mental incompetency does not invalidate his change of beneficiary, where psychiatrist who had examined veteran in hospital testified that veteran was sane and had testamentary capacity to execute change of beneficiary. Frakes v United States (1964, ND Ga) 228 F Supp 475

Blind man in last stages of terminal brain cancer, who was normally incoherent and disoriented, and who had twice been declared incompetent by physicians, does not meet test of competence to change beneficiary of NSLI policy, where person to be named beneficiary wrote insured's name by guiding his paralyzed hand while he was under extremely heavy dosage of drugs. Henry v United States (1975, DC Dist Col) 396 F Supp 1300

Presumption that original beneficiary remains entitled to proceeds of policy is raised by facts that no written notice of change was received by Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] and no written notice was forwarded to Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] by insured or his agent. Bradley v United States (1944, CA10 Okla) 143 F.2d 573, cert den (1944) 323 US 793, 89 L Ed 632, 65 S Ct 429

It is unnecessary to deliver executed change of beneficiary to Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] during the life of the insured in order to effect valid change of beneficiary. Collins v United States (1947, CA10 Okla) 161 F.2d 64, cert den (1947) 331 US 859, 91 L Ed 1866, 67 S Ct 1756

Insured's statements as to change of beneficiary on government forms included in insured's military records constitutes sufficient notice of change to insurer, although Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] never received notice on forms provided for that purpose. McKewen v McKewen (1948, CA5 Miss) 165 F.2d 761, cert den (1948) 334 US 860, 92 L Ed 1780, 68 S Ct 1530

Change of beneficiary of NSLI policy, if actually within insured's intention and evidenced by affirmative act of character required by statute, is effective to make change even though notice to Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] did not occur until after death of insured. Egleston v United States (1947, DC Ill) 71 F Supp 114, affd (1948, CA7 Ill) 168 F.2d 67

Fact that form on which insured directed Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] to change beneficiary was lost does not preclude effectiveness of change, where all other evidence indicates that insured intended to make change, actually executed lost forms, and believed that he had made change. Joseph v United States (1950, DC Pa) 89 F Supp 144; Zabor v United States (1952, DC NY) 113 F Supp 287, affd (1954, CA2 NY) 212
Copy of terms of written trust, under which insured changed beneficiary of government insurance policies, constitutes notice of change when received by Veterans’ Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs], rendering insured’s failure to sign change of beneficiary form harmless. Gerstenlauer v United States (1952, DC NY) 108 F Supp 654

Fact that insured’s service records contained no information on change of beneficiary does not invalidate insured’s efforts to effect such change, where insured frequently spoke of having changed beneficiary from girlfriend to father and father had received notice of beneficiary change from Veterans Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs]. Lindsey v United States (1954, DC Tenn) 121 F Supp 1

Loss of 2 change of beneficiary forms seeking to effect change of beneficiary from mother to wife does not preclude effectiveness of such change, where insured orally informed members of his crew that wife had been made beneficiary and Adjutant General’s "Report of Death" showed insured's wife as beneficiary. Wilkins v United States (1955, DC Pa) 134 F Supp 408

Effective change of beneficiary of NSLI policy is accomplished by execution of proper change of beneficiary form, although insured delivered form to third person, advised third person to retain form with his valuable papers and send form to Veterans’ Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] if anything happened to insured. Elmore v United States (1965, ED NC) 240 F Supp 460

No change of beneficiary is effected where completed forms for such change were left in insured's desk until after his death, having been placed in stamped envelope and addressed to Veterans’ Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs], since insured's retention of forms indicates that he had not formed definite intention to make change. Berk v United States (1969, ED NY) 294 F Supp 578

Change of beneficiaries from insured's daughter and sister to insured's second wife is not effected by properly executed change of beneficiary form, where form was kept in insured's strongbox, together with his will in which he left all estate to second wife. Tierney v United States (1970, DC Mass) 315 F Supp 1073

17. Intent of insured

Insured's intent to change beneficiary of National Service life insurance policy must be followed by some affirmative act on part of insured evidencing his exercise of right to change beneficiary. Collins v United States (1947, CA10 Okla) 161 F.2d 64, cert den (1947) 331 US 859, 91 L Ed 1866, 67 S Ct 1756; Gann v Meek (1948, CA5 Tex) 165 F.2d 857, cert den (1948) 334 US 849, 92 L Ed 1772, 68 S Ct 1500; Stone v United States (1959, CA5 Ala) 272 F.2d 746; Benard v United States (1966, CA8 Mo) 368 F.2d 897; Dutton v United States (1965, ND Ga) 237 F Supp 670

To give effect to intent of insured to change beneficiary of National Service life insurance policy, claimant must show that insured did everything reasonably within his power to accomplish such change. Shapiro v United States (1948, CA2 NY) 166 F.2d 240, cert den (1948) 334 US 859, 92 L Ed 1779, 68 S Ct 1533; Kell v United States (1953, CA5 La) 202 F.2d 143; Smith v United States (1970, CA5 Ga) 421 F.2d 634, 13 ALR Fed 1; Fitzstephens v United States (1960, DC Wyo) 189 F Supp 919

Insured's remarriage after divorce from woman designated as original beneficiary does not, without affirmative act evidencing his intent, operate to change beneficiary to new wife. McCollum v Sieben (1954, CA8 Minn) 211 F.2d 708

To effectively make change insured need only to form intention to do so and do some affirmative act to effectuate his purpose, and circumstantial evidence will show his intention. Hartman v United States (1948, DC Mo) 78 F Supp 227

Intention and desire of insured soldier will be given effect by court if change of beneficiary has been clearly expressed, and his intention and desire is established. Flood v United States (1948, DC NJ) 78 F Supp 420, affd (1949, CA3 NJ) 172 F.2d 221
Attempts to change beneficiaries are liberally construed to effectuate insured's intent, controlling factors being (1) evidence of real intention of insured to change beneficiary, and (2) some overt act done to effectuate that intent. Mac Farlane v United States (1979, WD La) 476 F Supp 787

Where there are competing parties seeking beneficiary status under national service life insurance policies and purported change of beneficiary under 38 USC § 1917(a), clearly proven intent to change beneficiary may be supported with less proof of overt action, and equivocal proof of intent must be supported with more proof of overt action. Fagan v West (1999) 13 Vet App 48, 1999 US App Vet Claims LEXIS 1033

18. Policies affected by change of beneficiary

Change of beneficiary form is effective to change beneficiary only of NSLI policies listed on such form, and insured's inclusion of word "all" opposite name of substitute beneficiary in space for amount such beneficiary was to receive, if more than 1 beneficiary was specified, does not operate to designate such person as beneficiary of policy not included on form. Cooper v United States (1965, CA6 Tenn) 340 F.2d 845

19. Validity of change of beneficiary

Allegation that beneficiary change was result of undue influence asserted by new beneficiary is not sufficiently supported by evidence merely establishing opportunity to exert undue influence, in absence of evidence concerning events leading up to and surrounding execution of change of beneficiary forms. Lyle v Bentlely (1969, CA5 Tex) 406 F.2d 325 (criticized in Coursey v Pudda (2004, SD Ga) 299 F Supp 2d 1368)

Insured's motive in changing beneficiary of NSLI policy is irrelevant to effectiveness of change, and execution of proper form to change beneficiary is effective to make such change, even though form included comments by insured that change of beneficiary was to "take care of unpaid debts." Stafford v United States (1955, DC La) 128 F Supp 435

Wife's desire to be named beneficiary of insured's service policy, manifested by frequent urging that insured effect change of beneficiary form, does not amount to undue influence rendering change ineffective in absence of evidence that her methods went beyond those that would be used by any wife desiring to be beneficiary of her husband's policy. United States v Cruze (1970, ED Tenn) 328 F Supp 159

20. -Determinations

District Court will not disturb determination of Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] as to validity of change of beneficiary if determination is supported by substantial evidence. Hawkins v United States (1965, ED NY) 245 F Supp 1022

Adjudication of Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] as to whether insured took necessary steps to make effective change of beneficiary under NSLI policy should be given substantial weight. Owens v United States (1966, DC SC) 251 F Supp 114

2. Affirmative Action Effecting Change

21. Generally

While writing is minimum requisite to beneficiary change under NSLI policy, form of writing is immaterial and insured's execution of Legal Assistance Record is sufficient affirmative act to change beneficiary of policy. Moths v United States (1950, CA7 Ind) 179 F.2d 824

Writing executed by insured, expressing desire to change beneficiary of NSLI policy, is minimum requirement for effectuating such change. Ward v United States (1966, CA7 Ind) 371 F.2d 108

Required affirmative act is any act in writing which insured reasonably believed was sufficient to effect change of beneficiary, and may consist of insured's application for waiver of premiums. Moore v United States (1955, DC Cal) 129 F Supp 456

Insured's execution of Confidential Data Sheet does not effect change of beneficiary of NSLI policy, since such statement, by itself, merely indicates insured's intent to change beneficiary, but does not constitute affirmative action to consummate change. Bradley v United States (1944, CA10 Okla) 143 F.2d 573, cert den (1944) 323 US 793, 89 L Ed 632, 65 S Ct 429; Parker v United States (1954, DC Colo) 125 F Supp 731

Insured's naming of his wife as beneficiary on government insurance report form prepared during processing for overseas service can be considered such affirmative act as to evidence exercise of his right to change beneficiary where it is accompanied by testimony of brother officer and letter from insured to his wife to effect that he had changed beneficiary of his insurance from his mother to his wife. Mitchell v United States (1948, CA5 La) 165 F.2d 758, 2 ALR2d 484

Record of Emergency Data form signed by insured and designating different beneficiary than contained in NSLI policy is sufficient to effect valid change of beneficiary, even though form was not meant to be used for NSLI policies, where insured had reasonable belief that such designation would effect change. Shapiro v United States (1948, CA2 NY) 166 F.2d 240, cert den (1948) 334 US 859, 92 L Ed 1779, 68 S Ct 1533; Pope v Smalley (1956, CA6 Ky) 229 F.2d 349; Hawkins v Hawkins (1959, CA5 Fla) 271 F.2d 870; Bew v United States (1961, CA4 Va) 286 F.2d 570; Lovato v United States (1961, CA10 NM) 295 F.2d 78; Behrens v United States (1962, CA9 Cal) 299 F.2d 662; Ward v United States (1966, CA7 Ind) 371 F.2d 108; Smith v United States (1970, CA5 Ga) 421 F.2d 634, 13 ALR Fed 1; Walker v United States (1974, CA4 NC) 493 F.2d 700; United States v Williams (1956, DC W Va) 145 F Supp 308, affd (1957, CA4 W Va) 243 F.2d 573; Dutton v United States (1965, ND Ga) 237 F Supp 670; Phillips v United States (1965, SD Ala) 238 F Supp 59; Spaulding v United States (1966, WD Okla) 261 F Supp 232

Insured's execution of Legal Assistance Record stating that wife was beneficiary of his NSLI policy is sufficient to effect change of beneficiary from father to wife, where insured also left will bequeathing all property to wife and sent both will and Legal Assistance Record to wife, along with letter indicating that wife was now beneficiary. Moths v United States (1950, CA7 Ind) 179 F.2d 824

Confidential Statement executed by insured and filed with headquarters squadron, declaring that wife was beneficiary of NSLI policy, effects valid change of beneficiary from mother to wife, even though insured made oral statements to sister and brother that he was leaving insurance in mother's name. Gulley v Gulley (1956, CA9 Nev) 231 F.2d 5

Insured's execution of document, which was normally used in insured's company to obtain information for Marines unable to execute more formal document, stating that mother was beneficiary of his NSLI policy, is sufficient to effect change from aunt to mother. Shack v United States (1956, CA5 Ga) 234 F.2d 934

Insured's execution of Oath And Certificate Of Enlistment upon re-enlisting in service, declaring that he was divorced and childless, is insufficient to change beneficiary of his reinstated NSLI policy from wife to mother, where insured subsequently executed Record of Emergency Data designating sons as persons to receive his gratuity pay, discontinued allotment to mother, and executed allotment for support of children, even though insured also subsequently informed mother that she was beneficiary under policy. Blair v United States (1958, CA10 Okla) 260 F.2d 237

Insured's execution of Record of Emergency Data, designating sister as beneficiary of 6 months' gratuity and serviceman's indemnity, is insufficient to effect change of beneficiary under NSLI policy, even though insured had NSLI policy rather than serviceman's indemnity, where form expressly stated that designation did not operate as change of beneficiary of any insurance contract issued by United States and insured was stationed at established base with nothing to prevent his changing beneficiary by obtaining proper form. Ferguson v Knight (1959, CA5 Tex) 264 F.2d 176
Insured's execution of Air Force Personal Affairs Statement listing wife as beneficiary of NSLI policy, accompanied by evidence that insured physically delivered policy from original beneficiary to wife, in presence of original beneficiary, is sufficient to support jury verdict that insured effected valid change of beneficiary. Wall v Haas (1960, CA5 Ga) 283 F.2d 656

Insured's execution of Record of Emergency Data is insufficient to operate as change of beneficiary under NSLI policy where insured wrote "none" in space provided for listing insurance policies, including NSLI policies. Benard v United States (1966, CA8 Mo) 368 F.2d 897; Baker v United States (1967, CA5 Ga) 386 F.2d 356; Geis v United States (1968, CA9 Wash) 404 F.2d 154; Jones v United States (1971, MD Tenn) 331 F Supp 114

Insured's execution of Record of Emergency Data is insufficient to operate as change of beneficiary under NSLI policy, where insured listed policy on form, but left blank space in which he might have listed beneficiary of insurance. Wells v Ruiz (1967, CA10 NM) 372 F.2d 119; Collins v Collins (1967, CA4 NC) 378 F.2d 1020; Wilmot v United States (1969, DC Dist Col) 297 F Supp 1076, affd (1970, App DC) 139 US App DC 277, 432 F.2d 1339

Insured's execution of form provided by finance office constitutes affirmative act sufficient to effect change of beneficiary of his insurance policy to person designated on such form. Citron v United States (1947, DC Dist Col) 69 F Supp 830, affd (1948, App DC) 83 US App DC 346, 169 F.2d 885

Insured's execution of Officer's Personal Questionnaire and Personal Affairs Statement, stating on both forms that wife was beneficiary of NSLI policy, rather than father named as designated beneficiary, when accompanied by evidence that insured also executed power of attorney appointing wife attorney in fact and 2 wills making her sole distributee of estate, is sufficient to effect valid change of beneficiary. Hart v United States (1949, DC NJ) 84 F Supp 912

Insured's execution of Air Force Personal Affairs Statement, listing wife as recipient of allotment and as beneficiary of NSLI policy, is sufficient to effect change of beneficiary from mother to wife, where such statement was among many forms executed by insured naming wife as beneficiary, all of which had been executed subsequent to insured's designation of mother as original beneficiary, although none were correct form for changing beneficiary. United States v Smith (1958, DC NY) 159 F Supp 741

Parenthetical advice on form that stated form did not operate as a designation or change of beneficiary of any insurance contracts issued by the United States government did not bar acceptance of the form as a change in beneficiary for such insurance if it was the intent of the person completing it to make such a change. Phillips v United States (1965, SD Ala) 238 F Supp 59

Insured's execution of form entitled "Designation or Change of Beneficiary-Servicemen's Indemnity" operates to effect change of beneficiary of insured's NSLI policy, where insured had no serviceman's indemnity due to fact that NSLI policy was in force under premium waiver and evidence indicated his intent to provide for person designated as beneficiary on such form. Owens v United States (1966, DC SC) 251 F Supp 114

Insured's execution of Record of Emergency Data form is effective to change beneficiary of his NSLI policy where insured indicated on form that type of designation was change, such change could only have referred to NSLI policy, and person designated as beneficiary on form was also designated as recipient of insured's personal effects and allotments of pay. McFarland v United States (1972, SD Cal) 351 F Supp 394

Literal compliance with requirement that insured may make change of beneficiary by forwarding completed change of beneficiary form to Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] is not necessary since it is principally designed for protection of US Government. MacFarlane v United States (1979, WD La) 476 F Supp 787

Written expression of insured's intent or desire to change beneficiaries, directed to original beneficiary, is sufficient to effect change. Lincoln Bank & Trust Co. v United States (1947, DC Ky) 71 F Supp 745

24. -To government agency

Insured's letter to Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] seeking to change beneficiaries of war risk insurance policy given to his brother with instructions to place it in safe deposit box with policies, does not effect change in beneficiaries. Hester v Hester (1948, CA5 Tex) 171 F.2d 477

To effect change of beneficiary of policy of national service life insurance, signed letters or memorandum containing sufficient information sent to Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] by veteran or his agent are sufficient. Walker v United States (1947, DC Tex) 70 F Supp 422; Orschein v United States (1949, DC Mo) 85 F Supp 210

Valid change of beneficiary under NSLI policy is shown by evidence that insured inquired of local Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] office whether he could change beneficiary, that upon receiving affirmative answer, insured directed wife to write and sign his name to letter to Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] requesting such beneficiary change, that insured read letter prior to its being mailed, and that Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] informed insured that no further action was necessary. Wagner v United States (1957, DC Ind) 153 F Supp 193

Insured's letter to Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs], in his own handwriting, enclosing policy premium and requesting beneficiary change from brother to wife is sufficient to effect change, even though letter referred to wrong policy number and illegibility of handwriting made it impossible for Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] to determine which policies and parties were involved. Picken v United States (1961, ED Wash) 194 F Supp 696

Evidence supported Board's finding that veteran actually signed and mailed letter to VA indicating desire to change beneficiary from his first wife to administrator of his estate, even though VA had no record of ever receiving change of beneficiary letter, since carbon copy of letter was produced and handwriting identified as veteran's, and change was consistent with veteran's separation agreement, divorce decree, and will. Young v Derwinski (1992) 2 Vet App 59

Written expression of insured's intent to change beneficiaries is sufficient to effect change, even though directed to third persons rather than to original beneficiary. Gann v Meek (1948, CA5 Tex) 165 F.2d 857, cert den (1948) 334 US 849, 92 L Ed 1772, 68 S Ct 1500

Letter written by insured to his wife informing her that he had insurance made payable to her is insufficient to change beneficiary without proof that such request was made by him to Veterans Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs]. Butler v Butler (1949, CA5 Ga) 177 F.2d 471

Three letters written by insured to his parents stating that he was going to change beneficiary and had named father as substitute beneficiary are insufficient to establish change. Littlefield v Littlefield (1952, CA10 Okla) 194 F.2d 695

Insured's letter to wife, stating that he wished her to contact Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] and have herself listed as beneficiary, is sufficient to effect change where insured had done all he could reasonably have done, under particular circumstances, to have beneficiary changed. Egleston v United States (1947, DC Ill) 71 F Supp 114, affd (1948, CA7 Ill) 168 F.2d 67

Change of beneficiary is accomplished by letter from insured to wife, stating "you have the papers to prove your identity and privilege to collect my insurance $10,000 and gratuity pay." Joseph v United States (1950, DC Pa) 89 F Supp 144
Letter written by insured to his wife stating that he had changed beneficiary from his sister to his wife is insufficient to effect change of beneficiary, where testimony as to his oral statements was in conflict. Kell v United States (1952, DC La) 104 F Supp 699, affd (1953, CA5 La) 202 F.2d 143

Insured's letter to sister, stating that she would receive 1/3 of policy proceeds, is insufficient to effect change, although it was admitted to probate under state law as holographic will. Lane v United States (1953, DC SC) 116 F Supp 606

26. Applications

Insured's application for renewal of NSLI policy naming brother as beneficiary does not constitute affirmative act to change beneficiary of prior policy from aunt to brother, where renewal application stated that renewal would be effective as of day following expiration of preceding term and insured's death occurred prior to expiration of preceding term. Willis v United States (1961, CA7 Ill) 291 F.2d 5

27. For additional insurance

Insured's application for additional $9,000 insurance in favor of his mother does not operate to change beneficiary of outstanding $4,000 policy in favor of insured's wife. Bowens v United States (1950, CA5 Ala) 184 F.2d 730

Affirmative act required for change of beneficiary of NSLI policy may consist of insured's application for additional insurance, naming different beneficiaries than in original application, made at time insured carries maximum insurance. Bratcher v United States (1953, CA8 Mo) 205 F.2d 953

Insured's application for 20-year endowment policy listing sister as beneficiary does not constitute affirmative act required to substitute sister as beneficiary of 2 NSLI policies for maximum amount of insurance, where insured was under erroneous impression that he could retain original policies and acquire new 20-year endowment policy. Dupree v United States (1954, DC Ga) 125 F Supp 122

Insured's designation of wife as beneficiary in application for additional policy in amount of $10,000, issued in reduced amount of $8,000 due to outstanding policy for $2,000 with mother as beneficiary, does not operate to make wife beneficiary of original $2,000 policy. Hayes v United States (1955, DC W Va) 133 F Supp 450

Insured's application for additional insurance, naming different beneficiary than designated on original policy, does not constitute affirmative act needed to change beneficiary of original policy, even though insured had typed word "all" in column on new application for amount of insurance to be paid to each beneficiary, where insured indicated on new application that original policy was still in existence. Bagley v United States (1960, ED Wis) 189 F Supp 5

28. Power of attorney

Insured's execution of general power of attorney authorizing wife to pay premiums on, modify, or execute any rights, privileges, or options on any contract of life insurance owned by insured is insufficient to operate as change of beneficiary from mother to wife, where NSLI policy was not expressly mentioned in power of attorney. Wells v Ruiz (1967, CA10 NM) 372 F.2d 119

Power of attorney executed by insured who is now missing in action granting authority to wife to modify options vests authority in wife as agent to accomplish valid change of optional settlement from option 4 to option one, lump-sum payment. VA GCO 19-75

29. Wills

Insured's letter to his sister, which was admitted to probate as holographic will, cannot operate to effect valid change of beneficiary of NSLI policy, since beneficiary change cannot be made by will. Lane v United States (1953, DC SC) 116 F Supp 606

Insured's execution of will in which he designated his mother as beneficiary, after having named wife as original beneficiary, does not operate to effect change of beneficiary, since insured had done nothing toward complying with regulations governing such changes. Owens v Owens (1947) 305 Ky 460, 204 SW2d 580

30. Miscellaneous

Proof that insured, on day of his marriage, told wife he intended to make her beneficiary of National Service life insurance in place of his mother, that he filled out War Department insurance report naming wife as beneficiary, that he made statements to fellow officer that he had made wife beneficiary, and that he had written letter to wife inquiring whether she had got insurance papers is sufficient to establish change of beneficiary. Mitchell v United States (1948, CA5 La) 165 F.2d 758, 2 ALR2d 484

Valid change of beneficiary from mother to wife is shown by evidence that insured brought piece of paper containing names of wife and mother to company clerk, stating that he decided to have them designated beneficiaries of NSLI policy, although formal change of beneficiary form was not prepared by clerk in time to get insured's signature prior to death. Criscuolo v United States (1956, CA7 Ill) 239 F.2d 280

Insured's request to proper military officer to have change of beneficiary form sent to Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs], and his statement to wife that such change had been made are sufficient affirmative acts to make change effective, although request form was never received by Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs]. Patterson v United States (1967, DC Mass) 269 F Supp 890

Serviceman's affirmative action is sufficient to change beneficiary of national service policy from mother to wife where serviceman stated on three occasions that wife would be beneficiary, executed Record of Emergency Data designating wife as person to be notified in case of death, as principal beneficiary for Serviceman's Indemnity, and as person to receive allotment of pay, and servicemen subsequently designated wife as primary beneficiary for retirement benefits. McFarland v United States (1972, SD Cal) 351 F Supp 394

III. PAYMENT OF PROCEEDS

31. Generally

There is no vested right to the proceeds of an insurance policy by a named beneficiary until death matures the policy. United States v Tighe (1964, SD Miss) 229 F Supp 680

32. Relationship with state laws

State community property laws cannot operate to divert proceeds of national service life insurance policy to person not designated by insured as beneficiary of such policy. Wissner v Wissner (1950) 338 US 655, 94 L Ed 424, 70 S Ct 398, reh den (1950) 339 US 926, 94 L Ed 1348, 70 S Ct 619; Barton v United States (1948, DC Cal) 75 F Supp 703

State statute providing that divorce decree shall determine rights of wife in insurance policy and that policy shall become payable to estate of husband unless otherwise ordered in decree does not apply to payment of proceeds from NSLI policy. United States v Donall (1972, CA6 Mich) 466 F.2d 1246

Although there is no statutory provision for nonpayment of proceeds when designated beneficiary kills insured, public policy intervenes to prevent that result unless beneficiary was insane or killing was in self defense; consequently widow, designated beneficiary, who killed her insured husband, will not receive payment. Shoemaker v Shoemaker (1959, CA6 Tenn) 263 F.2d 931

Widow who caused death of the insured is not entitled to proceeds of insurance policy as named beneficiary, or as sole legatee under will of the deceased; determination of beneficiary is to be made under local law as if the named beneficiary had predeceased the insured. United States v Foster (1965, ED Mich) 238 F Supp 867
34. Payment to co-beneficiaries

Under national service life insurance policy with insured's mother and minor daughter as co-principal beneficiaries in equal shares with right of survivorship, and his father as contingent beneficiary, upon the deaths of insured and mother, the surviving co-principal beneficiary was entitled to entire benefits of policy, and father was not entitled either individually or as administrator of wife's estate to benefits of policy. Smith v United States (1964, WD Ark) 226 F Supp 656

35. Payment to contingent beneficiary

Survivorship clause of war risk insurance policy means that if either of co-principal beneficiaries fails to qualify, entire remaining unpaid proceeds must be paid to survivor; thus, contingent beneficiary may take balance only upon death of surviving co-principal beneficiary. United States on behalf of Jones v Williams (1955, CA5 La) 220 F.2d 46

36. Miscellaneous

Veterans Administration Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] is not required to make payments under policy designating insured's father as principal beneficiary and brother as contingent beneficiary, where father predeceased insured and brother thereafter died intestate without next of kin or heirs and without having applied for proceeds payable under policy so that if paid to brother's estate, sum would escheat. Burke v United States (1972, CA8 Ark) 459 F.2d 1017

Government was entitled to recover amount paid beneficiary under policy where due to mistake in serial number army continued payments to administration though same were not deducted from pay of deceased. United States v Jones (1951, DC W Va) 101 F Supp 128

Proceeds of National Service life insurance policy will be treated as originating in community property for purposes of intestate succession, and divided equally among relatives of insured and of spouse named as beneficiary, where premiums were paid during marriage term and both insured and beneficiary died intestate without issue. Estate of Allie (1958) 50 Cal 2d 794, 329 P2d 903

(a) Assignments of all or any part of the beneficiary's interest may be made by a designated beneficiary to a widow, widower, child, father, mother, grandfather, grandmother, brother, or sister of the insured, when the designated contingent beneficiary, if any, joins the beneficiary in the assignment, and if the assignment is delivered to the Secretary before any payments of the insurance shall have been made to the beneficiary. However, an interest in an annuity, when assigned, shall be payable in equal monthly installments in such multiple of twelve as most nearly equals the number of installments certain under such annuity, or in two hundred and forty installments, whichever is the lesser. The provisions of this subsection shall not be applicable to insurance maturing after July 26, 1962.

(b) Except as to insurance granted under the provisions of section 1922(b) of this title [38 USCS § 1922(b)], any person to whom insurance maturing after July 26, 1962, is payable may assign all or any portion of such person's interest in such insurance to a widow, widower, child, father, mother, grandfather, grandmother, brother, or sister of the insured when the designated contingent beneficiary, if any, joins the beneficiary in the assignment. Such joinder shall not be required in any case in which the insurance proceeds are payable in a lump sum.

§ 1920. National Service Life Insurance Fund

(a) The National Service Life Insurance Fund heretofore created in the Treasury is continued as a permanent trust fund. Except as otherwise provided in this chapter [38 USCS §§ 1901 et seq.] all premiums paid on account of National Service Life Insurance shall be deposited and covered into the Treasury to the credit of such fund, which, together with interest earned thereon, shall be available for the payment of liabilities under such insurance, including payment of dividends and refunds of unearned premiums, and for the reimbursement of administrative costs under subsection (c). Payments from this fund shall be made upon and in accordance with awards by the Secretary.

(b) The Secretary is authorized to set aside out of such fund such reserve amounts as may be required under accepted actuarial principles to meet all liabilities under such insurance; and the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to invest and reinvest such fund, or any part thereof, in interest-bearing obligations of the United States or in obligations guaranteed as to principal and interest by the United States, and to sell such obligations for the purposes of such fund.

(c) (1) For each fiscal year for which this subsection is in effect, the Secretary shall, from the National Service Life Insurance Fund, reimburse the "General operating expenses" account of the Department for the amount of administrative costs determined under paragraph (2) for that fiscal year. Such reimbursement shall be made from any surplus earnings for that fiscal year that are available for dividends on such insurance after claims have been paid and actuarially determined reserves have been set aside. However, if the amount of such administrative costs exceeds the amount of such surplus earnings, such reimbursement shall be made only to the extent of such surplus earnings.

(2) The Secretary shall determine the administrative costs to the Department for a fiscal year for which this subsection is in effect which, in the judgment of the Secretary, are properly allocable to the provision of National Service Life Insurance (and to the provision of any total disability income insurance added to the provision of such insurance).

(3) This subsection shall be in effect only with respect to fiscal year 1996.

§ 1921. Extra hazard costs

(a) The United States shall bear the excess mortality cost and the cost of waiver of premiums on account of total disability traceable to the extra hazard of military or naval service, as such hazard may be determined by the Secretary.

(b) Whenever benefits under insurance become payable because of the death of the insured as the result of disease or injury traceable to the extra hazard of military or naval service, as such hazard may be determined by the Secretary, the liability for payment of such benefits shall be borne by the United States in an amount which, when added to the reserve of the policy at the time of death of the insured will equal the then value of such benefits under such policy. Where life contingencies are involved in the calculation of the value of such benefits of insurance heretofore or hereafter matured, the calculation of such liability or liabilities shall be based upon such mortality table or tables as the Secretary may prescribe with interest at the rate of 3 per centum per annum. The Secretary shall transfer from time to time the National Service Life Insurance appropriation to the National Service Life Insurance Fund such sums as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this section.

(c) Whenever the premiums under insurance are waived because of the total disability of the insured as the result of disease or injury traceable to the extra hazard of military or naval service, as such hazard may be determined by the Secretary, the premiums so waived shall be paid by the United States and the Secretary shall transfer from time to time an amount equal to the amount of such premiums from the National Service Life Insurance appropriation to the National Service Life Insurance Fund.

(d) Whenever benefits under the total disability income provision become, or have become, payable because of total disability of the insured as a result of disease or injury traceable to the extra hazard of the military or naval service, as such hazard may be determined by the Secretary, the liability shall be borne by the United States and the Secretary shall transfer from time to time the National Service Life Insurance Fund any amounts which become, or have become, payable to the insured on account of such total disability. Whenever benefits under the total disability income provision become, or have become, payable because of total disability of the insured, the Secretary shall transfer from time to time any amounts which become, or have become, payable to the insured on account of such total disability, and to transfer the National Service Life Insurance Fund the amount of the reserve held on account of the total disability benefit. When a person receiving such payments on account of total disability recovers from such disability, and is then entitled to continue protection under the total disability income provision, the Secretary shall transfer to the National Service Life Insurance Fund a sum sufficient to set up the then required reserve on such total disability benefit.

(e) Any disability for which a waiver was required as a condition to tendering a person a commission under Public Law 816, Seventy-seventh Congress, shall be deemed to be a disability resulting from an injury or disease traceable to the extra hazard of military or naval service for the purpose of applying this section.

1. Generally

Predecessor to 38 USCS § 1921 does not create rights to payment on policy which is lapsed, nor does it enlarge right to payment on lapsed policy beyond that allowed by predecessor to 38 USCS § 1912. 2. Training duty

Members of National Guard of United States who are ordered for training duty and who die or incur disability while on such training duty come within provisions of predecessor to 38 USCS § 1901 since such provision does not require that death or disability be incurred while in active service; thus, determination whether death or disability is traceable to extra hazard of military or naval service is proper in such cases. 1954 ADVA 946

§ 1922. Service disabled veterans' insurance

(a) Any person who is released from active military, naval, or air service, under other than dishonorable conditions on or after April 25, 1951, and is found by the Secretary to be suffering from a disability or disabilities for which compensation would be payable if 10 per centum or more in degree and except for which such person would be insurable according to the standards of good health established by the Secretary, shall, upon application in writing made within two years from the date service-connection of such disability is determined by the Secretary and payment of premiums as provided in this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1901 et seq.], be granted insurance by the United States against the death of such person occurring while such insurance is in force. If such a person is shown by evidence satisfactory to the Secretary to have been mentally incompetent during any part of the two-year period, application for insurance under this section may be filed within two years after a guardian is appointed or within two years after the removal of such disability as determined by the Secretary, whichever is the earlier date. If the guardian was appointed or the removal of the disability occurred before January 1, 1959, application for insurance under this section may be made within two years after that date. Insurance granted under this section shall be issued upon the same terms and conditions as are contained in the standard policies of National Service Life Insurance except (1) the premium rates for such insurance shall be based on the Commissioners 1941 Standard Ordinary Table of Mortality and interest at the rate of 21/4 per centum per annum; (2) all cash, loan, paid-up, and extended values shall be based upon the Commissioners 1941 Standard Ordinary Table of Mortality and interest at the rate of 21/4 per centum per annum; (3) all settlements on policies involving annuities shall be calculated on the basis of The Annuity Table for 1949, and interest at the rate of 21/4 per centum per annum; (4) insurance granted under this section shall be on a nonparticipating basis and all premiums and other collections therefor shall be credited directly to a revolving fund in the Treasury of the United States, and any payments on such insurance shall be made directly from such fund. Appropriations to such fund are hereby authorized. As to insurance issued under this section, waiver of premiums pursuant to section 602(n) of the National Service Life Insurance Act of 1940 and section 1912 of this title [38 USCS § 1912] shall not be denied on the ground that the service-connected disability became total before the effective date of such insurance.

(b) (1) Any person who, on or after April 25, 1951, was otherwise qualified for insurance under the provisions of section 620 of the National Service Life Insurance Act of 1940, or under subsection (a) of this section, but who did not apply for such insurance and who is shown by evidence satisfactory to the Secretary (A) to have been mentally incompetent from a service-connected disability, (i) at the time of release from active service, or (ii) during any part of the two-year period from the date the service connection of a disability is first determined by the Secretary, or (iii) after release from active service but is not rated service-connected disabled by the Secretary until after death; and (B) to have remained continuously so mentally incompetent until date of death; and (C) to have died before the appointment of a guardian, or within two years after the appointment of a guardian; shall be deemed to have applied for and to have been granted such insurance, as of the date of death, in an amount which, together with any other United States Government or National Service life insurance in force, shall aggregate $10,000. The date to be used for determining whether such person was insurable according to the standards of good health established by the Secretary, except for the service-connected disability, shall be the date of release from active service or the date the person became mentally incompetent, whichever is the later.

(2) Payments of insurance granted under subsection (b)(1) of this section shall be made only to the following beneficiaries and in the order named--

   (A) to the widow or widower of the insured, if living and while unremarried;
   (B) if no widow or widower entitled thereto, to the child or children of the insured, if living, in equal shares;
   (C) if no widow or widower or child entitled thereto, to the parent or parents of the insured who last bore that relationship, if living, in equal shares.

(3) No application for insurance payments under this subsection shall be valid unless filed with the Secretary within two years after the date of death of the insured or before January 1, 1961, whichever is the later, and the relationship of the applicant shall be proved as of the date of death of the insured by evidence satisfactory to the Secretary. Persons shown by evidence satisfactory to the Secretary to have been mentally or legally incompetent at the time the right to apply for death benefits expires, may make such application at any time within one year after the removal of such disability.

(4) Notwithstanding section 1917 of this title [38 USCS § 1917], insurance under this subsection shall be payable to the beneficiary determined under paragraph (2) of this subsection in a lump sum.

(c) The premium rate of any term insurance issued under this section shall not exceed the renewal age 70 premium rate.

1. Generally

Upon lapse or cash surrender of insurance issued pursuant to 38 USCS § 722 [now 38 USCS § 1922], reinstatement of previously lapsed policies issued under 38 USCS § 723 [now 38 USCS § 1923] is proper, so long as all requirements for reinstatement are met within 5-year term period. 1959 ADVA 966

2. Constitutionality

Most obvious justification for either one- or two-year limitation would be to bring veterans into SDVI risk pool at earliest possible age, thus spreading risk among younger, relatively healthy veterans; otherwise veterans might wait to apply for coverage until they were older and sicker, thereby increasing costs to such extent that government subsidy would be too costly or premiums would be so high that few veterans could afford coverage, hence statute met rational basis test for equal protection challenge Saunders v Brown (1993) 4 Vet App 320

3. Purpose

Salutory humanitarian purpose of 38 USCS § 722 [now 38 USCS § 1922], intended by Congress, is to provide insurance protection for veterans who have failed to apply due to mental incompetency incurred in service and those beneficial purposes can best be fulfilled by providing forum in federal courts in which arbitrary or capricious action by Administrator [now Secretary] denying policy may be overturned as Congress intended by inserting language in 38 USCS §§

4. Eligibility for insurance

Veteran suffering from disability for which compensation would be payable if 10 percent or more in degree is not made ineligible for insurance provided by predecessor to 38 USCS § 722 [now 38 USCS § 1922] by fact that he would be insurable under Administrator's [now Secretary's] standards for qualifying under good health provisions notwithstanding his disability. 1951 ADVA 884

Persons disabled on their way to report for induction or for active military service are eligible to apply for insurance under predecessor to 38 USCS § 722 [now 38 USCS § 1922] notwithstanding that no compensation would be payable even if disability exceeded 10 percent. 1951 ADVA 888

Applicant insurable except for service connected disabilities is entitled to insurance, but insurance is not issuable to applicant whose uninsurability is due to nonservice connected disability. 1953 ADVA 923

Commissioned officers of Public Health Service, who were deemed to be in active military service under Public Health Service Act (42 USCS § 213), were deemed to be in active military service on or after July 4, 1912, and prior to January 1, 1957, for purpose of applying for insurance under former 38 USC § 620 of National Service Life Insurance Act of 1940, if they were separated during that period and filed application for insurance on or after January 1, 1957. 1956 ADVA 960

5. -Nature of discharge

Veteran discharged from active service for offense involving moral turpitude is not entitled to insurance provided by predecessor to 38 USCS § 1922 under relevant regulation enumerating definitive rules for determining discharge "under other than dishonorable conditions." 1954 ADVA 941

6. -Service connection of disability

Both language and legislative history of 38 USCS § 1922 indicate that veteran's disability must be service connected in order for veteran to qualify for Service Disabled Veterans' Insurance. Alleman v Principi (2003, CA FC) 349 F.3d 1368

For purposes of determining whether disability is service connected under 38 USCS § 722 [now 38 USCS § 1922], veteran is presumed to have been in good health upon entering service and suicide is presumed to result from mental unsoundness where no other adequate motive is shown. Clark v United States (1974, ND Iowa) 379 F Supp 1399

Where veteran's disability was clearly not service-connected as defined by 38 USCS § 101(16) because it arose from veteran's treatment at Department of Veterans Affairs hospital and veteran was awarded compensation under 38 USCS § 1151, veteran's widow was not entitled to Service Disabled Veterans' Insurance under 38 USCS § 1922 because § 1922 benefits were not among those covered by § 1151. Alleman v Principi (2003, CA FC) 349 F.3d 1368

Veterans disabled as result of medical treatment in Department of Veterans Affairs hospital have never been entitled to benefits of 38 USCS § 1922 or its predecessors. Alleman v Principi (2003, CA FC) 349 F.3d 1368

Application for waiver of premiums qualifies as application for insurance under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1922. 1953 ADVA 923

For purposes of 38 USCS § 722 [now 38 USCS § 1922], term "mentally incompetent" does not include transitory condition of relatively brief duration since veteran, who had ample opportunity during his lifetime to establish service connection and to apply for insurance while competent, failed to avail himself of opportunity and since, therefore, transitory loss of capacity to contract or to manage his own affairs had no practical effect upon his right to obtain insurance benefits had he ever desired such benefits. 1961 ADVA 973

8. Determination of insurability

Under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1922, insurance is not to be granted at administrative level where all evidence procurable is insufficient to determine applicant's insurability. 1953 ADVA 923

9. -Finality of decision

Administrator's [now Secretary's] decision as to whether applicant is insurable under 38 USCS § 722 [now 38 USCS § 1922] is not final, but is subject to review of federal courts under 38 USCS §§ 784 and 785 [now 38 USCS §§ 1984 and 1985]. (c) The Secretary is authorized to invest in, and the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to sell and retire, special interest-bearing obligations of the United States for the account of the revolving fund with a maturity date as may be agreed upon by the two Secretaries. The rate of interest on such obligations shall be fixed by the Secretary of the Treasury at a rate equal to the rate of interest, computed as of the end of the month preceding the date of issue of such obligations, borne by all marketable interest-bearing obligations of the United States then forming a part of the public debt that are not due or callable until after the expiration of five years from the date of original issue; except that where such average rate is not a multiple of one-eighth of 1 per centum, the rate of interest of such obligations shall be the multiple of one-eighth of 1 per centum nearest such average rate.

(d) (1) For each fiscal year for which this subsection is in effect, the Secretary shall, from the Veterans' Special Life Insurance Fund, reimburse the "General operating expenses" account of the Department for the amount of administrative costs determined under paragraph (2) for that fiscal year. Such reimbursement shall be made from any surplus earnings for that fiscal year that are available for dividends on such insurance after claims have been paid and actuarially determined reserves have been set aside. However, if the amount of such administrative costs exceeds the amount of such surplus earnings, such reimbursement shall be made only to the extent of such surplus earnings.

(2) The Secretary shall determine the administrative costs to the Department for a fiscal year for which this subsection is in effect which, in the judgment of the Secretary, are properly allocable to the provision of Veterans' Special Life Insurance (and to the provision of any total disability income insurance added to the provision of such insurance).

(3) This subsection shall be in effect only with respect to fiscal year 1996.

The Administrator shall determine the administrative cost to the Veterans' Administration of paying such dividend, which cost shall be deducted from the excess and transferred to the appropriations 'General operating expenses-Veterans' Administration'. Insurance issued under section 621 of the National Service Life Insurance Act of 1940 or converted or exchanged under subsection (b) of this section, which was in force by waiver or timely payment of premiums or as paid-up or extended term insurance during one of the premium months beginning with the month of November 1960 and ending with the month of January 1961, may be eligible for the special dividend, subject to such conditions, other than specified in this subsection, as the Administrator shall determine to be reasonable and practicable. The dividend shall be paid as soon as practicable after whichever of the following dates is the latest:

"(1) the date of enactment of this subsection in case of insurance heretofore converted or exchanged under subsection (b) of this section:

"(2) the date insurance issued under section 621 is converted or exchanged under subsection (b) of this section if such conversion or exchange is made within two years after the date of enactment of this subsection; or

"(3) the date of death of the policyholder where insurance issued under section 621 is not converted or exchanged and such death occurs on or after the premium due date in November 1960 and before the expiration of two years after the date of enactment of this subsection.

"(e) After March 1, 1961, the Administrator shall from time to time transfer from the revolving fund referred to in subsection (a) of this section to general fund receipts in the Treasury such amounts as he determines are in excess of the actuarial liabilities of the fund including contingency reserves.

§ 1924. In-service waiver of premiums

(a) Waiver of all premiums on five-year level premium term insurance and that portion of any permanent insurance premiums representing the cost of the pure insurance risk, as determined by the Secretary, granted on National Service Life Insurance or United States Government life insurance under section 622 of the National Service Life Insurance Act of 1940 and in effect on January 1, 1959, shall, unless canceled, continue in effect according to the provisions of such section for the remainder of the insured's continuous active service and for one hundred and twenty days thereafter. Such premium waiver renders the contract of insurance nonparticipating during the period the waiver is in effect.

(b) Whenever benefits become payable because of the maturity of such insurance while under the premium waiver continued by this section, liability for payment of such benefits shall be borne by the United States in an amount which, when added to any reserve of the policy at the time of maturity, will equal the then value of such benefits under such policy. Where life contingencies are involved in the calculation of the value of such benefits, the calculation of such liability or liabilities shall be based upon such mortality table or tables as the Secretary may prescribe with interest at the rate of 21/4 per centum per annum as to insurance issued under sections 620 and 621 of the National Service Life Insurance Act of 1940, at the rate of 3 per centum per annum as to other National Service Life Insurance, and 31/2 per centum per annum as to United States Government life insurance. The Secretary shall transfer from time to time from the National Service Life Insurance appropriation to the National Service Life Insurance Fund and from the military and naval insurance appropriation to the United States Government Life Insurance Fund such sums as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this section.

(c) In any case in which insurance continued in force under this section matures on or after January 1, 1972, an amount equal to the amount of premiums, less dividends, waived on and after that date shall be placed as an indebtedness against the insurance and, unless otherwise paid, shall be deducted from the proceeds. In such case, the liability of the Government under subsection (b) of this section shall be reduced by the amount so deducted from the proceeds.

§ 1925. Limited period for acquiring insurance

(a) Any person (other than a person referred to in subsection (f) of this section) heretofore eligible to apply for National Service Life Insurance after October 7, 1940, and before January 1, 1957, who is found by the Secretary to be suffering (1) from a service-connected disability or disabilities for which compensation would be payable if 10 percent or more in degree and except for which such person would be insurable according to the standards of good health established by the Secretary; or (2) from a non-service-connected disability which renders such person uninsurable according to the standards of good health established by the Secretary and such person establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary that such person is unable to obtain commercial life insurance at a substandard rate, shall, upon application in writing made before May 2, 1966, compliance with the health requirements of this section and payment of the required premiums, be granted insurance under this section.

(b) If, notwithstanding the applicant's service-connected disability, such person is insurable according to the standards of good health established by the Secretary, the insurance granted under this section shall be issued upon the same terms and conditions as are contained in the standard policies of National Service Life Insurance except (1) five-year level premium term insurance may not be issued; (2) the net premium rates shall be based on the 1958 Commissioners Standard Ordinary Basic Mortality Table, increased at the time of issue by such an amount as the Secretary determines to be necessary for sound actuarial operations, and thereafter such premiums may be adjusted as the Secretary determines to be so necessary but at intervals of not less than two years; (3) an additional premium to cover administrative costs to the Government as determined by the Secretary at times of issue shall be charged for insurance issued under this subsection and for any total disability income provision attached thereto, and thereafter such costs may be adjusted as the Secretary determines to be necessary but at intervals of not less than five years; (4) all cash, loan, extended and paid-up insurance values shall be based on the 1958 Commissioners Standard Ordinary Basic Mortality Table; (5) all settlements on policies involving annuities shall be calculated on the basis of The Annuity Table for 1949; (6) all calculations in connection with insurance issued under this subsection shall be based on interest at the rate of 3 1/2 percent per annum; and (7) the insurance shall include such other changes in terms and conditions as the Secretary determines to be reasonable and practicable.

(c) If the applicant's service-connected disability or disabilities render the applicant uninsurable according to the standards of good health established by the Secretary, or if the applicant has a non-service-connected disability which renders the applicant uninsurable according to the standards of good health established by the Secretary and such person establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary that such person is unable to obtain commercial life insurance at a substandard rate and such uninsurability existed as of the date of approval of this section [enacted Oct. 13, 1964], the insurance granted under this section shall be issued upon the same terms and conditions as are contained in standard policies of National Service Life Insurance, except (1) five-year level premium term insurance may not be issued; (2) the premiums charged for the insurance issued under this subsection shall be increased at the time of issue by such an amount as the Secretary determines to be necessary for sound actuarial operations and thereafter such premiums may be adjusted from time to time as the Secretary determines to be necessary; for the purpose of any increase at time of issue or later adjustment the service-connected group and the non-service-connected group may be separately classified; (3) an additional premium to cover administrative costs to the Government as determined by the Secretary at the time of issue shall be charged for insurance issued under this subsection and for any total disability income provision attached thereto (for which the insured may subsequently become eligible) and thereafter such costs may be adjusted as the Secretary
(d) (1) All premiums and collections on insurance issued pursuant to this section and any total disability income provision attached thereto shall be credited to the Veterans Reopened Insurance Fund, a revolving fund established in the Treasury of the United States, and all payments on such insurance and any total disability provision attached thereto including payments of dividends and refunds of unearned premiums, shall be made from that fund and the interest earned on the assets of that fund. For actuarial and accounting purposes, the assets and liabilities (including liabilities for repayment of advances hereinafter authorized, and adjustment of premiums) attributable to the insured groups established under this section shall be separately determined. Such amounts in the Veterans Special Term Insurance Fund in the Treasury, not exceeding $1,650,000 in the aggregate, as may hereafter be determined by the Secretary to be in excess of the actuarial liabilities of that fund, including contingency reserves, shall be available for transfer to the Veterans Reopened Insurance Fund as needed to provide initial capital. Any amounts so transferred shall be repaid to the Treasury over a reasonable period of time with interest as determined by the Secretary of the Treasury taking into consideration the average yield on all marketable interest-bearing obligations of the United States of comparable maturities then forming a part of the public debt.

(2) The Secretary is authorized to set aside out of the revolving fund established under this section such reserve amounts as may be required under accepted actuarial principles to meet all liabilities on insurance issued under this section and any total disability income provision attached thereto. The Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to invest in and to sell and retire special interest-bearing obligations of the United States for the account of the revolving fund. Such obligations issued for this purpose shall have maturity fixed with due regard for the needs of the fund and shall bear interest at a rate equal to the average market yield (computed by the Secretary of the Treasury on the basis of market quotations as of the end of the calendar month next preceding the date of issue) on all marketable interest-bearing obligations of the United States then forming a part of the public debt which are not due or callable until after the expiration of four years from the end of such calendar month; except that where such average market yield is not a multiple of one-eighth of 1 percent, the rate of interest of such obligation shall be the multiple of one-eighth of 1 percent nearest such market yield.

(3) Notwithstanding the provisions of section 1982 of this title [38 USCS § 1982], the Secretary shall, from time to time, determine the administrative costs to the Government which in the Secretary's judgment are properly allocable to insurance issued under this section and any total disability income provision attached thereto, and shall transfer from the revolving fund, the amount of such cost allocable to the Department to the appropriation "General Operating Expenses, Department of Veterans Affairs", and the remainder of such cost to the general fund receipts in the Treasury. The initial administrative costs of issuing insurance under this section and any total disability income provision attached thereto shall be so transferred over such period of time as the Secretary determines to be reasonable and practicable.

(e) Notwithstanding the provisions of section 1982 of this title [38 USCS § 1982], a medical examination (including any supplemental examination or tests) when required of an applicant for issuance of insurance under this section or any total disability income provisions attached thereto shall be at the applicant's own expense by a duly licensed physician.

(f) No insurance shall be granted under this section to any person referred to in section 107 of this title [38 USCS § 107] or to any person while on active duty or active duty for training under a call or order to such duty for a period of thirty-one days or more.

Although decedent, who was otherwise uninsurable veteran, was entitled to issuance of insurance policy under 38 USCS § 725 [now 38 USCS § 1925] pursuant to his application, death within one year from pre-existing non-service-connected disability was validly excepted risk. § 1926. Authority for higher interest rates for amounts payable to beneficiaries

Notwithstanding sections 1902, 1923, and 1925 of this title [38 USCS §§ 1902, 1923, and 1925], if the beneficiary of an insurance policy receives the proceeds of such policy under a settlement option under which such proceeds are paid in equal monthly installments over a limited period of months, the interest that may be added to each such installment may be at a rate that is higher than the interest rate prescribed in the appropriate section of this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1901 et seq.]. The Secretary may from time to time establish a higher interest rate under the preceding sentence only in accordance with a determination that such higher rate is administratively and actuarially sound for the program of insurance concerned. Any such higher interest rate shall be paid on the unpaid balance of such monthly installments.

(b) The Secretary shall determine the amount in the trust funds in the Treasury held for payment of proceeds to National Service Life Insurance, Veterans Special Life Insurance, and Veterans Reopened Insurance beneficiaries attributable to interest and mortality gains on the reserves held for annuity accounts. United States Government life insurance shall be issued against death or total permanent disability in any multiple of $500 and not less than $1,000 or more than $10,000. No person may carry a combined amount of National Service Life Insurance and United States Government life insurance in excess of $10,000 at any one time. § 1942. Plans of insurance

(a) Regulations shall provide for the right to convert insurance on the five-year level premium term plan into ordinary life, twenty-payment life, endowment maturing at age sixty-two, and into other usual forms of insurance as may be prescribed by the Secretary. Provision shall be made for reconversion of any such policies to a higher premium rate or, upon proof of good health satisfactory to the Secretary, to a lower premium rate, in accordance with regulations to be issued by the Secretary. No reconversion shall be made to a five-year level premium term policy.

(b) An insured who on or after the insured's sixty-fifth birthday has a five-year level premium term policy of insurance in force by payment of premiums may exchange such policy for insurance on a special endowment at age ninety-six plan upon written application; payment of the required premium; and surrender of the five-year level premium term policy and any total disability provision attached thereto with all rights, title, and interests thereunder. However, if it is found by the Secretary subsequent to the exchange that prior thereto the term policy matured because of total permanent disability of the insured or that the insured was entitled to total disability benefits under the total disability provision attached to such policy, the insured, upon surrender of the special endowment at age ninety-six policy and any provision for waiver of premiums issued under subsection (c) of this section with all rights, title, and interest thereunder, will be entitled to benefits payable under the prior contract. In such case, the cash value less any indebtedness on the endowment policy shall be refunded together with any premiums paid on a provision for waiver of premiums. Insurance on the special endowment at age ninety-six plan shall be issued at the attained age of the insured upon the same terms and conditions as are contained in standard policies of United States Government Life Insurance except:

   (1) the insurance shall not mature and no benefits shall be paid thereunder because of total permanent disability;
   (2) the premiums for such insurance shall be as prescribed by the Secretary;
   (3) such insurance cannot be exchanged, converted, or reconverted to any other plan of insurance;
   (4) all cash, loan, paid-up, and extended term insurance values shall be as prescribed by the Secretary; and
   (5) the insurance shall be subject to such other changes in terms and conditions as the Secretary determines to be reasonable and practicable.

(c) The Secretary shall, upon application made by the insured at the same time as the insured exchanges the term policy for an endowment policy issued under the provisions of subsection (b) of this section, and upon payment of such extra premium as the Secretary shall prescribe, include in such endowment policy a provision for waiver of premiums on the policy and on the provision during the total permanent disability of the insured, if such disability began after the date of such application and while the policy and the provision are in force by payment of premiums. The Secretary shall not grant waiver of any premium becoming due more than one year before receipt by the Secretary.
of claim for the same, except as provided in this subsection. Any premiums paid for months during which waiver is effective shall be refunded. The Secretary shall provide by regulations for examination or reexamination of an insured claiming waiver of premiums under this subsection, and may deny waiver for failure to cooperate. If it is found that an insured is no longer totally and permanently disabled, the waiver of premiums shall cease as of the date of such finding and the policy and provision may be continued by payment of premiums as provided therein. In any case in which the Secretary finds that the insured's failure to make timely claim for waiver of premiums, or to submit satisfactory evidence of the existence or continuance of total permanent disability was due to circumstances beyond the insured's control, the Secretary may grant waiver or continuance of waiver of premiums. If the insured dies without filing claim for waiver, the beneficiary, within one year after the death of the insured, or, if the beneficiary is insane or a minor, within one year after removal of such legal disability, may file claim for waiver with evidence of the insured's right to waiver under this subsection. Policies containing a provision for waiver of premiums issued under this subsection may be separately classified for the purpose of dividend distribution from otherwise similar policies not containing such provision.

1. Generally
2. Construction of policy
3. Effect of conversion
4. Enforcement of original policy
5. Defenses to action on policy

1. Generally

It was regarded from outset that term insurance was temporary and that it should be converted into other forms. Skelton v United States (1936, CA10 Okla) 88 F.2d 599

2. Construction of policy

Rule of liberal construction in favor of insured applies to converted policies, and such policy is to be construed in light of all its provisions, statute, and administrative construction, but latter is not conclusive. Boyett v United States (1936, CA5 Ga) 86 F.2d 66

3. Effect of conversion
Reinstatement and conversion of policy, induced by mutual mistake as to disability, does not discharge original policy. United States v Schweppe (1930, CA8 Mo) 38 F.2d 595

Acceptance of converted policy, on representation by insured that he was not permanently and totally disabled, for part of amount of original term policy, does not forfeit balance of policy which had matured because of actual permanent and total disability, but does discharge government to extent of conversion. United States v Andrews (1930, CA10 Colo) 43 F.2d 80

Substituted policy supersedes earlier contract, in absence of fraud or mistake. Franks v United States (1929, DC Or) 43 F.2d 455; Marker v United States (1930, DC Idaho) 43 F.2d 456

4. Enforcement of original policy

Conversion of policy in reliance on government medical report that insured's disability was temporary only, when as matter of fact, disability was permanent, does not bar insured from asserting claim under original policy on basis of permanent total disability, though insured delayed for several years after receipt of new policy in asserting his claim. United States v Golden (1929, CA10 NM) 34 F.2d 367

Mere attempt to convert insurance certificate does not estop insured to enforce original certificate, where government was not prejudiced. United States v Acker (1929, CA5 Ala) 35 F.2d 646

Insured's conversion of term policy may be rescinded on basis of mutual mistake where his statement in conversion application to effect that he was not disabled was direct result of misrepresentations by government doctors, but insured may sue on original policy without first rescinding converted policy. Marker v United States (1930, DC Idaho) 43 F.2d 457

5. Defenses to action on policy

Statement in application for convertible term insurance policy that there had not been treatment for disease of enumerated parts of applicant's body constitutes representation, as distinguished from warranty, and misrepresentation in application for convertible term insurance policy will not constitute defense to action on policy unless it was intentionally untrue or was made with reckless disregard for its truth or falsity. United States v Depew (1938, CA10 Kan) 100 F.2d 725

§ 1943. Premiums

The premium rates for insurance shall be the net rates based upon the American Experience Table of Mortality and interest at 31/2 percent per annum. Regulations shall prescribe the time and method of payment of premiums, but payments of premiums in advance shall not be required for periods of more than one month each, and may be deducted from the pay or deposit of the insured or be otherwise made at the insured's election.

1. Generally

2. Application of money due insured to payment of premiums

3. Waiver

1. Generally

Grace period within which time is given to pay premiums to prevent policy lapse is not extension of insurance, and when such time expires without payment, effect is same as if such time had not been given. United States v Huie (1934, CA5 Ga) 73 F.2d 305

2. Application of money due insured to payment of premiums

After conversion of term policy, government is not authorized to apply money due insured to payment of premiums on new policies, since rule allowing such application to private insurance is not applicable to government insurance. Mikell v United States (1933, CA4 SC) 64 F.2d 301

Government's duty to apply money owed to insured, in order to prevent lapse of policy, is to be determined at time insured defaults on premium payments, not at time suit is brought after insured's death. Mikell v United States (1933, CA4 SC) 64 F.2d 301

Upon insured's re-enlistment within month after his discharge and authorized deduction of premiums from his pay, policy does not lapse where sufficient pay is due insured to pay premiums. Unger v United States (1933, CA10 Okla) 65 F.2d 946

Uncollected pay for flight service, more than sufficient to pay premiums in arrears, applies to keep policy in force. United States v Jones (1938, CA8 Mo) 100 F.2d 65

Unpaid compensation due insured at his death is sufficient to keep policy from lapsing where amount due insured is greater than amount of unpaid premiums, regardless of fact that insured had previously become totally and permanently disabled at time when he was not entitled to such compensation. American Nat'l Bank & Trust Co. v United States (1941, CA7 III) 124 F.2d 743, cert den (1942) 316 US 674, 86 L Ed 1748, 62 S Ct 1042; Shepanek v United States (1941, CA7 III) 124 F.2d 747, cert den (1942) 316 US 674, 86 L Ed 1749, 62 S Ct 1042

Allotments deducted from insured's pay to purchase war bonds are not available to prevent lapse of policy, even though such funds were on deposit at bank. Smith v United States (1940, DC Mont) 32 F Supp 657

Premium credit item held to account of insured on date of collapse of insurance, sufficient amount to prevent lapse, is to be so used even though credit resulted from another insurance contract, unless insured's direction to use credit for another purpose is found in provisions of insurance contract, either express or necessarily implied, in communication by insured to Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs], or in any way in which intention of insured is manifested. 1952 ADVA 902

3. Waiver

Absent showing that insured was deceived or misled to his detriment, or that he had adequate reason to suppose that his contract would not be enforced, or that forfeiture provided for by policy could be waived, government is not estopped to assert forfeiture and did not waive forfeiture for nonpayment of premiums by failing to notify insured concerning allocation of payment in excess of premium then due, failing to give notice of due dates of premiums or that policy had lapsed or was about to lapse, and retaining two monthly premiums after policy had lapsed by its terms for nonpayment of premiums. Wilber Nat'l Bank v United States (1935) 294 US 120, 79 L Ed 798, 55 S Ct 362

Neither sending of premiums by mother of insured after death of insured, nor acceptance of premiums by government official, constitute waiver of lapse of policy. Birmingham v United States (1925, CA8 Mo) 4 F.2d 508

At the expiration of any term period any insurance policy issued on the five-year level premium term plan which has not been exchanged or converted to a permanent plan of insurance and which is not lapsed shall be renewed as level premium term insurance without application for a successive five-year period at the premium rate for the attained age without medical examination. However, renewal shall be effected in cases where the policy is lapsed only if the insured makes application for reinstatement and renewal of the insured's term policy within five years after the date of lapse, and reinstatement in such cases shall be under the terms and conditions prescribed by the Secretary.

Prior law and revision:
This section is based on 38 USC § 512 (Act June 7, 1924, ch 320, Title III, § 301 in part, as added June 24, 1932, ch 276, 47 Stat. 334; Aug. 2, 1951, ch 286, 65 Stat 151; July 23, 1953, ch 240, § 1, 67 Stat. 186).

Amendments:
1970. Act June 25, 1970 (effective 6/25/70, as provided by § 14(a) of such Act, which appears as 38 USCS § 1317 note), substituted new section for one which read:

"(a) Effective July 23, 1953, at the expiration of any term period any insurance policy issued on the five-year level premium term plan which has not been exchanged or converted to a permanent plan of insurance and which is not lapsed shall be renewed as level premium term insurance without application for a successive five-year period at the premium rate for the attained age without medical examination. However, on and after such date renewal shall be effected in cases where the policy is lapsed only if the lapse occurred not earlier than two months before the expiration of the term period, and reinstatement in such cases shall be under the terms and conditions prescribed by the Administrator. In any case where the five-year level premium term period expired between July 23, 1953, and December 31, 1953, both dates inclusive, under the conditions set forth in the preceding sentence, the insured, notwithstanding the expiration of an intervening five-year period, shall have not less than six months following the date of enactment of this title within which to meet the terms and conditions prescribed by the Administrator under the preceding sentence.

"(b) This section shall take effect on the date of enactment of this title.".

Tender of premium and statement of comparative health on first business day after expiration of limitation period for making such tender is sufficient to allow reinstatement of policy, where last two days of limitation period were holidays. 1937 ADVA 400

4. Payment of premiums

Grace period allowed insured before policy lapses for nonpayment of premiums is not applicable to reinstatement of policy after lapse, so that failure to pay first premium due after reinstatement causes policy to lapse even though insured died before expiration of grace period. United States v Norton (1935, CA5 Fla) 77 F.2d 731

To reinstate insurance in June, on which April premium was not paid, it is necessary to pay April, May, and June premiums. United States v Norton (1935, CA5 Fla) 77 F.2d 731

5. Effective date

Reinstatement is effective on date set forth in Veterans Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] letter acknowledging reinstatement, even though letter was not received until after that date; fact that total disability occurred between date of application and date of letter reinstating policy does not preclude recovery on reinstated policy, since physical condition of veteran at time he makes application for reinstatement is controlling. Brown v United States (1928, DC NY) 29 F.2d 856

6. Total disability provision

Regulation providing that total disability provision may be reinstated only upon proof of good health, while other regulation allows reinstatement of policy as whole upon showing that insured is in as good health as at time of lapse, is beyond Administrator's [now Secretary's] authority and void, since total disability provision is part of entire insurance contract, and terms for reinstatement must be same for all parts of insurance contract. United States ex rel. Lyons v Hines (1939) 70 App DC 36, 103 F.2d 737, 122 ALR 674

7. -Pre-existing disability

Reinstated contract does not cover permanent and total disability which existed prior to reinstatement. United States v Kaminsky (1933, CA5 Ga) 64 F.2d 735; United States v Stevens (1933, CA8 Minn) 64 F.2d 853; United States v McIver (1935, CA4 NC) 77 F.2d 208

Reinstated insurance is against total permanent disability occurring during life of policy, and is not contract of indemnity for pre-existing total permanent disability. United States v Anders (1937, CA9 Mont) 88 F.2d 509

§ 1946. Dividends to pay premiums

Until and unless the Secretary has received from the insured a request in writing for payment of dividends in cash or that the dividends be placed on deposit in accordance with the provisions of the insured's policy, any regular annual dividends shall be applied in payment of premiums becoming due on insurance after the date the dividend is payable on or after December 31, 1958.

Amendments:

1991. Act Aug. 6, 1991, redesignated this section, formerly 38 USCS § 746, as 38 USCS § 1946, and substituted "Secretary" for "Veterans' Administration".

Dividends payable under National Service Life Insurance policy (or United States Government Life Insurance policy) are benefits payable by Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] under law administered by it and relating to veterans, and hence are not subject to setoff or claims of United States arising under any other act or acts administered by any agency other than Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs]. 1949 ADVA 832

Subject to the provisions of section 1954 of this title [38 USCS § 1954] all contracts or policies of insurance heretofore or hereafter issued, reinstated, or converted shall be incontestable from the date of issuance, reinstatement, or conversion, except for fraud, nonpayment of premiums, or on the ground that the applicant was not a member of the military or naval forces of the United States. The insured under such contract or policy may, without prejudicing the insured's rights, elect to make claim to the Department or to bring suit under section 1984 of this title [38 USCS § 1984] on any prior contract or policy, and if found entitled thereto, shall, upon surrender of any subsequent contract or policy, be entitled to payments under the prior contract or policy. In any case in which a contract or policy of insurance is canceled or voided after March 16, 1954, because of fraud, the Secretary shall refund to the insured, if living, or, if deceased, to the person designated as beneficiary (or if none survives, to the estate of the insured) all money, without interest, paid as premiums on such contract or policy for any period subsequent to two years after the date such fraud induced the Secretary to issue, reinstate, or convert such insurance less any dividends, loan, or other payment made to the insured under such contract or policy.

Congress intended to bar defense of antecedent disability with respect to term policies as well as to reinstated and converted policies, and fact that converted policies do not by their terms eliminate antecedent disability from insured risk is not manifestation of intention to grant more liberal contract to those who converted, but recognition that defense is barred. Reinstated converted policy, which had been issued after reinstatement of prior war risk policy, is void where first reinstatement had been fraudulently obtained. Jones v United States (1939, CA5 Ga) 106 F.2d 888

10. Statements relating to health

Fraudulent statements in examination for reinstatement of insurance are not rendered harmless by provisions of predecessor to 38 USCS § 1959 permitting reinstatement when applicant is not in good health if his disability is service related. Jones v United States (1939, CA5 Ga) 106 F.2d 888

False statements by insured to secure reinstatement of policy preclude recovery thereon, though officers of Bureau [now Department] failed to examine records of hospitalization. United States v Riggins (1933, CA9 Cal) 65 F.2d 750

Fact that compensation division of Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] had knowledge that insured was in fact not in good health at time of reinstatement and had consulted physicians to ascertain cause of condition of which he complained may not be used to estop insurance division from canceling policy for fraud. III. ACTIONS ON POLICIES

13. Converted policies

Insured may bring action on converted policy for total permanent disability, even though original policy contained clause excluding liability for such disability and disability occurred prior to conversion, where converted policy contained no such clause. United States v Patryas (1938) 303 US 341, 82 L Ed 883, 58 S Ct 551

14. Original policies

Insured whose total and permanent disability commenced while his war policy was in force is entitled, under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1947, to benefits provided by such policy, notwithstanding fact that insured had previously converted his insurance policy and surrendered converted policy for cash value. United States v Arzner (1933) 287 US 470, 77 L Ed 436, 53 S Ct 238; United States v Kane (1934, CA9 Wash) 70 F.2d 396; Denny v United States (1939, CA7 Ill) 103 F.2d 960

Insured is not precluded as matter of law from recovery on original policy simply because he signed application for reinstatement with statement in it that he was not totally and permanently disabled, notwithstanding dispute as to whether he had done so knowingly and intentionally. Sprencel v United States (1931, CA5 Tex) 47 F.2d 501

Predecessor to 38 USCS § 1947 allows insured to bring suit in original policy even though he converted such policy and allowed portion of converted policy to lapse for nonpayment of premiums. United States v Stamey (1931, CA9 Wash) 48 F.2d 150

Insured, who was granted $10,000 insurance, which he let lapse, later reinstating $2,000 thereof, has right to sue for balance of original policy alleging total and permanent disability at time of lapse. United States v Crowell (1931, CA8 Iowa) 48 F.2d 475

Right of election to proceed under original policy, is limited to insured, and, absent statutory authority, neither beneficiary in his own right nor any person other than insured is entitled to exercise such right. 1931 ADVA 26

§ 1948. Total disability provision

The Secretary shall include in United States Government life insurance policies provision whereby an insured, who is totally disabled as a result of disease or injury for a period of four consecutive months or more before attaining the age of sixty-five years and before default in payment of any premium, shall be paid disability benefits at the rate of $5.75 monthly for each $1,000 of insurance in force when total disability benefits become payable. The amount of such monthly payment under the provisions of this section shall not be reduced because of payment of permanent and total disability benefits under the insurance policy. Such payments shall be effective as of the first day of the fifth consecutive month, and shall be made monthly during the continuance of such total disability. Such payments shall be concurrent with or independent of permanent and total disability benefits under the insurance policy. In addition to the monthly disability benefits the payment of premiums on the life insurance and for the total disability benefits authorized by this section shall be waived during the continuance of such total disability. Regulations shall provide for reexaminations of beneficiaries under this section; and, in the event that it is found that an insured is no longer totally disabled, the waiver of premiums and payment of benefits shall cease and the insurance policy, including the total disability provision, may be continued by payment of premiums as provided in said policy and the total disability provision. Neither the dividends nor the amount payable in any settlement under any United States Government life insurance policy shall be decreased because of disability benefits granted under the provisions of this section. The payment of total disability benefits shall not prejudice the right of any insured, who is totally and permanently disabled, to permanent and total disability benefits under the insured's policy. The provision authorized by this section shall not be included in any United States Government life insurance policy heretofore or hereafter issued, except upon application, payment of premium by the insured, and proof of good health satisfactory to the Secretary. The benefit granted under this section shall be on the basis of multiples of $500, and not less than $1,000 or more than the amount of insurance in force at time of application. The Secretary shall determine the amount of the monthly premium to cover the benefits of this section, and in order to continue such benefits in force the monthly premiums shall be payable until the insured attains the age of sixty-five years or until the prior maturity of the policy. In all other respects such monthly premium shall be payable under the same terms and conditions as the regular monthly premium on the United States Government life insurance policy.

6. Reinstatement of provision

1. Generally

Predecessor to 38 USCS § 1948 authorizes total disability provision only as clause in policy of United States Government Life Insurance, making such provision subordinate, additional, and integral part of entire policy. United States ex rel. Lyons v Hines (1939) 70 App DC 36, 103 F.2d 737, 122 ALR 674

2. Application

Total disability excusing payment of premium exists only where insured cannot pursue any gainful occupation, and such disability may exist where he is subject to epileptic seizures, but not where such seizures do not prevent him from working continuously for over two years. Wood v United States (1928, DC Kan) 28 F.2d 771

Insured suffering from active pulmonary tuberculosis is totally disabled for purposes of predecessor to 38 USCS § 1948, excusing nonpayment of premiums. Humble v United States (1931, DC Ky) 49 F.2d 600

Provision for automatic and retroactive waiver of premiums under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1960 is applicable to additional premium required by inclusion of total disability benefit provision. 1938 ADVA 434

3. Computation of term of disability

Proper time frame for measuring consecutive months that must elapse prior to eligibility for disability pension is anniversary date from occurrence of such disability rather than calendar month method, which runs counter to established practice and might work hardship on claimant by prolonging period prior to eligibility. 1934 ADVA 228

4. Waiver of premiums

Total and permanent disability existing at time policy was issued and at time of lapse of policy will not excuse nonpayment of premiums. Schmidt v United States (1933, CA8 Neb) 63 F.2d 390

Disability existing before entry into military service will not excuse payment of premiums. United States v Kaminsky (1933, CA5 Ga) 64 F.2d 735

5. -Termination

Date by which to fix end of premium waiver and of benefits for one found no longer totally disabled is date of decision of finding, and anniversary date of monthly payment is relevant consideration in fixing such date. 1935 ADVA 340

6. Reinstatement of provision
Administrator [now Secretary] may be required by mandamus to reinstate total disability provision as part of veteran's policy of insurance, where his refusal on ground that veteran was not in good health, due to loss of eye in active military service, was unjustified. United States ex rel. Lyons v Hines (1939) 70 App DC 36, 103 F.2d 737, 122 ALR 674

Regulation providing that total disability provision may be reinstated only upon proof of good health, while other regulation allows reinstatement of policy as whole upon showing that insured is in as good health as at time of lapse, is beyond Administrator's [now Secretary's] authority and void, since total disability provision is part of entire insurance contract, and terms for reinstatement must be same for all parts of insurance contract. United States ex rel. Lyons v Hines (1939) 70 App DC 36, 103 F.2d 737, 122 ALR 674

Under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1949, insured's right to change beneficiary is absolute. Von Der Lippi-Lipski v United States (1925) 55 App DC 202, 4 F.2d 168; Murphy v United States (1934, DC Mass) 5 F Supp 583

Statutory reservation to insured serviceman of right at all times to change beneficiary disabled insured from making irrevocable gift of insurance; hence, where insured had changed beneficiary from his divorced wife to his mother and such change was communicated to and recognized by Veterans' Bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs] he could recover possession of policy from his divorced wife in action of replevin. Tompkins v Tompkins (1944, NJ Super Ct) 132 NJL 217, 38 A2d 890

2. Agreement not to change beneficiary

Although parents consented to minor son's enlistment in navy upon consideration of his obtaining war risk insurance policy in favor of his mother, his cancellation of policy without notice to parents prior to his death, while still minor, is effective. Agreement entered into by insured with his mother that he would not change his designation of her as beneficiary of war risk policy, in consideration of advances made by mother which insured used to pay premiums, is invalid to extent it restricts right of insured to change beneficiary of insurance, without consent of beneficiary named in policy. Von Der Lippi-Lipski v United States (1925) 55 App DC 202, 4 F.2d 168

Agreement not to change beneficiary of war risk policy in consideration of money advanced to insured is invalid. Murphy v United States (1934, DC Mass) 5 F Supp 583

3. Divorce or separation agreement

Divorce decree which incorporated wife's waiver of all claims against her husband did not of itself effect change of beneficiary of husband's government life insurance policy, and lacking effective attempt to change beneficiary, wife is entitled to proceeds at husband's death under Federal law. Taylor v United States (1972, CA9 Or) 459 F.2d 1007, cert den (1972) 409 US 967, 34 L Ed 2d 232, 93 S Ct 273

Insured had legal right to change beneficiaries at all times during his lifetime, notwithstanding the fact that he had transferred all his right, title, and interest to the insurance policy to his former wife as part of the property settlement in connection with the divorce. Bonner v United States (1963, DC Mass) 222 F Supp 539

Provisions of 38 USCS §§ 717(a), 749, and 3101 [now 38 USCS §§ 1917(a), 1949, and 5301] guarantee decedent's absolute right to determine beneficiary of policy and state court has no jurisdiction in divorce proceedings to enter judgment requiring irrevocable designation of beneficiary of any part of proceeds. Sessions v Sessions (1974, Okla App) 525 P2d 1269

4. Mental capacity of insured

Insured who, alone and unadvised, had sufficient mental capacity to secure reinstatement of his United States Government Life Insurance has sufficient mental capacity to effect valid change of beneficiary of such policy. Irons v Smith (1933, CA4 SC) 62 F.2d 644

5. Intent of insured

Insured's intent to change and attempt to carry out intent are sufficient to effect change of beneficiary. Johnson v White (1930, CA8 Ark) 39 F.2d 793

Mere proof of intent is not sufficient to change beneficiary. Kingston v Hines (1926, DC Mich) 13 F.2d 406

6. Formal requirements

Fact that Veterans’ Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] did not receive notice of insured's intent to change beneficiary of war risk policy until after death of insured does not invalidate otherwise effective change. Kaschefsky v Kaschefsky (1940, CA6 Mich) 110 F.2d 836

It is not necessary that record be in existence in Bureau of War Risk Insurance [now Department of Veterans Affairs] in order to make change of beneficiary valid, when there is sufficient evidence to show change was made. Shepherdson v United States (1921, DC Pa) 271 F 330

7. Grounds for avoidance of change of beneficiary

Neither fact that sister cared for insured after his separation from wife, nor fact that she advanced him money needed to reinstate policy, constitutes undue influence sufficient to avoid insured's change of beneficiary from wife to sister. Irons v Smith (1933, CA4 SC) 62 F.2d 644

Change of beneficiary is not invalid on ground that one of new beneficiaries exerted undue influence on insured while he was in weakened physical condition, where original beneficiary was only person with insured and his lawyer at time change was requested. Murphy v United States (1934, DC Mass) 5 F Supp 583

8. Effective date of change

Change of beneficiary takes effect on date insured signed written notice, although change was not endorsed upon policy until after insured's death. Murphy v United States (1934, DC Mass) 5 F Supp 583

9. Policies affected by change

Insured's application for reinstatement and conversion of $5,000 of war risk insurance is sufficient to change beneficiary only for that amount of insurance, and original beneficiary remains entitled to any additional insurance purchased by excess premiums which insured forwarded to Veterans’ Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs]. Heinemann v Heinemann (1931, CA6 Tenn) 50 F.2d 696

10. Effect of change on original beneficiary

Original beneficiary is not entitled to sue on policy where beneficiary was changed, since beneficiary's right to proceeds is extinguished by such change. Irons v Smith (1933, CA4 SC) 62 F.2d 644

Insured's unsuccessful attempt to change beneficiary of war risk insurance policy does not affect rights of person designated as beneficiary prior to such attempt. Elliott v United States (1920, DC Ohio) 271 F 1001

11. Beneficiary as trustee

Agreement between insured and designated beneficiary, undertaken for valid consideration, that beneficiary would distribute proceeds among insured's brothers and sisters, is valid and entitles brothers and sisters to reformation of policy upon designated beneficiary's failure to distribute proceeds according to agreement. Kaschefsky v Kaschefsky (1940, CA6 Mich) 110 F.2d 836

Insured's letters to sister named as beneficiary, stating desire that proceeds be divided equally with others, is sufficient evidence of intent to create trust for court to hold sister as trustee of proceeds for benefit of herself and others. Ambrose v United States (1926, DC NY) 15 F.2d 52

Insured's letter to brother named as beneficiary, stating that if anything happened to him, brother should take care of his three sisters, constitutes brother trustee of proceeds for benefit of sisters. Dorland v Whitmer (1932, Stark Co) 43 Ohio App 285, 12 Ohio L Abs 102, 182 NE 686, motion overr, cert den (1933) 288 US 916, 77 L Ed 989, 53 S Ct 507

12. Regulations

Regulation under predecessor to 38 USCS §§ 1940 et seq. providing that change of beneficiary must be in writing, signed by insured, and witnessed by at least one person, relates to changes of beneficiary other than by last will, since will may be nuncupative and without writing, or holographic and without attestation, or state law may not require witnesses. United States v Napoleon (1924, CA5 Fla) 296 F 811

13. -Waiver

Government may waive formal compliance with regulations as to change of beneficiary. Johnson v White (1930, CA8 Ark) 39 F.2d 793

Regulations regarding change of beneficiary are for protection of government and may be waived, but where insured expresses desire to change beneficiary, receives proper blanks to effect same, and never returns blanks after signing them, no change of beneficiary is effected. Chichiarelli v United States (1928, DC Colo) 26 F.2d 484

Provision of policy that change of beneficiary is invalid unless endorsed by insured is regulation for benefit of government and may be waived. Murphy v United States (1934, DC Mass) 5 F Supp 583

II. AFFIRMATIVE ACTION

14. Execution of government documents

Instrument changing beneficiary of policy to insured's wife, signed in insured's name by wife, in insured's presence and at his request, is effective as application for change of beneficiary under regulations of Bureau [now Department]. Le Blanc v Curtis (1925, CA5 Ga) 6 F.2d 4

Change of beneficiary of policy is effected by insured's filling out blank form changing designation to his wife, where insurance authorities informed him that first form was incorrectly filled out, and insured thereupon signed blank forms which were later to be filled out by proper authorities, even though such blank forms could not be found at date of trial and had not been recorded with Bureau of War Risk Insurance as required by regulations. Farley v United States (1923, DC Or) 291 F 238

Insured's statement that wife was beneficiary of policy, made on application for disability compensation, is sufficient to effect change from sister to wife. United States v Tuebert (1932, DC NY) 57 F.2d 895

15. Correspondence

Insured's letter to designated beneficiary, stating that if all installments payable under policy of insurance were not paid to beneficiary before her death, he wished remainder to go to his niece, is sufficient to designate niece as residuary beneficiary, regardless of fact that regulation required such change of beneficiary to be sent to Bureau [now Department], rather than to beneficiary. Claffy v Forbes (1922, DC Wash) 280 F 233

16. -To government agency

Insured's letter to Bureau [now Department], expressing wish or desire that part of benefits of war risk policy originally payable to his son should be payable to his wife, is sufficient to effect such change, where Bureau [now Department] had no prescribed form of blank for use in changing designation of beneficiary. Shepherdson v United States (1921, DC Pa) 271 F 330

Letters written to Treasury Department, requesting change of beneficiary of insurance, are sufficient to cause such change although not acted upon by department. Peart v Chaze (1926, DC La) 13 F.2d 908

17. -To third party

Insured's letter to foster parents stating that he had left them insurance by will is sufficient to change beneficiary of war risk policy from insured to foster parents. Morgan v United States (1926, CA4 SC) 13 F.2d 763

Insured’s statement of desire to change beneficiary, contained in letter to wife, is sufficient to effect change of beneficiary from sister to wife. Johnson v White (1930, CA8 Ark) 39 F.2d 793

Veteran’s letter to sister-in-law is sufficient notice to Veterans’ Bureau [now Department] of change from father to her as beneficiary. Steele v Suwalski (1935, CA7 Wis) 75 F.2d 885, 99 ALR 588

18. Applications

Insured’s application for insurance policy, at time he already carried maximum amount of insurance naming mother and wife as beneficiaries in equal amount, is insufficient to effect change of beneficiary, even though new application was for same amount of insurance as that to which wife was beneficiary and new application named mother as beneficiary, where application did not contain any indication that insured intended it to be application for change of beneficiary. Gifford v United States (1921, DC NJ) 289 F 833

19. For reinstatement or conversion

Statement by insured in application for reinstatement of desire to change beneficiary, although not acted upon prior to death of insured, is sufficient to effect change desired. United States v Johnson (1931, DC Ky) 46 F.2d 549

Insured’s application for reinstatement and conversion of policy, naming wife as beneficiary, is sufficient to effect change from siblings to wife, although application was rejected and later application named no beneficiary, where Veterans’ Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] representative knew that insured intended wife to be beneficiary and that insured’s minor child needed constant medical attention. Cady v United States (1933, DC Wash) 4 F Supp 263

Will of insured, designating aunt as beneficiary of policy is effective to change beneficiary designated by law, even though will was invalid due to insured’s minority, since will was intended by insured to be written designation of beneficiary. Helmholz v Horst (1924, CA6 Ohio) 294 F 417, 2 Ohio L Abs 419

Insured’s will leaving all property which he had "power to dispose of" to niece is sufficient to effect change of beneficiary of war risk policy from wife, whom insured had divorced on her fault, to niece. McCarty v Haley (1929, CA7 Ind) 36 F.2d 201

Statement of insured, probated as his will, that mother and father were to receive "all insurance," is sufficient to constitute parents as co-beneficiaries with right of survivorship. United States v Mallery (1931, CA2 NY) 48 F.2d 6

Will not filed with Bureau [now Department] does not work change of beneficiary, but it is operative to pass commuted value of policy to legatee named after death of beneficiary named in policy. In re Tiffany's Will (1930) 137 Misc 627, 244 NYS 255

Change of beneficiary effected by trust agreement with insured, to which government was not a party, and which was not in compliance with regulations, is not binding on government. Calhoun v Ussery (1930, DC La) 46 F.2d 495

§ 1950. Payment to estates

If no beneficiary of insurance is designated by the insured, either while alive or by last will, or if the designated beneficiary does not survive the insured, then there shall be paid to the estate of the insured the present value of the remaining unpaid monthly installments. If the designated beneficiary survives the insured and dies before receiving all of the installments of insurance payable and applicable, then there shall be paid to the estate of such beneficiary the present value of the remaining unpaid monthly installments. No payments shall be made to any estate which under the laws of the residence of the insured or the beneficiary, as the case may be, would escheat, but same shall escheat to the United States and be credited to the United States Government Life Insurance Fund.

5. Retroactivity

Interest of beneficiary of war risk insurance policy is vested only so far as government makes it so, and such interest may be divested or changed by government without in any way transgressing any obligations. II. BENEFICIARIES

6. Designation of beneficiary

There is no limitation on beneficiaries who may be designated in converted policy. United States v Garrison (1930, DC Fla) 39 F.2d 225

7. Designation by will Designation of beneficiary by will may be valid for purposes of predecessor to 38 USCS § 1950, even though will does not comply with state law. Schroeder v United States (1928, DC Ohio) 24 F.2d 420

Insured's naming of person to receive proceeds in his will constitutes designation of beneficiary for purposes of predecessor to 38 USCS § 1950 only if will was made concurrently with, or subsequent to, insured's application for insurance. Evangeliou v United States (1949, DC Dist Col) 84 F Supp 609

Insured in insurance policy may dispose of unpaid installments by will, and, if he does so, they must be distributed according to will. In re Leonard's Estate (1934) 191 Minn 388, 254 NW 594

8. -Cancellation of designation

Cancellation of all previous designations of beneficiaries makes estate of insured beneficiary. United States v Oliver (1932, CA9 Cal) 59 F.2d 55

9. Rights of beneficiary

Policy of insurance does not express contract between beneficiary and government, until beneficiary's interest vests by death of insured. United States v Sterling (1926, CA2 NY) 12 F.2d 921

Beneficiary's rights do not vest unless insurance contract accords such status, and contract includes terms of insurance application, statutes under which policy was issued, amendments to such statutes, and all regulations promulgated thereunder. Newborn v De Witt (1932) 164 Tenn 519, 51 SW2d 478

Death of one beneficiary does not affect rights of co-beneficiary. Stacy v Culbertson (1931) 157 Va 258, 160 SE 50

III. PAYMENTS TO ESTATES

10. Generally

Fact that Veterans Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] did not recognize claim until after lapse of period for payment of proceeds in installments is not ground for allowing recovery of total amount of such installments accruing after death of beneficiary, rather than present value of unpaid installments computed as of date of death of beneficiary pursuant to predecessor to 38 USCS § 1950. United States v Citizens Loan & Trust Co. (1942) 316 US 209, 86 L Ed 1387, 62 S Ct 1026, reh den (1942) 316 US 712, 86 L Ed 1777, 62 S Ct 1287

11. Obligations and rights of government

Deposit of insurance and disability compensation payments received from government, by guardian of incompetent veteran, in bank which subsequently becomes insolvent is not entitled to priority of payment out of assets of bank as debt due United States since payment of installments of insurance and disability compensation to guardian of mentally incompetent veteran vests title in ward and operates to discharge obligation of United States with respect to such installments. State ex rel. Sorensen v Horace State Bank (1933) 125 Neb 638, 251 NW 284

Government retains interest in insurance money until it arrives in hands of intended beneficiary, even though beneficiary may be determined under state inheritance laws. Hurley v Hirsch (1933, Tex Civ App) 66 SW2d 387; Hurley v White (1933, Tex Civ App) 66 SW2d 393
12. Disposition of accrued installments

Under yearly renewable term insurance policy, installments of disability benefits which have accrued to insured prior to his death go to his estate or personal representative, rather than to his beneficiary. Singleton v Cheek (1932) 284 US 493, 76 L Ed 419, 52 S Ct 257, 81 ALR 928; McCullough v Smith (1934) 293 US 228, 79 L Ed 297, 55 S Ct 157

Beneficiary, rather than estate of insured, is entitled to disability benefits which have accrued under converted war risk insurance at time of insured's death, or to refund of premiums paid after incapacity, where policy contains provision to effect that payments shall be made to beneficiary until entire 240 monthly installments, including any paid to insured during his lifetime, have been paid. Monthly installments accruing during insured's total disability, which are uncollected at time of his death, are part of insured's estate and subject to disposition according to his will. Ramsey v Saunders (1933) 114 W Va 590, 172 SE 798

13. Estate as trustee

Shelly v McKimmons (1939) 32 Cal App 2d 711, 90 P2d 842, cert den (1939) 308 US 610, 84 L Ed 510, 60 S Ct 174

17. Escheat

Under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1950, government is not required to pay funds to estate and then seek recovery in probate court on grounds that such funds would escheat, but may deny recovery to estate in first instance. Brown v United States (1933, CA9 Cal) 65 F.2d 65.

Haley v United States (1942, DC Mont) 46 F Supp 4, vacated on other grounds (1944, CA9 Mont) 145 F.2d 235.

Prohibition against making payments to estate if funds would escheat under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1950 includes such payments which state law requires be transferred from unclaimed estates to state comptroller. In re Hammond's Estate (1958) 3 NY2d 567, 170 NYS2d 505, 147 NE2d 777.

IV. DISTRIBUTIONS FROM ESTATE

18. Generally

Date of death of insured is time at which questions as to who is entitled to estate of insured should be determined under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1950. Singleton v Cheek (1932) 284 US 493, 76 L Ed 419, 52 S Ct 257, 81 ALR 923.

4. Satisfaction of liens against policies

Administrative practice under relevant regulation and policy provisions of recouping loan indebtedness constituting liens against United States Government Life Insurance policies by reducing each installment of total permanent disability benefits, in proportion indebtedness bears to commuted value of 240 installments certain, results in complete satisfaction of indebtedness after setoff is made from 240th installment; thus, when indebtedness has been fully liquidated through reduction of 240 installments, full installments of deferred annuity at rate of $5.75 for each $1,000 insurance are to be resumed in favor of insured who remains totally permanently disabled. 1959 ADVA 967

§ 1952. Optional settlement

(a) The Secretary may provide in insurance contracts for optional settlements, to be selected by the insured, whereby such insurance may be made payable either in one sum or in installments for thirty-six months or more. A provision may also be included in such contracts authorizing the beneficiary to elect to receive payment of the insurance in installments for thirty-six months or more, but only if the insured has not exercised his right of election as provided in this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1940 et seq.]. Even though the insured may have exercised the right of election the beneficiary may elect to receive such insurance in installments spread over a greater period of time than that selected by the insured. Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in any insurance contract, the beneficiary may, in the case of insurance maturing after September 30, 1981, and for which the insured has not exercised the right of election of the insured as provided in this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1940 et seq.], elect to receive payment of the insurance in one sum.

(b) Under such regulations as the Secretary may promulgate, the cash surrender value of any policy of insurance or the proceeds of an endowment contract which matures by reason of completion of the endowment period may be paid to the insured (1) in equal monthly installments of from thirty-six to two hundred and forty in number, in multiples of twelve; or (2) as a refund life income in monthly installments payable for such periods certain as may be required in order that the sum of the installments certain, including a last installment of such reduced amount as may be necessary, shall equal the cash value of the contract, less any indebtedness, with such payments continuing throughout the lifetime of the insured. However, all settlements under option (2) above shall be calculated on the basis of The Annuity Table for 1949. If the option selected requires payment of monthly installments of less than $10, the amount payable shall be paid in such maximum number of monthly installments as are a multiple of twelve as will provide a monthly installment of not less than $10.

(c) (1) Following the death of the insured and in a case not covered by section 1950 of this title [38 USCS § 1950]--
(A) if the first beneficiary otherwise entitled to payment of the insurance does not make a claim for such payment within two years after the death of the insured, payment may be made to another beneficiary designated by the insured, in the order of precedence as designated by the insured, as if the first beneficiary had predeceased the insured; and (B) if, within four years after the death of the insured, no claim has been filed by a person designated by the insured as a beneficiary and the Secretary has not received any notice in writing that any such claim will be made, payment may (notwithstanding any other provision of law) be made to such person as may in the judgment of the Secretary be equitably entitled thereto.

§ 1955. United States Government Life Insurance Fund

(a) All premiums paid on account of United States Government life insurance shall be deposited and covered into the Treasury to the credit of the United States Government Life Insurance Fund and shall be available for the payment of losses, dividends, refunds, and other benefits provided for under such insurance, including such liabilities as shall have been or shall hereafter be reduced to judgment in a district court of the United States or the United States District Court for the District of Columbia, and for the reimbursement of administrative costs under subsection (c). Payments from this fund shall be made upon and in accordance with awards by the Secretary.

(b) The Secretary is authorized to set aside out of the funds so collected such reserve funds as may be required, under accepted actuarial principles, to meet all liabilities under such insurance; and the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to invest and reinvest the said United States Government Life Insurance Fund, or any part thereof, in interest-bearing obligations of the United States or bonds of the Federal farm-loan banks and to sell said obligations of the United States or the bonds of the Federal farm-loan banks for the purposes of such Fund.

(c) (1) For each fiscal year for which this subsection is in effect, the Secretary shall, from the United States Government Life Insurance Fund, reimburse the "General operating expenses" account of the Department for the amount of administrative costs determined under paragraph (2) for that fiscal year. Such reimbursement shall be made from any surplus earnings for that fiscal year that are available for dividends on such insurance after claims have been paid and actuarially determined reserves have been set aside. However, if the amount of such administrative costs exceeds the amount of such surplus earnings, such reimbursement shall be made only to the extent of such surplus earnings.

(2) The Secretary shall determine the administrative costs to the Department for a fiscal year for which this subsection is in effect which, in the judgment of the Secretary, are properly allocable to the provision of United States Government Life Insurance (and to the provision of any total disability income insurance added to the provision of such insurance).

(3) This subsection shall be in effect only with respect to fiscal year 1996.

§ 1957. Extra hazard costs
(a) The United States shall bear the excess mortality and disability cost resulting from the hazards of war on United States Government life insurance.

(b) Whenever benefits under United States Government life insurance become, or have become, payable because of total permanent disability of the insured or because of the death of the insured as a result of disease or injury traceable to the extra hazard of the military or naval service, as such hazard may be determined by the Secretary, the liability shall be borne by the United States. In such cases the Secretary shall transfer from the military and naval insurance appropriation to the United States Government Life Insurance Fund a sum which, together with the reserve of the policy at the time of maturity by total permanent disability or death, will equal the then value of such benefits.
When a person receiving total permanent disability benefits under a United States Government life insurance policy recovers from such disability and is then entitled to continue a reduced amount of insurance, the Secretary shall transfer to the military and naval insurance appropriation all of the loss reserve to the credit of such policy claim except a sum sufficient to set up the then required reserve on the reduced amount of the insurance that may be continued, which sum shall be retained in the United States Government Life Insurance Fund for the purpose of such reserve.

(c) Whenever benefits under the total disability provision become, or have become, payable because of total disability of the insured as a result of disease or injury traceable to the extra hazard of the military or naval service, as such hazard may be determined by the Secretary, the liability shall be borne by the United States, and the Secretary shall transfer from the military and naval insurance appropriation to the United States Government Life Insurance Fund from time to time any amounts which become or have become payable to the insured on account of such total disability, and shall transfer from the United States Government Life Insurance Fund to the military and naval insurance appropriation the amount of the reserve held on account of the total disability benefit.
When a person receiving such payments on account of total disability recovers from such disability and is then entitled to continued protection under the total disability provision, the Secretary shall transfer to the United States Government Life Insurance Fund a sum sufficient to set up the then required reserve on such total disability benefit.

(d) Any disability for which a waiver was required as a condition to tendering a person a commission under Public Law 816, Seventy-seventh Congress, shall be deemed to be a disability resulting from an injury or disease traceable to the extra hazard of military or naval service for the purpose of applying this section.

I. IN GENERAL

1. Generally
   Ruling of Administrator [now Secretary] regarding meaning of total permanent disability is not, and manifestly was not intended to be, exact definition of total permanent disability as that phrase is used in policy of war risk insurance, or to be sole guide by which that phrase is to be construed. Lumbra v United States (1934) 290 US 551, 78 L Ed 492, 54 S Ct 272

2. Construction
   In recognition of various meanings inherent in phrase total permanent disability, phrase is to be construed reasonably, with regard for circumstances of each case. Lumbra v United States (1934) 290 US 551, 78 L Ed 492, 54 S Ct 272; United States v Brewer (1937, CA8 Iowa) 87 F.2d 672

   "Total permanent disability" phrase is to be construed reasonably in each case, and any administrative definitions are not to bind the courts. United States v Green (1934, CA8 Mo) 69 F.2d 921

3. Meaning of total permanent disability
   It is not necessary, in order to establish total and permanent disability under insurance policy, to show that insured is bedridden and wholly helpless, and that he has abandoned every possible effort to work. Berry v United States (1941) 312 US 450, 85 L Ed 945, 61 S Ct 637

   Total permanent disability, within meaning of insurance policy, requires something more than incipient or occasional disability. Galloway v United States (1943) 319 US 372, 87 L Ed 1458, 63 S Ct 1077, reh den (1943) 320 US 214, 87 L Ed 1851, 63 S Ct 1443

   Absolute incapacity to work is not essential to recovery on the ground of total permanent disability if there is inability to follow continuously substantially gainful occupation. United States v Sleigh (1929, CA9 Ariz) 31 F.2d 735, cert den (1929) 280 US 559, 74 L Ed 614, 50 S Ct 18; United States v Meserve (1930, CA9 Or) 44 F.2d 549; United States v Rice (1934, CA8 Neb) 72 F.2d 676

   Total and permanent disability means inability to follow continuously substantially gainful occupation and not necessarily occupation in which insured was engaged prior to his service in army and does not require bedridden condition. United States v Rye (1934, CA10 Okla) 70 F.2d 150

   Term "total and permanent disability" does not mean that there must be proof of absolute incapacity to do any work at all, test being whether insured is able to follow continuously some substantially gainful occupation without material injury to his health. United States v Kane (1934, CA9 Wash) 70 F.2d 396

Test for total permanent disability is whether insured can follow continuously any substantially gainful occupation. Cockrell v United States (1934, CA8 Iowa) 74 F.2d 151; United States v Bodge (1936, CA10 Kan) 85 F.2d 433

Phrase "totally and permanently disabled" has technical meaning quite different from its literal meaning and does not necessarily mean that insured is completely and irretrievably disabled for the rest of his life. Burak v United States (1939, CA9 Wash) 101 F.2d 137, cert den (1939) 308 US 595, 84 L Ed 498, 60 S Ct 126

To recover under permanent total disability clause of war risk insurance, disability must be of such character that it rendered insured incapable of pursuing with reasonable regularity any substantial gainful occupation and based upon conditions which render it reasonably certain that his disability will continue throughout his life. Dixon v United States (1940, CA7 Ill) 113 F.2d 640

4. -Totality of disability

Total disability, within meaning of insurance policy against death or total permanent disability, does not mean helplessness or complete disability, but includes more than that which is partial. Lumbra v United States (1934) 290 US 551, 78 L Ed 492, 54 S Ct 272

Total disability is such as renders it impossible for insured to engage with reasonable regularity in any substantially gainful occupation, and is permanent if reasonably certain to continue through life. Rackoff v United States (1935, CA2 NY) 74 F.2d 720

Recovery cannot be had upon partial disability, though permanent. Hughes v United States (1936, CA10 Okla) 83 F.2d 76; United States v McAlister (1937, CA9 Mont) 88 F.2d 379

5. -Permanence of disability

Permanent disability, for purposes of phrase total permanent disability, means that which is continuing as opposed to that which is temporary. Lumbra v United States (1934) 290 US 551, 78 L Ed 492, 54 S Ct 272

Disability is permanent whenever it is founded upon conditions which render it reasonably certain that it will continue throughout life of person suffering from it. United States v Kane (1934, CA9 Wash) 70 F.2d 396

Permanent disability means that which is continuing as opposed to that which is temporary, and separate and distinct periods of temporary disability do not constitute that which is permanent. United States v Middleton (1936, CA6 Tenn) 81 F.2d 205

II. RIGHT TO RECOVERY OF DISABILITY BENEFITS

6. Generally

Veteran cannot recover on his policy of war risk insurance unless he becomes totally disabled before its lapse and thereafter remains in that condition. United States v Spaulding (1935) 293 US 498, 79 L Ed 617, 55 S Ct 273, reh den (1935) 294 US 731, 79 L Ed 1261, 55 S Ct 504; United States v White (1931, CA9 Cal) 48 F.2d 584

Provisions of predecessor to 38 USCS §§ 1941 et seq. as amended, are sufficiently comprehensive to authorize its administrators to grant insurance covering past total permanent disability if such action is found necessary to carry out its plan and purpose. United States v Patryas (1938) 303 US 341, 82 L Ed 883, 58 S Ct 551

Under benefit payment provisions of government and life insurance policies, insured secures matured claim at moment of total and permanent disability. United States v Garland (1941, CA4 Va) 122 F.2d 118, 136 ALR 918, cert den (1941) 314 US 685, 86 L Ed 548, 62 S Ct 189

Disability insurance benefits, to which veteran is entitled as permanently and totally disabled, withheld at insured's request continue to accrue in favor of insured until determination is made that insured has recovered; finding of recovery does not alter legal effect of earlier determination.
of total permanent disability which was correct when made and not procured by fraud, and thus insured who was found to have recovered remains entitled to all contractual benefits which had accrued during period prior to recovery when he was deemed totally permanently disabled.

1960 ADVA 969

7. Construction of policy terms
   Insured making claim for total permanent disability is entitled to have policy terms liberally construed in his favor. United States v Cox (1928, CA5 Tex) 24 F.2d 944

8. Regulations
   Regulation of Veterans’ Bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs] which permits recovery under total permanent disability clause of policy where insured had been employed for 18 months was invalid. Nordberg v United States (1931, DC Mont) 51 F.2d 271

9. Retroactive benefits
   Insured’s right to back benefits for period 6 months prior to proof of disability is dependent upon his offering such proof. United States v Meyer (1935, CA3 NJ) 76 F.2d 354

10. Cause of disability
    Insurance policy covers any permanent total disability that occurs while such insurance is in force, rendering cause of disability irrelevant to insured’s right of recovery. Lumbra v United States (1934) 290 US 551, 78 L Ed 492, 54 S Ct 272

    Fact that disability is due primarily to congenital defects is immaterial under insurance policy if disability occurs while insurance is in force, since disability benefits under such insurance are not limited to disabilities caused by war service. Miller v United States (1935) 294 US 435, 79 L Ed 497, 55 S Ct 440, reh den (1935) 294 US 734, 79 L Ed 1262, 55 S Ct 635

    Self-inflicted disabilities are not covered, and negligent disregard of one’s conduct with knowledge that it may be harmful to him puts him in no better position. United States v Steadman (1934, CA10 Utah) 73 F.2d 706

11. Failure to accept treatment
    Insured, who failed to take medical treatment which would have prevented total and permanent disability, is not entitled to recover on policy. United States v Galloway (1933, CA4 SC) 62 F.2d 1057

    Insured cannot rely on total and permanent disability by neglecting advice of physician to submit himself to treatment where disability is susceptible to such treatment. Prevette v United States (1934, CA4 NC) 68 F.2d 112, cert den (1934) 292 US 622, 78 L Ed 1478, 54 S Ct 633

    Claimant’s negligence in not availing himself of treatment until disease had progressed beyond curable stage precludes his recovery under total permanent disability clause of policy. Puckett v United States (1934, CA5 Ga) 70 F.2d 895, cert den (1934) 293 US 555, 79 L Ed 657, 55 S Ct 99

    Insured who was not disabled at his discharge and left hospital where he was sent for treatment without authority of hospital officials, and continued to refuse to accept hospitalization, may not recover on his insurance even if it were found that proof of disability was otherwise sufficient. United States v Horn (1934, CA4 W Va) 73 F.2d 770

    Insured’s refusal to accept treatment for his disease bars recovery under total permanent disability clause of war risk insurance policy. Theberge v United States (1937, CA2 Vt) 87 F.2d 697

12. Disability after lapse of policy
    Fact that insured died of tuberculosis 6 years after he permitted his policy to lapse by nonpayment of premiums does not establish total and permanent disability at time of such lapse. United States v Stack (1933, CA4 SC) 62 F.2d 1056
Insured can not sustain his claim by showing that condition alleged as permanent might have arisen while his policy was in force, but must show that it did. United States v Sandifer (1935, CA5 La) 76 F.2d 551

Government is not liable on insurance policy for total permanent disability occurring subsequent to its lapse, although total and permanent disability was caused by conditions which arose or existed while policy was in force. Hoskins v United States (1938, CA5 Miss) 100 F.2d 343

Fact that incipient pulmonary tuberculosis became incurable subsequent to lapse of policy does not establish right to recover on policy. Smith v United States (1933, DC Ky) 5 F Supp 475

13. Determination of disability claim

Whether claimed disability is "total permanent" and was such during life of contract are questions of fact and their initial determination is for Veterans' Bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs]. United States v Green (1934, CA8 Mo) 69 F.2d 921

Under predecessor to 38 USCS §§ 1941 et seq. director of Veterans' Bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs] has authority to review awards based upon finding of permanent disability and to terminate them when he finds that disability has ceased. United States ex rel. Wilkinson v Hines (1934, Dist Col App) 64 App DC 5, 73 F.2d 514

14. Disability compensation rating

Rating sheet of Veterans' Bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs] is not conclusive on issue of total and permanent disability. United States v Riley (1931, CA9 Cal) 48 F.2d 203

Certificate of medical board finding only partial disability is not conclusive on that issue. Storey v United States (1932, CA10 Kan) 60 F.2d 484

Rating of permanent and total disability for insurance purposes will have no effect on compensation and vice versa. Miller v United States (1934, CA5 Ga) 71 F.2d 361, affd (1935) 294 US 435, 79 L Ed 977, 55 S Ct 734, 79 L Ed 1262, 55 S Ct 635

Mere fact that government has awarded soldier disability compensation proves nothing in suit on war risk insurance, as latter depends entirely upon contractual rights of respective parties. United States v Matory (1934, CA7 Ill) 71 F.2d 798

There are no compensable degrees of disability under insurance policy, making rating for disability compensation irrelevant to insured's right to recover on policy. Warren v United States (1930, DC Idaho) 42 F.2d 755

15. Discharge for disability

Insured has burden of proving total and permanent disability, and the mere fact that insured was discharged from service on account of rheumatism does not establish right to recover for such disability. Blair v United States (1931, CA8 Ark) 47 F.2d 109

Though insured was discharged on account of pulmonary tuberculosis, he can not be regarded as totally and permanently disabled where he worked thereafter with reasonable regularity at substantially gainful occupations. United States v Diehl (1932, CA4 W Va) 62 F.2d 343

Soldier discharged as physically unfit for military service is entitled to recover on policy on ground of permanent total disability. Marsh v United States (1929, DC Ark) 33 F.2d 554

16. Previous statements as to disability

Insured is estopped to set up total disability by his contrary representation made as condition precedent to reinstatement of his policy under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1959. Wills v United States (1925, DC Mont) 7 F.2d 137

Averment by insured in her application for reinstatement that she was not then totally disabled did not estop her from claiming total disability prior to reinstatement in subsequent suit. Dobbie v United States (1927, DC Tex) 19 F.2d 656

17. Delay in bringing suit on policy

Long delay before bringing suit is strong indication that insured was not disabled during delay. United States v Nickle (1934, CA8 Mo) 70 F.2d 873

Delay in bringing suit is circumstance to be weighed by trier of facts. United States v Wilson (1935, CA10 Kan) 78 F.2d 465

Long delay in bringing suit suggests insured did not believe he was disabled while policy was in force. United States v West (1935, CA10 Kan) 78 F.2d 785; Hughes v United States (1936, CA10 Okla) 83 F.2d 76

Insured's mental incapacity is factor for consideration in determining effect of his long delay in filing suit for total permanent disability. Plocher v United States (1937, CA6 Ohio) 87 F.2d 860

Failure of insured to file claim on his policy or long delay in instituting suit and is not conclusive against right of plaintiff to recover on policy, but is circumstance for consideration of jury under appropriate instructions. Drew v United States (1939, CA6 Tenn) 104 F.2d 939

18. Receipt of training

Professional training, such as dentistry, subsequent to alleged total permanent disability, is inconsistent with claim of such disability, since insured's inability to continuously engage in gainful occupation forms basis of claim. United States v Fain (1939, CA8 Ark) 103 F.2d 161

19. Vocational training

Fact that insured received vocational training does not preclude his recovery under permanent total disability clause of war risk insurance policy. United States v Nickle (1934, CA8 Mo) 70 F.2d 873

Fact that insured received some vocational training after discharge from service does not preclude his recovery for total permanent disability, but is circumstance for jury to consider under appropriate instructions. Drew v United States (1939, CA6 Tenn) 104 F.2d 939

III. ABILITY TO WORK

20. Generally

Total and permanent disability, as that phrase is used in insurance policy, does not require that insured be absolutely incapable of performing any work. Lumbra v United States (1934) 290 US 551, 78 L Ed 492, 54 S Ct 272; Berry v United States (1941) 312 US 450, 85 L Ed 945, 61 S Ct 637

Ability to work negativing permanent and total disability must be constant ability. Ross v United States (1931, CA5 Tex) 49 F.2d 541

Fact that insured did little work after incurring disability is not conclusive of his inability to do so. United States v Weeks (1933, CA8 Ark) 62 F.2d 1030

Mere fact of insured's working for relatively long periods of time is not conclusive against him, and mere fact of his not working is not conclusive of his disability. United States v Suomy (1934, CA9 Or) 70 F.2d 542

Work record may have effect of negativing claim of total and permanent disability, but veteran has right to negative effect of work record by evidence that performance of work impaired his health. Corrigan v United States (1936, CA9 Idaho) 82 F.2d 106

Nature of work done by insured, conditions under which it was done, and its effect upon insured's life are elements to be considered in determining whether he was totally and permanently disabled before policy lapsed. Robinson v United States (1937, CA2 NY) 87 F.2d 343

Fact that insured did not carry on substantially gainful occupation after onset of disability is strong evidence of inability, but not conclusive of his right to recover on policy. Dupuis v United States (1933, DC Mass) 4 F Supp 675
21. Ability to pursue former occupation

Injury or disease sufficient merely to prevent one from again doing some work of kind he had been accustomed to perform cannot be said to constitute total permanent disability contemplated by insurance policies. Lumbra v United States (1934) 290 US 551, 78 L Ed 492, 54 S Ct 272

Mere fact that insured is unable to follow his former occupation or to do work of kind he was accustomed to perform before his injury does not establish permanent and total character of his disability under war risk policy. Miller v United States (1935) 294 US 435, 79 L Ed 977, 55 S Ct 440, reh den (1935) 294 US 734, 79 L Ed 1262, 55 S Ct 635

Insured, who had meager education and had been farmer prior to disability, is totally and permanently disabled notwithstanding that he is physically able to perform light clerical work. United States v Rasar (1930, CA9 Wash) 45 F.2d 545

If insured is able follow some gainful occupation continuously, he cannot be said to be totally and permanently disabled, though he is unable to follow his prewar occupation. United States v Thomas (1931, CA4 SC) 53 F.2d 192

Fact that insured suffered from tuberculosis does not establish total and permanent disability where he continued his regular employment. Long v United States (1932, CA4 SC) 59 F.2d 602

Insured is not totally and permanently disabled where he could perform clerical duties satisfactorily without injury to himself, though he was unable to perform other kinds of work. United States v Donahue (1933, CA8 Minn) 66 F.2d 838

Veteran cannot be considered as totally and permanently disabled, though he is unable to follow same occupation in which he engaged prior to his entry into service, where he is able to follow continuously lighter or less strenuous work which is substantially gainful in character. United States v Derrick (1934, CA10 Okla) 70 F.2d 162

22. Aptitude for particular work

Insured's failure at attempt to obtain employment, which is due to his inaptitude for particular work rather than his disability, does not establish his right to recover under policy where insured had not made reasonable attempt to adopt himself to suitable employment, although he had means to do so. Miller v United States (1935) 294 US 435, 79 L Ed 977, 55 S Ct 440, reh den (1935) 294 US 734, 79 L Ed 1262, 55 S Ct 635

Doing of some work by insured, for which he was not fitted, cannot be considered "substantially gainful occupation." United States v Perry (1932, CA8 Ark) 55 F.2d 819

Inability of insured to follow occupation to which he is not adaptable does not establish total and permanent disability and there must be some disease bringing about the disability. Freeman v United States (1931, DC Ky) 48 F.2d 233

23. Performance of work at risk to health

Disability does not cease to be total because of insured's intermittent occupational or business activities, where activities are engaged in, without exercise of ordinary care or prudence, at risk of substantially aggravating ailment with which insured is afflicted. Lumbra v United States (1934) 290 US 551, 78 L Ed 492, 54 S Ct 272

If work impairs health of insured and accelerates his disease, it can not be said that he is able to carry on gainful occupation. Robinson v United States (1937, CA2 NY) 87 F.2d 343

Total and permanent disability is not proven where insured could work without risk of harm to himself in occupations not calling for heavy physical exertion. Hill v United States (1939, CA2 Vt) 104 F.2d 159

24. Performance of work resulting in pain or discomfort

Veteran's disability is not made total by fact that any work he might undertake is attended with discomfort, pain, and occasional illnesses, resulting in temporary interruption, as long as work does not involve risk of seriously impairing his health or aggravating ailments from which he suffers. United States v Burns (1934, CA5 Fla) 69 F.2d 636
Administrative definitions of total permanent disability are not binding on federal courts. United States v Green (1934, CA8 Mo) 69 F.2d 921

Efforts of claimants suffering from incipient tuberculosis to do reasonable amount of work in belief that their affliction is merely temporary ought not to be weighed against them. United States v Monger (1934, CA10 Wyo) 70 F.2d 361

Departmental definition of total and permanent disability is not sole and legal test of total and permanent disability. United States v Stephens (1934, CA9 Idaho) 73 F.2d 695

Fact that work always causes pain is not proof of total disability. United States v Deal (1936, CA9 Or) 82 F.2d 929

25. Continuous or regular employment

Fact that insured had been employed in various callings for several years after his discharge from army precludes finding of total and permanent disability. United States v Rice (1931, CA9 Or) 47 F.2d 749

Steady, continuous, profitable employment refutes any claim of total and permanent disability during the time of such employment. United States v Wilson (1931, CA4 SC) 50 F.2d 1063; United States v Seattle Title Trust Co. (1931, CA9 Wash) 53 F.2d 435; United States v Kerr (1932, CA9 Or) 61 F.2d 800; Craneshaw v United States (1933, CA1 Mass) 65 F.2d 649; Eberle v United States (1933, CA7 Ind) 66 F.2d 72; United States v Alvord (1933, CA1 Mass) 66 F.2d 455, cert den (1934) 291 US 661, 78 L Ed 1053, 54 S Ct 376; United States v Ingalls (1933, CA10 NM) 67 F.2d 593; United States v Timmons (1934, CA5 Fla) 68 F.2d 654; Tracy v United States (1934, CA2 Conn) 68 F.2d 834; Young v United States (1935, CA7 Ill) 75 F.2d 819

Evidence showing that insured received salary from private and public employment since shortly after his discharge from the army precludes claim of total disability arising from loss of arm. Parker v United States (1933, CA4 NC) 62 F.2d 1055

Fact that insured was continuously employed at full time wages precludes recovery under war risk policy for total permanent disability. Dukes v United States (1933, CA4 NC) 66 F.2d 73; United States v Younger (1933, CA4 NC) 67 F.2d 149

Total disability which is not continuous, and which does not prevent engagement in gainful occupation for substantial periods, does not warrant recovery on war risk policy. United States v Gwin (1933, CA6 Ky) 68 F.2d 124

Insured with work record showing substantial continuity of employment is not totally and permanently disabled, regardless of allegation that such employment was offered to him out of pity and sympathy. United States v Vineyard (1934, CA5 Ga) 71 F.2d 624, cert den (1934) 293 US 614, 79 L Ed 703, 55 S Ct 141

Fact that, subsequent to his discharge, insured enlisted in national guard and worked with reasonable regularity precludes recovery under policy for total permanent disability. United States v Sears (1935, CA4 NC) 75 F.2d 194

Record of remunerative work performed by veteran after time he claims to have become totally and permanently disabled is irreconcilable with finding of such disability. United States v Becker (1936, CA7 Ind) 86 F.2d 818

Plaintiff in suit on insurance policy who performed manual labor more or less regularly, although suffering from chores or St. Vitus dance, is precluded from recovering for total permanent disability where his condition at time of trial was in no respect different from that at time of his discharge from army as one-half disabled. United States v Sawler (1939, CA1 Mass) 104 F.2d 757

Total disability may exist if insured cannot engage continuously in some occupation, though it is not impossible for him to do some work. O’Hora v United States (1931, DC Pa) 49 F.2d 945

26. Intermittent or temporary employment
Mere fact that insured did some work does not preclude finding of total permanent disability, where other evidence clearly shows disability. Fladeland v United States (1931, CA9 Wash) 53 F.2d 17; United States v Ingle (1931, CA9 Or) 53 F.2d 52; United States v Martin (1931, CA5 Tex) 54 F.2d 554, cert den (1932) 286 US 546, 76 L Ed 1282, 52 S Ct 497; United States v Crume (1931, CA5 Tex) 54 F.2d 556; Green v United States (1932, CA8 Mo) 57 F.2d 9; Smith v United States (1934, DC W Va) 9 F Supp 32

Insured who was able to work only spasmodically, with frequent interruptions or change of employment made necessary by his physical or mental condition, cannot be said to be able to work with substantial continuity. United States v Fitzpatrick (1933, CA10 Okla) 62 F.2d 562

Total permanent disability may be established notwithstanding fact that insured was spasmodically employed. United States v Thomson (1934, CA10 NM) 71 F.2d 860

Although insured occasionally worked at various jobs, he may be found to be suffering total and permanent disability where there was constant ill health. United States v Linde (1934, CA10 Kan) 71 F.2d 925

Veteran with serious and incurable ailment, aggravated by work of any kind, is totally and permanently disabled although he may be gainfully employed for time. United States v Brown (1934, CA10 Utah) 72 F.2d 608

Fact that insured worked spasmodically out of necessity, which work aggravated his condition, does not preclude finding that insured is totally and permanently disabled for purposes of obtaining benefits under his war risk policy. United States v Higbee (1934, CA10 Utah) 72 F.2d 773

Insured's consistent attempts to obtain employment do not preclude his recovery under total permanent disability clause of policy, where each such attempt was terminated due to physical condition forming basis for recovery. United States v Worsley (1934, CA10 Utah) 72 F.2d 776

Employment for limited periods does not defeat recovery, if disability would prevent insured from continuously following substantially gainful occupation. United States v Sanford (1934, CA5 Ga) 73 F.2d 233

Fact that insured worked, though only for short periods, after lapse of policy, precludes finding that insured was permanently and totally disabled before such time. United States v Driscoll (1935, CA7 Ind) 80 F.2d 59, cert den (1936) 297 US 719, 80 L Ed 1004, 56 S Ct 599

Temporary or spasmodic periods of work do not necessarily negative total and permanent disability. United States v Protsch (1943, CA10 Kan) 137 F.2d 92

Fact that insured actually worked when he was physically unable to do so, or worked spasmodically or for short periods, does not negative total and permanent disability. Burgoyne v United States (1932, Dist Col App) 61 App DC 97, 57 F.2d 764

27. Temporary absences

Disability which prevents insured from following "continuously" any substantially gainful occupation does not embrace mere periods of temporary illness incident to all people of normal health, and it is sufficient to prevent recovery that insured works with reasonable regularity. United States v Peet (1932, CA10 Kan) 59 F.2d 728

Veteran who, over period of eight years, was unable to work for periods aggregating only one year, cannot recover for total permanent disability. Russian v United States (1937, CA3 Pa) 87 F.2d 895, cert den (1937) 301 US 689, 81 L Ed 1346, 57 S Ct 796

28. Voluntary termination of employment

Fact that insured voluntarily quit job, complaining of its difficulty and presence of smoke at work site, does not establish that he is unable to continuously follow any gainful occupation. United States v Hill (1932, CA9 Or) 61 F.2d 651

29. Amount of earnings
Evidence that insured, during ten years following his discharge from army, earned $10,000 as collector negatives total and permanent disability, though during that period he received hospital treatment for several months. United States v Perry (1932, CA8 Ark) 55 F.2d 819

Insured's written statement that he had been employed at $80 per month just prior to filing claim does not, by itself, preclude recovery for total permanent disability alleged to result from active tuberculosis contracted during military service. Meyer v United States (1933, CA5 La) 65 F.2d 509

Insured may be found to be totally and permanently disabled despite fact that he had occupied two nominal jobs. United States v Sessin (1936, CA10 Kan) 84 F.2d 667

Insured maybe totally and permanently disabled even though he earned some money, where his physical condition disabled him from continuously following gainful occupation. Anderson v United States (1930, DC Pa) 50 F.2d 268

30. Miscellaneous

Fact that insured engaged in farming and bought interest in mill from his savings does not preclude his recovery for total and permanent disability under war risk policy, where insured's efforts were successful only because his relatives performed all necessary work. United States v Strawbridge (1944, CA5 Miss) 139 F.2d 1014, cert den (1944) 321 US 797, 88 L Ed 1085, 64 S Ct 937

Insured is not totally and permanently disabled where evidence showed that he was capable of performing work of blacksmith, and actually worked as such for eighteen months. Nordberg v United States (1931, DC Mont) 51 F.2d 271

Insured who was employed as state ranger for several months, and who engaged in other employment, cannot be found to have been permanently and totally disabled prior to such employment. Putney v United States (1933, DC Colo) 4 F Supp 376

IV. PARTICULAR INFIRMITIES AS DISABLING

31. Arthritis

Existence of progressive arthritis does not establish that insured was totally and permanently disabled at date of lapse of policy. Edwards v United States (1931, DC Mass) 2 F Supp 49

32. Diabetes

Since diabetes responds to treatment, evidence of existence of such disease does not by itself, support finding of total and permanent disability. United States v Elmore (1934, CA5 Fla) 68 F.2d 551

33. Epilepsy

Although insured suffers from grand mal epilepsy at time of suit and there is evidence that he was suffering from same disease at time his policy lapsed, uncontradicted evidence that insured worked for several of intervening years earning substantial amounts precludes him from recovering. United States v Carper (1935, CA4 W Va) 75 F.2d 191

Fact that insured suffered from fainting spells having characteristics of epilepsy is insufficient to allow recovery for total permanent disability. Birdsell v United States (1933, DC Colo) 4 F Supp 140

Veteran subject to epileptic convulsions is permanently and totally disabled, though he had worked occasionally some and delayed in bringing suit. Sutphin v United States (1936, DC Ky) 15 F Supp 660

34. Eyesight

In view of regulation defining total and permanent disability, loss of sight in one eye is insufficient to support finding of total permanent disability where evidence of ability to work was conflicting. United States v Crain (1933, CA7 Ill) 63 F.2d 528
Evidence that insured worked as teamster and painter until his induction into service, and that for several months thereafter he discharged his military duties, precludes finding he was totally and permanently disabled because of blindness when his policy was issued one week after induction. Mason v United States (1934, CA8 Mo) 75 F.2d 54

Evidence that veteran suffered from amblyopia is sufficient to justify finding of total permanent disability. United States v Harless (1935, CA4 W Va) 76 F.2d 317

Insured’s loss of eyesight is sufficient to support finding of total permanent disability where such loss prevents him from continuously following any substantially gainful occupation. Sheridan v United States (1944, DC NJ) 55 F Supp 996

35. Hearing
Veteran who lost his natural hearing is totally and permanently disabled within valid provision of war risk insurance, though he might get relief by use of ear phones which he could not afford to purchase. United States v Atkinson (1935, CA5 Tex) 76 F.2d 564, affd (1936) 297 US 157, 80 L Ed 555, 56 S Ct 391

Evidence that veteran suffered from partial deafness and loss of equilibrium as result of being struck on head may establish total and permanent disability, but does not sustain burden of proving injury occurred after he had applied for insurance. United States v Mathis (1936, CA10 Kan) 84 F.2d 451

36. Heart disorder
Though insured is permanently disabled on account of valvular heart leak, such fact does not show that disability is total. Gregory v United States (1932, CA4 W Va) 62 F.2d 345

37. Hernia
Fact that insured was weakened as result of operation and suffered from hernia does not establish total and permanent disability. United States v Ellis (1932, CA4 SC) 62 F.2d 348

Fact that no corporation would hire man with potential hernia is no test in determining total and permanent disability of man so affected. United States v Matory (1934, CA7 Ill) 71 F.2d 798

38. Loss of limbs
Insured is not totally and permanently disabled by amputation of leg resulting from accidental gunshot wound, where he actually engaged in gainful occupation after injury. United States v Mayfield (1933, CA10 Okla) 64 F.2d 214

Loss of leg from battle wound does not result in total permanent disability under war risk policy, where record disclosed that insured subsequently engaged in continuous employment at substantial wages. United States v Harris (1933, CA4 NC) 66 F.2d 71

Loss of arm prior to lapse of policy does not show total and permanent disability where insured was not thereby prevented from securing employment. Bridges v United States (1933, CA5 Ga) 67 F.2d 320

Loss of one leg or one arm is not generally sufficient to constitute total disability, however permanent such partial disability may be. United States v Adcock (1934, CA6 Tenn) 69 F.2d 959

Whether loss of one leg constitutes total and permanent disability must be determined in each case. United States v Rice (1934, CA8 Neb) 72 F.2d 676

Veteran who contracted spinal meningitis while in service, but is able to do light work without aggravating his condition, did not sustain burden of proving total and permanent disability before lapse of policy. Hughes v United States (1936, CA10 Okla) 83 F.2d 76

40. Mental illness

Soldier discharged as mentally deranged and one-half disabled is to be regarded as totally disabled for purposes of policy claim. United States v Cox (1928, CA5 Tex) 24 F.2d 944

Insured may be totally and permanently disabled on account of neurotic condition, without proving absolute incapacity to do any work, and unsuccessful efforts to work do not rebut testimony as to disability. United States v Fulkerson (1933, CA9 Wash) 67 F.2d 288

Recovery on policy is proper where insured was insane at time of his discharge from army and was thereafter unable to continuously follow any gainful occupation. United States v Kelly (1934, CA5 Ga) 68 F.2d 312

Testimony showing that insured was totally disabled by insanity does not establish that condition is permanent. United States v Kiles (1934, CA8 Mo) 70 F.2d 880

Evidence that veteran was discharged from army after nervous breakdown and worked intermittently for 13 years before bringing suit is insufficient to show that he was totally and permanently disabled. United States v Hodges (1935, CA6 Tenn) 74 F.2d 617

Disability may result as well from condition of mind and nerves as from other causes, and where man is so inattentive or forgetful as result of mental disorder that he cannot be trusted to carry on even simple forms of work, he is as truly disabled from earning livelihood as one who must refrain from work on account of condition of his vital organs. United States v Taylor (1940, CA4 NC) 110 F.2d 132

Instance or two of hysteria or uncontrolled emotion during period of tension is not proof of total permanent disability by reason of insanity. Galloway v United States (1942, CA9 Cal) 130 F.2d 467, affd (1943) 319 US 372, 87 L Ed 1458, 63 S Ct 1077, reh den (1943) 320 US 214, 87 L Ed 1851, 63 S Ct 1443

Government cannot defend against insured's claim of total disability because of his mental state by contending that he had same disability at time he entered service, where insured was examined and accepted and served in navy approximately a year without objection, until he was struck by shell fragment, after which he was placed in hospital and discharged from service. Jagodnigg v United States (1924, DC Mo) 295 F 916

Fact that insured possessed constitutional psychopathic inferiority at time of his enlistment which rendered him unable to withstand harrowing experiences of war, may render him totally 41. Multiple sclerosis

Knight v United States (1930, DC Me) 45 F.2d 202

43. Permanent injury to limbs or other bodily parts

Shortening of leg is not necessarily total disability. United States v Weeks (1933, CA8 Ark) 62 F.2d 1030

Mere fact that insured suffered injury to his ankle and was thrown down and rendered unconscious by shell explosion is insufficient in itself to show that total and permanent disability resulted therefrom and existed at time of lapse of policy. United States v Lumbra (1933, CA2 Vt) 63 F.2d 796, affd (1934) 290 US 551, 78 L Ed 492, 54 S Ct 272

Mere fact that veteran, who had fifth or sixth grade education, sustained severe injury to his left arm does not establish that he was totally and permanently disabled before his discharge. United States v McAlister (1937, CA9 Mont) 88 F.2d 379

Mere fact that veteran incurred permanent injury to one foot does not sustain burden of proving total and permanent disability before lapse of policy. United States v Peet (1937, CA10 Kan) 88 F.2d 597

Insured's injury to neck, requiring wearing of brace, is sufficient to support recovery where injury rendered it impossible for insured to carry on continuously any substantially gainful occupation. Slocum v United States (1932, DC Mass) 2 F Supp 8

44. Respiratory disease

Evidence of asthma is insufficient to go to jury on issue of total and permanent disability. United States v Hainer (1932, CA9 Or) 61 F.2d 581

Mere fact that insured suffered from chronic bronchitis does not establish that such condition it produced total disability. United States v Cline (1932, CA4 W Va) 62 F.2d 346; United States v Jones (1932, CA4 NC) 62 F.2d 347

Incipient tuberculosis and bronchitis and asthma, even if contracted in service, do not establish total and permanent disability. United States v Bishop (1937, CA6 Tenn) 90 F.2d 65

If either pleurisy or tuberculosis has reached its chronic stage, although arrested, and in its course has destroyed either lung or pleura membrane to such extent as to permanently impair insured's body to degree that he can not continuously follow any gainful occupations without physical harm, it has permanently and totally disabled him. Drew v United States (1939, CA6 Tenn) 104 F.2d 939

45. -Tuberculosis

Showing that veteran is afflicted with active pulmonary tuberculosis is sufficient to support recovery on war risk policy. United States v Sligh (1929, CA9 Ariz) 31 F.2d 735, cert den (1929) 280 US 559, 74 L Ed 614, 50 S Ct 18

Since absolute incapacity to do any work is not test for recovery on policy, evidence showing tuberculosis of lungs presents question for jury as to whether total and permanent disability existed at time policy lapsed. McNally v United States (1931, CA8 Minn) 52 F.2d 440

Existence of tuberculosis does not necessarily show total and permanent disability, such question being one of fact for jury. Edwards v United States (1931, CA4 SC) 53 F.2d 622

Total and permanent disability is not shown by evidence that insured had tuberculosis, in absence of showing that disease could not be arrested. Garrison v United States (1932, CA4 SC) 62 F.2d 41; Andrews v United States (1933, CA8 Ark) 63 F.2d 184; United States v Harrell (1933, CA10 Okla) 66 F.2d 231; United States v Schroeder (1935, CA7 Ind) 77 F.2d 173; United States v Bryan (1936, CA5 La) 82 F.2d 784; United States v Atkison (1936, CA5 Miss) 84 F.2d 968; Robinson v United States (1937, CA2 NY) 87 F.2d 343; Parrigan v United States (1933, DC Ky) 6 F Supp 333

While incipient tuberculosis may not necessarily render one totally and permanently disabled, evidence of disease presents question for jury as to whether such disability existed at time of lapse of policy. United States v Thomas (1933, CA10 Utah) 64 F.2d 245

To warrant recovery on policy on ground of total and permanent disability at time policy lapsed, incipient tuberculosis must be reasonably certain to become permanent. Falbo v United States (1933, CA9 Idaho) 64 F.2d 948, affd (1934) 291 US 646, 78 L Ed 1042, 54 S Ct 456

Tuberculosis which can be arrested, and which does not prevent insured from working under proper conditions, does not constitute total and permanent disability. United States v Messinger (1934, CA4 W Va) 68 F.2d 234

In determining whether tuberculosis had reached such stage as to constitute total and permanent disability while the policy was in force, court will look to its subsequent history as well.

Fact that varicose condition of one leg, which forms basis for insured's claim of total permanent disability, existed prior to service imposes heavy burden of proof on insured, although claim is not precluded. United States v Jones (1934, CA5 Ala) 73 F.2d 376

49. Venereal disease

Mere fact that insured suffered from lumbago and tabes dorsalis, caused by syphilis, does not establish total and permanent disability before lapse of policy. United States v Wiggins (1936, CA5 Ala) 81 F.2d 911

Fact that insured suffered from syphilis and goitre does not, by itself, establish that he was permanently and totally disabled before lapse of policy. United States v Cole (1936, CA7 Ind) 82 F.2d 655

Facts that insured contracted pneumonia, influenza, and spinal meningitis while in service did not establish total and permanent disability at time his policy lapsed, though it was later determined that his disease was incurable. United States v Wilfore (1933, CA2 Vt) 66 F.2d 255

Fact that insured suffered loss of eye, hearing in one ear and gunshot wound in leg was insufficient to establish that he was totally and permanently disabled at time of lapse of his policy. United States v Hammons (1933, CA10 Okla) 66 F.2d 912

§ 1959. Waiver of disability for reinstatement

(a) In the event that all provisions of the rules and regulations other than the requirements as to the physical condition of the applicant have been complied with, an application for reinstatement, in whole or in part, of lapsed United States Government life insurance may be approved if made within two years after the date of lapse and if the applicant's disability is the result of an injury or disease, or of an aggravation thereof, suffered or contracted in the active military or naval service during the period beginning April 6, 1917, and ending July 2, 1921, and the applicant during the applicant's lifetime submits proof satisfactory to the Secretary showing that the applicant is not totally and permanently disabled. As a condition to the acceptance of an application for reinstatement under this section, the applicant shall be required to pay all the back monthly premiums which would have become payable if such insurance had not lapsed, together with interest at the rates of 5 per centum per annum, compounded annually, on each premium from the date said premium is due by the terms of the policy.

(b) Premium liens established under the provisions of section 304 of the World War Veterans' Act, 1924, shall continue to bear interest at the rate of 5 per centum per annum, compounded annually, and will be deducted from any settlement of insurance to which they are attached.

I. IN GENERAL

1. Generally
Reinstatement must be in accordance with rules and regulations, and agents of Bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs] are without power to waive compliance therewith. Sternfeld v United States (1929, DC NY) 32 F.2d 789

2. Regulations
Regulation requiring insured to submit proof of good health prior to reinstatement of total disability clause is inconsistent with predecessor to 38 USCS § 1959, allowing reinstatement of entire policy for certain war-disabled veterans. United States ex rel. Lyons v Hines (1939) 70 App DC 36, 103 F.2d 737, 122 ALR 674

Regulations governing reinstatement have full force and effect of law. Raives v United States (1930, DC NY) 39 F.2d 142, affd (1931, CA2 NY) 54 F.2d 267

3. Evidence
Statements made in applications for reinstatement that insured was not totally and permanently disabled, although explainable, constitute evidence which should be submitted to jury in action on policy. United States v Harris (1935, CA7 Ill) 80 F.2d 771

Presumption that member of armed forces was in sound condition at time of enlistment applies to veterans' attempts to have policy reinstated, regardless of whether reinstatement is sought upon grounds of good health under Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] regulations or under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1959. Van Pelt v United States (1943, CA6 Ohio) 134 F.2d 735; United States v Van Pelt (1944, CA6 Ohio) 142 F.2d 61, cert den (1944) 323 US 740, 89 L Ed 593, 65 S Ct 68

Regulation requiring insured to submit proof of good health prior to reinstatement of total disability clause is inconsistent with predecessor to 38 USCS § 1959, allowing reinstatement of entire policy for certain war-disabled veterans. United States ex rel. Lyons v Hines (1939) 70 App DC 36, 103 F.2d 737, 122 ALR 674

4. Action on policy

Upon reinstatement of policy under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1959, insured is estopped to sue under original policy claiming total permanent disability at time of reinstatement, since proof that insured is not totally and permanently disabled is prerequisite to reinstatement under predecessor to § 1959. Stevens v United States (1928, CA8 Minn) 29 F.2d 904

Statements made in applications for reinstatement that insured was not totally and permanently disabled, although explainable, constitute evidence which should be submitted to jury in action on policy. United States v Harris (1935, CA7 Ill) 80 F.2d 771

II. PREMIUM LIEN

5. Generally

Lien representing back premiums, established in reinstatement of policy under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1959 is contingent indebtedness against such reinstated insurance only, to be deducted solely from any settlement under such reinstated policy. (1932) 40 Op Atty Gen 562

6. Application

Additional $5,000 of insurance erroneously issued does not represent lapsed insurance, and is not subject to reinstatement, collection of back premiums, or lien under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1959. 1935 ADVA 339

When premium lien is established on reinstatement of insurance and amount of insurance is subsequently reduced, interest on lien from time of reinstatement accrues only against reduced amount of insurance and not on whole amount of former lien. 1954 ADVA 950

7. Settlement of debt

Intent of Congress was that loan should be deducted only from face of policy at time of permanent disability or death. United States v Moskowitz (1948, CA5 Ga) 170 F.2d 870

Policy of applying dividends apportioned to policy as payment on existing indebtedness only in instances where amount of such indebtedness exceeds reserve on policy is proper; both loan and lien existing against government life insurance policy are included within term "any indebtedness" which under Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] regulations, beneficiary must pay off in cash upon maturity of policy by death if policy is to be paid in monthly installments. 1946 ADVA 731

§ 1960. Waiver of premium payments on due date

(a) The Secretary is authorized to provide by regulations for waiving the payment of premiums on United States Government life insurance on the due date thereof and the insurance may be deemed not to lapse in the cases of the following persons: (1) those who are confined in hospital under the Department for a compensable disability during the period while they are so confined; (2) those who are rated as temporarily totally disabled by reason of any injury or disease entitling them to compensation during the period of such total disability and while they are so rated; (3) those who, while mentally incompetent and for whom no legal guardian had been or has been appointed, allowed or may allow their insurance to lapse during the period for which they have been or hereafter may be rated mentally incompetent, or until a guardian has notified the Department of the guardian's qualification, but not later than six months after appointment of a guardian. In mentally incompetent cases the waiver is to be made without application and retroactive when necessary. Relief from payment of premiums on the due date thereof shall be for full calendar months, beginning with the month in which said confinement to hospital, the temporary total disability rating, or the mental incompetency began or begins and ending with that month during the half or major fraction of which such persons are no longer entitled to waiver as provided above.

(b) All premiums the payment of which when due is waived as provided in this section shall bear interest at the rate of 5 percent per annum, compounded annually, from the due date of each premium, and if not paid by the insured shall be deducted from the insurance in any settlement thereunder, or when the same matures either because of permanent total disability or death. In the event any lien or other indebtedness established by this section or prior corresponding provision of law exists against any policy of United States Government life insurance in excess of the then cash surrender value thereof at the time of the termination of such policy of insurance for any reason other than by death or total permanent disability the Secretary is authorized to transfer and pay from the military and naval insurance appropriation to the United States Government Life Insurance Fund a sum equal to the amount such lien or indebtedness exceeds the then cash surrender value.

Prior law and revision:
This section is based on 38 USC § 517 and note (Acts June 7, 1924, ch 320, Title III, § 306, 43 Stat. 626; July 3, 1930, ch 863, §§ 1, 2, 46 Stat. 1016).

Amendments:
1982. Act Oct. 12, 1982, in subsec. (b), substituted "percent" for "per centum".
1986. Act Oct. 28, 1986, in subsec. (a), substituted "the guardian" for "his".
1991. Act Aug. 6, 1991, redesignated this section, formerly 38 USCS § 760, as 38 USCS § 1960, and substituted "Department" for "Veterans' Administration" and "Secretary" for "Administrator".

Other provisions:
Application and construction of the Oct. 12, 1982 amendment of this section. For provisions as to the application and construction of the Oct. 12, 1982 amendment of this section, see § 5 of such Act, which appears as 10 USCS § 101 note.

1. Generally
2. Mental incompetence

1. Generally
Disability excusing payment of premiums need not involve absolute incapacity, but must be such as prevents insured from following continuously some gainful occupation. United States v McPhee (1929, CA9 Wash) 31 F.2d 243
2. Mental incompetence

Court is without authority to determine question of mental incompetency independently of rating by Veterans' Bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs] in order to apply retroactive waiver of insurance premiums, but where court has jurisdiction of subject matter and parties, government may waive rating and permit determination of issue of incompetency. United States v Edwards (1927, CA8 Neb) 23 F.2d 477

§ 1961. Authority for higher interest rates for amounts payable to beneficiaries

Notwithstanding section 1944(b) of this title [38 USCS § 1944(b)], if the beneficiary of an insurance policy issued under the provisions of this subchapter receives the proceeds of such policy under a settlement option under which such proceeds are paid in equal monthly installments over a limited period of months, the interest that may be added to each such installment may be at a rate that is higher than the interest rate prescribed in such section. The Secretary may from time to time establish a higher interest rate under the preceding sentence only in accordance with a determination that such higher rate is administratively and actuarially sound. Any such higher interest rate shall be paid on the unpaid balance of such monthly installments.

Effective date of section:

Act Nov. 28, 1979, P. L. 96-128, Title VI, § 601(b), 93 Stat. 988, provided that this section is effective on Nov. 28, 1979.

§ 1962. Authority for higher monthly installments payable to certain annuitants

(a) Subject to subsections (b) and (c) of this section, the Secretary may from time to time adjust the dollar amount of the monthly installments payable to a beneficiary of United States Government Life Insurance who is receiving the proceeds of such insurance under a life annuity settlement option. The Secretary may make such an adjustment only if the Secretary determines that the adjustment is administratively and actuarially sound. (b) The Secretary shall determine the amount in the trust fund in the Treasury held for payment of proceeds to United States Government Life Insurance beneficiaries attributable to interest and mortality gains on the reserves held for annuity accounts. Insurance: Term "children" as used in beneficiary clause of life insurance policy as including illegitimate child. 62 ALR3d 1329

1. Constitutionality
2. Active duty for training
3. Inactive duty training
4. Member
5. Child
6. Parent
7. -Abandonment of child
8. Widow

1. Constitutionality

Statute providing for ways in which paternity could be established did not violate equal protection clause even though child in instant case did not fit within one of alternatives since Congress is not charged with making every option available to every illegitimate child and Congress chose alternative that introduces reliability into paternity disputes by creating opportunity for alleged father to acknowledge or contest paternity and accuracy in paternity determinations is important government interest. Prudential Ins. Co. v Moorhead (1990, CA5 La) 916 F.2d 261

2. Active duty for training

In proceeding by surviving parents of deceased serviceman to collect, as beneficiaries, proceeds of national service life insurance policy, Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] failed to prove that serviceman had been absent without leave for period of 31 days prior to his death, as defense to payment of policy under 38 USCS § 768(a)(1)(B) [now 38 USCS § 1968(a)(1)(B)], where his change of duty station orders were lost and he was never declared to be on unauthorized leave status or a deserter. Malone v United States Veterans Administration (1973, SD Ohio) 364 F Supp 114

Serviceman is not engaged in active duty for training as member where he is not required to participate in training program and does not elect to do so; thus, serviceman is not entitled to benefits of Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance under § 767 [now § 1967]. Nowinski v Servicemen's Group Life Ins. (1980, ED Pa) 484 F Supp 1060

3. Inactive duty training

Serviceman merely scheduled to begin duty at specified time and place is not thereby on inactive duty training since 38 USCS § 765 [now 38 USCS § 1965] clearly contemplates that status of being on inactive duty training entails actual participation in that duty; thus, serviceman is not entitled to benefits of Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance under § 767 [now § 1967]. Nowinski v Servicemen's Group Life Ins. (1980, ED Pa) 484 F Supp 1060

4. Member

Non-prior service enlistee in nonpay status who was awaiting orders to attend his initial active duty training was "member" of Ready Reserve within meaning of 38 USCS § 765(5)(B) [now 38 USCS § 1965(5)(B)] at time of his death since he was in position of one who "will be" scheduled for training even though at that time unqualified to be so scheduled. Moore v Prudential Ins. Co. (1980, MD Ga) 499 F Supp 418

Insured was no longer member under 38 USCS § 765(5)(B) [now 38 USCS § 1965(5)(B)] where, on effective date of Act increasing maximum amount of coverage under 38 USCS § 767
[now 38 USCS § 1965], he had been transferred from Navy Ready Reserve unit, in which he was required to perform active duty for training, to Reserve Readiness Command Region Four Records Review status where he was required to perform neither active nor inactive duty training creditable for retirement. Garvey v Servicemen's Group Life Ins. (1984, MD Pa) 584 F Supp 623

Claimant's well-pleaded complaint in action to recover life insurance benefits stated claim under Servicemembers Group Life Insurance Act, 38 USCS § 1965, so that federal question jurisdiction applied under 28 USCS § 1331 and complete preemption doctrine was thus inapplicable; application of state law under Fla. Stat. ch. 731.103 to limited issue of date of insured's presumed death did not cause claim to fail as matter of law. Cotton v Prudential Ins. Co. of Am. (2005, ND Fla) 391 F Supp 2d 1137

Statute defining "child" for purposes of collecting proceeds of serviceman's life insurance is constitutional, despite imposing conditions that must be met in order for illegitimate children to qualify as beneficiaries. Prudential Ins. Co. v Moorhead (1989, MD La) 730 F Supp 727

6. Parent

Putative father's response to deceased service member's mother's summary judgment motion and that signed writings in which he acknowledged paternity door should exist was inadequate, without more, to rise genuine issue of material fact necessary to overcome summary judgment motion. Prudential Ins. Co. v Whitney (1992, CA8 Mo) 954 F.2d 516

Serviceman's stepfather, who had never adopted serviceman, was not entitled to share in proceeds as one of serviceman's "parents" upon failure of serviceman to designate beneficiary. Prudential Ins. Co. v Johnson (1972, ND) 200 NW2d 115

Under 38 USCS § 765(9) [now 38 USCS § 1965(9)], term "parent" is limited to categories there defined, and does not include person who is stepparent or person in loco parentis. Prudential Ins. Co. v Ellwein (1977, WD NY) 435 F Supp 248

Word "parents" is limited to only natural parents of insured and does not include person who is stepparent or person in loco parentis. Nunn v Nunn (1970) 81 NM 746, 473 P2d 360

7. -Abandonment of child

Statute does not require that abandonment be proved by clear and convincing evidence; proof by preponderance of evidence would suffice. Thomas v Swanson (1989, CA8 Ark) 881 F.2d 523

Divorced mother of deceased serviceman is entitled to half of proceeds of life insurance policy under 10 USCS § 770 where evidence that she made child support payments and maintained contact with deceased was sufficient to show that she was not excluded from definition of "parent" in § 765 [now § 1965] by reason of abandoning or failing to support child. Loacano v Office of Servicemen's Group Life Ins., etc. (1982, ED Mich) 544 F Supp 306, 73 ALR Fed 131

Deceased serviceman's natural mother is entitled to entire proceeds of group life insurance policy issued pursuant to Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance Act (38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.), where natural father abandoned illegitimate son during his minority and was not aware that son had named him as his father in service department records, because records failed to prove father "parent" of serviceman as that word is defined by § 765(9)(e) [now § 1965(a)]. Prudential Ins. Co. v Whitney (1990, WD Mo) 745 F Supp 1506, affd (1992, CA8 Mo) 954 F.2d 516

Deceased serviceman's natural mother is entitled to entire proceeds of group life insurance policy issued pursuant to Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance Act (38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.), where natural father abandoned illegitimate son during his minority and was not aware that son had named him as his father in service department records, because records failed to prove father "parent" of serviceman as that word is defined by § 765(9)(e) [now § 1965(9)]. Prudential Ins. Co. v Whitney (1990, WD Mo) 745 F Supp 1506, affd (1992, CA8 Mo) 954 F.2d 516

Payment of $100,000 or half of proceeds under service members' group life insurance policy to father of deceased member of U.S. Navy cannot be made summarily, even though he has paid total of $13,715 in child support payments, where any support paid was apparently due to criminal conviction and court-ordered child support payments, and there was little or no contact with son after age of 8, because whether or not father "abandoned" son within meaning of 38 USCS § 1965(9) cannot be determined as matter of law. Weber v Prudential Ins. Co. of Am. (2000, DC Conn) 120 F Supp 2d 220

Father had not "abandoned" son within meaning of 38 USCS § 765(9) [now 38 USCS § 1965(9)], where father made court-ordered support payments until son achieved majority, even though father did not provide son with birthday or Christmas gifts, nor provide financial support beyond court order, nor display fatherly attitude toward son; parental relationship can be terminated under 38 USCS § 765(9) [now 38 USCS § 1965(9)] in only three ways: abandonment, failure of support, and consent to adoption, and, in absence of evidence of settled purpose to forego parental duties and obligations, abandonment does not take place. Rahn v Prudential Ins. Co. (1977, Iowa) 259 NW2d 838

Former wife of deceased serviceman who died 4 months before preliminary divorce decree pursuant to separation agreement became final under Nebraska law is not "widow" of deceased for purposes of determining entitlement to proceeds of Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance Policy under 38 USCS § 770 [now 38 USCS § 1970], where deceased had designated that proceeds be distributed as provided "by law", since under § 765 [now 38 USCS § 1965], widow must be lawful spouse at time of serviceman's death, and state probate code which controls, rather than domestic relations law, excludes from definition of surviving spouse participant in valid proceeding concluded by order purporting to terminate all marital property rights against decedent. Prudential Ins. Co. v Dulek (1981, CA8 Neb) 665 F.2d 217

§ 1966. Eligible insurance companies

(a) The Secretary is authorized, without regard to section 3709 of the Revised Statutes, as amended (41 U.S.C. 5), to purchase from one or more life insurance companies a policy or policies of group life insurance to provide the benefits specified in this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.]. Each such life insurance company must (1) be licensed to issue life insurance in each of the fifty States of the United States and in the District of Columbia, and (2) as of the most recent December 31 for which information is available to the Secretary, have in effect at least 1 percent of the total amount of group life insurance which all life insurance companies have in effect in the United States.

(b) The life insurance company or companies issuing such policy or policies shall establish an administrative office at a place and under a name designated by the Secretary.

(c) The Secretary shall arrange with the life insurance company or companies issuing any policy or policies under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.] to reinsure, under conditions approved by the Secretary, portions of the total amount of insurance under such policy or policies with such other life insurance companies (which meet qualifying criteria set forth by the Secretary) as may elect to participate in such reinsurance.
(d) The Secretary may at any time discontinue any policy or policies which the Secretary has purchased from any insurance company under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.].

(B) in the case of any subsequent such election if the effect of such election is to reduce the amount of insurance coverage of the member from that in effect immediately before such election.

(3) In the case of a member who is married and who is insured under this section, if the member makes a designation under section 1970(a) of this title [38 USCS § 1970(a)] of any person other than the spouse or a child of the member as the beneficiary of the member for any amount of insurance under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.], the Secretary concerned shall notify the member's spouse, in writing, that such a beneficiary designation has been made by the member, except that such a notification is not required if the spouse has previously received such a notification under this paragraph and if immediately before the new designation by the member under section 1970(a) of this title [38 USCS § 1970(a)] the spouse is not a designated beneficiary of the member for any amount of insurance under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.].

(4) A notification required by this subsection is satisfied by a good faith effort to provide the required information to the spouse at the last address of the spouse in the records of the Secretary concerned. Failure to provide a notification required under this subsection in a timely manner does not affect the validity of any election specified in paragraph (1) or (2) or beneficiary designation specified in paragraph (3).

1. Persons covered
Advanced reserve officers training corps cadet who died from natural causes while attending a six-weeks' training course at a summer camp was not member of armed forces and was not automatically insured against death by Servicemen's Group Life Insurance Act (38 USCS §§ 765 et seq. [now 38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.]). Allison v United States (1970, CA6 Ky) 426 F.2d 1324

Serviceman merely scheduled to begin duty at specified time and place is not thereby on inactive duty training since 38 USCS § 765 [now 38 USCS § 1965] clearly contemplates that status of being on inactive duty training entails actual participation in that duty, nor is serviceman engaged in active duty for training as member where he is not required to participate in training program and does not elect to do so; thus, serviceman is not entitled to benefits of Servicemen's Group Life Insurance under § 767 [now § 1967]. Nowinski v Servicemen's Group Life Ins. (1980, ED Pa) 484 F.2d 1324

2. Effective date of coverage
SGLI insurance for nonprior service enlistee in nonpay status was "effective" within meaning of 38 USCS § 767(a) [now 38 USCS § 1967(a)] notwithstanding that enlistee was awaiting orders to attend his initial active duty training at time of his death where (1) enlistees who entered initial active duty training were actually charged premiums for periods dating from their enlistment and (2) method is apparently provided under 38 USCS § 769(a)(4) [now 38 USCS § 1969(a)(4)] for insurer to collect premiums from insurance proceeds. Moore v Prudential Ins. Co. (1980, MD Ga) 499 F Supp 418

Insured was not entitled to increased coverage where, on effective date of amendment to 38 USCS § 767 [now 38 USCS § 1967] increasing to $35,000 maximum amount of insurance upon lives of eligible "members" of uniform services, he had been transferred to Navy Reserve Readiness Command Region Four Records Review status in training category applicable to persons not physically qualified to perform active duty for training, and was not thereafter required to perform active duty for training or inactive duty training creditable for retirement, since § 767 [now § 1967] makes maximum insurance effective on first day member of Ready Reserve meets qualifications set forth in 38 USCS § 765(5)(B) [now 38 USCS § 1965(5)(B)] and since insured, due to transfer, did not meet such qualifications. Garvey v Servicemen's Group Life Ins. (1984, MD Pa) 584 F Supp 623

3. Rules and regulations

  District Court properly found that Administrator [now Secretary] of Veterans Affairs acted within his authority under 38 USCS § 767(c) [now 38 USCS § 1967(c)] in issuing regulation establishing time limit within which retired military reservists must submit applications for full-time coverage under Veterans' Insurance Act of 1974, since such regulation was reasonably related to purposes of Act and was "term or condition" authorized by § 767(c) [now § 1967(c)]. Turney v

§ 1968. Duration and termination of coverage; conversion

(a) Each policy purchased under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.] shall contain a provision, in terms approved by the Secretary, to the effect that any insurance thereunder on any member of the uniformed services, and any insurance thereunder on any insurable dependent of such a member, unless discontinued or reduced upon the written request of the insured (or discontinued pursuant to section 1969(a)(2)(B) of this title [38 USCS § 1969(a)(2)(B)], shall continue in effect while the member is on active duty, active duty for training, or inactive duty training scheduled in advance by competent authority during the period thereof, or while the member meets the

USCS § 1965(5)] and such insurance shall cease as follows:

  (1) With respect to a member on active duty or active duty for training under a call or order to duty that does not specify a period of less than 31 days, insurance under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.] shall cease as follows:

    (A) 120 days after the separation or release from active duty or active duty for training, unless on the date of such separation or release the member is totally disabled, under criteria established by the Secretary, in which event the insurance shall cease on the earlier of the following dates (but in no event before the end of 120 days after such separation or release):

      (i) The date on which the insured ceases to be totally disabled.

      (ii) The date that is--

        (I) two years after the date of separation or release from such active duty

Improvement Act of 2006 [enacted June 15, 2006] and ending on September 30, 2011; and or active duty for training, in the case of such a separation or release on or after October 1, 2011.

    (B) At the end of the thirty-first day of a continuous period of (i) absence without leave, (ii) confinement by civil authorities under a sentence adjudged by a civilian court, or (iii) confinement by military authorities under a court-martial sentence involving total forfeiture of pay and allowances. Any insurance so terminated as the result of such an absence or confinement, together with any beneficiary designation in effect for such insurance at such termination thereof, shall be automatically revived as of the date the member is restored to active duty with pay or to active duty for training with pay.

(2) With respect to a member on active duty or active duty for training under a call or order to duty that specifies a period of less than 31 days, insurance under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.] shall cease at midnight, local time, on the last day of such duty, unless on such date the insured is suffering from a disability incurred or aggravated during such period which, within 120 days after such date, (i) results in death, or (ii) renders the member uninsurable at standard premium rates according to the good health standards approved by the Secretary, in which event the insurance shall continue in force to death, or for 120 days after such date, whichever is the earlier date.

(3) With respect to a member on inactive duty training scheduled in advance by competent authority, insurance under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.] shall cease at the end of such scheduled training period, unless at such time the insured is suffering from a disability incurred, or aggravated during such period which, within 120 days after the date of such training, (i) results in death, or (ii) renders the member uninsurable at standard premium rates according to the good health standards approved by the Secretary in which event the insurance shall continue in force to death, or for 120 days after the date such training terminated, whichever is the earlier date.

(4) With respect to a member of the Ready Reserve of a uniformed service who meets the qualifications set forth in subparagraph (B) or (C) of section 1965(5) of this title [38 USCS § 1965(5)], insurance under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.] shall cease 120 days after separation or release from such assignment, unless on the date of such separation or release the member is totally disabled, under criteria established by the Secretary, in which event the insurance shall cease on the earlier of the following dates (but in no event before the end of 120 days after separation or release from such assignment):

(A) The date on which the insured ceases to be totally disabled.
(B) The date that is--
   (i) two years after the date of separation or release from such assignment, in the case of such a separation or release during the period beginning on the date that is one year before the date of the enactment of Veterans' Housing Opportunity and Benefits Improvement Act of 2006 [enacted June 15, 2006] and ending on September 30, 2011; and
   (ii) 18 months after the date of separation or release from such assignment, in the case of such a separation or release on or after October 1, 2011.

(5) With respect to an insurable dependent of the member, insurance under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.] shall cease--

(A) 120 days after the date of an election made in writing by the member to terminate the coverage; or
(B) on the earliest of--
   (i) 120 days after the date of the member's death;
(ii) 120 days after the date of termination of the insurance on the member's life under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.]; or
(iii) 120 days after the termination of the dependent's status as an insurable dependent of the member.

(b) (1) Each policy purchased under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.] shall contain a provision, in terms approved by the Secretary, that, except as hereinafter provided, Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance which is continued in force after expiration of the period of duty or travel under section 1967(b) or 1968(a) of this title [38 USCS § 1967(b) or 1968(a)], effective the day after the date such insurance would cease--

(A) shall be automatically converted to Veterans' Group Life Insurance (to insure against death of the member only), subject to (i) the timely payment of the initial premium under terms prescribed by the Secretary, and (ii) the terms and conditions set forth in section 1977 of this title [38 USCS § 1977]; or
(B) at the election of the member, shall be converted to an individual policy of insurance as described in section 1977(e) of this title [38 USCS § 1977(e)] upon written application for conversion made to the participating company selected by the member and payment of the required premiums.

(2) Automatic conversion to Veterans' Group Life Insurance under paragraph (1) shall be effective only in the case of an otherwise eligible member or former member who is separated or released from a period of active duty or active duty for training or inactive duty training on or after the date on which the Veterans' Group Life Insurance program (provided for under section 1977 of this title [38 USCS § 1977]) becomes effective.

(3) (A) In the case of a policy purchased under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.] for an insurable dependent who is a spouse, upon election of the spouse, the policy may be converted to an individual policy of insurance under the same conditions as described in section 1977(e) of this title [38 USCS § 1977(e)] (with respect to conversion of a Veterans' Group Life Insurance policy to such an individual policy) upon written application for conversion made to the participating company selected by the spouse and payment of the required premiums. Conversion of such policy to Veterans' Group Life Insurance is prohibited.
(B) In the case of a policy purchased under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.] for an insurable dependent who is a child, such policy may not be converted under this subsection.

2. Termination
In construing SGLI termination provision, Congress intended courts to rely on definition of absence without leave found in military justice system, which counts first day as whole day, not according to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 6(a) which excludes first day. Lee v United States (1992, CA11 Ala) 977 F.2d 551, 24 FR Serv 3d 256, 6 FLW Fed C 1349, cert den (1993) 510 US 890, 126 L Ed 2d 201, 114 S Ct 248

In proceeding by surviving parents of deceased serviceman to collect, as beneficiaries, proceeds of national service life insurance policy, Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] failed to prove that serviceman had been absent without leave for period of 31 days prior to his death, as defense to payment of policy under 38 USCS § 768(a)(1)(B) [now 38 USCS § 1968(a)(1)(B)], where his change of duty station orders were lost and he was never declared to be on unauthorized leave status or a deserter. Malone v United States Veterans Administration (1973, SD Ohio) 364 F Supp 114
3. Conversion

One year and one day after separation of totally disabled, mentally incompetent soldier from military, his Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance is automatically converted to Veterans' Group Life Insurance coverage regardless of whether he made initial VGLI premium payment. Porter v Prudential Ins. Co. (1979, WD Tex) 470 F Supp 203

Fact that 38 USCS § 768 [now 38 USCS § 1968], enabling conversion of Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance may contemplate only one conversion and that plaintiff had already recovered under Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance replacement policy, would not demand a finding that insurability was not waived by combination of factors shown to have existed, that is, use of Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance replacement form application, waiver by agent prior to delivery, and continued acceptance by insurer of premium payments. Atlantic & Pacific Life Ins. Co. v England (1975) 134 Ga App 540, 215 SE2d 302

Beneficiary was not entitled to increase in coverage authorized by Congress after deceased was discharged from Army but before he died since statutory language in 38 USCS § 1967(a) has no effect on individual who is no longer in active service and who is insured under previously issued policy at lower level. Underwood v Servicemen's Group Ins. (1989, CA10 Utah) 893 F.2d 242, cert den (1990) 495 US 957, 109 L Ed 2d 745, 110 S Ct 2562

For purposes of calculating period of absence without leave, Congress clearly intended running of period to commence on and include first day of service member's absence, hence application of Federal Rules of Civil Procedure Rule 6, which excludes first day in computing period of time, is inapplicable. Lee v United States (1992, CA11 Ala) 977 F.2d 551, 24 FR Serv 3d 256, 6 FLW Fed C 1349, cert den (1993) 510 US 890, 126 L Ed 2d 201, 114 S Ct 248

§ 1969. Deductions; payment; investment; expenses

(a) (1) During any period in which a member, on active duty or active duty for training under a call or order to such duty that does not specify a period of less than thirty-one days, is insured under Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance, there shall be deducted each month from the member's basic or other pay until separation or release from such duty an amount determined by the Secretary (which shall be the same for all such members) as the share of the cost attributable to insuring such member under such policy, less any costs traceable to the extra hazard of such duty in the uniformed service.

(2) (A) During any month in which a member is assigned to the Ready Reserve of a uniformed service under conditions which meet the qualifications of subparagraph (B) or (C) of section 1965(5) of this title [38 USCS § 1965(5)], and is insured under a policy of insurance purchased by the Secretary, under section 1966 of this title [38 USCS § 1966], there shall be contributed from the appropriation made for active duty pay of the uniformed service concerned an amount determined by the Secretary (which shall be the same for all such members) as the share of the cost attributable to insuring such member under this policy, less any costs traceable to the extra hazards of such duty in the uniformed services. Any amounts so contributed on behalf of any individual shall be collected by the Secretary concerned from such individual (by deduction from pay or otherwise) and shall be credited to the appropriation from which such contribution was made.

(B) If an individual who is required pursuant to subparagraph (A) to make a direct remittance of costs to the Secretary concerned fails to make the required remittance within 60 days of the date on which such remittance is due, such individual's insurance with respect to which such remittance is required shall be terminated by the Secretary concerned. Such termination shall be made by written notice to the individual's official address and shall be effective 60 days after the date of such notice. Such termination of insurance may be vacated if, before the effective date of termination, the individual remits all amounts past due for such insurance and demonstrates to the satisfaction of the Secretary concerned that the failure to make timely remittances was justifiable.

(3) During any fiscal year, or portion thereof, that a member is on active duty or active duty for training under a call or order to such duty that specifies a period of less than thirty-one days, or is authorized or required to perform inactive duty training scheduled in advance by competent authority, and is insured under Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance, the Secretary concerned shall collect from the member (by deduction from pay or otherwise) an amount determined by the Secretary (which shall be the same for all such members) as the share of the cost attributable to insuring such member under such policy, less any costs traceable to the extra hazard of such duty in the uniformed service.

(4) Any amount not deducted from the basic or other pay of a member insured under Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance, or collected from the member by the Secretary concerned, if not otherwise paid, shall be deducted from the proceeds of any insurance thereafter payable. The initial monthly amount under paragraph (1) or (2) hereof, or fiscal year amount under paragraph (3) hereof, determined by the Secretary to be charged under this section for Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance may be continued from year to year, except that the Secretary may redetermine such monthly or fiscal year amounts from time to time in accordance with experience. No refunds will be made to any member of any amount properly deducted from the member's basic or other pay, or collected from the member by the Secretary concerned, to cover the insurance granted under Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance.

(b) For each month for which any member is so insured, there shall be contributed from the appropriation made for active duty pay of the uniformed service concerned an amount determined by the Secretary and certified to the Secretary concerned to be the cost of Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance which is traceable to the extra hazard of duty in the uniformed services. Effective January 1, 1970, such cost shall be determined by the Secretary on the basis of the excess mortality incurred by members and former members of the uniformed services insured under Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance above what their mortality would have been under peacetime conditions as such mortality is determined by the Secretary using such methods and data as the Secretary shall determine to be reasonable and practicable. The Secretary is authorized to make such adjustments regarding contributions from pay appropriations as may be indicated from actual experience.

(c) An amount equal to the first amount due on Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance may be advanced from current appropriations for active-service pay to any such member, which amount shall constitute a lien upon any service or other pay accruing to the person from whom such advance was made and shall be collected therefrom if not otherwise paid. No disbursing or certifying officer shall be responsible for any loss incurred by reason of such advance.
(d) (1) The sums withheld from the basic or other pay of members, or collected from them by the Secretary concerned, under subsection (a) of this section, and the sums contributed from appropriations under subsection (b) of this section, together with the income derived from any dividends or premium rate adjustments received from insurers shall be deposited to the credit of a revolving fund established in the Treasury of the United States. All premium payments and extra hazard costs on Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance and the administrative cost to the Department of insurance issued under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.] shall be paid from the revolving fund.

(2) The Secretary is authorized to set aside out of the revolving fund such amounts as may be required to meet the administrative costs to the Department of insurance issued under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.] and all current premium payments and extra hazard costs on any insurance policy or policies purchased under section 1966 of this title [38 USCS § 1966]. The Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to invest in and to sell and retire special interest-bearing obligations of the United States for the account of the revolving fund. Such obligations issued for this purpose shall have maturities fixed with due regard for the needs of the fund and shall bear interest at a rate equal to the average market yield (computed by the Secretary of the Treasury on the basis of market quotations as of the end of the calendar month next preceding the date of issue) on all marketable interest-bearing obligations of the United States then forming a part of the public debt which are not due or callable until after the expiration of four years from the end of such calendar month; except that where such average market yield is not a multiple of one-eighth of 1 per centum, the rate of interest of such obligation shall be the multiple of one-eighth of 1 per centum nearest such market yield.

(3) Notwithstanding the provisions of section 1982 of this title [38 USCS § 1982], the Secretary shall, from time to time, determine the administrative costs to the Department which in the Secretary's judgment are properly allocable to insurance issued under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.] and shall transfer such cost from the revolving fund to the appropriation "General Operating Expenses, Department of Veterans Affairs".

(e) The Secretary of Defense shall prescribe regulations for the administration of the functions of the Secretaries of the military departments under this section. Such regulations shall prescribe such procedures as the Secretary of Defense, after consultation with the Secretary, may consider necessary to ensure that such functions are carried out in a timely and complete manner and in accordance with the provisions of this section, including specifically the provisions of subsection (a)(2) of this section relating to contributions from appropriations made for active duty pay.

(f) (1) No tax, fee, or other monetary payment may be imposed or collected by any State, or by any political subdivision or other governmental authority of a State, on or with respect to any premium paid under an insurance policy purchased under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.].

(2) Paragraph (1) of this subsection shall not be construed to exempt any company issuing a policy of insurance under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.] from the imposition, payment, or collection of a tax, fee, or other monetary payment on the net income or profit accruing to or realized by that company from business conducted under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.], if that tax, fee, or payment is applicable to a broad range of business activity.

(g) (1) (A) During any period in which a spouse of a member is insured under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.] and the member is on active duty, there shall be deducted each month from the member's basic or other pay until separation or release from active duty an amount determined by the Secretary as the premium allocable to the pay period for providing that insurance coverage. No premium may be charged for providing insurance coverage for a child.

(B) During any month in which a member is assigned to the Ready Reserve of a uniformed service under conditions which meet the qualifications set forth in section 1965(5)(B) of this title [38 USCS § 1965(5)(B)] and the spouse of the member is insured under a policy of insurance purchased by the Secretary under section 1966 of this title [38 USCS § 1966], there shall be contributed from the appropriation made for active duty pay of the uniformed service concerned an amount determined by the Secretary (which shall be the same for all such members) as the share of the cost attributable to insuring the spouse of such member under this policy, less any costs traceable to the extra hazards of such duty in the uniformed services. Any amounts so contributed on behalf of any individual shall be collected by the Secretary concerned from such individual (by deduction from pay or otherwise) and shall be credited to the appropriation from which such contribution was made.

(2) (A) The Secretary shall determine the premium amounts to be charged for life insurance coverage for spouses of members under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.].

(B) The premium amounts shall be determined on the basis of sound actuarial principles and shall include an amount necessary to cover the administrative costs to the insurer or insurers providing such insurance.

(C) Each premium rate for the first policy year shall be continued for subsequent policy years, except that the rate may be adjusted for any such subsequent policy year on the basis of the experience under the policy, as determined by the Secretary in advance of that policy year.

(h) Any overpayment of a premium for insurance coverage for an insurable dependent of a member that is terminated under section 1968(a)(5) of this title [38 USCS § 1968(a)(5)] shall be refunded to the member.

Amendments:

"(a) During any period in which a member is insured under a policy of insurance purchased by the Administrator, under section 766 of this title, there shall be deducted each month from his basic or other pay until separation or release from active duty an amount determined by the Administrator (which shall be the same for all such members) as the share of the cost attributable to insuring such member under such policy, less any costs traceable to the extra hazard of active duty in the uniformed service. Any amount not deducted from the basic or other pay of a member insured under this subchapter while on active duty, if not otherwise paid, shall be deducted from the proceeds of any insurance thereafter payable. The initial monthly amount determined by the Administrator to be charged under this subsection for insurance under this subchapter may be continued from year to year, except that the Administrator may redetermine such monthly amount from time to time in accordance with experience. No refunds will be made to any member of any such amount properly deducted from his basic or other pay to cover the insurance granted under this subchapter.

"(b) For each month for which any member is so insured, there shall be contributed from the appropriation made for his pay an amount determined by the Administrator and certified to the Secretary concerned to be the cost of such insurance which is traceable to the extra hazard of active duty in the uniformed services. Such cost shall be determined by the Administrator on the basis of the excess mortality suffered by members and former members of the uniformed services insured under this subchapter above that incurred by the male civilian population of the United States of the same age as the median age of members of the uniformed services (disregarding a fraction of a year) as shown by the records of the uniformed services, the primary insurer or insurers, and the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, together with the most current estimates of such mortality. The Administrator is authorized to make such adjustments regarding such contributions from pay appropriations as may be indicated from actual experience.";

§ 1970. Beneficiaries; payment of insurance

(a) Any amount of insurance under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.] in force on any member or former member on the date of the insured's death shall be paid, upon the establishment of a valid claim therefor, to the person or persons surviving at the date of the insured's death, in the following order of precedence:

First, to the beneficiary or beneficiaries as the member or former member may have designated by a writing received prior to death (1) in the uniformed services if insured under Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance, or (2) in the administrative office established under section 1966(b) of this title [38 USCS § 1966(b)] if separated or released from service, or if assigned to the Retired Reserve, and insured under Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance, or if insured under Veterans' Group Life Insurance;

Second, if there be no such beneficiary, to the widow or widower of such member or former member;

Third, if none of the above, to the child or children of such member or former member and descendants of deceased children by representation;

Fourth, if none of the above, to the parents of such member or former member or the survivor of them;

Fifth, if none of the above, to the duly appointed executor or administrator of the estate of such member or former member;

Sixth, if none of the above, to other next of kin of such member or former member entitled under the laws of domicile of such member or former member at the time of the insured's death.

(b) If any person otherwise entitled to payment under this section does not make claim therefor within one year after the death of the member or former member, or if payment to such person within that period is prohibited by Federal statute or regulation, payment may be made in the order of precedence as if such person had predeceased the member or former member, and any such payment shall be a bar to recovery by any other person.

c) If, within two years after the death of the member or former member, no claim for payment has been filed by any person entitled under the order of precedence set forth in this section, and neither the Secretary nor the administrative office established by the insurance company or companies pursuant to section 1966(b) of this title [38 USCS § 1966(b)] has received any notice that any such claim will be made, payment may be made to a claimant as may in the judgment of the Secretary be equitably entitled thereto, and such payment shall be a bar to recovery by any other person.

d) The member may elect settlement of insurance under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.] either in a lump sum or in thirty-six equal monthly installments. If no such election is made by the member the beneficiary or beneficiaries may elect settlement either in a lump sum or in thirty-six equal monthly installments. If the member has elected settlement in a lump sum, the beneficiary or beneficiaries may elect settlement in thirty-six equal monthly installments.

(e) Until and unless otherwise changed, a beneficiary designation and settlement option filed by a member with the member's uniformed service under prior provisions of law will be effective with respect to the increased insurance authorized under the Veterans' Insurance Act of 1974 and the insurance shall be settled in the same proportionate amount as the portion designated for such beneficiary or beneficiaries bore to the amount of insurance heretofore in effect.

(f) Notwithstanding the provisions of any other law, payment of matured Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance or Veterans' Group Life Insurance benefits may be made directly to a minor widow or widower on his or her own behalf, and payment in such case shall be a complete acquittance to the insurer.

(g) Any payments due or to become due under Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance or Veterans' Group Life Insurance made to, or on account of, an insured or a beneficiary shall be exempt from taxation, shall be exempt from the claims of creditors, and shall not be liable to attachment, levy, or seizure by or under any legal or equitable process whatever, either before or after receipt by the beneficiary. The preceding sentence shall not apply to (1) collection of amounts not deducted from the member's pay, or collected from him by the Secretary concerned under section 1969(a) of this title [38 USCS § 1969(a)], (2) levy under subchapter D of chapter 64 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (26 U.S.C. 6331 et seq.) (relating to the seizure of property for collection of taxes), and (3) the taxation of any property purchased in part or wholly cut of such payments.

(h) Insurance payable under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.] may not be paid in any amount to the extent that such amount would escheat to a State. Payment of insurance under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.] may not be made to the estate of the insured or the estate of any beneficiary of the insured unless it is affirmatively shown that any amount to be paid will not escheat to a State. Any amount to be paid under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.] shall be reduced to the extent necessary to comply with this subsection.
(i) Any amount of insurance in force on an insurable dependent of a member under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.] on the date of the dependent's death shall be paid, upon the establishment of a valid claim therefor, to the member or, in the event of the member's death before payment to the member can be made, then to the person or persons entitled to receive payment of the proceeds of insurance on the member's life under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.].

I. IN GENERAL

1. Generally
   In action for interpleader brought by insurance company against claimants of benefits due under Servicemembers’ Group Life Insurance policy, insurance company would be discharged from liability as stakeholder only upon depositing in court sum equal to face value of policy plus interest accrued over 4 1/2 year period of delay which was caused by insurance company’s demands for further information concerning insured’s illegitimate child and went far beyond fiduciary caution. Prudential Ins. Co. v Armwood (1973, ED NY) 362 F Supp 1328

2. Application
   Restrictions on payment to designated beneficiaries prescribed by 38 USCS § 770(a), (g) [now 38 USCS § 1970(a), (g)], have no application to insurance policy which was not group policy purchased by Administrator [now Secretary] under provisions of 38 USCS §§ 765 et seq. [now 38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.], where policy was individual replacement policy and premium was paid by deceased veteran, as restrictions imposed on Servicemembers’ Group Life Insurance policies under 38 USCS § 770(a), (g) [now 38 USCS § 1970(a), (g)] are not applicable to successor policies which have been converted from S.G.L.I. policy. Gutierrez v Madero (1978, Tex Civ App Eastland) 564 SW2d 185

3. Governing law
   Federal law recognizes equitable defense that no person should be permitted to profit from his own wrong; widow convicted of murdering her husband on wedding night may not collect proceeds of his insurance. Prudential Ins. Co. v Tull (1982, CA4 Va) 690 F.2d 848

4. Relationship with state laws
   Contention that unmarried minor serviceman killed in action could not determine beneficiaries under military life insurance policy, on grounds that under state law mother retains sole custodial rights, fails because of federal pre-emption. Prudential Ins. Co. v King (1971, CA8 Mo) 453 F.2d 925
State statute prohibiting one convicted of murdering insured from receiving proceeds from life insurance policy on insured's life bars widow convicted in state court of murdering her husband from receiving proceeds of Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance Policy on his life, since statute neither conflicts with 38 USCS § 770 [now 38 USCS § 1970] nor frustrates federal servicemen's insurance plan. Prudential Ins. Co. v Tull (1981, ED Va) 532 F Supp 341, affd (1982, CA4 Va) 690 F.2d 848

State court is not precluded from imposing constructive trust in favor of children of deceased veteran upon proceeds from individual replacement policies. Gutierrez v Madero (1978, Tex Civ App Eastland) 564 SW2d 185

Servicemen’s group life insurance is contract between government of United States and insurers for benefit of those insured, and minor serviceman may exercise right granted to designate beneficiary of his choosing for such insurance, state minority laws to contrary notwithstanding. Davenport v Servicemen's Group Life Ins. Co. (1969) 119 Ga App 685, 168 SE2d 621

5. Claims for proceeds

Father of deceased serviceman failed to make valid and effective claim for proceeds of Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance policy within 1-year period required by 38 USCS § 770(b) [now 38 USCS § 1970(b)] where, after learning of son's death, he dawdled and failed to personally contact casualty assistance officer handling case and he could not rely on misfeasance of others, including his former wife and the casualty assistance officer who suppressed facts and gave false information to insurance company attempting to locate father, in order that wife could collect father's share of money. Gates v United States (1973, CA5 Tex) 481 F.2d 850

State of Kansas is dismissed in interpleader action involving proceeds of servicemen's group life policy even though state alleged it has a claim for expenses incurred by mother of decedent for hospitalization expenses paid by state, because state cannot assert claim under 38 USCS § 770(g) [now 38 USCS § 1970(g)] against potential beneficiary and mother, who may receive distribution under order of precedence in 38 USCS § 770(a) [now 38 USCS § 1970(a)] for undesignated beneficiaries, is entitled to protection of 38 USCS § 770(g) [now 38 USCS § 1970(g)] even though she is not designated beneficiary. Prudential Ins. Co. v Brown (1989, DC Kan) 715 F Supp 1010

II. BENEFICIARIES

A. In General

6. Children

State court is not precluded from imposing constructive trust in favor of children of deceased veteran upon proceeds from individual replacement policies. Gutierrez v Madero (1978, Tex Civ App Eastland) 564 SW2d 185

7. -Illegitimate children

Illegitimate child of serviceman, who acknowledged paternity in writing, is beneficiary of serviceman's insurance, in preference to serviceman's parents. Prudential Ins. Co. v Jack (1971, WD La) 325 F Supp 1194

Word "child" as used in 38 USCS § 770(a) [now 38 USCS § 1970(a)] includes within its scope illegitimate children of a deceased serviceman. Manning v Prudential Ins. Co. (1971, DC Md) 330 F Supp 1198
Language of 38 USCS § 770(a) [now 38 USCS § 1970(a)] must be construed as not including illegitimate, though acknowledged, child of serviceman where child has not been made legitimate by one of methods provided by state law. Dobyns v Prudential Ins. Co. (1971) 227 Ga 253, 179 SE2d 915

8. Parents

Parents of deceased serviceman are awarded proceeds of life insurance policy, where serviceman had not designated beneficiary and was not married, and alleged illegitimate children of serviceman could not qualify as beneficiaries under 38 USCS § 765(8) [now 38 USCS § 1965(8)] because parents are next in line to recover under distribution scheme of 38 USCS § 770 [now 38 USCS § 1970]. Prudential Ins. Co. v Moorhead (1990, MD La) 730 F Supp 731, affd (1990, CA5 La) 916 F.2d 261

9. -Adoptive parents

Nunc pro tunc order showing adoption of deceased soldier does not show right to proceeds. Hooper v United States (1926, CA8 Ark) 13 F.2d 19

10. -Stepparents

Term "parent" does not include non-adoptive stepparent. Lanier v Traub (1991, CA11 Fla) 934 F.2d 287

Natural mother is entitled to insurance proceeds over stepmother, whether or not she abandoned child when divorce decree awarded custody of him to father, since word "parents" as used in 38 USCS § 770 [now 38 USCS § 1970] refers to natural parents. Prudential Ins. Co. v Warner (1971, WD Va) 328 F Supp 1128

Serviceman's stepfather, who had never adopted serviceman, is not entitled to share in proceeds as one of serviceman's "parents" upon failure of serviceman to designate beneficiary and in absence of widow or children. Prudential Ins. Co. v Johnson (1972, ND) 200 NW2d 115

Word "parents" as used in 38 USCS § 770(a) [now 38 USCS § 1970(a)] is limited to only natural parents of insured and does not include person who is stepparent or person in loco parentis. Nunn v Nunn (1970) 81 NM 746, 473 P2d 360

11. -Abandonment of insured by parent

Father of deceased serviceman had not abandoned son within meaning of 38 USCS § 765 [now 38 USCS § 1965] by making sporadic, meager support payments for deceased serviceman, where father was man of modest means and remarried mother of deceased serviceman could not demonstrate willful intent on part of father to abandon deceased serviceman; burden of proof is upon party seeking to oppose claim of otherwise qualifying parent. Prudential Ins. Co. v Ellwein (1977, WD NY) 435 F Supp 248

Divorced mother of deceased serviceman was entitled to half of proceeds of life insurance policy under 38 USCS § 770 [now 38 USCS § 1970] where evidence that she made child support payments and maintained contact with deceased was sufficient to show that she was not excluded from definition of "parent" in § 765 [now § 1965] by reason of abandoning or failing to support child. Loacano v Office of Servicemen's Group Life Ins., etc. (1982, ED Mich) 544 F Supp 306, 73 ALR Fed 131

Father had not "abandoned" son within meaning of 38 USCS § 765(9) [now 38 USCS § 1965(9)], where father made court-ordered support payments until son achieved majority, even though father did not provide son with birthday or Christmas gifts, nor provide financial support beyond court order, nor display fatherly attitude toward son; in absence of evidence of settled purpose to forego parental duties and obligations, abandonment does not take place. Rahn v Prudential Ins. Co. (1977, Iowa) 259 NW2d 838

Government could not attack validity of judgment that 3 persons stood in loco parentis to insured, where attorney for United States prepared findings, conclusions of law, and judgment in accordance with stipulation to that effect entered into between claimants. United States v Hoth (1953, CA9 Wash) 207 F.2d 386

Question of whether aunt of insured stood in loco parentis to him so as to be proper beneficiary could not be determined on motion for summary judgment. Maldonado v United States (1946, DC NY) 69 F Supp 302

Evidence that insured moved in with grandmother after divorce of his parents, continued to live with her until his entry into service, during which time she provided shelter, food, clothing, and motherly care, was sufficient to establish relationship of in loco parentis where insured changed beneficiary from natural mother to grandmother upon natural mother's death. Smith v United States (1946, DC RI) 69 F Supp 387

Beneficiary has burden of showing that she was in fact "in loco parentis" to insured. Neuhard v United States (1949, DC Pa) 83 F Supp 911

Word "parents" as used in 38 USCS § 770(a) [now 38 USCS § 1970(a)] is limited to only natural parents of insured and does not include person who is stepparent or person in loco parentis. Nunn v Nunn (1970) 81 NM 746, 473 P2d 360

13. Widow or widower

Ex-husband, who was designated beneficiary of servicemember's life insurance policy, was entitled to proceeds of policy, notwithstanding his and servicemember's stipulation in their dissolution decree that each would maintain life insurance naming minor child as sole beneficiary, since servicemember never changed beneficiary designation before her death, and evidence was insufficient to establish that this resulted from ex-husband's undue influence. Prudential Ins. Co. v Hinkel (1997, CA8 Iowa) 121 F.3d 364, cert den (1998) 522 US 1048, 139 L Ed 2d 638, 118 S Ct 693

Widow of insured is estopped to assert claim to proceeds payable to another woman designated as beneficiary and who married insured in good faith not knowing he was already married. Schiefer v United States (1949, DC Pa) 83 F Supp 911

United States can recover amount of pension checks from veteran's widow and corporation which cashed them, where at time she received them as unmarried widow she was in fact common-law wife of another, and so known to be by corporation. United States v Michaelson (1945, DC Minn) 58 F Supp 796

Presumption is raised that woman is lawfully designated beneficiary where insured had designated woman as his lawful wife to be beneficiary of insurance policy, and government finds her to be lawfully designated beneficiary and acting on such finding has for several years paid her monthly installments due on policy. Jones v Gaillard (1941) 241 Ala 571, 4 So 2d 131

14. Constructive trusts

Constructive trust could not be imposed upon proceeds of serviceman's policy in which divorced second wife had been designated beneficiary, where trust was imposed in favor of children of insured's first marriage on basis that state divorce decree had stated that all beneficiary designations were canceled, because 38 USCS § 1970 required that benefit "shall" be paid to beneficiary designated in writing and prohibited seizure of death benefits from designated principal beneficiary under any legal or equitable process. Prudential Life Ins. Co. v Music (1997, WD Mich) 977 F Supp 842

State court is not precluded from imposing constructive trust in favor of children of deceased veteran upon proceeds from individual replacement policies. Gutierrez v Madero (1978, Tex Civ App Eastland) 564 SW2d 185

B. Designation of Beneficiaries

15. Generally
Statement of insured in application of policy that beneficiary is his brother cannot be contradicted 15 years later by administrator of insured, though evidence shows that insured does not know English language and requires interpreter, especially where United States made several payments to designated beneficiary before claim was made by administrator. Sevald v United States (1934, CA7 Ind) 73 F.2d 860, cert den (1935) 295 US 736, 79 L Ed 1684, 55 S Ct 648

Serviceman who is minor can make valid designation of beneficiary on his group life insurance policy. Johnson v Prudential Ins. Co. (1968) 182 Neb 673, 156 NW2d 812

Designation in writing by insured of person as beneficiary of insurance may be admitted in evidence to prove rights of beneficiary although written by minor and not sufficient for will. Helmholz v Horst (1924, CA6 Ohio) 294 F 417, 2 Ohio L Abs 419

Serviceman's designation, on Army form, captioned, in part, "Beneficiary Designation," of two friends as beneficiaries under his Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance, indicating 50% share to each, and signing and remitting such form through proper Army channels, constituted legal designation of beneficiaries, notwithstanding under current Army regulations the form used was outmoded. Prudential Ins. Co. v King (1971, CA8 Mo) 453 F.2d 925

Phrase in 38 USCS § 770(a) [now 38 USCS § 1970(a)] requiring that designation of beneficiary be in writing and "received by the uniformed service" does not require that written designation of beneficiary must exist in official service records of serviceman at time of his death; thus, where serviceman filled out unofficial group life beneficiary designation form furnished by Navy personnel man in charge of records who was unable to obtain official form, designating his father as primary beneficiary, form was received by Navy for purposes of section, and discovery of completed form on serviceman's personal belongings after his death was sufficient to entitle father to insurance proceeds. Coomer v United States (1973, CA5 Tex) 471 F.2d 1

In respect to Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance Policy, filling out of form by deceased, DA Form 41 entitled "(Record of Emergency Data) Work Sheet" is not same as naming beneficiary to policy; proceeds of policy will be distributed as if no beneficiary was named. Prudential Ins. Co. v West (1971, WD Ark) 324 F Supp 1049

17. Communication to beneficiary

In action involving proceeds paid into court from a life insurance policy on the life of a serviceman issued pursuant to 38 USCS § 765 [now 38 USCS § 1965], letter written to sister in which serviceman stated that he had split insurance money between another sister and her offers no legal basis for designating them as beneficiaries of the proceeds. Prudential Ins. Co. v Warner (1971, WD Va) 328 F Supp 1128

Claim of serviceman's mother that letter written by serviceman constituted designation of her as sole beneficiary must be rejected and proceeds of Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance policy divided equally between natural parents, where serviceman failed to designate beneficiary under policy. Bozzell v Prudential Ins. Co. (1972, Fla App D3) 270 So 2d 24

18. Communication to government

Letter designating beneficiary is invalid where it is sent to Veterans Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] and not to appropriate uniformed service of serviceman as required under of 38 USCS § 770(a) [now 38 USCS § 1970(a)]. Weymann v Wilson (1970, MD Fla) 320 F Supp 980

Form purporting to change decedent's servicemen's life insurance policy was not "received" by uniformed services within meaning of 38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq. and, thus, beneficiary noted on form on file prevailed, where decedent's former wife was noted as beneficiary on form filed with uniformed services, and his sister produced second form found in decedent's records noting her as beneficiary, but although second form was witnessed by military worker who counseled decedent on changing beneficiaries, she did not receive it, and date indicating time document purportedly was received was never entered. Prudential Ins. Co. of Am. v Ligon (1996, MD Ala) 915 F Supp 1183
19. Effect of separation or divorce

Insured serviceman's designation of his second wife as beneficiary prevails over constructive trust imposed upon policy proceeds by state court decree in order to preserve provision of prior divorce decree ordering serviceman to keep in force insurance policies then outstanding for benefit of his children from his first marriage; 38 USCS § 770 [now 38 USCS § 1970] gives insured service member right to freely designate beneficiary and to alter that choice at any time by making proper communications to proper parties and any constructive trust imposed by state decision amounts to seizure which is specifically prohibited by § 770 [now § 1970] and must fail due to supremacy clause. Ridgway v Ridgway (1981) 454 US 46, 70 L Ed 2d 39, 102 S Ct 49

Failure of decedent to comply with notice provision of 38 USCS § 770(a) [now 38 USCS § 1970(a)] by giving written notification to appropriate Armed Forces office that divorce decree provided that decedent would maintain former wife as sole beneficiary of military life insurance policy rendered divorce decree provisions pertaining to such policy unenforceable. Stratton v Servicemen's Group Life Ins. Co. (1976, SD Iowa) 422 F Supp 1119 (criticized in Rice v Office of Servicemembers' Group Life Ins. (2001, CA10 Okla) 260 F.3d 1240)

20. Evidence

Where serviceman in Viet Nam took out insurance naming father as beneficiary but no record of designation of beneficiary was in his file at time of death so insurance was paid to widow, father is entitled to insurance benefits and insurance company is entitled to judgment against widow. Coomer v United States (1973, CA5 Tex) 471 F.2d 1

Where soldier fulfilled all of requirements of 38 USCS §§ 765 [now 38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.] et seq., designated beneficiary is entitled to proceeds of his life insurance policy, and fact that army regulation which required one copy of insurance certificate be placed in soldier's file was not satisfied is immaterial. Shores v Nelson (1970) 248 Ark 155, 450 SW2d 543

21. Failure to designate beneficiary

Former wife of deceased serviceman who died 4 months before preliminary divorce decree pursuant to separation agreement became final under Nebraska law is not "widow" of deceased for purposes of determining entitlement to proceeds of Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance Policy under 38 USCS § 770 [now 38 USCS § 1970], where deceased had designated that proceeds be distributed as provided "by law", since under § 765 [now § 1965], widow must be lawful spouse at time of serviceman's death, and state probate code which controls, rather than domestic relations law, excludes from definition of surviving spouse participant in valid proceeding concluded by order purporting to terminate all marital property rights against decedent. Prudential Ins. Co. v Dulek (1981, CA8 Neb) 665 F.2d 217

Father of deceased Navy serviceman was not entitled to all proceeds of son's serviceman's group life insurance policy, since record did not reveal whether Navy ever received written beneficiary-designation form indicating that father was intended beneficiary, thus, insurance proceeds are to be split between serviceman's divorced parents, where language of § 770 [now § 1970] requiring receipt of written designation is to be strictly construed and substantial-compliance doctrine is not applicable in cases involving government life insurance. Prudential Ins. Co. v Parker (1988, CA7 Ill) 840 F.2d 6

Serviceman will be deemed not to have designated beneficiary where he completed form DA Form 41 entitled "(Record of Emergency Data) Worksheets" without formerly designating beneficiaries. Prudential Ins. Co. v West (1971, WD Ark) 324 F Supp 1049

Serviceman's stepfather, who had never adopted serviceman, is not entitled to share in proceeds as one of serviceman's "parents" upon failure of serviceman to designate beneficiary and in absence of widow or children. Prudential Ins. Co. v Johnson (1972, ND) 200 NW2d 115

Claim of serviceman's mother that letter written by serviceman constituted designation of her as sole beneficiary must be rejected and proceeds of Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance Policy divided equally between natural parents, where serviceman failed to designate beneficiary of new policy. Bozzell v Prudential Ins. Co. (1972, Fla App D3) 270 So 2d 24

C. Change of Beneficiaries

22. Generally

Unnamed brothers and sisters are entitled to reformation of policy where deceased veteran had done all that was within his power to change beneficiary in his insurance policy from one of his brothers to all of his brothers and sisters, and for one brother to receive payments due under policy and to distribute them to beneficiaries intended by deceased to receive them, and where such brother refused to make distribution. Kaschefsky v Kaschefsky (1940, CA6 Mich) 110 F.2d 836

38 USCS § 770(a) [now 38 USCS § 1970(a)] is to be strictly construed, and serviceman wishing to change beneficiary of his servicemen's group life insurance policy must strictly comply with the provisions thereof. Stribling v United States (1969, CA8 Ark) 419 F.2d 1350

Where, shortly before his death, insured told wife that he had changed beneficiary of his insurance, and insured's brother testified that few days prior to crash he was told by insured that latter had sent in form to change beneficiary of his government insurance from his mother to his wife, and insured filled out and signed confidential statement in which, among other things, he stated that he held national service life insurance policy in amount of $10,000.00, located with his mother at Phoenix, and he gave wife's name as beneficiary thereof, confidential statement tended at least to substantiate brother's declaration. Kendig v Kendig (1948, CA9 Ariz) 170 F.2d 750

No particular form is required to effect change of beneficiary; any simple written and signed designation or change of beneficiary is sufficient; statutory and regulatory writing requirement will not be so narrowly construed as to defeat soldier's intent as manifested in forms signed and received by uniform service prior to his death. Prudential Ins. Co. v Smith (1985, CA5 Miss) 762 F.2d 476

Veteran's application for compensation and vocational training, after lapse of insurance, which stated his desire to reinstate insurance and change beneficiary, is effective change of beneficiary. United States v Johnson (1931, DC Ky) 46 F.2d 549

Serviceman's letters to father, stating that father had been substituted as beneficiary of NSLI policy, are evidence of serviceman's intent to change beneficiary, but do not constitute affirmative act required to make change valid. Littlefield v Littlefield (1952, CA10 Okla) 194 F.2d 695

Although official forms for changing beneficiary of NSLI policy were never found, insured's letter to wife that he had executed such forms is evidence of such past affirmative act. Aguilar v United States (1955, CA9 Ariz) 226 F.2d 414, cert den (1956) 351 US 955, 100 L Ed 1478, 76 S Ct 852

Letter written by deceased person to his mother stating he had made her beneficiary is not admissible in evidence to prove change of beneficiary, such evidence being hearsay. Kingston v Hines (1926, DC Mich) 13 F.2d 406

Allegation that serviceman had written letters telling his foster mother that he had willed $10,000 to her and had made out his life insurance to her stated cause of action, entitling her to day in court to prove, if she could, her claim's validity, over that of serviceman's estranged widow. Spikes v United States (1953, DC La) 117 F Supp 6

25. Communication to government

Evidence that deceased had signed paper which he said was for purpose of changing beneficiary and said he was going to mail it is not sufficient to show change of beneficiary where no one saw what paper was or saw him mail it, and where records of the department did not show its receipt. Layne v United States (1924, CA7 Ill) 3 F.2d 431
Testimony of secretary that insured had signed application for change of beneficiary from sister to wife is insufficient to establish change where records of Veterans Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] show no such change. Watson v United States (1950, CA5 Ga) 185 F.2d 292

Sergeant who signed airman's change of beneficiary form in section designated "witnessed and received by" "received" form on behalf of Air Force for purposes of form's effectiveness, and fact that sergeant failed to retain any copies, which were all found in airman's personal effects, did not invalidate form's execution and receipt. Prudential Ins. Co. v Perez (1995, CA9 Cal) 51 F.3d 197, 95 CDOS 2217, 95 Daily Journal DAR 3834

26. Grounds for challenge

Evidence that claimant of insurance signed insured's name to application for change of beneficiary, at request of insured, is admissible, without proving agency from any other source. Le Blanc v Curtis (1925, CA5 Ga) 6 F.2d 4

Evidence that insured was intoxicated when he changed beneficiary, and that letter directing change was written and mailed on Sunday allegedly in contravention of state law, presented question for jury as to validity of change; fact that insured lived for several months after such change of beneficiary not being presumptive evidence that he had knowledge of change and therefore ratified same. Lewis v United States (1932, CA3 Pa) 56 F.2d 563

Evidence that original beneficiary paid some premiums on NSLI policy and that insured told her that he had no intention to change beneficiary is insufficient to show that change of beneficiary by insured was result of undue influence, where nurses attending insured at hospital testified that insured was rational, aware, and in possession of his mental faculties. United States v Cruze (1970, ED Tenn) 328 F Supp 159

Insured serviceman had mental capacity to effect change in beneficiary of his servicemen's group life insurance policy, although he suffered from organic mental disorder, where psychiatrist opined 3 months prior to execution of election of beneficiary forms that insured was able to manage his affairs and uncontroverted evidence is that, during relevant time, he handled his own day-to-day business affairs, drove vehicle, paid his own bills, and ordered parts for and instructed son how to repair motorcycle, because evidence shows that he understood nature of his property, nature of act he was performing, and that he knew natural objects of his bounty. Prudential Ins. Co. of Am. v Mehlbrech (1995, DC Or) 878 F Supp 1382 (criticized in Rice v Office of Servicemembers' Group Life Ins. (2001, CA10 Okla) 260 F.3d 1240)

Constructive trust could not be imposed upon proceeds of serviceman's policy in which divorced second wife had been designated beneficiary, where trust was imposed in favor of children of insured's first marriage on basis that state divorce decree had stated that all beneficiary designations were canceled, because 38 USCS § 1970 required that benefit "shall" be paid to beneficiary designated in writing and prohibited seizure of death benefits from designated principal beneficiary under any legal or equitable process. Prudential Life Ins. Co. v Music (1997, WD Mich) 977 F Supp 842

Change of beneficiary is sufficiently shown where evidence shows deceased expressed his desire to several persons to change beneficiary from his sister to his wife, and that he went to company headquarters to change beneficiary and was informed that it would be done, and that on his deathbed he spoke of beneficiary as having been changed. Johnson v White (1930, CA8 Ark) 39 F.2d 793

Evidence that insured signed confidential statement declaring that wife, rather than mother, was beneficiary of his NSLI policy and that he later told wife he had sent in form changing beneficiary from mother to wife is sufficient to present question for jury as to whether insured had effectuated change of beneficiary, where form changing beneficiary could not be found. Kendig v
Kendig (1948, CA9 Ariz) 170 F.2d 750

Although official forms for changing beneficiary of NSLI policy were never found, insured's letter to wife that he had executed such forms is evidence of such past affirmative act. Aguilar v
United States (1955, CA9 Ariz) 226 F.2d 414, cert den (1956) 351 US 955, 100 L Ed 1478, 76 S Ct 852

Ex-husband, who was designated beneficiary of servicemember's life insurance policy, was entitled to proceeds of policy, notwithstanding his and servicemember's stipulation in their dissolution decree that each would maintain life insurance naming minor child as sole beneficiary, since servicemember never changed beneficiary designation before her death, and evidence was insufficient to establish that this resulted from ex-husband's undue influence. Prudential Ins. Co. v

Evidence that insured had received blank form for designating beneficiary of his 6 months' gratuity pay, which form was often used for changing beneficiary of NSLI policy, is insufficient to establish effective change of beneficiary where no written form was produced in evidence; testimony of 2 friends and fellow officers of insured is insufficient to establish change of beneficiary from parents to widow, where no writings in support of testimony have been produced. Cohn v Cohn (1948, App DC) 84 US App DC 218, 171 F.2d 828, cert den (1949) 336 US 962, 93 L Ed 1114, 69 S Ct 892

Although form changing beneficiary of NSLI policy from mother to wife had been lost by time of insured's death, fact that report of death made by Adjutant General showed wife to be beneficiary is sufficient proof that such forms had reached Veterans' Administration (now Department of Veterans Affairs) and change effected. Walker v United States (1947, DC Tex)
70 F Supp 422

Insured's statements to fellow officers that he had changed beneficiary of insurance from mother to wife is insufficient to establish valid change where Veterans' Administration (now Department of Veterans Affairs) had no record of such change, although insured had also told fellow officers that Veterans' Administration (now Department of Veterans Affairs) did not have beneficiary change properly recorded and that he had written about matter to get it straightened out, but had not received any answer from Veterans' Administration (now Department of Veterans Affairs). Ramsay v United States (1947, DC Fla) 72 F Supp 613

Insured's statements to fellow officers that he had changed beneficiary of insurance is insufficient to establish valid change where Veterans' Administration (now Department of Veterans Affairs) had no record of such change. Ramsay v United States (1947, DC Fla) 72 F Supp 613

Oral testimony of witnesses cannot be permitted to vary plain significance of printed words to effect judicial change of beneficiaries, especially where insured is not ignorant of meaning of "contingent beneficiary". United States v Green (1958, DC W Va) 164 F Supp 697

28. Burden of proof

Burden of proof is upon plaintiff to prove that requisite steps were taken to change beneficiary. Leahy v United States (1926, CA9 Mont) 15 F.2d 949

Ordinarily, person claiming to be substituted beneficiary of National Service Life Insurance policy has burden of proving change of beneficiary. Senato v United States (1949, CA2 NY) 173
F.2d 493; Coleman v United States (1949, App DC) 85 US App DC 145, 176 F.2d 469; McCollum v Sieben (1954, CA8 Minn) 211 F.2d 708; Criscuolo v United States (1956, CA7 Ill) 239 F.2d 280; Blair v United States (1958, CA10 Okla) 260 F.2d 237; Baker v United States (1967, CA5 Ga) 386 F.2d 356; Geis v United States (1968, CA9 Wash) 404 F.2d 154

Government has burden of proving effective change of beneficiary where it has paid proceeds to person claiming to be substituted beneficiary. Willis v United States (1961, CA7 Ill)
291 F.2d 5; Benard v United States (1966, CA8 Mo) 368 F.2d 897
§ 1971. Basic tables of premiums; readjustment of rates

(a) Each policy or policies purchased under section 1966 of this title [38 USCS § 1966] shall include for the first policy year a schedule of basic premium rates by age which the Secretary shall have determined on a basis consistent with the lowest schedule of basic premium rates generally charged for new group life insurance policies issued to large employers, this schedule of basic premium rates by age to be applied, except as otherwise provided in this section, to the distribution by age of the amount of group life insurance under the policy at its date of issue to determine an average basic premium per $1,000 of insurance. Each policy so purchased shall also include provisions whereby the basic rates of premium determined for the first policy year shall be continued for subsequent policy years, except that they may be readjusted for any subsequent year, based on the experience under the policy, such readjustment to be made by the insurance company or companies issuing the policy on a basis determined by the Secretary in advance of such year to be consistent with the general practice of life insurance companies under policies of group life insurance issued to large employers.

(b) The total premiums for Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance shall be the sum of the amounts computed according to the provisions of subsection (a) above and the estimated costs traceable to the extra hazard of active duty in the uniformed services as determined by the Secretary, subject to the provision that such estimated costs traceable to the extra hazard shall be retroactively readjusted annually in accordance with section 1969(b) [38 USCS § 1969(b)].

(c) Each policy so purchased shall include a provision that, in the event the Secretary determines that ascertaining the actual age distribution of the amounts of group life insurance in force at the date of issue of the policy or at the end of the first or any subsequent year of insurance thereunder would not be possible except at a disproportionately high expense, the Secretary may approve the determination of a tentative average group life premium, for the first or any subsequent policy year, in lieu of using the actual age distribution. Such tentative average premium rate shall be redetermined by the Secretary during any policy year upon request by the insurance company or companies issuing the policy, if experience indicates that the assumptions made in determining the tentative average premium rate for that policy year were incorrect.

(d) Each policy so purchased shall contain a provision stipulating the maximum expense and risk charges for the first policy year, which charges shall have been determined by the Secretary on a basis consistent with the general level of such charges made by life insurance companies under policies of group life insurance issued to large employers. Such maximum charges shall be continued from year to year, except that the Secretary may redetermine such maximum charges for any year either by agreement with the insurance company or companies issuing the policy or upon written notice given by the Secretary to such companies at least one year in advance of the beginning of the year for which such redetermined maximum charges will be effective.
(e) Each such policy shall provide for an accounting to the Secretary not later than ninety days after the end of each policy year, which shall set forth, in a form approved by the Secretary, (1) the amounts of premiums actually accrued under the policy from its date of issue to the end of such policy year, (2) the total of all mortality and other claim charges incurred for that period, and (3) the amounts of the insurers' expense and risk charge for that period. Any excess of the total of item (1) over the sum of items (2) and (3) shall be held by the insurance company or companies issuing the policy as a special contingency reserve to be used by such insurance company or companies for charges under such policy only, such reserve to bear interest at a rate to be determined in advance of each policy year by the insurance company or companies issuing the policy, which rate shall be approved by the Secretary as being consistent with the rates generally used by such company or companies for similar funds held under other group life insurance policies. If and when the Secretary determines that such special contingency reserve has attained an amount estimated by the Secretary to make satisfactory provision for adverse fluctuations in future charges under the policy, any further excess shall be deposited to the credit of the revolving fund established under section 1969(d)(1) of this title [38 USCS § 1969(d)(1)]. If and when such policy is discontinued, and if after all charges have been made, there is any positive balance remaining in such special contingency reserve, such balance shall be deposited to the credit of the revolving fund, subject to the right of the insurance company or companies issuing the policy to make such deposit in equal monthly installments over a period of not more than two years.

Amendments:

1974. Act May 24, 1974, in subsec. (b), substituted "Servicemen's Group Life Insurance" for "the policy or policies"; and in subsec. (e), substituted "section 769(d)(1)" for "section 766".

1991. Act Aug. 6, 1991, redesignated this section, formerly 38 USCS § 771, as 38 USCS § 1971, amended the references in this section to reflect the redesignations made by § 5(a) of such Act (see Table III preceding 38 USCS § 101), and substituted "Secretary" for "Administrator".

1. Generally

Jurisdiction under 38 USCS § 775 [now 38 USCS § 1975] is improper in action brought by widow of veteran alleging statutory breach of duty of notice as to right to obtain coverage under Serviceman's Group Life Insurance program and notice that was not given by Federal government due to erroneous data on file as to receipt by veteran of retired pay making him ineligible for program, because government's breach of duty was not kind for which United States is amenable to suit under § 775 [now § 1975]. Denton v United States (1981, CA9 Wash) 638 F.2d 1218

Claim by serviceman's widow, to effect that Army erroneously failed to notify serviceman of his eligibility to participate in Servicemen's Group Life Insurance, constitutes claim against United States which is committed to original jurisdiction of District Courts pursuant to 38 USCS § 775 [now 38 USCS § 1975]. Denton (1977) 215 Ct Cl 951

No federal court jurisdiction exists under 38 USCS §§ 765 et seq. [now 38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.] based on failure of Administrator of Veterans' Administration [now Secretary of Veterans Affairs] to notify retired reservist of regulatory deadline for applying for Servicemen's Group Life Insurance, as Administrator [now Secretary] has no duty to notify reservist of existence of program, much less specific requirements of eligibility. Turney v United States (1981, DC Md) 525 F Supp 675, affd (1982, CA4 Md) 684 F.2d 307

2. Parties

Claim for benefits from group servicemen's life insurance was properly maintainable against the United States since it undertook to supply data identifying those who occupy the order of precedence on which identity the insurer is to rely. Shannon v United States (1969, CA5 Ga) 417 F.2d 256

Realignment of parties to create complete diversity is unnecessary in Servicemen's Group Life Insurance Act (38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.) case/interpleader action involving parties of non-diverse citizenship, where 38 USCS § 1975 provides only for original federal jurisdiction over claims against U.S., because federal subject matter jurisdiction exists under 28 USCS § 1331 since determination of who is entitled to proceeds of insurance policy necessarily requires interpretation of federal law as expressed in Act. Melton v White (1994, WD Okla) 848 F Supp 1511

3. Transfer of action from Claims Court

Claim for benefits arising under Servicemen's Group Life Insurance Act (38 USCS §§ 765 et seq. [now 38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.]) brought in Court of Claims will be transferred to appropriate United States District Court pursuant to 28 USCS § 1506, since 38 USCS § 775 [now 38 USCS § 1975] provides District Courts with original jurisdiction over such claims. Parker (1971) 196 Ct Cl 775

§ 1976. Effective date

Other provisions:

"(a) In the case of each veteran who died or dies--

"(1) as a direct result of actions of hostile forces;

"(2) as a direct result of an accident involving a military or naval aircraft or an aircraft under charter to the Department of Defense, Army, Navy, or Air Force;

"(3) as a direct result of the extra hazard of military or naval service, as such hazard may be determined by the Administrator; or

"(4) while performing service for which incentive pay for hazardous duty or special pay is authorized by section 301, 304, or 310 of title 37, United States Code; while in the active military, naval, or air service during the period from January 1, 1957, to the date immediately preceding the date on which the Servicemen's Group Life Insurance program is placed in effect pursuant to section 776 [now section 1976] of title 38, United States Code, both dates inclusive, the Administrator of Veterans' Affairs shall pay a death gratuity to the widow or widower, child or children, or parent or parents of such veteran, as provided in subsection (b), in an amount not exceeding $5,000, determined as provided in subsection (c), but only if application is made for such death gratuity within one year after the date of enactment of this Act.

"(b) The death gratuity authorized by this section [this note] shall be paid to the following classes of persons and in the order named-- “(1) to the widow or widower of the veteran, if living;

“(2) if no widow or widower, to the child or children of the veteran, if living, in equal shares;

“(3) if no widow, widower, or child, to the parent or parents of the veteran who last bore that relationship, if living, in equal shares.

“(c)(1) The death gratuity authorized by this section [this note] shall be $5,000 reduced by the aggregate amount of United States Government Life Insurance and National Service Life Insurance paid or payable on account of the death of such veteran.

“(2) The right of any person to payment of a death gratuity under this section [this note] shall be conditioned upon his being alive to receive such payment. No person shall have a vested right to any such payment and any payment not made during the person's lifetime shall be paid to the person or persons within the permitted class next entitled to priority, as provided in subsection (b).

“(d) Any terms used in this section which are defined in section 101 or 102(b) of title 38, United States Code, shall, for the purposes of this section [this note], have the meanings given to them by such section 101 or 102(b), except that (1) the term 'veteran', as used in this section [this note], includes a person who dies while in the active military, naval, or air service and (2) the term 'child' shall not be limited with respect to age or marital status.

“(e) Appropriations made to the Veterans' Administration for 'Compensation and Pensions' shall be available for the payment of death gratuities under this section [this note]."

Waiver of future benefits of interim coverage. Act Nov. 2, 1966, P. L. 89-730, § 6(e), 80 Stat. 1159, provides: "Any waiver of future benefits executed by any person under section 3(a) of the Act of September 29, 1965 (79 Stat. 886) [note to this section], as in effect prior to the date of the enactment of this Act, shall be of no effect.".

Restitution of amounts deducted from $5,000 death gratuity. Act Nov. 2, 1966, P. L. 89-730, § 6(f), 80 Stat. 1159, provides: "In any case in which the death gratuity paid to any person under section 3 of the Act of September 29, 1965 [note to this section], was reduced pursuant to clause (B) of subsection (c)(1) of such section, as in effect prior to the date of enactment of this Act, the Administrator of Veterans' Affairs shall pay to such person an amount equal to the amount by which such death gratuity was reduced."

Time for filing application for death gratuity. Act Nov. 2, 1966, P. L. 89-730, § 6(g), 80 Stat. 1159, provides: "Notwithstanding the time limitation prescribed in section 3(a) of the Act of September 29, 1965 [note to this section], any application for death gratuity filed under such section shall be valid if filed within one year after the date of enactment of this Act."

§ 1977. Veterans' Group Life Insurance

(a) (1) Veterans' Group Life Insurance shall be issued in the amounts specified in section 1967(a) of this title [38 USCS § 1967(a)]. In the case of any individual, the amount of Veterans’ Group Life Insurance may not exceed the amount of Servicemembers’ Group Life Insurance coverage continued in force after the expiration of the period of duty or travel under section 1967(b) or 1968(a) of this title [38 USCS § 1967(b) or 1968(a)]. No person may carry a combined amount of Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance and Veterans' Group Life Insurance at any one time in excess of the maximum amount for

(2) If any person insured under Veterans' Group Life Insurance again becomes insured under Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance but dies before terminating or converting such person's Veterans' Group Insurance, Veterans' Group Life Insurance shall be payable only if such person is insured under Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance for less than the maximum amount for such insurance in effect under section 1967(a)(3)(A)(i) of this title [38 USCS § 1967(a)(3)(A)(i)], and then only in an amount which, when added to the amount of Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance payable, does not exceed such maximum amount in effect under such section.

(b) Veterans' Group Life Insurance shall (1) provide protection against death; (2) be issued on a renewable five-year term basis; (3) have no cash, loan, paid-up, or extended values; (4) except as otherwise provided, lapse for nonpayment of premiums; and (5) contain such other terms and conditions as the Secretary determines to be reasonable and practicable which are not specifically provided for in this section, including any provisions of this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.] not specifically made inapplicable by the provisions of this section.

(c) The premiums for Veterans' Group Life Insurance shall be established under the criteria set forth in sections 1971(a) and (c) of this title [38 USCS §§ 1971(a) and (c)], except that the Secretary may provide for average premiums for such various age groupings as the Secretary may decide to be necessary according to sound actuarial principles, and shall include an amount necessary to cover the administrative cost of such insurance to the company or companies issuing such insurance. Such premiums shall be payable by the insureds thereunder as provided by the Secretary directly to the administrative office established for such insurance under section 1966(b) of this title [38 USCS § 1966(b)]. In any case in which a member or former member who was mentally incompetent on the date such member or former member first became insured under Veterans' Group Life Insurance dies within one year of such date, such insurance shall be deemed not to have lapsed for nonpayment of premiums and to have been in force on the date of death. Where insurance is in force under the preceding sentence, any unpaid premiums may be deducted from the proceeds of the insurance. Any person who claims eligibility for Veterans' Group Life Insurance based on disability incurred during a period of duty shall be required to submit evidence of qualifying health conditions and, if required, to submit to physical examinations at their own expense.

(d) Any amount of Veterans' Group Life Insurance in force on any person on the date of such person's death shall be paid, upon the establishment of a valid claim therefor, pursuant to the provisions of section 1970 of this title [38 USCS § 1970]. However, any designation of beneficiary or beneficiaries for Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance filed with a uniformed service until changed, shall be considered a designation of beneficiary or beneficiaries for Veterans' Group Life Insurance, but not for more than sixty days after the effective date of the insured's Veterans' Group Insurance, unless at the end of such sixty-day period, the insured is incompetent in which event such designation may continue in force until the disability is removed but not for more than five years after the effective date of the insured's Veterans' Group Life Insurance. Except as indicated above in competent cases, after such sixty-day period, any designation of beneficiary or beneficiaries for Veterans' Group Life Insurance to be effective must be by a writing signed by the insured and received by the administrative office established under section 1966(b) of this title [38 USCS § 1966(b)].

(e) An insured under Veterans' Group Life Insurance shall have the right at any time to convert such insurance to an individual policy of life insurance upon written application for conversion made to the participating company the insured selects and payment of the required premiums. The individual policy will be issued without medical examination on a plan then currently written by such company which does not provide for the payment of any sum less than the face value thereof or for the payment of an additional amount as premiums in the event the insured performs active duty, active duty for training, or inactive duty training. The Veterans' Group Life Insurance policy converted to an individual policy under this subsection shall terminate on the day before the date on which the individual policy becomes effective. Upon request to the administrative office established under section 1966(b) of this title [38 USCS § 1966(b)], an insured under Veterans' Group Life Insurance shall be furnished a list of life insurance companies participating in the program established under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.]. In addition to the life insurance companies participating in the program established under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.], the list furnished to an insured under this section shall include additional life insurance companies (not so participating) which meet qualifying criteria, terms, and conditions established by the Secretary and agree to sell insurance to former members in accordance with the provisions of this section.

(f) The provisions of subsections (d) and (e) of section 1971 of this title [38 USCS § 1971] shall be applicable to Veterans' Group Life Insurance. However, a separate accounting shall be required for each program of insurance authorized under this subchapter [38 USCS §§ 1965 et seq.]. In such accounting, the Secretary is authorized to allocate claims and other costs among such programs of insurance according to accepted actuarial principles.

(g) Any person whose Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance was continued in force after termination of duty or discharge from service under the law as in effect prior to the date on which the Veterans' Group Life Insurance program (provided for under section 1977 of this title [38 USCS § 1977]) became effective, and whose coverage under Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance terminated less than four years prior to such date, shall be eligible within one year from the effective date of the Veterans' Group Life Insurance program to apply for and be granted Veterans' Group Life Insurance in an amount equal to the amount of his Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance which was not converted to an individual policy under prior law. Veterans' Group Life Insurance issued under this subsection shall be issued for a term period equal to five years, less the time elapsing between the termination of the applicant's Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance and the effective date on which the Veterans' Group Life Insurance program became effective. Veterans' Group Life Insurance under this subsection shall only be issued upon application to the administrative office established under section 1966(b) of this title [38 USCS § 1966(b)], payment of the required premium, and proof of good health satisfactory to that office, which proof shall be submitted at the applicant's own expense. Any person who cannot meet the good health requirements for insurance under this subsection solely because of a service-connected disability shall have such disability waived. For each month for which any eligible veteran, whose service-connected disabilities are waived, is insured under this subsection there shall be contributed to the insurer or insurers issuing the policy or policies from the appropriation "Compensation and Pensions, Department of Veterans Affairs" an amount necessary to cover the cost of the insurance in excess of the premiums established for eligible veterans, including the cost of the excess mortality attributable to such veteran's service-connected disabilities. The Secretary may establish, as he may determine to be necessary according to sound actuarial principles, a separate premium, age groupings for premium purposes, accounting, and reserves, for persons granted insurance under this subsection different from those established for other persons granted insurance under this section. Appropriations to carry out the purpose of this section are hereby authorized.

(h) (1) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, members of the Individual Ready Reserve and the Inactive National Guard are eligible to be insured under Veterans' Group Life Insurance. Any such member shall be so insured upon submission of an application in the manner prescribed by the Secretary and the payment of premiums as required under this section.

    (2) In accordance with subsection (b), Veterans' Group Life Insurance coverage under this subsection shall be issued on a renewable five-year term basis, but the person insured must remain a member of the Individual Ready Reserve or Inactive National Guard throughout the period of the insurance in order for the insurance of such person to be renewed.

    (3) For the purpose of this subsection, the terms "Individual Ready Reserve" and "Inactive National Guard" shall have the meanings prescribed by the Secretary in consultation with the Secretary of Defense.

§ 1980. Option to receive accelerated death benefit

(a) For the purpose of this section, a person shall be considered to be terminally ill if the person has a medical prognosis such that the life expectancy of the person is less than a period prescribed by the Secretary. The maximum length of such period may not exceed 12 months.

(b) (1) A terminally ill person insured under Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance or Veterans' Group Life Insurance may elect to receive in a lump-sum payment a portion of the face value of the insurance as an accelerated death benefit reduced by an amount necessary to assure that there is no increase in the actuarial value of the benefit paid, as determined by the Secretary.

(2) The Secretary shall prescribe the maximum amount of the accelerated death benefit available under this section that the Secretary finds to be administratively practicable and actuarially sound, but in no event may the amount of the benefit exceed the amount equal to 50 percent of the face value of the person's insurance in force on the date the election of the person to receive the benefit is approved.

(3) A person making an election under this section may elect to receive an amount that is less than the maximum amount prescribed under paragraph (2). The Secretary shall prescribe the increments in which a reduced amount under this paragraph may be elected.

(c) The portion of the face value of insurance which is not paid in a lump sum as an accelerated death benefit under this section shall remain payable in accordance with the provisions of this chapter [38 USCS §§ 1901 et seq.].

(d) Deductions under section 1969 of this title [38 USCS § 1969] and premiums under section 1977(c) of this title [38 USCS § 1977(c)] shall be reduced, in a manner consistent with the percentage reduction in the face value of the insurance as a result of payment of an accelerated death benefit under this section, effective with respect to any amounts which would otherwise become due on or after the date of payment under this section.

(e) The Secretary shall prescribe regulations to carry out this section. Such regulations shall include provisions regarding--

(1) the form and manner in which an application for an election under this section shall be made; and

(2) the procedures under which any such application shall be considered.
(f) (1) An election to receive a benefit under this section shall be irrevocable.
   (2) A person may not make more than one election under this section, even if the election of the person is to receive less than the maximum amount of the benefit available to the person under this section.

(g) If a person insured under Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance elects to receive a benefit under this section and the person's Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance is thereafter converted to Veterans' Group Life Insurance as provided in section 1968(b) of this title [38 USCS § 1968(b)], the amount of the benefit paid under this section shall reduce the amount of Veterans' Group Life Insurance available to the person under section 1977(a) of this title [38 USCS § 1977(a)].

(h) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the amount of the accelerated death benefit received by a person under this section shall not be considered income or resources for purposes of determining eligibility for or the amount of benefits under any Federal or federally-assisted program or for any other purpose.

Effective date of section:
This section took effect 90 days after enactment, pursuant to § 302(c) of Act Nov. 11, 1998, P.

    Life Insurance shall automatically be insured for traumatic injury in accordance with this section. Insurance benefits under this section shall be payable if the member, while so insured, sustains a traumatic injury on or after December 1, 2005, that results in a qualifying loss specified pursuant to subsection (b)(1).
       (2) If a member suffers more than one such qualifying loss as a result of traumatic injury from the same traumatic event, payment shall be made under this section in accordance with the schedule prescribed pursuant to subsection (d) for the single loss providing the highest payment.

(b) (1) A member who is insured against traumatic injury under this section is insured against such losses due to traumatic injury (in this section referred to as "qualifying losses") as are prescribed by the Secretary by regulation. Qualifying losses so prescribed shall include the following:
       (A) Total and permanent loss of sight.
       (B) Loss of a hand or foot by severance at or above the wrist or ankle.

   (i) Bathing.
   (ii) Continence.
   (iii) Dressing.
   (iv) Eating.
   (v) Toileting.
   (vi) Transferring.

(3) The Secretary may prescribe, by regulation, conditions under which coverage otherwise provided under this section is excluded.

(4) A member shall not be considered for the purposes of this section to be a member insured under Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance if the member is insured under Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance only as an insurable dependent of another member pursuant to subparagraph (A)(ii) or (C)(ii) of section 1967(a)(1) of this title [38 USCS § 1967(a)(1)].

(c) (1) A payment may be made to a member under this section only for a qualifying loss that results directly from a traumatic injury sustained while the member is covered against loss under this section and from no other cause.

   (2) (A) A payment may be made to a member under this section for a qualifying loss resulting from a traumatic injury only for a loss that is incurred during the applicable period of time specified pursuant to subparagraph (B).

   (B) For each qualifying loss, the Secretary shall prescribe, by regulation, a period of time to be the period of time within which a loss of that type must be incurred, determined from the date on which the member sustains the traumatic injury resulting in that loss, in order for that loss to be covered under this section.

(d) Payments under this section for qualifying losses shall be made in accordance with a schedule prescribed by the Secretary, by regulation, specifying the amount of payment to be made for each type of qualifying loss, to be based on the severity of the qualifying loss. The minimum payment that may be prescribed for a qualifying loss is $25,000, and the maximum payment that may be prescribed for a qualifying loss is $100,000.

(e) (1) During any period in which a member is insured under this section and the member is on active duty, there shall be deducted each month from the member's basic or other pay until separation or release from active duty an amount determined by the Secretary (which shall be the same for all such members) as the share of the cost attributable to provided coverage under this section, less any costs traceable to the extra hazards of such duty in the uniformed services.

(2) During any month in which a member is assigned to the Ready Reserve of a uniformed service under conditions which meet the qualifications set forth in section 1965(5)(B) of this title [38 USCS § 1965(5)(B)] and is insured under a policy of insurance purchased by the Secretary under section 1966 of this title [38 USCS § 1966], there shall be contributed from the appropriation made for active duty pay of the uniformed service concerned an amount determined by the Secretary (which shall be the same for all such members) as the share of the cost attributable to provided coverage under this section, less any costs traceable to the extra hazards of such duty in the uniformed services. Any amounts so contributed on behalf of any member shall be collected by the Secretary concerned from such member (by deduction from pay or otherwise) and shall be credited to the appropriation from which such contribution was made in advance on a monthly basis.

(3) The Secretary shall determine the premium amounts to be charged for traumatic injury protection coverage provided under this section.

(4) The premium amounts shall be determined on the basis of sound actuarial principles and shall include an amount necessary to cover the administrative costs to the insurer or insurers providing such insurance.

(5) Each premium rate for the first policy year shall be continued for subsequent policy years, except that the rate may be adjusted for any such subsequent policy year on the basis of the experience under the policy, as determined by the Secretary in advance of that policy year.

(6) The cost attributable to insuring members under this section for any month or other period specified by the Secretary, less the premiums paid by the members, shall be paid by the Secretary concerned to the Secretary. The Secretary shall allocate the amount payable among the uniformed services using such methods and data as the Secretary determines to be reasonable and practicable. Payments under this paragraph shall be made on a monthly basis or at such other intervals as may be specified by the Secretary and shall be made within 10 days of the date on which the Secretary provides notice to the Secretary concerned of the amount required.

(7) For each period for which a payment by a Secretary concerned is required under paragraph (6), the Secretary concerned shall contribute such amount from appropriations available for active duty pay of the uniformed service concerned.

(8) The sums withheld from the basic or other pay of members, or collected from them by the Secretary concerned, under this subsection, and the sums contributed from appropriations under this subsection, together with the income derived from any dividends or premium rate adjustments received from insurers shall be deposited to the credit of the revolving fund established in the Treasury of the United States under section 1869(d)(1) of this title [38 USCS § 1869(d)(1)].

(f) When a claim for benefits is submitted under this section, the Secretary of Defense or, in the case of a member not under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of Defense, the Secretary concerned, shall certify to the Secretary whether the member with respect to whom the claim is submitted--
(1) was at the time of the injury giving rise to the claim insured under Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance for the purposes of this section; and
(2) has sustained a qualifying loss.

(g) (1) Payment for a loss resulting from traumatic injury may not be made under the insurance coverage under this section if the member dies before the end of a period prescribed by the Secretary, by regulation, for such purpose that begins on the date on which the member sustains the injury.
(2) If a member eligible for a payment under this section dies before payment to the member can be made, the payment shall be made to the beneficiary or beneficiaries to whom the payment would be made if the payment were life insurance under section 1967(a) of this title [38 USCS § 1967(a)].

(h) Coverage for loss resulting from traumatic injury provided under this section shall cease at midnight on the date of the termination of the member's duty status in the uniformed services that established eligibility for Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance. The termination of coverage under this section is effective in accordance with the preceding sentence, notwithstanding any continuation after the date specified in that sentence of Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance coverage pursuant to 1968(a) of this title [38 USCS § 1968(a)] for a period specified in that section.

(i) Insurance coverage provided under this section is not convertible to Veterans' Group Life Insurance.

(j) Regulations under this section shall be prescribed in consultation with the Secretary of Defense.

Effective date of section:
This section took effect on the first day of the first month beginning more than 180 days after enactment, as provided by § 1032(d) of Act May 11, 2005, P. L. 109-13, which appears as a note to this section.

Amendments:
2006. Act June 15, 2006, substituted subsec. (a) for one which read: "(a) A member who is insured under subparagraph (A)(i), (B), or (C)(i) of section 1967(a)(1) shall automatically be issued a traumatic injury protection rider that will provide for a payment not to exceed $100,000 if the member, while so insured, sustains a traumatic injury that results in a loss described in subsection (b)(1). The maximum amount payable for all injuries resulting from the same traumatic event shall be limited to $100,000. § 1984. Suits on insurance

(a) In the event of disagreement as to claim, including claim for refund of premiums, under contract of National Service Life Insurance, United States Government life insurance, or yearly renewable term insurance between the Secretary and any person or persons claiming thereunder an action on the claim may be brought against the United States either in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia or in the district court of the United States in and for the district in which such person or any one of them resides, and jurisdiction is conferred upon such courts to hear and determine all such controversies. All persons having or claiming to have an interest in such insurance may be made parties to such suit, and such as are not inhabitants of or found within the district in which suit is brought may be brought in by order of the court to be served personally or by publication or in such other reasonable manner as the court may direct. In all cases where the Secretary acknowledges the indebtedness of the United States upon any such contract of insurance and there is a dispute as to the person or persons entitled to payment, a suit in the nature of a bill of interpleader may be brought at the request of the Secretary in the name of the United States against all persons having or claiming to have any interest in such insurance in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia or in the district court in and for the district in which any such claimant resides; however, no less than thirty days before instituting such suit the Secretary shall mail a notice of such intention to each of the persons to be made parties to the suit. The courts of appeals for the several circuits, including the District of Columbia, shall respectively exercise appellate jurisdiction and, except as provided in section 1254 of title 28 [28 USCS § 1254], the decrees of such courts of appeals shall be final.

(b) No suit on yearly renewable term insurance, United States Government life insurance, or National Service Life Insurance shall be allowed under this section unless the same shall have been brought within six years after the right accrued for which the claim is made. For the purposes of this section it shall be deemed that the right accrued on the happening of the contingency on which the claim is founded. The limitation of six years is suspended for the period elapsing between the filing with the Secretary of the claim sued upon and the denial of the claim. However, if a claim is timely filed the claimant shall have not less than ninety days from the date of mailing of notice of denial within which to file suit. After June 28, 1936, notice of denial of the claim under a contract of insurance shall be by registered mail or by certified mail directed to the claimant's last address of record. Infants, insane persons, or persons under other legal disability, or persons rated as incompetent or insane by the Secretary shall have three years in which to bring suit after the removal of their disabilities. If suit is seasonably begun and fails for defect in process, or for other reasons not affecting the merits, a new action, if one lies, may be brought within a year though the period of limitation has elapsed. No State or other statute of limitations shall be applicable to suits filed under this section.

(c) In any suit, action, or proceeding brought under the provisions of this section subpoenas for witnesses who are required to attend a court of the United States in any district may run into any other district. However, no writ of subpoena shall issue for witnesses living out of the district in which the court is held at a greater distance than one hundred miles from the place of holding the same without the permission of the court being first had upon proper application and cause shown. The word "district" and the words "district court" as used in this section shall be construed to include the District of Columbia and the United States District Court for the District of Columbia.

(d) Attorneys of the Department, when assigned to assist in the trial of cases, and employees of the Department when ordered in writing by the Secretary to appear as witnesses, shall be paid the regular travel and subsistence allowance paid to other employees when on official travel status.

(e) Part-time and fee-basis employees of the Department, in addition to their regular travel and subsistence allowance, when ordered in writing by the Secretary to appear as witnesses in suits under this section, may be allowed, within the discretion and under written orders of the Secretary, a fee in an amount not to exceed $50 per day.

(f) Employees of the Department who are subpoenaed to attend the trial of any suit, under the provisions of this section, as witnesses for a party to such suit shall be granted court leave or authorized absence, as applicable, for the period they are required to be away from the Department in answer to such subpoenas.

(g) Whenever a judgment or decree shall be rendered in an action brought under the provisions of this section, the court, as a part of its judgment or decree, shall determine and allow reasonable fees for the attorneys of the successful party or parties and apportion same if proper, said fees not to exceed 10 per centum of the amount recovered and to be paid by the Department out of the payments to be made under the judgment or decree at a rate not exceeding one-tenth of each of such payments until paid; except that, in a suit brought by or on behalf of an insured during the insured's lifetime for waiver of premiums on account of total disability, the court, as part of its judgment or decree, shall determine and allow a reasonable fee to be paid by the insured to the insured's attorney.

(h) The term "claim" as used in this section means any writing which uses words showing an intention to claim insurance benefits; and the term "disagreement" means a denial of the claim, after consideration on its merits, by the Secretary or any employee or organizational unit of the Department heretofore or hereafter designated therefor by the Secretary.
(i) The Attorney General of the United States is authorized to agree to a judgment to be rendered by the chief judge of the United States court having jurisdiction of the case, pursuant to compromise approved by the Attorney General upon the recommendation of the United States attorney charged with the defense, upon such terms and for sums within the amount claimed to be payable, in any suit brought under the provisions of this section, on a contract of yearly renewable term insurance, and the Secretary shall make payments in accordance with any such judgment. The Comptroller General of the United States shall allow credit in the accounts of disbursing officers for all payments of insurance made in accordance with any such judgment. All such judgments shall constitute final settlement of the claim and no appeal therefrom shall be authorized.

I. IN GENERAL

1. Generally
   Serviceman's right to insurance benefits must be distinguished from general compensation benefits, since insurance benefits are contracts creating rights which Congress cannot take away without making just compensation. Lynch v United States (1934) 292 US 571, 78 L Ed 1434, 54
   S Ct 840 (ovrd in part as stated in Pro-Eco v Board of Comm'rs (1995, CA7 Ind) 57 F.3d 505, 26
   ELR 20445)

   Decisions of questions of fact and law relating to claims under insurance policies are withdrawn from exclusiveness of administrator's [now Secretary's] jurisdiction. Hines v United States (1939) 70 App DC 206, 105 F.2d 85

2. Constitutionality
   World War Veterans' Act § 19 (former 38 USC § 445), limiting consent to suit, was constitutional as applied to claim accruing in 1920 but not prosecuted until 1935. Jenkins v
   United States (1936, CA5 Ga) 86 F.2d 123, cert den (1937) 300 US 675, 81 L Ed 880, 57 S Ct
   673, reh den (1937) 301 US 713, 81 L Ed 1365, 57 S Ct 789

3. Purpose
   Intent of Congress, in reference to all claims for veterans' insurance, is that government be given opportunity to determine merits of claim before maintenance of action thereon. Burgett v
   United States (1935, CA7 Ill) 80 F.2d 151, 104 ALR 167; Coffey v United States (1938, CA7 Ill)
   97 F.2d 762, 117 ALR 940

   Congressional purpose in defining "claim" is to avoid technical refinements and to enable unlearned and unlettered to present their grievances to veterans' bureau [now now Department of Veterans Affairs] by and through simple and informal procedure. United States v Wallace (1941, CA10 Okla) 123 F.2d 484

   Salutory humanitarian purpose of 38 USCS § 722 [now 38 USCS § 1922], intended by Congress, is to provide insurance protection for veterans who have failed to apply due to mental incompetency incurred in service and those beneficial purposes can best be fulfilled by providing forum in federal courts in which arbitrary or capricious action by Administrator [now Secretary] denying policy may be overturned, as Congress intended by inserting language in 38 USCS §§ 784, 785 [now 38 USCS §§ 1984, 1985] creating exceptions to finality of decisions by Administrator [now Secretary] on insurance matters. Clark v United States (1973, CA8) 482
   F.2d 586, 32 ALR Fed 777

   Intent of Congress in enactment of statute requiring that there must be denial by director [now Secretary] to claimant before suit can be brought is to establish definite rule that before suit is brought claimant must make claim for insurance and prosecute his cause on appeal through appellate agencies of bureau [now Department] before he shall have right to enter suit.
   Rosario v United States (1939) 70 App DC 323, 106 F.2d 844, cert den (1939) 308 US 606, 84 L
   Ed 507, 60 S Ct 143
4. Construction

Both government insurance policies and statutes providing for such policies are to be construed liberally to effectuate their beneficial purpose. United States v Zazove (1948) 334 US 602, 92 L Ed 1601, 68 S Ct 1284, reh den (1948) 335 US 837, 93 L Ed 389, 69 S Ct 12

Statutes providing for government insurance and insurance policies issued thereunder are to be liberally construed in favor of insured. United States v Sligh (1929, CA9 Ariz) 31 F.2d 735, cert den (1929) 280 US 559, 74 L Ed 614, 50 S Ct 18; United States v Worley (1930, CA8 Neb) 42 F.2d 197

38 USCS § 784 [now 38 USCS § 1984] must be construed as remedial. United States v Lund (1935, CA7 Wis) 76 F.2d 723

38 USCS § 784 [now 38 USCS § 1984] should be construed and applied to accomplish its purpose without resorting to refinements and technicalities. Drew v United States (1939, CA6 Tenn) 104 F.2d 939

Provision defining claim is liberally construed. United States v Wallace (1941, CA10 Okla) 123 F.2d 484

Reasonable construction of 38 USCS § 784 [now 38 USCS § 1984] is that there shall be but one right, that is, right to benefit payments, and but one critical contingency which conditions that right, namely occurrence of permanent total disability or death while policy remains in force. Roskos v United States (1942, CA3 NJ) 130 F.2d 751, cert den (1942) 317 US 696, 87 L Ed 557, 63 S Ct 437

Statutes permitting suits against government must be strictly complied with but in borderline cases questions as to compliance should be construed in favor of complainants, wherever possible. Blanton v United States (1936, DC Ala) 17 F Supp 327

Veterans' legislation is to be construed liberally in favor of veteran. Hartness v United States (1938, DC Okla) 23 F Supp 171

5. Relationship with other laws

Allegations by beneficiary of national service life insurance policy that insured, at time of his disappearance was totally and permanently disabled, are sufficient to bring beneficiary within premium waiver provisions stated in predecessor to 38 USCS § 712. Peak v United States (1957) 353 US 43, 1 L Ed 2d 631, 77 S Ct 613

Tucker Act (28 USCS §§ 1346(a), 1491) is applicable to suit brought under 38 USCS § 784 [now 38 USCS § 1984]. United States v Salmon (1930, CA5 Miss) 42 F.2d 353

Statutory provision that decisions of veterans' administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] upon questions concerning pensions, compensation allowances, and special privileges, all of which are gratuities, are final and not subject to judicial review was not applicable to claims under war risk insurance contracts. United States v Robinson (1939, CA9 Cal) 103 F.2d 713

Since automatic free insurance provided by Servicemen's Indemnity Act of 1951 (65 Stat. 33) created contract of insurance, widow of deceased serviceman was not precluded from obtaining judicial review of veterans' administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] determination that soldier's mother was true beneficiary of his insurance. Wilkinson v United States (1957, CA2 NY) 242 F.2d 735, cert den (1957) 355 US 839, 2 L Ed 2d 51, 78 S Ct 52

6. Administrative processing of claims

Discretion of administrator under former § 17 of World War Veterans' Act was not conclusive, as former § 19 provided for judicial determination of controversy. Hines v United States (1939) 70 App DC 206, 105 F.2d 85

Administrator [now Secretary] had authority to confer power on insurance claims council to effect disagreement in cases where no appeal was taken to administrator [now Secretary]; and administrator [now Secretary] could delegate to solicitor of veterans' administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] power to act on appeal. (1931) 36 Op Atty Gen 456
7. -Regulations

Regulation approved by administrator [now Secretary], providing decisions of insurance claims council could be made basis for disagreements, was effective as to notices of such decisions given subsequent to its adoption, but ineffective as to such notices given prior to its adoption.  Chicago Bank of Commerce v United States (1935, DC Ill) 9 F Supp 895

Interdepartmental appeals are entirely controlled by departmental regulations, and statutory provision that denial of claim of insurance by any employee or agency of veterans’ administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] should constitute disagreement for purpose of limitation statute does not govern or regulate appeals from one departmental agency to another.  Sullivan
v United States (1937, DC Ky) 26 F Supp 876, affd (1941, CA6 Ky) 116 F.2d 576

8. -Reopening of claims

There is nothing in 38 USCS § 784 [now 38 USCS § 1984] or in procedure of Veterans’ Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] that prohibits reopening and consideration of claim that has been denied by administration [now Department].  Rosario v United States (1939)
70 App DC 323, 106 F.2d 844, cert den (1939) 306 US 606, 84 L Ed 507, 60 S Ct 143

Veterans’ bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs] has authority to reopen for further consideration veteran’s claim for benefits of contract.  Kane v United States (1939, DC Mass) 25
F Supp 839

II. CONDITIONS PRECEDENT TO SUIT

A. In General

9. Generally

There must be "claim" and "disagreement," before suit can be commenced and this is jurisdictional prerequisite.  United States v Lyke (1927, CA9 Ariz) 19 F.2d 876;  United States v
Knott (1934, CA6 Ky) 69 F.2d 907;  Wilson v United States (1934, CA10 Colo) 70 F.2d 176;
United States v Knoles (1935, CA8 SD) 75 F.2d 557;  United States v Primilton (1935, CA5 La)
76 F.2d 555;  Pelkey v United States (1934, Dist Col App) 63 App DC 211, 71 F.2d 221

Claimant's anticipation that government will reject claim does not suspend requirement of disagreement under predecessor to 38 USCS § 784 [now 38 USCS § 1984].  United States v
Knott (1934, CA6 Ky) 69 F.2d 907

Dismissal is proper where evidence fails to show disagreement.  Burgett v United States
(1935, CA7 Ill) 80 F.2d 151, 104 ALR 167

United States can be sued only by its consent and right to sue it on war risk insurance contract is given and as prerequisite thereto insured must show disagreement with bureau [now Department] respecting his claim.  United States v Rasmussen (1938, CA10 Okla) 95 F.2d 842;
Kontovich v United States (1938, CA6 Tenn) 99 F.2d 661, cert den (1939) 306 US 651, 83 L Ed
1050, 59 S Ct 644;  Portland Trust & Sav. Bank v United States (1938, DC Or) 24 F Supp 953

Making of claim for war risk insurance and disagreement as to claim must both be shown as conditions precedent to jurisdiction to entertain suit on claim.  Bono v United States (1940, CA2 NY) 113 F.2d 724

Suit on war risk insurance contract is suit against government; one of conditions of its consent to be sued is existence of "disagreement" between veterans’ administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] and claimant.  Leyerly v United States (1947, CA10 Colo) 162
F.2d 79

Petition must allege disagreement between claimant and bureau of war risk insurance [now Department of Veterans Affairs].  Howard v United States (1924, DC Ky) 2 F.2d 170

10. Claim

Only purpose of requiring filing of claim as prerequisite to suit is to give notice to government that claim is being made under policy so that it may make investigation and pay any amount due claimant without being subjected to trouble and expense of litigation; and any claim showing 'intention to claim insurance benefits' answers this purpose. United States v Townsend (1936, CA4 NC) 81 F.2d 1013

Purpose of requiring filing of claim as prerequisite to suit on war risk insurance policy is to give notice to government, such claim being the physical writing which furnishes desired information and not assertion of legal right under policy, that investigation may be made and any amount due claimant paid without being subjected to trouble and expense of litigation. Gambill v United States (1939, CA10 Okla) 102 F.2d 667; Johnson v United States (1939, CA10 Okla) 102 F.2d 729; Drew v United States (1939, CA6 Tenn) 104 F.2d 939

Filing of claim and its denial constitute "disagreement" which is jurisdictional fact which must appear on face of pleadings in order for plaintiff to maintain action on contract of war risk insurance. Moore v United States (1945, DC Ky) 59 F Supp 660, app dismd (1946, CA6 Ky) 156 F.2d 372

11. Disagreement

Existence of disagreement is jurisdictional prerequisite to action on war risk insurance policy and must be established by plaintiff. United States v Brundage (1943, CA6 Mich) 136 F.2d 206

Both capacity to sue and disagreement between veterans' bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs] and claimant having interest in policy are deemed indispensable prerequisites to jurisdiction of district court over controversies arising from contracts of war risk insurance. Dellaporta v United States (1939, DC Mass) 27 F Supp 839

12. Waiver

Disagreement may be waived by failure to make timely and specific objections, and such question cannot be raised for first time on appeal where court has general jurisdiction of subject matter. Berntsen v United States (1930, CA9 Cal) 41 F.2d 663

Defendant waives objection to jurisdiction where it goes to trial on merits. Quinn v United States (1932, CA3 Pa) 58 F.2d 19

Condition precedent to jurisdiction that disagreement exists as to insurance may be waived by government's failure to raise jurisdictional objection that disagreement was not shown in District Court. United States v Kiles (1934, CA8 Mo) 70 F.2d 880

Introduction of evidence by defendant on question of disability does not waive jurisdictional requirement of "disagreement" on claim. Egan v United States (1935, CA7 Ill) 80 F.2d 404

Requirement of disagreement as preliminary to suit cannot be waived, and jurisdiction cannot be conferred on court by acceptance by claimant of decision as final of any individual or board, unless action is taken in name of administrator [now Secretary] on appeal to him. Harp v United States (1932, DC Ark) 2 F Supp 32

B. Claim

13. Generally

Term "claim" is any writing which alleges permanent and total disability at time when contract of insurance was in force and is merely physical writing and not assertion of legal right. Coffey v United States (1938, CA7 Ill) 97 F.2d 762, 117 ALR 940

Substance of "claim" is declaration of intention to claim insurance benefits under contract of insurance; it is merely physical writing which furnishes desired information and not assertion of legal right. Cable v United States (1939, CA7 Ill) 104 F.2d 541

14. Requirements and sufficiency of claim

"Claim" required must assert in substance definite and positive claim to benefits under policy. United States v Lockwood (1936, CA5 La) 81 F.2d 468

© 2006 Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. Use of this product is subject to the restrictions and terms and conditions of the Matthew Bender Master Agreement.
There must be unequivocal application for award of insurance on basis of permanent and total disability in order to constitute claim for such award. Coats v United States (1933, DC SC)
9 F Supp 444

Nothing falls within term "claim" except present claim which, though it may be deficient in form, yet asserts in substance definite and positive claim to benefits under policy. Cannon v
United States (1941, DC Pa) 45 F Supp 106, affd (1942, CA3 Pa) 128 F.2d 452

15. -Intention to claim benefits

Series of letters as to what benefits representatives of deceased veteran might be entitled, showing mere desire, but not intention, to make claim, were insufficient to constitute "claim."
United States v Lockwood (1936, CA5 La) 81 F.2d 468

Letter making claim for war risk insurance was sufficient if it used words showing intention to claim insurance benefits. United States v Meakins (1938, CA9 Mont) 96 F.2d 751

Claim need not be couched in technical language, nor actually demand insurance benefits, but was sufficient to meet definition in predecessor to 38 USCS § 784 [now 38 USCS § 1984] where words showing intention to claim such insurance benefits were used. Coffey v United States (1938, CA7 Ill) 97 F.2d 762, 117 ALR 940

Any claim showing intention to claim insurance benefits answers purpose as prerequisite to suit. Gambill v United States (1939, CA10 Okla) 102 F.2d 667

Letter of inquiry using "words showing an intention to claim insurance benefits" will be construed as claim. Simmons v United States (1940, CA4 NC) 110 F.2d 296, reh den (1940, CA4 NC) 111 F.2d 618

Letter to veterans' bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs] which did not assert that insured was totally and permanently disabled when policy was in force, or claim that insured was titled to insurance benefits, or use words showing intention to claim such benefits, did not constitute claim, but was mere inquiry as to whether insured was entitled to insurance payments in addition to compensation. Cook v United States (1944, CA10 Okla) 145 F.2d 290

16. -Notice of claim

Only purpose of requiring filing of claim as prerequisite to suit is to give notice to government that claim is being made under policy so that it may make investigation and pay any amount due claimant without being subjected to trouble and expense of litigation. United States v Powell (1938, CA4 SC) 93 F.2d 788

Claim, or instrument purporting to be claim, must use words sufficiently definite to apprise veterans' bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs] that insured under policy of insurance contended that by reason of his total and permanent disability, while insurance policy was in force, he was entitled to benefits of same and, if denied benefits, intended to file suit to recover same as provided by law. United States v Wallace (1941, CA10 Okla) 123 F.2d 484

In averring that her wards are beneficial owners of two thirds of trust fund of government converted life policy, guardian was making claim to portion of proceeds of policy; such notice to veterans' administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] amounted to claim under contract of insurance. Shaull v United States (1947, App DC) 82 US App DC 174, 161 F.2d 891

Insured must assert that proof entitled him to benefits under terms of his policy and put administration [now Department] on notice to consider such proof in support of his claim before administration [now Department] could consider due proof of permanent total disability under former 38 USC § 445. 1933 ADVA 193

17. -Inquiries and requests for information

Letters merely making inquiries or requesting information do not constitute claims. Chavez v
United States (1934, CA10 NM) 74 F.2d 508

An inquiry is not a claim. United States v Primilton (1935, CA5 La) 76 F.2d 555
Letter requesting forms and information for filing claim in behalf of widow or named veteran was insufficient to constitute "claim," which must be something administrator [now Secretary] could refuse.  Werner v United States (1936, CA2 NY) 86 F.2d 113

Letter by beneficiary to bureau asking for blanks to make claim was not "claim" within statute.  Bandy v United States (1940, DC Tenn) 33 F Supp 752

18. -Miscellaneous

Claim was insufficient where nature and extent of disability is described merely as "10% harsh, high-pitched breathing."  Ross v United States (1935, CA7 Ill) 77 F.2d 212

Fair test to be applied in determining sufficiency of claim under statute was whether claimant in case of disagreement would be ultimate beneficiary of judgment under policy; claimant was not required to disclose with particularity names of others interested in litigation in case of disagreement.  Drew v United States (1939, CA6 Tenn) 104 F.2d 939

19. Form of claim

Beneficiary's claim to insurance made upon form supplied by bureau [now Department], was sufficient.  United States v Martin (1935, CA10 Kan) 80 F.2d 460

Instrument relied on to constitute "claim" must be of such character as to form basis for denial and disagreement; use of words merely showing desire to claim insurance benefits is insufficient, as also are words announcing that claim will later be made.  United States v Wallace (1941, CA10 Okla) 123 F.2d 484

Execution and delivery in 1922, of form 526, captioned "Application of Veteran Disabled in World War for Compensation and Vocational Training" was sufficient, under then existing law, upon which to base disagreement set up as condition precedent to bringing action for insurance benefits.  Wojciekowski v United States (1937, DC Mass) 21 F Supp 14

Properly executed VA Form 355, Claim for National Service Life Insurance, constituted valid claim for National Service Life Insurance death benefits under all applicable sections of National Service Life Insurance, Life Insurance Act of 1940, including those benefits payable as result of application of provisions of former 38 USC § 802; provision of former § 802 requiring beneficiary to file proof of existence of certain facts within stated time limits was satisfied upon submission by beneficiary within prescribed time limits of proof of those facts which are not established by evidence already of record in Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs].  1948 ADVA 796

An application for a disability allowance is not "claim."  Tyson v United States (1935, CA4 NC) 76 F.2d 533, affd (1936) 297 US 121, 80 L Ed 520, 56 S Ct 390

Insured is not required to claim immediate insurance benefits to meet test of "claim," and application for reinstatement of policy and for waiver of premiums meets test.  Myers v United States (1953, DC Mo) 112 F Supp 809, mod on other grounds (1954, CA8 Mo) 213 F.2d 223

21. -Correspondence

Attorney's letter to veterans' bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs] not alleging total and permanent disability of insured was insufficient to constitute "claim."  Corn v United States (1934, CA10 Okla) 74 F.2d 438

Letter written to Insurance Claim Counsel, United States Veterans' Bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs], constituted claim where writer requested payment of his war risk insurance at stated rate per month since date named, at which time his insurance was stated by him to be in force, on ground of total and permanent disability at and ever since such date, even though letter was not accompanied by any evidence as to his physical condition at time insurance was in force or at time of writing letter.  Burgett v United States (1935, CA7 Ill) 80 F.2d 151, 104 ALR 167

Letter is sufficient as claim where, within time allowed for filing claim, service officer of American Legion and county judge at home of veteran address letter to veterans' bureau [now
Department of Veterans Affairs] in which he requested certain blanks, all of which are prescribed by bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs] for use of veterans in making various claims for his benefits, and in postscript to letter it is stated: "Name of veteran; John B. Wallace. Above veteran now deceased. Claim filed by beneficiary." United States v Wallace (1941, CA10 Okla) 123 F.2d 484

Letter by attorney for insured’s widow which warned government not to pay money due under policy to another person pending legal proceedings to determine whether rights of that other person were obtained by fraud or undue influence, and which did not advise that present claim was being presented or asserted on behalf of widow, was insufficient as assertion of claim for widow. Cannon v United States (1941, DC Pa) 45 F Supp 106, aff’d (1942, CA3 Pa) 128 F.2d 452

22. -Collateral actions

Action to have designated beneficiary of National Service Life Insurance policy declared trustee of proceeds for benefit of insured’s widow did not constitute claim against United States so as to give District Court jurisdiction. Pack v United States (1949, CA9 Cal) 176 F.2d 770

Action by policyholder to compel Veterans Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] to retain special dividend on deposit at interest was not action on claim. Candell v United States (1951, CA10 Colo) 189 F.2d 442

Action for reinstatement of lapsed insurance policy is not "claim." Meadows v United States (1930) 281 US 271, 74 L Ed 852, 50 S Ct 279, 73 ALR 310

There was no sufficient claim for insurance benefits where veteran merely made "Application of Person Disabled in and Discharged from Service," referring to insurance but failing to allege existence of permanent and total disability when contract of insurance was in force. Dias v United States (1937, DC Mass) 21 F Supp 266

Controversy between veterans’ administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] and insured as to whether war risk insurance policy has lapsed is "claim. . . under a contract of insurance," and federal district court has jurisdiction of action brought by insured. Lufkin v United States (1958, DC NH) 168 F Supp 451, 1 FR Serv 2d 1060

C. Disagreement

24. Generally

Inability to agree must relate to identical claim which is subject of suit. Berntsen v United States (1930, CA9 Cal) 41 F.2d 663

Disagreement is at least prima facie made where jurisdictional defect is not pleaded. Cunningham v United States (1933, CA5 Tex) 67 F.2d 714

Filing of claim and its denial, constituting disagreement, is jurisdictional to maintenance of action on contract of war risk insurance. Johnson v United States (1939, CA10 Okla) 102 F.2d 729; United States v Wallace (1941, CA10 Okla) 123 F.2d 484

Disagreement arises only when claim has been filed with veterans’ administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] and rejected. Leyerly v United States (1947, CA10 Colo) 162 F.2d 79

In action to recover on national service insurance policy, disagreement is jurisdictional and disagreement arises only when claim has been properly filed with and rejected by veterans’ administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs]. United States v Christensen (1953, CA10 Okla) 207 F.2d 757

25. Disagreement subsequent to filing of suit
There is no disagreement where claim is filed six days before expiration of time allowed for filing same, and notice of rejection is not given insured until after expiration of such time and after suit is filed. Stallman v United States (1933, CA8 Iowa) 67 F.2d 675

Action on policy cannot be maintained where disagreement occurs after commencement of action, and amendment cannot cure pleading. Baraby v United States (1932, DC Mont) 1 F Supp 443; Albek v United States (1933, DC NY) 4 F Supp 1020; Taylor v United States (1933, DC SC) 9 F Supp 443

26. Failure or delay in acting on claim

Failure to pass on claim, no matter how long matter is delayed, is not "disagreement"; there must be affirmative action indicating denial of claim. Griffin v United States (1932, CA7 Ill) 60 F.2d 339; Maulis v United States (1932, DC III) 56 F.2d 444; Kelley v United States (1932, DC Mich) 59 F.2d 743; Ginochio v United States (1934, DC III) 8 F Supp 389, affd (1934, CA7 Ill) 74 F.2d 42

No disagreement existed as to disability claim under government insurance where claimant refused to furnish further information as to his industrial activities, as required by duly authorized regulation, and no decision or expression of opinion on merits had been made, since appellate board had determined only that requested information must be furnished. Burgett v United States (1935, CA7 Ill) 80 F.2d 151, 104 ALR 167

Mere failure or delay in acting on claim does not constitute disagreement such as to confer jurisdiction on District Court to adjudicate claim. United States v Bell (1935, CA4 NC) 80 F.2d 516

No disagreement existed as to insurance claim where beneficiary demanded payment of National Service Life Insurance policy issued to insured, who had not been heard from for 7 years, and Veterans Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] replied that no decision as to death benefits could be made until official report of insured's death had been received from service department. United States v Christensen (1953, CA10 Okla) 207 F.2d 757

Delay in acting on claim, or failure to take action on claim, does not constitute disagreement so as to allow suit under predecessor to 38 USCS § 784 [now 38 USCS § 1984], but such action may be compelled by mandamus. Anderson v United States (1932, DC KY) 5 F Supp 269

27. Denial of claim

Disagreement contemplated by predecessor to 38 USCS § 784 [now 38 USCS § 1984] must be rejection of very claim which applicant later presents by his suit. Berntsen v United States (1930, CA9 Cal) 41 F.2d 663

There was sufficient disagreement where director of bureau [now Department] refers one seeking information as to claim to his assistant, and latter stated that claim has been disallowed. United States v Bass (1933, CA7 Ind) 64 F.2d 467

Letter from general counsel of bureau [now Department] advising claimant that director had denied claim was prima facie proof of disagreement. Falbo v United States (1933, CA9 Idaho) 64 F.2d 948, affd (1934) 291 US 646, 78 L Ed 1042, 54 S Ct 456

Necesity of filing claim is not dispensed with because claim may be rejected; it is rejection which makes suit necessary. United States v Knott (1934, CA6 Ky) 69 F.2d 907

Word "denial" signifies something more than intradepartmental act; it implies communication of intradepartmental act or decision to claimant. United States v Green (1936, CA6 Tenn) 84 F.2d 449

Cause dismissed because denial of claim by chief of awards division did not constitute disagreement as required was properly reinstated. United States v Hossmann (1936, CA8 Mo) 84 F.2d 808

In deciding whether reply of bureau of war risk insurance [now Department of Veterans Affairs] was denial of veteran's claim on war risk insurance which creates disagreement so as to authorize action on claim in district court, court must interpret such reply in light of original application and give it that interpretation which appeared reasonable from all surrounding circumstances. Neely v United States (1940, CA4 W Va) 115 F.2d 448

Where assistant director of veterans' bureau [now Department] acting expressly for the director [now Secretary] informed plaintiff that he was entitled to insurance benefits of only $1.91 per month, this amounted to denial of larger claim which was in suit and created disagreement on which plaintiff could sue. Biven v United States (1944, App DC) 79 US App DC 61, 142 F.2d 570

Disallowance of claim by beneficiary written by assistant director of claims division of veterans' bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs] constituted disagreement authorizing action. Bandy v United States (1940, DC Tenn) 33 F Supp 752

28. -By regional authority

Denial by regional manager of disability rating was "disagreement." United States v Hill (1933, CA8 Ark) 62 F.2d 1022

Refusal of regional rating board to give insured rating of total permanent disability constituted disagreement. Norton v United States (1930, DC Tenn) 57 F.2d 869

"Disagreement exists where regional adjudication officer, by letter, advises claimant of denial of his claim, forming basis for action in court, provided such officer is competent to act for veteran's bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs]. Spanner v United States (1937, DC Mass) 19 F Supp 465

29. -Claims involving multiple parties

Inferential denial of claim arising from award of benefits to person other than claimant is insufficient to constitute required disagreement. Chavez v United States (1934, CA10 NM) 74 F.2d 508

Submission and denial satisfy exactions of statute in respect of disagreement precedent to right of recovery on heirs' part, and heirs' right in that respect inured to benefit of executor and administrator respectively of insured and beneficiary, entitling such representatives to join in suit on policy, where all heirs of both insured and beneficiary submit claim and it is denied. Johnson v United States (1939, CA10 Okla) 102 F.2d 729

Right of each parent to benefits is separate and distinct; although claim of one and its denial without reference to other does not constitute "disagreement" as to both, court may acquire jurisdiction to hear and determine claims of all persons having interest in insurance benefits. Leyerly v United States (1947, CA10 Colo) 162 F.2d 79

Suit can be maintained by insured's mother who is beneficiary in policy, though she has filed no claim, where claim by widow of insured was denied on its merits. Hunnewell v United States (1933, DC NH) 2 F Supp 389

Government is estopped to assert against other children that no claim had been filed where government has denied claim of one child. Robinson v United States (1935, DC NY) 12 F Supp 160

30. -Miscellaneous

Denial by director [now Secretary] of total and permanent disability amounts to disagreement supporting action on policy. United States v De Armond (1931, CA8 Mo) 48 F.2d 465

Denial of claim amounted to disagreement based on assertion that insured was totally and permanently disabled on September 30, 1919, at which time policy lapsed where insured made claim on ground of disability from June 22, 1919. United States v Alberty (1933, CA10 Okla) 63 F.2d 965

Petition and proof showing submission of claim to veterans' bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs] and letter from chief of award division stating that policy had lapsed, but not showing pendency and decision by director [now Secretary] was insufficient to show required disagreement. Eidam v United States (1934, CA8 Neb) 74 F.2d 350
Answer to letter inquiring about rights, amounting to claim, advising veteran that it was necessary for him to furnish evidence of his complete disability between time of lapse of policy and time of complete disability rating allowed did not constitute denial of claim, and limitations did not begin to run. Morris v United States (1938, CA5 Miss) 96 F.2d 731

Suit lay on policy after veterans' bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs] had given formal written notice of denial of plaintiff's claim and recited in notice that it should be considered as evidence of disagreement. Roberts v United States (1932, DC Iowa) 56 F.2d 639

Director's [now Secretary's] denial of application for permanent disability rating from date of discharge of insured was disagreement. Miller v United States (1932, DC NY) 57 F.2d 889

Letters demanding payment of insurance on ground insured was totally and permanently disabled from time of discharge from army was sufficient "claim," and included subsequent date on which insurance was alleged to have been reinstated and matured, and decision of council that insured was not so disabled when insurance was in force is denial of claim and constituted "disagreement." Moragne v United States (1936, DC SC) 16 F Supp 1008

Suit begun before claim under policy was denied was properly dismissed, and it could not be reinstated after denial of claim. Atkinson v United States (1941, DC Mass) 39 F Supp 198

31. Form of denial

Whether or not regulations of bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs] confer on regional managers and rating boards power to deny claim, such denial cannot arise from informal conversation relating to claim. United States v Burleyson (1930, CA9 Cal) 44 F.2d 502

32. -Correspondence

Disagreement was established by letter from general counsel for veterans' bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs] stating that evidence was insufficient to show permanent and total disability prior to lapse date of policy. Straw v United States (1933, CA9 Cal) 62 F.2d 757

Letter to insured stating that claim was barred was "disagreement." Harris v United States (1935, CA9 Idaho) 80 F.2d 612; O'Kane v United States (1936, DC Pa) 15 F Supp 1070

Letter to bureau [now Department] showing intention to claim insurance benefits, and letter from bureau [now Department] showing denial of claim was sufficient to constitute "claim" and "disagreement." United States v Townsend (1936, CA4 NC) 81 F.2d 1013

In action to recover on contract of war risk insurance, petition alleging presentation of claim by letters and correspondence, and denial of claim by letters was sufficient to charge existence of valid disagreement and to support proof thereof, in absence of appropriate attack for objectionable generality. United States v Rasmussen (1938, CA10 Okla) 95 F.2d 842

In response to claim for benefits under war risk insurance policy, letter of director of insurance, stating that illegitimate child of deceased veteran was not heir at law under state law, that claim could not be paid as requested, and that only remedy was resort to courts, did not constitute denial of claim, but entitles claimant to assume that letter means that no further consideration would be given to claimed heirship unless such heirship was established by court proceedings, and statute of limitation was thereby suspended until such determination. Live Stock Nat'l Bank v United States (1939, CA7 Ill) 106 F.2d 240

Letter signed by chief of awards division, advising plaintiff that his insurance was not payable, constituted denial of his claim. Simmons v United States (1940, CA4 NC) 110 F.2d 296, reh den (1940, CA4 NC) 111 F.2d 618

Letter from director of insurance denying insured's claim was sufficient to constitute "disagreement" requisite to suit. Sullivan v United States (1941, CA6 Ky) 116 F.2d 576

Letter written by assistant director in charge of compensation and insurance claims of veterans' bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs] in reply to plaintiff's claim for insurance benefits constituted denial of claim and created disagreement between plaintiff and bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs], although such letter contained paragraph to effect that plaintiff's claim for compensation, which was separate and distinct from his claim for insurance, would be given further consideration.  Thrasher v United States (1943, CA5 Fla) 132 F.2d 747

Even if letter which was mere inquiry as to whether insured was entitled to insurance payments in addition to compensation could regarded as claim based on permanent and total disability, it was denied by letter in reply stating that policy has lapsed for nonpayment and that it is not shown that insured was suffering from service-connected disability of compensable degree at time policy had lapsed.  Cook v United States (1944, CA10 Okla) 145 F.2d 290

Where mother of deceased soldier, through her attorney, wrote veterans' bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs], advising them of soldier's death, requesting reinstatement of life insurance which he carried at time of his discharge from army, and asking that letter be considered as sufficient application to save claim and asking for blank forms on which to file claim, bureaus [now Department of Veterans Affairs] reply that insurance had lapsed for nonpayment of premiums and, therefore, that no insurance was payable, was denial of any right to make claim
329 US 722, 91 L Ed 626, 67 S Ct 66

Letter to plaintiff's counsel by government's counsel inconsistent with government's answer denyng plaintiff's allegation of disagreement was insufficient to give court jurisdiction.  Taylor v
United States (1933, DC SC) 9 F Supp 443

33. Discontinuance of payments

Discontinuance of disability benefit payments on prior claim of total permanent disability is not "disagreement" required for subsequent action.  Egan v United States (1935, CA7 Ill) 80 F.2d 404

Discontinuance of payments under policy is not disagreement.  Smith v United States (1932, DC Iowa) 56 F.2d 636

34. Miscellaneous

Correspondence with veterans' bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs] through United States senator was insufficient to constitute "disagreement." United States v Collins (1932, CA4
W Va) 61 F.2d 1002

Letter from son of insured informing veterans' bureau of death of insured in lapsed policy, and suggestions that widow was entitled to receive insurance, but making no statement as to total and permanent disability excusing nonpayment of premiums and answering letter from bureau stating that policy has lapsed did not show "disagreement." United States v Peters (1933, CA8 Ark) 62
F.2d 977

There was no "disagreement" necessary for court's jurisdiction where claimant stated it was his intention to appeal his case, if necessary, to director of the bureau [now Secretary of Veterans Affairs] and never notified bureau of any change of intent [now Department].  Brown v United States (1934, CA7 Ill) 73 F.2d 309

There is no "disagreement" where insured never receives any communication concerning his application and is never paid any benefits under policy.  Ross v United States (1935, CA7 Ill) 77
F.2d 212

Claim for compensation does not constitute application for insurance benefits; hence, jurisdictional disagreement is lacking.  Kemp v United States (1935, CA7 Ill) 77 F.2d 213

Underlying purpose of limitations expressed in 1930 amendment was to provide uniform limitation upon commencement of suits to recover benefits under insurance policies and to fix definite date beyond which suit can not be maintained.  United States v Wallace (1941, CA10 Okla) 123 F.2d 484

Action to enforce trust allegedly imposed upon proceeds of life insurance policy is not suit involving disagreement as to claim of insurance where no dispute exists as to government's liability to pay proceeds to designated beneficiary.  Tohulka v United States (1953, CA7 Ind) 204
F.2d 414

It is not tantamount to "disagreement as to claim" where conditions precedent to allowance of insurance claim are within regulatory authority of administration [now Department] upon compliance is enforced. Waters v United States (1963, CA5 La) 316 F.2d 301

In suit brought by guardian of two minor sons of insured to establish parol trust in proceeds of government converted life policy, denial of existence of parol trust by United States and its assertion that it would have paid money to trustee who had been designated as beneficiary except for claim of guardian, is admission by United States of existence of disagreement with her as to manner in which proceeds should be disbursed. Shaull v United States (1947, App DC) 82 US App DC 174, 161 F.2d 891

Averment of interest in proceeds of policy under trust agreement with insured, and disregard of plaintiff's claim in making payments, showed "disagreement" supporting action. Calhoun v Ussery (1930, DC La) 46 F.2d 495

Mere allegation that government has disagreed with insured concerning his right to benefits sued for, but has failed to furnish insured with letter of disagreement, is insufficient to show actual disagreement. Scranton Lackawanna Trust Co. v United States (1932, DC Pa) 57 F.2d 210

Correspondence between claimant's counsel and veterans' bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs] was insufficient to show disagreement within statute at time suit was filed. Owens v United States (1933, DC La) 7 F Supp 757

Where veteran has made no unequivocal application for award for permanent and total disability, award could not go beyond what was applied for and could not be regarded as disagreement. Coats v United States (1933, DC SC) 9 F Supp 444

III. DISABILITY AS GROUND FOR RECOVERY OF BENEFITS

A. In General

35. Generally

Total disability which has not become permanent before lapse of policy does not mature it, and permanent disability which has not become total does not do so either. Eggen v United States (1932, CA8 Minn) 58 F.2d 616

In order to recover on expired war risk insurance policy, disability at time of expiration must have been permanent and total. United States v Ware (1940, CA5 La) 110 F.2d 739

Contingency on which claim is founded is contingency on which liability under policy is bottomed, namely, permanent disability or death while policy remains in force. Boyd v United States (1942, DC Wis) 47 F Supp 339

36. Condition of insured

It is not necessary that petitioner be bedridden, wholly helpless, or that he should abandon every possible effort in order for the jury to find that he is totally and permanently disabled. Berry v United States (1941) 312 US 450, 85 L Ed 945, 61 S Ct 637

Bedfast condition is not prerequisite to recovery on contract of war risk insurance. United States v Atchley (1940, CA10 Kan) 116 F.2d 266

Insured need not necessarily be bedfast or bedridden in order to be entitled to disability benefits, and disabled insured should not be penalized merely because he "carried on" seemingly as well person to detriment of his health. Putney v United States (1933, DC Colo) 4 F Supp 376; Smith v United States (1933, DC Ky) 5 F Supp 475

37. -Permanence of disability

Disability is permanent if it is founded on conditions which make it reasonably certain that it will continue throughout life. Eggen v United States (1932, CA8 Minn) 58 F.2d 616; Asher v United States (1933, CA8 Ark) 63 F.2d 20

In action on war risk insurance policy, plaintiff could not recover, where, though there could be no question but that insured was suffering from adhesions prior to lapse of policy, and that they resulted in total disability, there was no substantial evidence that at that time it was reasonably certain that disability would continue throughout insured's lifetime. United States v Marsh (1939, CA4 Va) 107 F.2d 173, reh den (1939, CA4 Va) 108 F.2d 558

It was not enough to justify recovery on war risk insurance policy to show that ailment causing disability at time of lapse of policy, but known to be frequently curable, subsequently turned out badly and was not cured. United States v Marsh (1939, CA4 Va) 107 F.2d 173, reh den (1939, CA4 Va) 108 F.2d 558

War risk insurance policy did not cover total temporary disability or partial permanent disability and does not authorize or permit any payment for physical or mental impairment that was less than "total permanent disability." United States v Bemis (1939, CA9 Or) 107 F.2d 894

In action on war risk insurance policy, based on claim that insured had become totally and permanently disabled before his policy lapsed, plaintiff must show that at lapse insured was permanently disabled, and this must always remain uncertain when treatments were available which gave reasonable hope of success. United States v Thomburgh (1940, CA8 Mo) 111 F.2d 278, cert den (1940) 311 US 664, 85 L Ed 426, 61 S Ct 21

38. Totality of disability

Permanent partial disability was not sufficient to justify recovery under expired war risk insurance policy. United States v Ware (1940, CA5 La) 110 F.2d 739

In action on war risk insurance policy, it was incumbent on plaintiff to show condition of total and permanent disability during period of insurance protection, and it was not enough to establish that he was partially permanently disabled or temporarily totally disabled while policy was in force. Thatenhorst v United States (1941, CA10 Kan) 119 F.2d 567

39. Cause of disability

War risk insurance policy covered any permanent total disability that occurred while such insurance was in force, rendering cause of disability irrelevant to insured's right of recovery. Lumbra v United States (1934) 290 US 551, 78 L Ed 492, 54 S Ct 272

Fact that disability was due primarily to congenital defects was immaterial under war risk insurance policy if disability occurred while insurance was in force, since disability benefits under such insurance were not limited to disabilities caused by war service. Miller v United States (1935) 294 US 435, 79 L Ed 977, 55 S Ct 440, reh den (1935) 294 US 734, 79 L Ed 1262, 55 S Ct 635

40. Failure or refusal to accept treatment

Insured may not convert total temporary disability existing before lapse into total permanent disability by neglecting his condition after lapse, and failure to take treatment may destroy whatever probative value death or permanency of disability occurring after lapse would otherwise have. Eggen v United States (1932, CA8 Minn) 58 F.2d 616

Failure of insured to accept hospitalization and treatment is to be considered in holding insured not entitled to recover. United States v Horn (1934, CA4 W Va) 73 F.2d 770; United States v Anderson (1935, CA4 SC) 76 F.2d 337; United States v Walker (1935, CA5 La) 77 F.2d 415, cert den (1935) 296 US 612, 80 L Ed 434, 56 S Ct 132; Smith v United States (1933, DC Ky) 5 F Supp 475

Veteran refusing hospitalization and delaying suit fails to sustain burden of proving total and permanent disability in action. United States v Anderson (1935, CA4 SC) 76 F.2d 337

Failure to take treatment may destroy whatever probative value death or permanency of disability occurring after lapse of insurance policy would otherwise have. United States v Marsh (1939, CA4 Va) 107 F.2d 173, reh den (1939, CA4 Va) 108 F.2d 558

Failure to take treatment did not estop insured from claiming total and permanent disability under war risk insurance policy, but it was circumstance to be considered with other evidence in deciding whether disease was shown to have reached such stage prior to lapse of policy as to constitute such liability. United States v Watson (1939, CA4 SC) 107 F.2d 370

41. Cessation of disability

Evidence of progress towards recovery is admissible on issue of cessation of disability. United States v Schroeder (1935, CA7 Ind) 77 F.2d 173; United States v Edson (1935, CA7 Ill) 79 F.2d 866

Where verdict in previous trial held veteran totally and permanently disabled and later government ceased payments because it held that veteran was no longer totally and permanently disabled, in a subsequent trial brought by veteran it was proper for government to introduce evidence of activities of veteran prior to first verdict as bearing on condition of veteran subsequent to such time, especially where veteran himself testified as to his condition prior to such time. Burak v United States (1939, CA9 Wash) 101 F.2d 137, cert den (1939) 308 US 595, 84 L Ed 498, 60 S Ct 126

Judgment for plaintiff in suit on war risk insurance policy was final adjudication as between parties that disabled person was totally and permanently disabled, but it did not preclude government from obtaining subsequent adjudication that total and permanent disability had ceased. Brown v United States (1941, DC Ill) 39 F Supp 82

B. Ability to Work

1. In General

42. Generally

Total disability is inability to follow continuously any substantially gainful occupation. United States v Tyrakowski (1931, CA7 Ill) 50 F.2d 766; Asher v United States (1933, CA8 Ark) 63 F.2d 20; United States v Caldwell (1934, CA3 Pa) 69 F.2d 200; United States v Baker (1934, CA9 Idaho) 73 F.2d 691; Hughes v United States (1936, CA10 Okla) 83 F.2d 76

In action based on disability, plaintiff must show that while policy was in force insured suffered bodily impairment such as to make it, throughout his life, impossible for him to follow with substantial continuity any substantially gainful occupation. O'Quinn v United States (1934, CA5 La) 70 F.2d 599

One was totally disabled within war risk policy when he was not able to make a living by work without injury to his health. United States v Stand (1939, CA10 Okla) 102 F.2d 472

Test as to whether veteran has suffered total and permanent disability is not whether he may perform any service for any one but whether he has suffered bodily impairment which makes it impossible for him to follow any substantially gainful occupation, and whether this condition is reasonably likely to continue. United States v Calvey (1940, CA3 Pa) 110 F.2d 327

Test in determining whether insured claiming under expired war risk insurance policy was totally and permanently disabled was not whether he was able to follow the occupation in which he was engaged prior to entering service, but whether he was able to follow any substantially gainful occupation continuously. United States v Ware (1940, CA5 La) 110 F.2d 739

Test of total disability is whether insured is able to engage with reasonable regularity in substantially gainful occupation. Adams v United States (1940, CA7 Ill) 116 F.2d 199

Test of total and permanent disability is whether plaintiff, at time his policy lapses for nonpayment of premiums, has disability which renders it impossible for him to follow continuously in substantially gainful occupation, founded upon conditions which indicate with reasonable certainty that such impairment will continue throughout his life. United States v McCain (1941, CA10 Kan) 118 F.2d 479

Criterion in determining "total permanent disability" is ability to hold job or perform labor in ordinary competition of life. Knight v United States (1930, DC Me) 45 F.2d 202
43. Substantially gainful occupation

"Substantially gainful occupation," within rule for determining total permanent disability, is any kind of work for which insured may be fitted, or competent, or qualified mentally or physically. United States v Harth (1932, CA8 Iowa) 61 F.2d 541

44. Continuity and regularity

Word "continuously" as used in director's [now Secretary's] regulation relating to permanent disability meant reasonable regularity. Carter v United States (1931, CA4 NC) 49 F.2d 221

"Continuously," as used in rule for determining permanent disability, means continuity and regularity, as other men normally work. United States v Harth (1932, CA8 Iowa) 61 F.2d 541

45. Miscellaneous

Mentally deficient insured was entitled to recover on war risk insurance policy where was able to work before he entered army and was unable to work after he is discharged from army. Hilbert v United States (1942, DC Ill) 43 F Supp 838

2. Capacity for or Performance of Limited Work

46. Generally

It is not necessary to prove absolute inability to do any kind of work in order to recover on insurance. United States v Crume (1931, CA5 Tex) 54 F.2d 556

Fact that soldier has done work of some kind in some measure does not, without more, negative his claim of total permanent disability, and mere fact that soldier has done no work, or only little, does not establish his claim of total permanent disability; some who are totally incapacitated for work may, by strong will power or because of necessity, continue to work, against advice of physicians, and, perhaps, at risk of serious physical injury. United States v Caldwell (1934, CA3 Pa) 69 F.2d 200

Insured cannot recover where insured can follow continuously light work, which is substantially gainful. United States v Derrick (1934, CA10 Okla) 70 F.2d 162

To establish total disability within war risk policy, it was unnecessary to prove absolute inability to do any kind of work. United States v Stand (1939, CA10 Okla) 102 F.2d 472

Phrase "total and permanent disability" does not mean that party must be unable to do anything whatever, and it does not mean that there must be proof of absolute incapacity to do any work at all. Knapp v United States (1940, CA7 Ill) 110 F.2d 420

In action on war risk insurance policy, plaintiff must show that while policy was still in force he was incapable of pursuing with reasonable regularity any substantially gainful occupation and that disability was of permanent character; however, it was not necessary that plaintiff abandon every possible effort to work in order for jury to find that he was totally and permanently disabled. Tyrakoski v United States (1941, CA7 Ill) 119 F.2d 339

47. Capacity to perform duties of previous occupation

Mere fact that insured was unable to follow his former occupation or to do work of kind he was accustomed to perform before his injury did not establish permanent and total character of his disability under war risk policy. Lumbra v United States (1934) 290 US 551, 78 L Ed 492, 54 S Ct 272; Miller v United States (1935) 294 US 435, 79 L Ed 977, 55 S Ct 440, reh den (1935) 294 US 734, 79 L Ed 1262, 55 S Ct 635

Testimony that plaintiff was unable to perform duties that he could perform prior to alleged disability did not establish total and permanent disability. Corrigan v United States (1936, CA9 Idaho) 82 F.2d 106

It could be reasonably inferred that insurance section of Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] had knowledge of veteran's application for compensation as disabled veteran from evidence showing that identifying number assigned to application for compensation was endorsed on his application for insurance prior to its approval by insurance section; veteran’s application for compensation as disabled World War veteran was part of records of Veterans’ Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs]; hence, its knowledge thereof, with respect to alleged fraud in his application for war risk insurance, was actual, not imputed, knowledge. United States v Kelley (1943, CA9 Cal) 136 F.2d 823

Mere proof of inability to work at farming or roadwork did not show total and permanent disability, where it was not shown that insured made any effort to do other kinds of work. Crouch v United States (1935, DC W Va) 11 F Supp 232

48. Performance of work upon occasional or irregular basis

If insured is able to follow gainful occupations only spasmodically, with frequent interruptions due to disability, he is entitled to recover compensation for disability. Ford v United States (1930, CA1 Mass) 44 F.2d 754; Burgoyn v United States (1932, Dist Col App) 61 App DC 97, 57 F.2d 764

Fact that insured worked spasmodically with frequent interruptions made necessary by his physical condition did not refute finding of total permanent disability. United States v Pearson (1933, CA10 Okla) 65 F.2d 996

Occasional work for short periods by one generally disabled because of impairment of mind or body does not as matter of law negative total disability. Coyner v United States (1939, CA7 Ill) 103 F.2d 629

Occasional period of work done by insured claiming under expired war risk insurance policy was not sufficient to negative total permanent disability when there was other evidence tending substantially to show permanent total disability, but when he worked for substantial length of time without injury and compensation was shown in any great amount, then these factors outweighed expert testimony. United States v Ware (1940, CA5 La) 110 F.2d 739

Insured who can work only spasmodically, with frequent interruptions or changes in employment necessitated by his condition, cannot be said to be able to follow continuously substantially gainful occupation within meaning of policy. United States v Atchley (1940, CA10 Kan) 116 F.2d 266

Ability to work spasmodically from time to time or to work for considerable periods did not conclusively prove that insured was not totally and permanently disabled within meaning of war risk policy. United States v McCain (1941, CA10 Kan) 118 F.2d 479

Veteran who is victim of dementia praecox was held to have become totally and permanently disabled within meaning of his policy of war risk insurance at time when he became unable to perform competently type of work at which he had formerly been skilled, developed delusions of persecution, and was diagnosed by physician as being in early stages of dementia praecox, so that policy matured at such time, even though he was gainfully employed at spasmodic intervals for some time thereafter. Shelley v United States (1956, DC Ky) 142 F Supp 436

49. Performance of work resulting in impairment of health

Disability does not cease to be total because of insured's intermittent occupational or business activities, where activities are engaged in, without exercise of ordinary care or prudence, at risk of substantially aggravating ailment with which insured is afflicted. Lumbra v United States (1934) 290 US 551, 78 L Ed 492, 54 S Ct 272

Insured is totally disabled if unable, without injury to his health, to make his living by working. United States v Martin (1931, CA5 Tex) 54 F.2d 554, cert den (1932) 286 US 546, 76 L Ed 1282, 52 S Ct 497; United States v Crume (1931, CA5 Tex) 54 F.2d 556

Work record may have effect of negating claim of total and permanent disability, but veteran has right to negative effect of work record by evidence that performance of work impaired his health. Corrigan v United States (1936, CA9 Idaho) 82 F.2d 106

50. Performance of work after lapse of policy

Mere fact that one has done some work after lapse of his policy is not of itself sufficient to defeat his claim of total permanent disability; he may have worked when really unable and at risk of endangering his health or life, but, manifestly, work performed may be such as to conclusively negative total permanent disability at earlier time. Lumbra v United States (1934) 290 US 551, 78 L Ed 492, 54 S Ct 272; Harris v United States (1934, CA4 Va) 70 F.2d 889

Fact that insured worked at his regular trade almost continuously for 11 years after lapse of policy prevented recovery, though he testified that he worked under great difficulties and in great pain. United States v Wilson (1931, CA4 SC) 50 F.2d 1063

Employment after lapse of policy may be of such duration and nature that it conclusively refutes any idea of total permanent disability. Nicolay v United States (1931, CA10 Colo) 51 F.2d 170

Though having great probative effect to negative total permanent disability before lapse of policy, it is not conclusive against insured that he has earned money or has been at work with substantial continuity since lapse of policy. United States v Martin (1931, CA5 Tex) 54 F.2d 554, cert den (1932) 286 US 546, 76 L Ed 1282, 52 S Ct 497; United States v Crume (1931, CA5 Tex) 54 F.2d 556

Fact that insured physician practiced his profession for many years after lapse of policy and had substantial income therefrom precluded finding of total permanent disability during life of policy. United States v Ingalls (1933, CA10 NM) 67 F.2d 593

Fact that insured was gainfully employed for seven years after lapse of policy, though absent occasionally on account of sickness, precluded finding of total permanent disability before lapse. United States v Timmons (1934, CA5 Fla) 68 F.2d 636

Work with frequent interruptions after lapse of policy did not preclude finding of total permanent disability before lapse. United States v Caldwell (1934, CA3 Pa) 69 F.2d 200

Fact that insured worked with substantial continuity in gainful employments for 11 years after lapse of policy and his condition was not materially worse at end of that time precluded finding of total permanent disability before lapse. United States v Burns (1934, CA5 Fla) 69 F.2d 636

Insured had burden of showing that work was not substantially gainful where insured worked for 10 years after lapse of policy. United States v Baker (1934, CA9 Idaho) 73 F.2d 691

Fact that insured worked 8 or 10 years, at short hours, after lapse precluded recovery. United States v Baker (1934, CA9 Idaho) 73 F.2d 691

Fact that insured worked from third year through tenth year after lapse of policy fairly continuously precluded recovery, though his arthritis prevented work for first two years after lapse of policy. United States v Steadman (1934, CA10 Utah) 73 F.2d 706

Insured was not entitled to recover where insured, for three years after lapse of policy, earned substantial sums. United States v Krueger (1935, CA7 Ind) 77 F.2d 171

Work record after lapse of policy is important in determining disability before lapse. United States v Harris (1935, CA7 Ill) 80 F.2d 771; Corrigan v United States (1936, CA9 Idaho) 82 F.2d 106

Fact that insured worked for five years after lapse prevented finding of total permanent disability. Evans v United States (1936, CA7 Ill) 83 F.2d 539

Work done may be such as conclusively to negative total permanent disability at earlier time. United States v Nelson (1939, CA8 Ark) 102 F.2d 515, cert den (1939) 308 US 550, 84 L Ed 462, 60 S Ct 81

Fact that insured worked 18 months after lapse of policy prevented finding of total permanent disability before lapse. Nordberg v United States (1931, DC Mont) 51 F.2d 271

51. Miscellaneous

As matter of law, insured was not totally and permanently disabled where insured, though suffering with pulmonary tuberculosis, was regularly employed for ten years after lapse of policy. Long v United States (1932, CA4 SC) 59 F.2d 602

It is true that one having tuberculosis with proper care might probably recover; however, in most cases, those having incipient tuberculosis are unaware of seriousness of their affliction and are inclined to belief that it is merely cold or some other temporary trouble, and their efforts to do reasonable amount of work in belief that their affliction is merely temporary ought not to be weighed against them. United States v Monger (1934, CA10 Wyo) 70 F.2d 361

Fact that work was given to insured through sympathy did not overcome effect of proving nature and extent of work done by him since lapse of policy. United States v Vineyard (1934, CA5 Ga) 71 F.2d 624, cert den (1934) 293 US 614, 79 L Ed 703, 55 S Ct 141

Fact that work always causes pain is not proof of total disability. United States v Deal (1936, CA9 Or) 82 F.2d 929

In action to recover disability benefits under war risk insurance policies, where there was substantial evidence to show that insured was insane person on date on which bar of limitations otherwise would have been effective, jury need not believe that insured was raving lunatic at crucial date, and before that time he might well have held office boy's job, working under close supervision, and still not have been able to protect his rights under World War Veterans' Act. United States v Randall (1944, CA2 NY) 140 F.2d 70

3. Time of Disability

52. Prior to issuance of policy

Instructed verdict for government was proper where insured became totally and permanently disabled after entry into military service, but before application for policies at issue in suit was made, since war risk insurance did not ordinarily cover loss already suffered at time policy was issued. Jordan v United States (1929, CA9 Ariz) 36 F.2d 43, 73 ALR 312

Soldier who became totally and permanently disabled after his entry into the military service but before application for a policy can not recover on policy issued. Anderson v United States (1929, CA9 Mont) 36 F.2d 45; United States v Jensen (1929, CA9 Or) 36 F.2d 47

Fact that insured was injured and partially disabled before issuance of policy should be considered on question whether insured became permanently and totally disabled after, instead of before, issuance of policy, and before lapse of policy. United States v Jones (1934, CA5 Ala) 73 F.2d 376

53. During term of policy

Under war risk policy insuring against "total permanent disability," occasion, source, and cause of petitioner's illness or injury were immaterial if he was totally and permanently disabled during life of policy. Lumbra v United States (1934) 290 US 551, 78 L Ed 492, 54 S Ct 272

There can be no recovery on war risk policy unless plaintiff showed death or total permanent disability of insured during life of policy; insured could pay premiums after discharge from service and keep policy alive so as to give protection thereafter from death or total permanent disability during life of policy. Eggen v United States (1932, CA8 Minn) 58 F.2d 616

In action on war risk insurance policy, evidence was insufficient where, though it afforded possible inference that disease, pulmonary tuberculosis, from which assured died, had its beginning during life of policy, it afforded no reasonable inference, deduction, or conclusion that disease totally or permanently disabled him before policy lapsed. Fleming v United States (1939, CA6 Tenn) 106 F.2d 452, mod on other grounds (1939, CA6 Tenn) 107 F.2d 952

Benefits accruing out of contract of war risk insurance extended only to death and total permanent disability occurring while it was in force. United States v Bemis (1939, CA9 Or) 107 F.2d 894

Condition of permanent and total disability shown not only to have existed during life of policy but continuing to date of trial was indispensable foundation for judgment upon war risk insurance policy. Edmunds v United States (1938, DC Or) 24 F Supp 742, app dismd (1939, CA9 Or) 101 F.2d 1021

54. At time of lapse of policy
It was not total permanent disability covered by policy where at time of lapse of policy insured had disease which was certain to render him totally and permanently disabled thereafter. Wilks v United States (1933, CA2 NY) 65 F.2d 775

Fact that veteran, at time of lapse of war risk insurance policy, might have been suffering from nervous disorder affecting partial permanent disability would not afford recovery in his action on war risk insurance policy, even where it clearly established that it had developed into total and permanent disability subsequent to lapse of policy. United States v Fain (1939, CA8 Ark) 103 F.2d 161

55. Subsequent to lapse of policy

Verdict finding that permanent and total disability supervened after default in payment of premiums did not support judgment for plaintiff. United States v McPhee (1929, CA9 Wash) 31 F.2d 243

Recovery could not be had on contract of war risk insurance for temporary total disability, or for permanent partial disability, or for total permanent disability occurring after expiration of policy. United States v Sumner (1934, CA6 Ky) 69 F.2d 770; United States v Russian (1934, CA3 Pa) 73 F.2d 363; United States v Smith (1935, CA4 Va) 76 F.2d 850; United States v Bryan (1936, CA5 La) 82 F.2d 784; Hughes v United States (1936, CA10 Okla) 83 F.2d 76

It frequently happens that total and permanent disability shown to exist at time of trial became such long after contract lapsed; quite often incipient condition during life of policy may develop progressively into condition that is totally and permanently disabling after lapse; that is not enough to establish liability. Stephenson v United States (1935, CA8 Mo) 78 F.2d 355

In action on war risk insurance policy, it was not sufficient to show that insured, while policy was in force, had tuberculosis which resulted in total and permanent disability after policy had lapsed. United States v Watson (1939, CA4 SC) 107 F.2d 370

In action on war risk insurance policy, plaintiff could not recover if total permanent disability occurred subsequent to lapse of policy, and this was true even though it be shown that total permanent disability was caused by conditions which arose or existed while policy was in full force and effect. Thatenhorst v United States (1941, CA10 Kan) 119 F.2d 567

4. Particular Infirmitiess

56. Loss of limbs or sensors

Defective right eye and loss of right hand are permanent but not total disability. Miller v United States (1934, CA5 Ga) 71 F.2d 361, affd (1935) 294 US 435, 79 L Ed 977, 55 S Ct 440, reh den (1935) 294 US 734, 79 L Ed 1262, 55 S Ct 635

Whether loss of one leg constitutes total and permanent disability must be determined in each case. United States v Rice (1934, CA8 Neb) 72 F.2d 676

Evidence showing loss of natural hearing of both ears during life of policy makes prima facie case of disability. United States v Atkinson (1935, CA5 Tex) 76 F.2d 564, affd (1936) 297 US 157, 80 L Ed 555, 56 S Ct 391

Loss of use of one leg does not constitute total disability. United States v Tarrer (1935, CA5 Ga) 77 F.2d 423, cert den (1935) 296 US 574, 80 L Ed 405, 56 S Ct 125

Loss of limb does not constitute permanent total disability. United States v Fields (1939, CA8 Ark) 102 F.2d 535

Loss of use of one arm or one leg is not considered total disability for war risk insurance. Gray v United States (1940, CA8 Ark) 109 F.2d 728

57. Mental disorders

Instance or two of hysteria or uncontrolled emotion during period of tension was not proof of total permanent disability by reason of insanity; and observation by friend even of long-standing of insured's conduct upon return from service, given many years later, and in the knowledge of present condition of insured, was not proof of total permanent disability of insured at period.
Evidence fails to establish that insured was totally and permanently disabled from mental injury sustained during service, where insured signed statement when he was discharged from army that he had no injury or disability, and after his discharge he was not adjudged insane and was able to work at various times, and suit was not brought until about 15 years after lapse of policy. Crouch v United States (1935, DC W Va) 11 F Supp 232

Veteran who was a victim of dementia praecox became totally and permanently disabled within meaning of his policy of war risk insurance at time when he became unable to perform competently type of work at which he had formerly been skilled, developed delusions of persecution, and was diagnosed by physician as being in early stages of dementia praecox, so that policy matured at such time, even though he was gainfully employed at spasmodic intervals for some time thereafter. Shelley v United States (1956, DC Ky) 142 F Supp 436

It is presumed that tuberculosis existing after discharge from service was contracted while in service; this presumption does not go to degree or permanency of disability. Mulivrana v United States (1930, CA9 Wash) 41 F.2d 734; Runkle v United States (1930, CA10 Colo) 42 F.2d 804; United States v Le Duc (1931, CA8 Minn) 48 F.2d 789, cert den (1931) 284 US 631, 76 L Ed 537, 52 S Ct 14; United States v Wescoat (1931, CA4 W Va) 49 F.2d 193; United States v Patterson (1931, CA3 Pa) 51 F.2d 922; United States v Monger (1934, CA10 Wyo) 70 F.2d 361; United States v Huddleston (1936, CA7 Ill) 81 F.2d 593

Statement of insured, upon discharge, and in his application for compensation, and evidence that he was employed after his discharge, were not conclusive on issue of total and permanent disability, but evidence was insufficient to support finding that incipient tuberculosis continued and created total and permanent disability before time of lapse of policy. United States v Rentfrow (1932, CA10 Okla) 60 F.2d 488

Insured was not entitled to recover on account of tuberculosis if tuberculosis with which insured was afflicted during the life of the policy was of such character or had progressed only to such stage that it was possible to arrest its progress and render him able again to engage in some substantially gainful occupation without injury to his health, even though such occupation might involve only light labor and might be carried on only under conditions which would not cause recurrence of disease. United States v Messinger (1934, CA4 W Va) 68 F.2d 234

Existence of pulmonary tuberculosis did not of itself establish total and permanent disability. Crews v United States (1939, CA7 Ill) 102 F.2d 485

In action on war risk insurance policy, showing of separate and distinct periods of temporary disability from tuberculosis was insufficient to show total permanent disability. United States v Harmon (1940, CA6 Tenn) 110 F.2d 332

If insured was suffering from active pulmonary tuberculosis during life of policy, he was totally disabled; possibility that it might cease to be active and become arrested did not affect permanency of disability. Humble v United States (1931, DC Ky) 49 F.2d 600

It was not sufficient to prove that tuberculosis eventually was not cured or that insured died from it; it must be shown that it was fairly evident before lapse of the policy that he would be permanently totally disabled. Watts v United States (1938, DC Miss) 24 F Supp 969 (superseded by statute as stated in Farris v State (2004, App) 2004 Miss App LEXIS 1126)

59. Other particular infirmities

Evidence showing that insured received gun shot or shrapnel wounds in leg while in service overseas established total and permanent disability at time policy lapsed. United States v Scarborough (1932, CA9 Cal) 57 F.2d 137

Diabetes is not necessarily permanently disabling. United States v Elmore (1934, CA5 Fla) 68 F.2d 551

Bronchial asthma ordinarily does not totally and permanently disable person until it has progressed to advanced stages. United States v Smith (1935, CA4 Va) 76 F.2d 850

Duodenal ulcer is not incurable or always totally disabling. United States v Martin (1935, CA10 Kan) 80 F.2d 460

60. Multiple infirmities
Finding of disability on date claimed was proper where in an action to recover disability benefits under war risk insurance contract, evidence indicated that, when disability was claimed to exist, plaintiff was suffering from chronic bronchitis, bronchial asthma, allergic rhinitis, under-nutrition, functional neurosis, chronic spastic colitis, hemorrhoids, secondary anemia, and decayed teeth and shortly thereafter it was discovered that he was also afflicted on date disability was claimed with incurable disease known as paralysis agitans. United States v Barton (1941, CA5 Fla) 117 F.2d 540

Veteran suffering from permanent heart and nervous diseases, and duodenal ulcer, and unfitted by training for any occupation not requiring physical exertion, was permanently and totally disabled. Walsh v United States (1938, DC Minn) 24 F Supp 877, app dismd (1939, CA8 Minn) 106 F.2d 1021

A. In General

61. Generally
Right of recovery in war risk insurance cases was dependent on contract, and it was not within province of jury to award from public funds gratuities to relatives of deceased ex-soldiers. United States v Le Duc (1931, CA8 Minn) 48 F.2d 789, cert den (1931) 284 US 631, 76 L Ed 537, 52 S Ct 14

In considering subject of war risk insurance, all reasonable presumptions were indulged in favor of insured, basis of this action was contract, and parties' rights were governed by its terms. United States v Tyrakowski (1931, CA7 Ill) 50 F.2d 766

In action under life policy issued by United States, United States has proprietary status and does not appear in its sovereign capacity. Cushman v United States (1942, DC Cal) 43 F Supp 810, affd (1943, CA9 Cal) 136 F.2d 815, cert den (1943) 320 US 786, 88 L Ed 473, 64 S Ct 194

Federal Rules of Civil Procedure are applicable to suits on claims for government insurance in Federal District Courts, and such suits are not subject to state statute relating to summary judgments where provisions of state statute are inconsistent with federal procedure specified for suits upon insurance policies. United States v Lindholm (1935, CA9 Cal) 79 F.2d 784, 103 ALR 213

California summary judgment act did not apply to action in United States district court in California on war risk insurance. United States v Stevenson (1935, CA9 Cal) 79 F.2d 788

Sovereign character of government does not render general rules of law of insurance totally inapplicable to determination of government's liability under its insurance policies. United States v Morrell (1953, CA4 Md) 204 F.2d 490, 36 ALR2d 1374, cert den (1953) 346 US 875, 98 L Ed 383, 74 S Ct 128

Statutes of state in which federal District Court is located relative to amendments do not apply to suits against United States on insurance policy. Dellaporta v United States (1939, DC Mass) 27 F Supp 839

63. Conclusiveness of prior federal determination
Judgment in action on war risk insurance policy, wherein issue was whether or not policy was in force on given date by virtue of payment of premiums by insured, was not res judicata in action on same policy in which issue was whether or not policy was in force at much later date by virtue of act of Congress designed to accomplish that result. Pippin v United States (1941) 74 App DC 131, 121 F.2d 98

Court is bound by prior adjudication of disability and may refuse to admit testimony as to work record of plaintiff prior to date of such adjudication; government by consenting to suit places itself in same situation as private litigant as far as doctrine of estoppel by judgment is concerned. Edmunds v United States (1938, DC Or) 24 F Supp 742, app dismd (1939, CA9 Or) 101 F.2d 1021

Judgment that veteran was permanently disabled for War Risk Insurance was not res judicata in action for compensation under World War Veterans' Act. Hines v Welch (1928, Dist Col App) 57 App DC 371, 23 F.2d 979

Judgment on disability at one date was not res judicata as to suit brought relative to another date where insured alleged disability as of certain date but sought to amend declaration to include subsequent date, which motion was denied. Vincent v United States (1935, Dist Col App) 64 App DC 178, 76 F.2d 428

64. -Agency determinations

Contrary finding of medical advisory board prevents finding for United States that insured was permanently and totally disabled when policy was issued. United States v Domangue (1935, CA7 Ill) 79 F.2d 647

In action on war risk insurance policy, court had power to determine whether director of veterans' bureau [now Secretary of Veterans Affairs] acted arbitrarily and capriciously in finding that insured was not suffering from compensable disability. Larmon v United States (1929, DC Ky) 37 F.2d 584

District Court will not disturb Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] determination as to validity of change of beneficiary if determination is supported by substantial evidence. Hawkins v United States (1965, ED NY) 245 F Supp 1022

District Court will give substantial weight to Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] determination as to effectiveness of alleged beneficiary change. Owens v United States (1966, DC SC) 251 F Supp 114

Federal court had full jurisdiction under 38 USCS § 784 to determine rightful beneficiary to proceeds of National Service Life Insurance policy, and was not bound by a prior administrative decision regarding proper beneficiary. Phillips v United States (1970, SD Miss) 332 F Supp 601, affd (1971, CA5 Miss) 440 F.2d 993

65. Conclusiveness of prior state determination

Decree of state court directing insured's guardian to effect change of beneficiary may not be collaterally attacked in federal district court. United States v Tighe (1964, SD Miss) 229 F Supp 680

66. -Marital matters

Judgment of state court holding that one was not common-law wife of insured was not binding on federal court in suit on war risk policy. Ramsey v United States (1932, CA5 Ga) 61 F.2d 444

In suit by administrator of deceased veteran's estate to recover benefits of war risk insurance policy, adjudication of state court was binding on federal courts as to validity of alleged common-law marriage between veteran and beneficiary named in policy unless upon proper showing federal court found that such adjudication was nullity, since existence of valid common-law marriage between deceased veteran and beneficiary named in war risk insurance policy depended upon law of state in which common-law marriage took place. Live Stock Nat'l Bank v United States (1939, CA7 Ill) 106 F.2d 240

Declaratory judgment by state court in Connecticut that first marriage of decedent was not dissolved by divorce proceeding in Arkansas was binding on federal court to interpleader action filed by United States to determine right to proceeds of national service life insurance policy. United States v Oswald (1950, DC Del) 91 F Supp 639

67. -Estate matters

   State court judgment determining right to administration of estate of deceased holder of war risk policy was not subject to collateral attack in any other court. Cuff v United States (1933, CA9 Cal) 64 F.2d 624, cert den (1933) 290 US 676, 78 L Ed 583, 54 S Ct 96

   Decree of state court upholding nuncupative will was not subject to collateral attack. Brown v United States (1933, CA9 Cal) 65 F.2d 65

   Judgment of state probate court as to heirship was not binding on United States in action on war risk policy where not accompanied by record. Fennell v United States (1933, CA5 Tex) 67 F.2d 768

   Declaratory judgment that testamentary disposition of government insurance policy on life of veteran was made in veteran's will, and that there was therefore no escheat to United States, was not binding on United States where United States was not party to judgment proceedings. Hastings v United States (1943, CA6 Tenn) 133 F.2d 218

   Determination of state orphans' court as to time of death of decedent was not conclusive on United States in action on policy of war risk insurance. English v United States (1928, DC Md) 25 F.2d 335

68. Proceeding in forma pauperis

   Where plaintiff makes application for leave to proceed in forma pauperis, it is unnecessary for attorney to make supplemental affidavit showing that he has no contingent interest in claim. Deadrich v United States (1933, CA9) 67 F.2d 318

   Necessity of obtaining order of court permitting claimant to sue in forma pauperis is not legal excuse for delay in instituting suit beyond period of limitation. Weaver v United States (1934, CA4 NC) 72 F.2d 20

69. Dismissal of action

   Fact that beneficiaries and representatives appealed from judgment dismissing insured's suit on war risk policy did not preclude their right to bring new suit. Dumas v United States (1939, CA10 Kan) 103 F.2d 676

   Motion of United States to dismiss, treated as motion for summary judgment, would be sustained in action by wife of serviceman to recover proceeds of policy of life insurance where United States had satisfactorily discharged its obligations by procuring coverage for decedent with private insurer and by conveying to insurer accurate information respecting distribution of insurance funds. Jackson v United States (1975, ND Miss) 398 F Supp 607

70. Settlement of action

   Claim under contract of insurance on which premiums were not paid, but which was kept in force, may be settled by courts. United States v Sellers (1935, CA5 Miss) 75 F.2d 623, cert den (1935) 295 US 763, 79 L Ed 1705, 55 S Ct 923

71. Availability of mandamus against agency

   Mandamus is proper remedy to require decision by veterans' [now Department of Veterans Affairs] bureau on claim where bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs] fails to act on claim. United States v Bell (1935, CA4 NC) 80 F.2d 516

   Remedy by action in district in which one claiming as beneficiary resides was exclusive in case of disagreement under War Risk Insurance Act (predecessor to 38 USCS §§ 1940 et seq.), and mandamus proceedings could not be brought in District of Columbia court to compel director of Bureau of War Risk Insurance [now Secretary of Veterans Affairs] to pay claim. United States ex rel. Norris v Forbes (1922) 51 App DC 248, 278 F 331
Decision of bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs] finding insured was not totally disabled could not be reviewed by mandamus.  Forbes v Welch (1923) 52 App DC 303, 286 F 765

Under statute providing remedy in event of disagreement concerning claim under contract of insurance between veterans' administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] and any person claiming under it, action on claim which may be brought against United States is exclusive and mandamus will not lie to compel payment of proceeds of policy.  Morgan v Hines (1940) 72 App DC 331, 113 F.2d 849, cert den (1940) 311 US 706, 85 L Ed 458, 61 S Ct 174

Mandamus would not lie to compel administrator [now Secretary] of veterans affairs to make payments under war risk insurance policy, even though remedy, which was exclusive, was barred by limitations.  Tyer v Hines (1941) 73 App DC 196, 117 F.2d 782

Where denial of award was by regional adjudication officer, instead of by regional manager, and appeal was taken, that appeal must be prosecuted to final denial before suit could be brought, proper remedy in such case being mandamus to compel action on claim.  Anderson v United States (1932, DC Ky) 5 F Supp 269

In action brought to determine whether or not insured is entitled to have disability income clause added to policies, federal district court does not have jurisdiction because (1) action is not in fact based upon a "disagreement as to any claim arising under" existing policy, and (2) action is by nature one calling for exercise of mandamus authority although nominally one for declaration of rights of parties; thus, where there is failure to establish independent jurisdiction, plaintiff in reality has requested court to exercise original mandamus authority with which it is not vested.  Birge v United States (1953, DC Okla) 111 F Supp 685

Award of compensation, discretionary with director [now Secretary], is not subject to mandamus unless he acts beyond his authority.  Hines v Welch (1928, Dist Col App) 57 App DC 371, 23 F.2d 979

Administrator [now Secretary] jurisdiction to set aside orders by predecessor is not subject to mandamus.  United States ex rel. Finley v Hines (1928, Dist Col App) 58 App DC 120, 25 F.2d 544

72. Miscellaneous

Since suit against United States must be conducted strictly in accordance with statute, court will not determine, in suit by widow for proceeds of national service life insurance policy, whether proceeds paid to mother of deceased were imposed with trust.  Pack v United States (1949, CA9 Cal) 176 F.2d 770

State court is not precluded from imposing constructive trust in favor of children of deceased veterans upon proceeds from individual replacement policy.  Gutierrez v Madero (1978, Tex Civ App Eastland) 564 SW2d 185

B. Administrative Proceedings

73. Generally

Statute which defines disagreement prerequisite to action on war risk insurance policy to include denial of claim thereon by any employee or agent of administrator of veterans' affairs [now Secretary of Veterans Affairs] does not affect right of claimant to appeal to administrator [now Secretary] from denial by subordinate or touch on administrator's [now Secretary's] power to review such denial on his own motion but merely provides claimant with option to pursue his judicial remedy without first prosecuting administrative appeal.  Morgan v Hines (1940) 72 App DC 331, 113 F.2d 849, cert den (1940) 311 US 706, 85 L Ed 458, 61 S Ct 174

74. Administrative appeals

Appeal to director of veterans' bureau [now Secretary of Veterans Affairs], and action of director [now Secretary] thereon, is essential to maintenance of action.  Fouts v United States (1933, CA5 Ga) 67 F.2d 249
When insured files claim with veterans' bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs] and appeals from determination thereon, he cannot maintain action on claim prior to determination of such appeal. Hansen v United States (1933, CA7 Ill) 67 F.2d 613, cert den (1934) 291 US 670, 78 L Ed 1060, 54 S Ct 454

Failure to appeal to director from rejection of claim by appellate board precludes bringing suit, required "disagreement" being absent. United States v Earwood (1934, CA5 Ga) 71 F.2d 507, vacated on other grounds (1935) 294 US 695, 79 L Ed 1233, 55 S Ct 511

Appeal taken to administrator [now Secretary] after receipt by claimant of letter rejecting his claim superseded disagreement, and there was no disagreement until appeal was disposed of. Thelin v United States (1934, CA7 Ill) 73 F.2d 101; Albek v United States (1933, DC NY) 4 F Supp 1020

Where denial of award is by regional adjudication officer, instead of by regional manager, and appeal is taken, that appeal must be prosecuted to final denial before suit can be brought; proper remedy in such case being mandamus to compel action on claim. Anderson v United States (1932, DC Ky) 5 F Supp 269

75. Final decisions

Denial of claim by insurance claims council was not final denial. Lopez v United States (1936, CA4 NC) 82 F.2d 982

Contention that there has been no final decision because veteran had appealed to administrator [now Secretary] which appeal was pending when suit was filed, was wholly untenable where veteran received letter denying claim. Robinson v United States (1936, CA5 Tex) 84 F.2d 885

Denial of claim for war risk insurance benefits must be final and administrative relief exhausted before action could be instituted. Gambill v United States (1939, CA10 Okla) 102 F.2d 667

C. Jurisdiction

1. In General

76. Generally

Congress alone can prescribe terms on which claim for benefits may be recovered, and it is not within province of courts to extend or limit clear expression of those terms. Cannon v United States (1941, DC Pa) 45 F Supp 106, affd (1942, CA3 Pa) 128 F.2d 452

77. Consent to suit

United States may be sued only by its consent and right to sue it on war risk insurance contract was given and as prerequisite thereto insured must show disagreement with bureau [now Department] respecting his claim. United States v Rasmussen (1938, CA10 Okla) 95 F.2d 842; Kontovich v United States (1938, CA6 Tenn) 99 F.2d 661, cert den (1939) 306 US 651, 83 L Ed 1050, 59 S Ct 644; Portland Trust & Sav. Bank v United States (1938, DC Or) 24 F Supp 953

Suit on war risk insurance contract was suit against government; one of conditions of its consent to be sued was existence of "disagreement" between veterans' administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] and claimant. Leyerly v United States (1947, CA10 Colo) 162 F.2d 79

Consent to be sued should not be extended beyond plain terms of authorizing statute. Leyerly v United States (1947, CA10 Colo) 162 F.2d 79

Rule that suits against United States may be maintained only by permission of United States applied with full force to war risk insurance cases. Jewell v United States (1939, DC Ky) 27 F Supp 836
Right to sue government is conferred under certain conditions and existence of such conditions at time of filing suit is an indispensable requisite of jurisdiction. McCoy v United States (1944, DC Ark) 54 F Supp 960

78. Claims Court

Claims upon war risk insurance were not within jurisdiction of court of claims, jurisdiction thereof conferred on federal district courts being exclusive. McBean v United States (1934) 80 Ct Cl 227

Court of Claims had no jurisdiction over cases described in predecessor to 38 USCS § 784. Peyton v United States (1951) 120 Ct Cl 722, 100 F Supp 823, cert den (1952) 343 US 909, 96 L Ed 1326, 72 S Ct 639

Claim for benefits arising under Servicemen's Group Life Insurance Act (38 USCS §§ 765 et seq. [now 38 USCS § 1965 et seq.]) brought in Court of Claims were transferred to appropriate United States district court pursuant to 28 USCS § 1506, since 38 USCS § 775 [now 38 USCS § 1975] provided district courts with original jurisdiction over such claims. Parker (1971) 196 Ct Cl 775

79. State courts

State court had jurisdiction of action by alleged beneficiary against designated beneficiary for proceeds of National Service Life Insurance policy which had been paid to such designated beneficiary by Veterans Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs], where alleged beneficiary filed no claim on policy with Veterans Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs]. Fleming v Smith (1966) 69 Wash 2d 277, 418 P2d 147

County court in Wisconsin could not determine who was entitled to proceeds but could distribute proceeds in accordance with directions of veterans' bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs]. In re Greiner's Estate (1928) 195 Wis 332, 218 NW 437

State court had jurisdiction to distribute estate of deceased soldier, consisting of unaccrued installments on government insurance policy, in accordance with laws of state. In re Greiner's Estate (1928) 195 Wis 332, 218 NW 437

State court had jurisdiction of action to establish trust in proceeds of veterans' insurance. Mueller v Mueller (1921) 222 Ill App 435

State court had jurisdiction of action by sisters of insured in war risk policy against beneficiary named in such policy to declare trust. Dorland v Whitmer (1932, Stark Co) 43 Ohio App 285, 12 Ohio L Abs 102, 182 NE 686, motion overr, cert den (1933) 288 US 616, 77 L Ed 989, 53 S Ct 507

80. Miscellaneous

In action on war risk insurance policy brought in federal district court for Massachusetts in which United States moved to join third-party claimant who was resident of and personally served in New Jersey, jurisdiction was acquired over such third-party claimant solely for limited purpose of adjudicating her claim to proceeds of insurance policy, and her appearance did not constitute any sort of waiver or estoppel giving court jurisdiction over her for any other purpose. Moreno v United States (1941, CA1 Mass) 120 F.2d 128

Federal court had no jurisdiction under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1984 to adjudicate claim by insured's wife based on agreement by insured, made part of property settlement, to name his children as beneficiaries of NSLI policy until such time as insured remarried. Kaske v Rohtert (1955, DC Cal) 133 F Supp 427

2. District Courts

a. In General

81. Generally
United States district court has jurisdiction of suit on policy. United States v Napoleon (1924, CA5 Fla) 296 F 811; Salzer v United States (1922, DC NY) 300 F 764, affd (1924, CA2 NY) 300 F 767

Provision as to disagreement conferring jurisdiction on district court does not dispense with necessity of rating of incompetency required as prerequisite to waiver of payment of premiums during period of incompetency. United States v Edwards (1927, CA8 Neb) 23 F.2d 477

District court has jurisdiction to adjudicate rights under veteran's insurance contract where claim has been presented as provided by statute and disagreement has arisen thereon between United States and claimant. United States v Robinson (1939, CA9 Cal) 103 F.2d 713

District courts of United States are courts of limited jurisdiction, and presumption at every stage of cause is that cause is outside jurisdiction of court of United States unless contrary appears from record. United States v Green (1939, CA9) 107 F.2d 19

Jurisdiction of court depends upon disagreement as to claim and is question court must determine for itself without jury. Pelkey v United States (1934, Dist Col App) 63 App DC 211, 71 F.2d 221

82. Exclusive jurisdiction

Jurisdiction conferred upon district courts by predecessor to 38 USCS § 1984 was exclusive. United States v Pfitsch (1921) 256 US 547, 65 L Ed 1084, 41 S Ct 569

United States district courts had exclusive jurisdiction to review claims for refunds of premium and cash payment on war insurance. Holliday v United States (1949) 114 Ct Cl 702, 87 F Supp 367

83. Contractual predicate

Jurisdiction conferred extends to determination of defenses interposed by government, but does not permit recovery by insured of premiums improperly paid on erroneous assumption that disability is temporary only, since such payments involve claim against government as to which jurisdiction was not conferred. United States v Golden (1929, CA10 NM) 34 F.2d 367

District Court had jurisdiction under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1984 to adjudicate disagreements as to existence and continuity of serviceman's disability under national service life insurance policy, regardless of fact that existence of policy was dependent upon outcome of suit, where Congress had mandated that policy would be deemed to be in force if specified conditions existed. United States v Roberts (1951, CA5 Ga) 192 F.2d 893

Claim that veteran met statutory conditions for issuance of valid national service life insurance policy was within jurisdiction of district court under 38 USCS § 784 [now 38 USCS § 1984], although Veterans Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] denied existence of contract of insurance, where statute made issuance of policy mandatory upon meeting of conditions. Clark v United States (1973, CA8) 482 F.2d 586, 32 ALR Fed 777

Suit having been properly brought in District of Columbia, court has power to also adjudicate all claims with respect to policy, including those made by nonresident trustee designated as beneficiary and adult son of insured who claims to be cestui que trustent along with two other minor sons. Shaul v United States (1947, App DC) 82 US App DC 174, 161 F.2d 891

Predecessor to 38 USCS § 1984 did not provide district court with jurisdiction over claim that veteran had statutory right to insurance, application for which was denied by Veterans Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs], since no contract of insurance existed under which disagreement could arise. Skovgaard v United States (1953, App DC) 92 US App DC 70, 202 F.2d 363, cert den (1953) 345 US 994, 97 L Ed 1401, 73 S Ct 1134, reh den (1953) 346 US 842, 98 L Ed 362, 74 S Ct 15

Predecessor to 38 USCS § 1984 did not permit actions in District Court as to claims arising under contracts of insurance where complaint was not based on presently effective contract of insurance. Schilling v United States (1951, DC Mich) 101 F Supp 525

District Court had no jurisdiction under terms of 38 USCS § 784 [now 38 USCS § 1984] over action for benefits under national service life insurance policy even though veteran made two premium payments prior to disapproval and Veterans’ Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] inadvertently issued policy bearing effective date of veteran's death. Outlaw v United States (1967, DC SC) 293 F Supp 935

38 USCS § 784 [now 38 USCS § 1984] requires that there be contract of insurance in force in order to vest jurisdiction in district court, precluding jurisdiction of action based on Administrator's [now Secretary's] decision that veteran, due to false and fraudulent statements, had forfeited eligibility for disabled veterans' insurance. McKay v United States (1968, SD Tex) 286 F Supp 1003

84. -Lapsed policies

Court has no jurisdiction where national service life policy sued on by beneficiary has lapsed and has not been reinstated. Rowan v United States (1953, DC Pa) 115 F Supp 503, affd (1954, CA3 Pa) 211 F.2d 237

Congress did not confer jurisdiction upon federal district courts to try cases involving lapsed, unreinstated policies where administrator [now Secretary] allegedly was arbitrary in denying death claims. Robison v United States (1955, DC Idaho) 133 F Supp 9

85. -Reinstated policies

For predecessor to 38 USCS § 1984 to confer jurisdiction over action relating to claim on reinstated insurance policy, reinstatement must have been in accord with statute and regulations in effect at time of purported reinstatement, and no jurisdiction existed over claim related to policy which had been reinstated by Veterans Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] without following procedures required by statute and regulations. United States v Fitch (1950, CA10 NM) 185 F.2d 471

Under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1984, district court had jurisdiction over veteran's action to reinstate policy allegedly wrongfully declared to be lapsed by Veterans Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs], since disagreement related to question whether policy, once admittedly in force, had ceased to be in force. Lufkin v United States (1958, DC NH) 168 F Supp 451, 1 FR Serv 2d 1060

Predecessor to 38 USCS § 1984 did not confer jurisdiction over claim for reinstatement of government insurance policy, since any right to reinstatement flowed from statutory provision, rather than from contract of insurance, precluding such claim from being one "under contract". Meadows v United States (1930) 281 US 271, 74 L Ed 852, 50 S Ct 279, 73 ALR 310

District court was without jurisdiction to render judgment for payment of future installments of total disability insurance and to reserve jurisdiction of cause in order to determine whether total permanent disability of insured continued, since jurisdiction exists only in event of disagreement. United States v Jackson (1929, CA10 Kan) 34 F.2d 241, 73 ALR 316, affd (1930) 281 US 344, 74 L Ed 891, 50 S Ct 294

District court had no jurisdiction of suit to declare status of plaintiff as enlisted man during World War without regard to contract of insurance under War Risk Insurance Act. Burlingham v United States (1929, CA8 Minn) 34 F.2d 881

In absence of diversity of citizenship, federal court had no jurisdiction of suit brought by brothers and sisters of designated beneficiaries in national service life insurance for declaration that any money paid to such beneficiaries should be held in trust for all of them. Tohulka v United States (1953, CA7 Ind) 204 F.2d 414

Federal court did not have jurisdiction of complaint to recover proceeds of policy which veterans' administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] refused to issue to partially disabled navy veteran, since suit was not on "contract of insurance." Skovgaard v United States

Government's discontinuance of insurance benefits previously approved did not confer jurisdiction upon district court where no new claim was presented. Smith v United States (1932, DC Iowa) 56 F.2d 636

Jurisdiction of federal district courts is broad enough to cover all claims arising under National Service Life Insurance Act of 1940, including claims for benefits under policies (or disability income riders) alleged to be in force by operation of law. Morris v United States (1954, DC NC) 122 F Supp 155

Predecessor to 38 USCS § 1984 conferred on district court jurisdiction over claim for disability benefits under national service life insurance policy, even though policy actually issued to veteran did not contain disability rider, where dispute related to whether veteran's policy should have contained disability provisions. Morris v United States (1954, DC NC) 122 F Supp 155

b. Review of Agency Determinations

87. Generally

Fact that award was made by bureau [now Department] after action was properly commenced did not defeat right to judgment. Anderson v United States (1932, DC Ky) 5 F Supp 269

Court was without jurisdiction where disagreement was reopened and was being reconsidered by bureau [now Department] when action was brought. Taylor v United States (1932, DC NC) 57 F.2d 331

88. Denial of coverage

Predecessor to 38 USCS § 1984 did not confer jurisdiction on federal court over action based on denial of application for reinstatement of NSLI policy, since claim was to compel issuance of policy, rather than under existing contract. United States v Fitch (1950, CA10 NM) 185 F.2d 471; Ginelli v United States (1950, DC Mass) 94 F Supp 874; Rowan v United States (1953, DC Pa) 115 F Supp 503, affd (1954, CA3 Pa) 211 F.2d 237

Although Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] had determined that no policy was in existence, district court had jurisdiction under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1984 over claim for benefits of national service life insurance policy where serviceman had made application for such policy more than 3 years prior to his death, premiums on policy had been deducted from his pay for period between receipt of application by Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] and serviceman's disability discharge for leukemia condition, and VA notified claimant of rejection of original application after serviceman's death from leukemia. Gamez v United States (1951, DC Tex) 95 F Supp 656

38 USCS § 784 [now 38 USCS § 1984] did not provide district court with jurisdiction over action for benefits of national service life insurance policy, where Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] disapproved application for such policy, even though veterans' check for premium was cashed prior to disapproval and veteran died prior to disapproval of application, since suit amounted to action to compel issuance of policy. Maxwell v United States (1970, ND Cal) 313 F Supp 245

89. Additional coverage

Under 38 USCS § 784 [now 38 USCS § 1984], District Court had jurisdiction over claim that Administrator's [now Secretary's] refusal to issue extended coverage to holder of effective national service life insurance policy was arbitrary and capricious. Salyers v United States (1964, CA5 Fla) 326 F.2d 623

Court had jurisdiction under 38 USCS § 784 [now 38 USCS § 1984] to review decision of administrator [now Secretary] denying application for attachment of disability income rider to applicant's life insurance policy; such denial constitutes disagreement as to claim. Salyers v United States (1964, CA5 Fla) 326 F.2d 623

Predecessor to 38 USCS § 1984 did not give district court jurisdiction over claim based on refusal to issue extended coverage, even though valid policy of insurance existed, since claim actually constituted request for new insurance. Birge v United States (1953, DC Okla) 111 F Supp 685

Court had no jurisdiction under 38 USCS § 784 [now 38 USCS § 1984] to entertain action by beneficiary of deceased veteran's national service life insurance policy based on rejection of policyholder's application for additional insurance. McClendon v United States (1971, WD Okla) 327 F Supp 704

90. -Reinstatement

Decision of Director of United States Veterans' Bureau [now Secretary of Veterans Affairs] that applicant for reinstatement of lapsed insurance policy issued under War Risk Insurance Act of October 6, 1917, at time of making application, was totally and permanently disabled, was not subject to review by courts. Meadows v United States (1930) 281 US 271, 74 L Ed 852, 50 S Ct 279, 73 ALR 310

Although finding of bureau [now Department] as to insured's right to compensation binds court, effect of such finding as reinstatement of policy is matter for court to determine, as is also question as to whether insured was, or was not, at time, dead or totally and permanently disabled. United States v Ellison (1935, CA4 W Va) 74 F.2d 864, cert den (1935) 295 US 750, 79 L Ed 1695, 55 S Ct 829

91. Forfeiture of coverage

38 USCS § 784 [now 38 USCS § 1984] required that there be contract of insurance in force in order to vest jurisdiction in district court, precluding jurisdiction of action based on Administrator's [now Secretary's] decision that veteran, due to false and fraudulent statements, had forfeited eligibility for disabled veterans' insurance. McKay v United States (1968, SD Tex) 286 F Supp 1003

92. Payments under policies

Federal district court had jurisdiction to review Administrator's [now Secretary's] determination denying claim for proceeds of NSLI policy brought under 38 USCS § 722 [now 38 USCS § 1922] by mother of son who committed suicide shortly after leaving service and who had not applied for policy, as her complaint set forth "claim under contract" as that phrase is used in 38 USCS § 784 [now 38 USCS § 1984] and also fell within language of 38 USCS § 785 [now 38 USCS § 1985] providing for review of "other appropriate court proceedings". Clark v United States (1973, CA8) 482 F.2d 586, 32 ALR Fed 777

Though allowance of compensation was for bureau [now Department], court had jurisdiction where controversy arose upon question of allowance and collection. Holtrich v United States (1931, DC Idaho) 49 F.2d 445

93. Miscellaneous

In action on war risk policy, court had jurisdiction to determine right of insured to compensation claimed to have been due him when his policy lapsed for nonpayment of premiums, but allowance of such compensation was matter for veterans' bureau. United States v Hendrickson (1931, CA10 NM) 53 F.2d 797

D. Defenses

94. Fraud

In absence of proof of fraud of insured at time of reinstatement of policy, it was no defense that insured was totally and permanently disabled at time of reinstatement. United States v Chandler (1935, CA5 Ala) 77 F.2d 452

As bearing on question, in action on convertible term insurance policy, whether policy was invalid for fraud on part of insured in stating in application for policy that there has been no treatment for enumerated diseases, officers of Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] were not required to search records of another department of government for purpose of ascertaining whether representations made in application were true or false; purpose of propounding questions and receiving answers thereto in application for convertible term insurance policy as to whether there had been treatment for disease of enumerated parts of body was to elicit relevant and material information which might not be disclosed by medical examination and such information may well furnish basis for determining whether further examination or inquiry should be made, and it would be presumed, in action on policy, defended on ground of fraud in making answers, that government took information into consideration and relied upon it in issuance of policy. United States v Depew (1938, CA10 Kan) 100 F.2d 725

In action to recover total and permanent disability benefits under reinstated converted policy which had been issued after reinstatement of prior war risk policy, evidence justified finding of fraud in procuring first reinstatement and judgment denying recovery. Jones v United States (1939, CA5 Ga) 106 F.2d 888

Question of willful misstatement of facts with intent to defraud, when insured answered questions in application for reinstatement of his insurance, was for jury. United States v Robins (1941, CA5 Miss) 117 F.2d 145

Government's motion for judgment notwithstanding verdict on ground of equitable fraud would be denied where, in action for reinstatement, jury found against government on issue of legal fraud. Rountree v United States (1943, DC La) 49 F Supp 840, affd (1944, CA5 La) 141 F.2d 1009

In action by veteran to establish rights to benefits and protection under both contract of life insurance and contract for total disability income benefits, the evidence did not sustain the government's contention that life insurance policy and disability rider were void for reason that policy was reinstated and rider issued on strength of fraudulent misrepresentation by the veteran; misrepresentation would not constitute a defense to an action on a policy unless it was intentionally untrue or was made with a reckless disregard for its truth or falsity. Kent v United States (1964, WD Va) 227 F Supp 899

95. Lapse or ineffective reinstatement of policy

Fact that portion of policy is converted into ordinary life policy and then lapsed is no defense on remainder of policy. United States v Stamey (1931, CA9 Wash) 48 F.2d 150

Acceptance of premiums on application for reinstatement does not estop United States from asserting policy is not reinstated where acceptance is conditional and beneficiary does not execute receipt for return of premiums as was agreed. United States v Norton (1935, CA5 Fla) 77 F.2d 731

Under National Service Life Insurance Act, United States cannot be sued in action upon lapsed national service life insurance policy. Rowan v United States (1954, CA3 Pa) 211 F.2d 237

Plaintiff could in reply charge that government officers were in error and ignorant of total permanent disability of insured at time of discharge and the attempt to convert insurance was by mutual mistake and of no effect where government answered that policy which had been converted into ordinary life policy has lapsed. Stamey v United States (1929, DC Wash) 37 F.2d 188

96. Partial or temporary disability

Partial disability at time of lapse of war risk insurance policy does not warrant recovery, even though total disability may subsequently result. United States v Still (1941, CA4 SC) 120 F.2d 876, cert den (1941) 314 US 671, 86 L Ed 537, 62 S Ct 135

If insured has only incipient tuberculosis he must continue to pay his premiums until his total disability develops to that stage where it can be said with reasonable certainty that it will be permanent. Watts v United States (1938, DC Miss) 24 F Supp 969 (superseded by statute as stated in Farris v State (2004, App) 2004 Miss App LEXIS 1126)
97. Prior total disability

In action by insured, United States may defend on ground that insured was totally and permanently disabled when policy was issued and that therefore policy covers death only. Hicks v United States (1933, CA4 Va) 65 F.2d 517

Government could not sustain defense of prior total disability where insured had been inducted into army and government had in other ways dealt with him as sane person and issued to him its insurance policy and deducted premiums from his pay. Continental Illinois Nat'l Bank & Trust Co. v United States (1945, CA7 Ill) 153 F.2d 490

98. Mistake

Government made payment under absolute obligation to do so, without any mistake of fact as to disability of insured, where United States, upon application of insured, paid to insured cash surrender value of policy for which he had exchanged war risk policy, and it had received no notice whatsoever of insured's disability. United States v Garland (1941, CA4 Va) 122 F.2d 118, 136 ALR 918, cert den (1941) 314 US 685, 86 L Ed 548, 62 S Ct 189

99. Misconduct

In proceeding by surviving parents of deceased serviceman to collect, as beneficiaries, proceeds of national service life insurance policy, Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] failed to prove that serviceman had been absent without leave for period of 31 days prior to his death, as defense to payment of policy under 38 USCS § 768(a)(1)(B) [now 38 USCS § 1968(a)(1)(B)], where his change of duty station orders were lost and he was never declared to be on unauthorized leave status or a deserter. Malone v United States Veterans Administration (1973, SD Ohio) 364 F Supp 114

100. Waiver of defense

Government's failure to respond to plaintiff's affirmative reply setting up notice of facts relied upon for rescission did not amount to waiver by government to deny knowledge of such facts where plaintiff alleged that government was estopped from asserting defense of fraud by acceptance of premiums long after facts showing fraud became known. Halverson v United States (1941, CA7 Ill) 121 F.2d 420, cert den (1941) 314 US 695, 86 L Ed 556, 62 S Ct 412

E. Limitation of Actions

1. In General

101. Generally

Time prescribed for bringing suit is not strictly speaking statute of limitations, but it is in nature of special statutory limitation which is in reality statute of creation, in which time is of essence of right claimed and limitation is inherent part of statute from which right in question arises, and to such limitations rules governing pure statutes of limitations do not apply. Vaughn v United States (1942, DC Ark) 43 F Supp 306

102. Purpose

Purpose of limitation made by Act of 1930 was to substitute uniform rule of limitation for suits on contracts of insurance in lieu of state statutes. United States v Towery (1939) 306 US 324, 83 L Ed 678, 59 S Ct 522, reh den (1939) 306 US 668, 83 L Ed 1063, 59 S Ct 640

Statute which requires suit to be brought on war risk insurance policy within six years after right of claim accrued or within one year after date of approval of statute, which also grants consent of United States to be sued on such condition, is one of repose and was intended to prescribe uniform rule of limitation for suits on contracts of war risk insurance. Goldsborough v United States (1939, DC Dist Col) 31 F Supp 93

Statute of limitations was obviously designed for repose. Albek v United States (1941, DC Mass) 38 F Supp 1021
103. Construction

Provision limiting actions on government insurance may not be construed to bar rights accruing to insured, yet leave suit by beneficiary without limitation. United States v Tarrer (1935, CA5 Ga) 77 F.2d 423, cert den (1935) 296 US 574, 80 L Ed 405, 56 S Ct 125

Statute of limitations in favor of sovereign must be strictly construed in its favor. United States v Ardito (1936, CA6 Mich) 86 F.2d 787; Coleman v United States (1937, DC Tenn) 18 F Supp 71, affd (1939, CA6 Tenn) 100 F.2d 903

Construction of provision limiting actions related to government insurance must be governed by legislative intent. Johnson v United States (1937, CA8 Minn) 87 F.2d 940, 109 ALR 949

When consent to sue the government is given, it is no broader than limitations which condition it, and these must be construed in favor of government. Coleman v United States (1939, CA6 Tenn) 100 F.2d 903

The term "ninety days" cannot be construed as three months. Ash v United States (1941, DC Mass) 37 F Supp 464

104. Application

Testimony of secretary that insured had signed application for change of beneficiary from sister to wife was insufficient to establish change where records of Veterans Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] showed no such change. Watson v United States (1950, CA5 Ga) 185 F.2d 292

Time limit for bringing new suit after failure of former one is jurisdictional. Jewell v United States (1939, DC Ky) 27 F Supp 836

105. -Administrative proceedings

Statute of limitations applies not to administrative consideration of claims but only to bringing of suit thereon. Ball v United States (1939, CA6 Ohio) 101 F.2d 272, cert den (1939) 308 US 563, 84 L Ed 473, 60 S Ct 74, reh den (1939) 308 US 635, 84 L Ed 528, 60 S Ct 134

Even if administrator [now Secretary] could entertain appeal after expiration of time for appeal to claim council, suit will not lie after limitation of time to sue has expired, where claimant takes no proceedings for review by such administrator [now Secretary]. Thomas v United States (1934, DC Minn) 12 F Supp 639

Interdepartmental appeals are entirely controlled by departmental regulations, and statutory provision that denial of claim of insurance by any employee or agency of veterans' administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] should constitute disagreement for purpose of limitation statute does not govern or regulate appeals from one departmental agency to another. Sullivan v United States (1937, DC Ky) 26 F Supp 876, affd (1941, CA6 Ky) 116 F.2d 576

106. Laches

Insured was not guilty of laches in asserting that his acceptance of converted policy was result of mutual mistake as to character of his disability. United States v Golden (1929, CA10 NM) 34 F.2d 367

Suit to reform policy and to recover on same as reformed was not barred by laches. Johnson v White (1930, CA8 Ark) 39 F.2d 793

Conjecture unsupported by proof that claim might have been made to veterans' bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs] many years before suit was brought could not be accepted as substitute for required clear and satisfactory evidence necessary to justify long delay in bringing suit. United States v McCoy (1934, CA5 Ala) 73 F.2d 786

Acquiescence in disallowance of claim for thirteen years was bar to beneficiary's effort to obtain revival of claim by intervention in proceeding instituted by administrator of insured. Live Stock Nat'l Bank v United States (1941, CA7 Ill) 122 F.2d 179, cert den (1942) 315 US 802, 86 L Ed 1202, 62 S Ct 631
Power to fix period of limitations in which suits may be brought on war risk insurance policies belongs to Congress, and principle of laches should not be applied in such cases unless it rises to dignity of estoppel.  Tarter v United States (1937, DC Ky) 17 F Supp 691

Laches on part of plaintiff precluded his reliance upon estoppel.  Coleman v United States (1937, DC Tenn) 18 F Supp 71, affd (1939, CA6 Tenn) 100 F.2d 903

107. Miscellaneous

Claim was barred where suit is brought on war risk insurance policy 13 years after cause of action accrued and no claim had been made during such period.  Wilson v United States (1934, CA10 Colo) 70 F.2d 176

Limitation period had expired where insured became disabled in June 1919 and died in January 1921, and claim was not filed until July 1932, and suit was not brought until April 1935.  Dowell v United States (1936, CA5 Ga) 86 F.2d 120

Suit was barred where claim was denied January 2, 1920 and suit instituted February 23, 1932 though decision on claim was delayed for 11 months after date of filing in 1919.  United States v Arditto (1936, CA6 Mich) 86 F.2d 787

Suit was barred after July 1, 1933, where, in action on war risk policy, complaint showed that contingency on which claim was founded occurred at latest on July 1, 1972; hence, when insured died on March 25, 1934 and beneficiary filed informal claim with veterans' administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] on July 28, 1934, which claim was denied as also was more formal subsequent claim, suit commenced on November 6, 1940 was barred by the statute.  Roskos v United States (1942, CA3 NJ) 130 F.2d 751, cert den (1942) 131 US 696, 87 L Ed 557, 63 S Ct 437

2. Operation of Limitation Period

108. Commencement and running of limitation period

Limitation period for total disability benefits under policy of government insurance begins to run at time when right to payments under policy first accrues, not from time for payment of each monthly installment in which such policy is payable.  United States v Towery (1939) 306 US 324, 83 L Ed 678, 59 S Ct 522, reh den (1939) 306 US 668, 83 L Ed 1063, 59 S Ct 640

As long as insured under converted policy keeps his policy in force by payment of premiums, he may make his claim, and, if denied, bring suit for total and permanent disability at any time, provided it is done within 6 years "after the right accrued."  Campbell v United States (1933, DC La) 3 F Supp 942

109. -Contingency upon which claim founded

"The contingency on which the claim is founded," and from which six-year period of limitations begins to run, is based on permanent disability or death while policy is in force and does not mean time when each particular payment, or right of any particular person to payment, accrues.  United States v Towery (1939) 306 US 324, 83 L Ed 678, 59 S Ct 522, reh den (1939) 306 US 668, 83 L Ed 1063, 59 S Ct 640

Date of disability is contingency which starts statute running where total disability precedes death.  United States v Towery (1939) 306 US 324, 83 L Ed 678, 59 S Ct 522, reh den (1939) 306 US 668, 83 L Ed 1063, 59 S Ct 640;  Roskos v United States (1942, CA3 NJ) 130 F.2d 751, cert den (1942) 317 US 696, 87 L Ed 557, 63 S Ct 437;  Domena v United States (1945, CA1 Puerto Rico) 149 F.2d 810;  Baker v United States (1942, DC Mont) 50 F Supp 36

Contingency which starts statute running in case of claims for permanent total disability is date of inception of total disability.  McDowell v United States (1939, CA10 Okla) 107 F.2d 553;  Simmons v United States (1940, CA4 NC) 110 F.2d 296, reh den (1940, CA4 NC) 111 F.2d 618;  Sullivan v United States (1941, CA6 Ky) 116 F.2d 576;  Roskos v United States (1942, CA3 NJ) 130 F.2d 751, cert den (1942) 317 US 696, 87 L Ed 557, 63 S Ct 437
Contingency on which claim for war risk insurance was founded was death of insured in 1918 and not refusal of government to pay installments which fell due after 1938, so that action on policy brought in 1939 was barred by statute requiring such actions to be brought within 6 years after right accrued for which claim was made. Bono v United States (1940, CA2 NY) 113 F.2d 724

If total and permanent disability does not occur before insured's death intervenes, it is death which conditions claim, and period of limitations begins accordingly, but where total and permanent disability exists it necessarily precedes death and, hence, is condition which operates to mature claim against which period of limitations runs. Roskos v United States (1942, CA3 NJ) 130 F.2d 751, cert den (1942) 317 US 376, 87 L Ed 557, 63 S Ct 437

Action on claim based on maturing by death of converted war risk insurance policy did not arise until contingency of death occurred; therefore, suit filed within six years thereafter is in time, although policy has lapsed for nonpayment of premiums more than six years before action was brought. Moskowitz v United States (1944, CA5 Ga) 145 F.2d 196

Contingency which starts statute running in case of claim for death benefits is date of death. Riley v United States (1954, CA4 W Va) 212 F.2d 692, 44 ALR2d 1182; United States v Willhite (1955, CA4 NC) 219 F.2d 343; Prifti v United States (1941, DC Mass) 37 F Supp 121; Jones v Gaillard (1941) 241 Ala 571, 4 So 2d 131

"Contingency on which claim is founded" means death of insured, and limitations begin to run from that date and not from due date of each installment which would have been payable to beneficiary from date of death; thus, that suit filed 12 years after death for unpaid monthly installments within 6 years of time of suit is barred as to all installments. Cole v United States (1940) 72 App DC 118, 112 F.2d 203, cert den (1940) 311 US 647, 85 L Ed 413, 61 S Ct 31, reh den (1940) 311 US 726, 85 L Ed 473, 61 S Ct 130

110. -Death

If insured has been continuously and unexplainedly absent for period of 7 years so that he may be presumed dead as of end of 7th year, statute of limitations on claim for death benefits begins to run at expiration of 7 year period, notwithstanding that it is established as matter of fact that death occurred prior to expiration of such period; to compute six-year limitation period from date which trier of fact establishes as date of death, in disappearance case, would be to say that beneficiary's right to recover expires before she can successfully prosecute lawsuit to enforce that right; it is only when beneficiary proves merely fact of insured's seven years unexplained absence that statute establishes presumption of death as of end of period; "contingency on which claim is founded" must, therefore, mean end of seven-year period when presumption of death arises. Peak v United States (1957) 353 US 354, 1 L Ed 2d 631, 77 S Ct 613

Cause of action for death benefits under policy of government insurance accrues on death of insured, rather than on date of official notice to beneficiary. Riley v United States (1954, CA4 W Va) 212 F.2d 692, 44 ALR2d 1182

Action on national service policy brought within six years after expiration of seven-year period after insured's unexplained absence is timely, though policy lapsed within seven-year period, and recovery can be had only on basis that insured died prior to lapse of policy. United States v Willhite (1955, CA4 NC) 219 F.2d 343

Limitation period of 38 USCS § 784 [now 38 USCS § 1984] begins to run at death of insured, and administrative proceedings, even though they include initial grant of benefits followed by revocation, do not erase time already accrued between death and filing of claim. De Castillo v United States (1970, App DC) 141 US App DC 310, 438 F.2d 151

Action upon war risk insurance policy which was in full force and effect at time of disappearance of insured was not barred by limitations if brought at end of seven years, ripening presumption of death; presumption was of death and not of time of death. Howard v United States (1939, DC Wash) 28 F Supp 985

Right of action on war risk insurance policy accrued when insured was killed. Prifti v United States (1941, DC Mass) 37 F Supp 121
Claim for death benefits under policy of government insurance generally accrues on date of death of insured. Jones v Gaillard (1941) 241 Ala 571, 4 So 2d 131

111. -Denial of claim

Appeal from denial of claim eliminates denial, and there is no denial until disposition of appeal. Hansen v United States (1933, CA7 Ill) 67 F.2d 613, cert den (1934) 291 US 670, 78 L Ed 1060, 54 S Ct 454; Thelin v United States (1934, CA7 Ill) 73 F.2d 101; Brown v United States (1934, CA7 Ill) 73 F.2d 309; Anderson v United States (1932, DC Ky) 5 F Supp 269; Albek v United States (1933, DC NY) 4 F Supp 1020

Limitation begin to run from denial of claim where claimant fails to appeal to administrator [now Secretary]. Harris v United States (1934, CA4 NC) 72 F.2d 982

As regards limitation, claim was denied when notice of denial reached destination, though not actually received by claimant until later date. United States v Tarrer (1935, CA5 Ga) 77 F.2d 423, cert den (1935) 296 US 574, 80 L Ed 405, 56 S Ct 125; United States v Craig (1936, CA7 Ind) 83 F.2d 361; Creasy v United States (1933, DC Va) 4 F Supp 175

Suit begun July 6, 1932 was barred where claim for insurance benefits was made April 10, 1919, and denied July 26, 1922 since right to bring suit accrued thereupon and suit could be instituted within six years after such date; period during which claim is pending could not be added to time allowed for bringing suit. United States v McQuilkin (1937, CA7 Ill) 88 F.2d 476, cert den (1937) 301 US 683, 81 L Ed 1341, 57 S Ct 784

Although letter from veterans’ administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] might not have been understood as denial of claim for insurance, where suit was not brought until ten years thereafter, it must be assumed that letter was taken as denial and therefore suit was too late. Burns v United States (1939, CA2 NY) 101 F.2d 83

Fact that veterans’ administrator [now Secretary] reconsidered claim and then denied it did not revive right to sue which had already been barred where right to sue on claim was outlawed by statute of limitations between time original claim was denied and time a renewed claim was made. Ball v United States (1939, CA6 Ohio) 101 F.2d 272, cert den (1939) 308 US 563, 84 L Ed 473, 60 S Ct 74, reh den (1939) 308 US 635, 84 L Ed 528, 60 S Ct 134

Denial of claim for war risk insurance benefits must have been final, and administrative relief exhausted before action could be instituted; otherwise statute of limitations was suspended; where claim was for full benefits under war risk insurance policy, payment of part only, without denial of balance, did not preclude bringing timely suit after denial of such balance. Gambill v United States (1939, CA10 Okla) 102 F.2d 667

Reconsideration of claim by veterans’ administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] which had already been denied did not have effect of nullifying statutory limitation on claim on war risk policy which had been barred by running of statute. Neely v United States (1940, CA4 W Va) 115 F.2d 448

While veterans’ administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] had authority to consider claims upon which right to sue has been lost by lapse of time, such consideration could not raise fallen bar of statute so as to revive right to sue. Roskos v United States (1942, CA3 NJ) 130 F.2d 751, cert den (1942) 317 US 696, 87 L Ed 557, 63 S Ct 437

Where mother of deceased soldier, through her attorney, wrote veterans’ bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs] advising them of soldier’s death, requesting reinstatement of life insurance which he carried at time of his discharge from army, and asking that letter be considered as sufficient application to save claim and asking for blank forms on which to file claim, reply that insurance had lapsed for nonpayment of premiums and, therefore, that no insurance was payable was a denial of any right to make claim thereto, and statutory period for commencement of action on such policy began to run from date of reply. Dyer v United States (1946, App DC) 81 US App DC 4, 154 F.2d 14, cert den (1946) 329 US 722, 91 L Ed 626, 67 S Ct 66

Reopening and reconsideration of claim after denial eliminated denial, and there was no denial until further decision. Taylor v United States (1932, DC NC) 57 F.2d 331

Decision of administrator's claims council, and not that of board of appeals, constituted "disagreement" which was necessary prerequisite to action in court, and which started running of limitations against such action. Thomas v United States (1934, DC Minn) 12 F Supp 639

Suit brought by veteran's widow individually and as administratrix on September 22, 1932 was not barred where veteran's claim was reopened after his death in 1931 and was finally denied by board of appeal on April 29, 1932. Kane v United States (1939, DC Mass) 25 F Supp 839

112. -Disability

Period of limitations begins to run against suit for permanent total disability benefits and death benefits at date of occurrence of total and permanent disability. Cable v United States (1939, CA7 Ill) 104 F.2d 541

Statute begins to run when claimant becomes totally and permanently disabled, and not from date when he is notified of this rating. Simmons v United States (1940, CA4 NC) 110 F.2d 296, reh den (1940, CA4 NC) 111 F.2d 618; Sullivan v United States (1941, CA6 Ky) 116 F.2d 576

Under benefit provisions of government war risk and life insurance policies, insured secured matured claim at moment of total and permanent disability, though proof of disability might be condition precedent to insurer's liability under certain types of insurance policies. United States v Garland (1941, CA4 Va) 122 F.2d 118, 136 ALR 918, cert den (1941) 314 US 685, 86 L Ed 548, 62 S Ct 189

Right of action on claim for permanent total disability benefits accrues on date of inception of total disability. Roskos v United States (1942, CA3 NJ) 130 F.2d 751, cert den (1942) 317 US 696, 87 L Ed 557, 63 S Ct 437

Action brought in 1941 was barred where insured was discharged from army for physical disability in 1918 and died in 1937, and his wife's claim on policy was denied in 1940, since period of limitations began to run when disability occurred. Domena v United States (1945, CA1 Puerto Rico) 149 F.2d 810

In suit to recover monthly installments from date of insured's disability to date of his death, allegedly due under war risk insurance policy, six-year period of limitation began to run against administrator of insured from date of disability and not from date of death. Vaughn v United States (1942, DC Ark) 43 F Supp 306

Suit for waiver of premiums and payment of benefits on national service life insurance policy for disability of loss of speech was barred by 6-year limitation period under 38 USCS § 784 [now 38 USCS § 1984] where claim arose upon surgical removal of claimant's larynx 8 years prior to bringing suit. Galligan v United States (1983, ED NY) 565 F Supp 896, affd without op (1983, CA2 NY) 742 F.2d 1436

113. Bar to subsequent related claims

Procuring of summons, service of copy on United States Attorney, and mailing of another copy to Attorney General were not beginning of suit against United States on war risk insurance policy within requirement of statute of limitations, where statute permitting such action to be brought provides that plaintiff must file petition with clerk of court, stating facts upon which claim was based, and that he must cause one copy of this to be served upon District Attorney and mail another to Attorney General. Munro v United States (1938) 303 US 36, 82 L Ed 633, 58 S Ct 421

Plaintiff could be admitted as plaintiff in capacity of administrator of beneficiaries although statute of limitations had run against his claim in that capacity where he was suing also as administrator of insured. United States v Powell (1938, CA4 SC) 93 F.2d 788

Where suit is for benefit of all persons having interest in proceeds of contract, others having such interest may become parties after period of limitations has run if suit is filed within required time by heir of insured or by beneficiary of policy whose claim has been made and denied. Johnson v United States (1939, CA10 Okla) 102 F.2d 729
It is filing of petition that determines when suit is brought. Genesee Valley Trust Co. v United States (1940, CA2 NY) 116 F.2d 407

Where insurance under converted war risk insurance policy lapsed on August 1, 1931, for nonpayment of July 1st premium and claim was filed July 3, 1931, with veterans' administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] and was disallowed, where notice was given on November 16, 1931, where insured died on February 25, 1937, and where his brother, beneficiary in another policy, on July 12, 1937, reopened question of disability and former decision was reaffirmed, and notice given April 21, 1939, even if period of pendency of latter claim could operate to suspend limitations in favor of action on original claim so as to be added to time of pendency of original claim, six-year statute of limitations would still bar action on original claim filed on June 22, 1942. Moskowitz v United States (1944, CA5 Ga) 145 F.2d 196

Subsequent filing of other claims after action on first claim has been barred by running of statute of limitations will not raise bar to suit. Dyer v United States (1946, App DC) 81 US App DC 4, 154 F.2d 14, cert den (1946) 329 US 722, 91 L Ed 626, 67 S Ct 66

Second claim on war risk insurance policy could not operate to restore right to sue government lost by inaction for over seven years after first claim had first been rejected. Albek v United States (1941, DC Mass) 38 F Supp 1021

Suspension provisions do not apply to proceedings arising after suit upon claim has been barred. Boyd v United States (1942, DC Wis) 47 F Supp 339

Any attempt to revive claim for purpose of avoiding statute of limitations would not be allowed where there was nothing to indicate that first denial of claim was not treated as final denial. Baker v United States (1942, DC Mont) 50 F Supp 36

Contention that claim of insured's estate did not arise until payments to his father's imposter were discontinued was without merit. United States v Chavez (1936, CA10 NM) 87 F.2d 16

Period of limitations began to run when veterans' administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] stopped payments under gratuitous national service life insurance policy, and five-year period between insured's death and the filing of the claim on which payments were made should not be taken into consideration. Tubongbanua v United States (1963, DC Dist Col) 223 F Supp 379

3. Commencement of Action For Purposes of Limitation Period

115. Generally

Courts are not justified in extending time by implication where governments' consent to be sued is definitely limited in point of time. Weaver v United States (1934, CA4 NC) 72 F.2d 20

Congress, by extending time for filing claims under gratuitous life insurance to seven years, did not by implication extend jurisdiction of courts over actions on such claims to seven years. Prado Del Castillo v United States (1959, CA9 Ariz) 272 F.2d 326, cert den (1960) 361 US 966, 4 L Ed 2d 546, 80 S Ct 595

116. Service of process

Procurement of summons and serving of copy on United States Attorney and sending another to Attorney General did not begin suit on war risk insurance policy so as to toll statute of limitations. Munro v United States (1938) 303 US 36, 82 L Ed 333, 58 S Ct 421

Suit on policy in South Dakota was barred by limitation because such action was not deemed commenced until service of copy of petition on United States District Attorney. Walton v United States (1934, CA8 SD) 73 F.2d 15

Suit on claim was commenced at date of service on district attorney, though he was absent from his office on first attempt to serve him. Creasy v United States (1933, DC Va) 4 F Supp 175
Where veteran suing in New York had summons served within limitation period, action was timely though petition was not filed until after expiration of such period. Miller v United States (1936, DC NY) 13 F Supp 684

Suit was barred where plaintiff's statement was not served upon district attorney until after limitation period had expired. Henry v United States (1936, DC Pa) 15 F Supp 651

Suit was begun for purpose of statute of limitations when petition was delivered to marshal for service upon district attorney. Creasy v United States (1937, DC Va) 20 F Supp 280

Action was not seasonably begun when original claim on which it was based was not filed for administrative payment until after period of limitation had run. Jewell v United States (1939, DC Ky) 27 F Supp 836

117. Amendment of pleading

Complaint filed by brother and sister of veteran as administrators of his estate and of estate of his deceased mother, beneficiary of his insurance, was amendatory of original complaint filed as individuals and hence within limitation period. Lopez v United States (1936, CA4 NC) 82 F.2d 982

Amended petition not setting up new cause is timely where original was filed within limitation period. Eidam v United States (1936, CA8 Neb) 86 F.2d 192

Where insured, in contract of war risk insurance, was bachelor, and his mother was beneficiary, and both died, some of accumulated installments were due estate of insured and some were due estate of beneficiary, but no part of them was due insured's father in his individual capacity, suit filed by father within period of limitation, though in his individual capacity, was sufficient on which to base subsequent amendments by himself and others in their proper capacities, such amendments not changing cause of action, and relating back to institution of suit. United States v Rasmussen (1938, CA10 Okla) 95 F.2d 842

Amended petition is of no avail where original action is barred. Harrop v United States (1935, DC Neb) 10 F Supp 753

4. Tolling or Suspension of Limitation Period

a. In General

118. Generally

Limitation is not suspended where no claim is pending. Kemp v United States (1935, CA7 Ill) 77 F.2d 213

Nonaction by claimant under war risk term policy cannot be permitted to suspend indefinitely running of statutory period of limitation or allowed to encourage attempts to enforce stale claims in courts. United States v Kelley (1940, CA8 Mo) 110 F.2d 922, cert den (1940) 311 US 669, 85 L Ed 430, 61 S Ct 29

119. Regulations

Administrator's regulation cannot extend period of limitations. Chicago Bank of Commerce v United States (1935, DC III) 9 F Supp 895

Regulation attempting to extend period of suspension of limitations, is invalid. Harrop v United States (1935, DC Neb) 10 F Supp 753

120. Administrative appeals

Term “disagreement” includes denial of claim by any subordinate body of veterans' administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs], but in no way abrogates right of appeal to administrator [now Secretary], including right of review by board of veterans' appeals; hence, limitation of time for suit on claim denied by board was suspended from date of filing claim. Howard v United States (1938, CA6 Tenn) 97 F.2d 987
121. Negotiations

Action filed within 1 year after December, 1931, was not barred where payments were suspended in March, 1926, but bureau [now Department] participated in negotiations of claimant for reopening of matter until finally closed by bureau [now Department] in December 1931. United States v Bollman (1934, CA8 Iowa) 73 F.2d 133

Doctrine of "continued negotiations" was not applicable where seven years lapsed between filing of first and second claims on war risk insurance policy, and there is nothing to show that bureau [now Department] or any of parties, during that interval considered claim pending. Dyer v United States (1946, App DC) 81 US App DC 4, 154 F.2d 14, cert den (1946) 329 US 722, 91 L Ed 626, 67 S Ct 66

Listing of soldier as deserter did not toll limitations because contingency on which claim was founded is death of soldier within 120 days of enlistment. United States v Siegel (1955, CA9 Wash) 225 F.2d 869

War does not toll six-year period of limitations. Aguilar v United States (1960, DC Dist Col) 183 F Supp 598

b. Administrative Processing and Disposition of Claim

123. Generally

Proviso for 90 days additional time does not apply to claim filed after suit on it has become completely barred. Dowell v United States (1936, CA5 Ga) 86 F.2d 120

Provision allowing claimant 90 days from date of mailing of notice of denial within which to file suit merely makes certain that insured shall have period of at least 90 days from date of mailing of notice of denial for bringing of suit. United States v Pastell (1937, CA4 NC) 91 F.2d 575, 112 ALR 1125

Provisions for 90 days additional time are applicable to suits pending in district court or in court of appeals, on appeal. Walden v United States (1939, CA6 Mich) 106 F.2d 611

Filing of demand by guardian, denial by administrator [now Secretary] of veterans affairs, and failure to bring suit within 90 days from date of mailing of notice of denial does not take away right of insane person to institute suit at any time within three years of removal of his disability. Jensen v United States (1937, DC Idaho) 19 F Supp 494

124. Computation of extension period

For purposes of determining period elapsing between filing of claim sued upon and denial of such claim, suspension ends on date when notice of denial reaches its destination, rather than date when notice is dated or when actual administrative decision was made. United States v Walker (1935, CA5 La) 77 F.2d 415, cert den (1935) 296 US 612, 80 L Ed 434, 56 S Ct 132

Mere fact that notice of denial did not actually reach the insured's representative for several days after it reached proper address, due to representative's absence from home, is not ground for extending time for filing suit. United States v Tarrer (1935, CA5 Ga) 77 F.2d 423, cert den (1935) 296 US 574, 80 L Ed 405, 56 S Ct 125

Action commenced within 90 days after date of letter rejecting claim is not barred. Robinson v United States (1936, CA5 Tex) 84 F.2d 885

Filing of petition with clerk within 90 days after filing suit is timely though not file marked until after expiration of 90-day period. Milton v United States (1939, CA5 La) 105 F.2d 253
Claimant has minimum of 90 days in which to file suit after mailing of notice of denial of claim, and not 90 days in addition to period of suspension.  Walden v United States (1939, CA6 Mich) 106 F.2d 611;  Cohen v United States (1941, CA5 Miss) 121 F.2d 1007

Suit to recover benefits of war risk insurance policy instituted on 91st day after mailing of notice of denial of claim must be dismissed on motion.  Ash v United States (1941, DC Mass) 37 F Supp 464

If it is assumed that claim was filed by deceased between June 29, 1931 and July 3, 1931, then suit should have been filed no later than 90 days after May 11, 1936, date of denial of claim.  Boyd v United States (1942, DC Wis) 47 F Supp 339

125. Filing of claim

Claim deposited in mail was not "filed" within meaning of 38 USCS § 784 [now 38 USCS § 1984]; evidence must be sufficient to show that mailed claim was received by bureau [now Department] within limitation period.  Weaver v United States (1934, CA4 NC) 72 F.2d 20

Affidavit asserting nothing more than partial disability since discharge and application for insurance limited to converted policy was insufficient to constitute claim that would toll statute of limitations.  Stender v United States (1935, CA8 Minn) 75 F.2d 579

After claim is filed, statute of limitations is suspended until final denial.  Gambill v United States (1939, CA10 Okla) 102 F.2d 667

Statute of limitations begins to run from date of soldier's death on war risk insurance policies and was not tolled by letters of inquiry as to such insurance because they did not constitute claims within meaning of statute.  McEntire v United States (1940, CA5 Ga) 115 F.2d 429

Claims filed after expiration of statutory time for filing are of no avail.  Cook v United States (1944, CA10 Okla) 145 F.2d 290

Claim was filed with bureau [now Department] at date letter containing it was received by bureau [now Department].  Creasy v United States (1933, DC Va) 4 F Supp 175

Claim was not filed with bureau [now Department] until paper was delivered to proper officer and lodged by him in his office, mere mailing of claim being insufficient.  Young v United States (1934, DC Idaho) 5 F Supp 500

Claimant cannot, by filing new claim with veterans' administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs], raise already fallen bar of statute of limitations so as to revive right to sue.  Sullivan v United States (1937, DC Ky) 26 F Supp 876, affd (1941, CA6 Ky) 116 F.2d 576

Mere inquiry or request for information is not assertion of claim tolling statute of limitations.  Wang v United States (1961, SD NY) 196 F Supp 240, affd (1962, CA2 NY) 302 F.2d 262

126. Duration of suspension of limitation period

Unexpired limitation period is suspended until disagreement is ended where limitation period has not expired when claim is filed and then unexpired limitation period starts running again.  United States v Gower (1934, CA10 Okla) 71 F.2d 366;  United States v Thomson (1934, CA10 NM) 71 F.2d 860;  Hipkins v United States (1932, DC Md) 1 F Supp 505;  Campbell v United States (1933, DC La) 3 F Supp 942;  Creasy v United States (1933, DC Va) 4 F Supp 175

Delay of sixteen years by veteran in taking action on war risk insurance claim was not conclusive of existence of disagreement so as to terminate period when limitations are suspended against action or claim.  Neely v United States (1940, CA4 W Va) 115 F.2d 448

Occurring of "contingency" immediately starts six-year statute of limitations running which is tolled subsequently during period that claim is filed and until its "denial."  Williams v United States (1955, DC NC) 134 F Supp 333

The statute of limitations was suspended not only from the filing of the insurance claim until the denial of the claim based on an erroneous report of the army but also until the final denial, some 16 years after the claim was filed.  Tupaz v United States (1970, DC Dist Col) 308 F Supp 950

Suit brought in July, 1936 was timely where period of limitation was suspended during whole period that claim was held in veterans' administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs], and where veteran died in 1920, total permanent disability having occurred while his insurance was in force and having continued to his death, claim was filed in 1931, rejected June 10, 1935, additional evidence submitted in 1936 and again denied July 10, 1936. Danner v United States (1938, CA8 Iowa) 100 F.2d 43

Where paid claim was paid in 1919 and government denied other part in 1934, statute of limitations began running in 1934, since period of limitations is suspended during period between filing of claim and denial of claim. Gambill v United States (1939, CA10 Okla) 102 F.2d 667

c. Renewal of Action Dismissed for Procedural Defects

128. Generally

Provision in predecessor to 38 USCS § 1984, allowing new suit to be brought within one year of failure of certain original suits, was inapplicable to suit for compensation, rather than insurance, benefits, where suit was commenced by insured's administratrix and voluntarily dismissed before suit in question was started. Kemp v United States (1935, CA7 Ill) 77 F.2d 213

Statutory provision that if suit was seasonably begun and failed for defect in process, or for other reasons not affecting merits, new action, if one lies, may be brought within one year though period of limitations has elapsed, merely extends period of limitations, but it does not abrogate principle of res judicata. American Nat'l Bank & Trust Co. v United States (1944, App DC) 79 US App DC 62, 142 F.2d 571

129. Construction

Provision for bringing new suits notwithstanding running of statute of limitation is highly remedial and should be liberally construed. Dumas v United States (1939, CA10 Kan) 103 F.2d 676

130. Parties

Under provision for bringing new suit though statute of limitation has expired, there must be identity of parties, but such requirement is satisfied if plaintiff in second suit claims through, and sues as successor to, assignee or grantee of, or personal representative, of plaintiff in first action. Dumas v United States (1939, CA10 Kan) 103 F.2d 676

Provision allowing new suit to be brought within one year of dismissal of certain original suits is applicable only where original action was brought by proper parties. Ballenger v United States (1935, DC Ky) 11 F Supp 911

131. Basis for dismissal of original action

Sustaining demurrer on ground that petition did not show disagreement supporting suit was not bar to another action on original claim. Griffin v United States (1932, CA7 Ill) 60 F.2d 339

Suit on policy, dismissed because filed before any disagreement existed, was proper basis for commencing second action within one year after dismissal. Johnson v United States (1934, CA9 Mont) 68 F.2d 588

Order dismissing action against United States on ground that disagreement did not exist as to claim upon which right to sue was conditioned was not insufficient as failing to show that dismissal was on ground not going to merits of claim. Burgett v United States (1935, CA7 Ill) 80 F.2d 151, 104 ALR 167

Action on war risk insurance policy for permanent total disability benefits dismissed on ground that policy had lapsed when disability arose, was decision on merits and barred another action within year to recover benefits, on ground that award of compensation, not collected, continued policy in force. Clegg v United States (1940, CA10 Utah) 112 F.2d 886
One year's extension of time for commencing suit granted does not apply to case where original suit failed because barred by statute of limitations. Genesee Valley Trust Co. v United States (1940, CA2 NY) 116 F.2d 407

Dismissal was on merits where plaintiff sued on same policy of war risk insurance and suit was dismissed for want of prosecution on January 31, 1940, hence, new suit filed on January 27, 1941, was barred by doctrine of res judicata notwithstanding statutory provision. American Nat'l Bank & Trust Co. v United States (1944, App DC) 79 US App DC 62, 142 F.2d 571

Where, in action under war risk insurance policy, court did not grant government's motion to remove case from operation of rules of civil procedure, dismissal following death of plaintiff on ground that action was not revived within time permitted by law was not within provision permitting new action when original action was dismissed for reasons not affecting merits. Derrin v United States (1941, DC Or) 41 F Supp 530

Suit by administrator of deceased insured, commenced less than 1 year after insured's original suit, which had been dismissed after his death for failure to prosecute, was timely, notwithstanding that jurisdictional requisite of disagreement was lacking at time original suit was filed. Johnson v United States (1934, CA9 Mont) 68 F.2d 588

Where claim on policy of war risk insurance in which soldier's mother was beneficiary was filed by soldier's father, and erroneously stated that policy was issued to father, but clearly showed that father was claiming installments due on policy which had accrued by reason of total permanent disability occurring during veteran's lifetime and before policy lapsed, and claim was considered and disallowed on its merits, subsequent action on such claim by father as administrator of mother's estate brought within statutory period after affirmance of the disallowance was not barred by limitations. Curtik v United States (1937, DC Mass) 19 F Supp 447

Second suit commenced within one year from dismissal of first suit which was brought before disagreement was reached and dismissed for lack of jurisdiction was within period of limitation. Mack v United States (1939, DC SC) 29 F Supp 65

Suit is barred where permission given by statute to sue United States upon contract of war risk insurance has expired nearly year before suit is brought. Prifti v United States (1941, DC Mass) 37 F Supp 121

d. Disability of Claimant

(1). In General

133. Generally

Provision that persons under legal disability shall have three years in which to bring suit after removal of their disabilities does not mean that such persons may bring suit without having right or claim to sue on, and it does not confer any right upon such persons; its only effect is to keep alive such rights as they have or acquire. Winslow v United States (1945, App DC) 79 US App DC 366, 147 F.2d 157

(2). Mental Incompetents

134. Generally

Term "insane persons" is not restricted to persons legally adjudged insane. Holm v United States (1936, DC Iowa) 15 F Supp 662

Principle that insured must put Administration [now Department] on notice to consider proof in support of claim and must assert that such proof entitles him to benefits under terms of his policy to qualify for such consideration is not applicable where filing of claim for permanent and total disability benefits is prevented by veteran's insanity, notwithstanding appointment of committee,
135. Time of commencement of disability

Provision relative to incompetents includes cases where total and permanent disability occurred first and was followed by mental incompetency. United States v Lund (1935, CA7 Wis) 76 F.2d 723

Statute of limitations on claims for government insurance is tolled by mental incompetency, even where claim accrued prior to insured's incompetency. United States v Pastell (1937, CA4 NC) 91 F.2d 575, 112 ALR 1125

136. Determination of competence

In action to recover disability benefits under war risk insurance policies, where there was substantial evidence to show that insured was insane person on date on which bar of limitations otherwise would have been effective, jury need not believe that insured was raving lunatic at crucial date, and before that time he might well have held office boy's job, working under close supervision, and still not have been able to protect his rights under Veterans’ Act. United States v Randall (1944, CA2 NY) 140 F.2d 70

Adjudication by probate court of competency of plaintiff at time of appointment of guardian for him was not conclusive on federal district court but was entitled to consideration with other evidence in case. Viccioni v United States (1936, DC RI) 15 F Supp 547, affd (1939, CA1 RI) 101 F.2d 192

Verdict of jury of state court restoring insured to the management of his own estate was not adjudication that insured was not then incompetent person with respect to running of statute of limitations against action on policy. Hilbert v United States (1942, DC Ill) 43 F Supp 838

137. Removal of disability

Filing of demand by guardian, denial by administrator [now Secretary] of veterans’ affairs, and failure to bring suit within 90 days from date of mailing of notice of denial does not take away right of insane person to institute suit at any time within three years of removal of his disability. Jensen v United States (1937, DC Idaho) 19 F Supp 494

138. Appointment of guardian

Disability of insanity is to be considered as removed upon appointment of guardian who sues. United States v Earwood (1934, CA5 Ga) 71 F.2d 507, vacated on other grounds (1935) 294 US 695, 79 L Ed 1233, 55 S Ct 511

Appointment of committee or guardian for incompetent veteran does not remove veteran's disability for purposes of statute of limitations. Wolf v United States (1935, DC NY) 10 F Supp 899

Appointment of guardian is not removal of disability operating to start limitations running against insane person. Shambegian v United States (1936, DC RI) 14 F Supp 93; Portland Trust & Sav. Bank v United States (1938, DC Or) 24 F Supp 953

139. Death

Disability of veteran by reason of insanity is removed by his death, and thereafter suit may be brought within three years after removal of such disability. Coleman v United States (1939, CA6 Tenn) 100 F.2d 903

140. Maintenance of suit by guardian during disability

Guardian of an insane veteran was entitled to sue for ward after expiration of limitation periods but before disability of ward was removed; provision for tolling statute of limitations during insanity of veteran did not prevent insane insured veteran from maintaining action by his guardian at any time during duration of incompetency, without waiting until disability was removed. Johnson v United States (1937, CA8 Minn) 87 F.2d 940, 109 ALR 949
Guardian has no authority to waive any right of his ward. Shambegian v United States (1936, DC RI) 14 F Supp 93

Action instituted November 22, 1935, by guardian appointed February 14, 1933, for veteran alleged to have been mentally incompetent from time of discharge from army was not demurrable. Holm v United States (1936, DC Iowa) 15 F Supp 662

Suit by guardian of insane World War veteran on policy of war risk insurance was not barred where brought while veteran was incompetent and insane, such suit not being barred until three years after disability has been removed. Portland Trust & Sav. Bank v United States (1938, DC Or) 24 F Supp 953

Government was not estopped to claim statute of limitation by giving incorrect information by veterans' bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs] that no record had been found of any application for or issuance of policy, whereby insane veteran's guardian and subsequent administrator was deceived and caused not to file timely claim or suit. Coleman v United States (1939, CA6 Tenn) 100 F.2d 903

Where action by veteran in his own name to recover total and permanent disability benefits under a war risk policy was dismissed for want of jurisdiction because action was not brought within time allowed by statute, and there was no fraud in procuring judgment of dismissal and there was no suggestion that attorneys for defendant knew that plaintiff was incompetent, judgment of dismissal was bar to subsequent suit on same cause of action brought by incompetent veteran by his next friend. McCoy v United States (1944, DC Ark) 54 F Supp 960

(3). Minors

142. Generally

Allowance of period in which infant beneficiaries may sue after reaching maturity does not permit suits by such infants on claims which became barred during lifetime of insured. Winslow v United States (1945, App DC) 79 US App DC 366, 147 F.2d 157

Limitation period for bringing suit under national service policy was tolled from time that decedent's son filed claim for death benefits after attaining his majority until claim was denied by Veterans Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs]. Timoni v United States (1969, App DC) 135 US App DC 407, 419 F.2d 294

Action brought within 3 years of plaintiff's attainment of majority was timely. Robinson v United States (1935, DC NY) 12 F Supp 160

143. Maintenance of suit by representative during disability

Claim of minor child made through administrator was barred; limitation period was not tolled during minority of insured where right of action was in another, such as trustee or administrator, even though proceeds were for ultimate benefit of minor. Dowell v United States (1936, CA5 Ga) 86 F.2d 120

Action by executrix for minor children within 3 years after appointment was timely. Crew v United States (1933, DC La) 3 F Supp 1023

144. Miscellaneous

Suit on policy of war risk insurance instituted on March 24, 1933, by administratrix and distributee of estate of veteran who died March 30, 1919, holder of uncollected bonus which restored policy, was barred under statute prohibiting suit unless brought within 6 years after right accrued and permitting suit by infant within 3 years after majority in spite of fact that administratrix did not become of age until June 3, 1930, because of fact that she had no claim enforceable in her own right. Smallwood v United States (1937, CA4 Va) 91 F.2d 287

Infant beneficiary could not bring suit within 3 years after removal of disability where war risk term insurance policy had lapsed in veteran's lifetime, but it afterwards revived and matured by reason of his total permanent disability, and thereafter, in his lifetime, statutory period of limitations elapsed and suit on policy was barred. Winslow v United States (1945, App DC) 79 US App DC 366, 147 F.2d 157

Even though widow’s right to insurance has been cut off by lapse of 6-year period provided in 38 USCS § 784, her minor child’s rights are not cut off with hers. Philippine Nat’l Bank v United States (1962, App DC) 112 US App DC 126, 300 F.2d 718

Limitation exception as to infant was inapplicable where infant had no interest in installment accruing prior to death of father. Ballenger v United States (1935, DC Ky) 11 F Supp 911

F. Pleadings
1. In General
145. Generally

Opinion evidence as to disability or to degree or permanency of injury to insured under war risk insurance policy was admissible, since such evidence related to question not satisfactorily understood by laymen. Runkle v United States (1930, CA10 Colo) 42 F.2d 804; United States v Smith (1933, CA2 NY) 68 F.2d 38; United States v Russian (1934, CA3 Pa) 73 F.2d 363; United States v Bowman (1934, CA10 Utah) 73 F.2d 716

Allegation in action to recover on insurance policy, to effect that plaintiff was entitled to recover as set out in policy of insurance, was not defective where copy of policy is set out in complaint and other allegations properly indicated basis for claim. Covey v United States (1920, DC Iowa) 263 F 768

Petition alleging that Veterans’ Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] decision was unjust, arbitrary and unlawful was legal conclusion and therefore insufficient. Silberschein v United States (1923, DC Mich) 285 F 397, aff’d (1924) 266 US 221, 69 L Ed 256, 45 S Ct 69 (superseded by statute as stated in New York v Eadarso (1996, ED NY) 946 F Supp 240)

Documents representing application for payment of insurance and communications with bureau [now Department] showing denial of claim are not foundation of plaintiff’s claim; plaintiff will be required to specifically set out in his pleading date of application and of disagreement with bureau [now Department]. Kenneth v United States (1931, DC La) 51 F.2d 122

Plaintiff, suing on a war risk insurance policy, was required to plead and prove facts showing jurisdiction. Bigley v United States (1934, DC Tex) 6 F Supp 748

In suits on contracts of war risk insurance, pleading must show that action sought to be maintained was within consent of sovereign in every respect, including statutes limiting time within which, after accrual of cause of action, suit thereon was maintainable. Lewis v United States (1939, DC Tenn) 27 F Supp 894

146. Service

By filing its answer and participating in trial, government waived service of process. United States v Harris (1935, CA7 Ill) 80 F.2d 771

Claimant was required to file verified petition and serve copy thereof on United States District Attorney and mail copy to Attorney General. Cassarello v United States (1919, DC Pa) 265 F 326; Shepherdson v United States (1921, DC Pa) 271 F 330

Failure of plaintiff to send copy of petition by registered mail to Attorney General and file affidavit with clerk was waived when United States Attorney made general appearance and pled to merits. Wilhelm v United States (1937, DC NC) 18 F Supp 600

147. Amendment

Plaintiff’s amendment of complaint to accord with proofs is properly permitted where government is not prejudiced by such amendment. United States v Oliver (1932, CA9 Cal) 59 F.2d 55
Permitting amendment of answer during trial is not abuse of discretion. O'Quinn v United States (1934, CA5 La) 70 F.2d 599

Defendant's exception that no cause of action was shown by allegations, because they do not allege specific date when total and permanent disability began and that it fell within life of policy, could be overruled and treated as demand for bill of particulars to permit plaintiff to amend complaint. Daniel v United States (1937, DC La) 20 F Supp 496

148. Miscellaneous

Soldier could recover where wound was received after period to apply for insurance had expired, although complaint did not state date policy was issued. United States v Suomy (1934, CA9 Or) 70 F.2d 542

Reply based on reinstated policy after lapse for nonpayment of premiums was not departure although complaint was based on policy in force when insured died. Kintner v United States (1934, CA10 Colo) 71 F.2d 961

Petition is sufficient if it alleges that policy was in force when veteran died by reason of actual payment of premium. Eidam v United States (1936, CA8 Neb) 86 F.2d 192

Petition of an incompetent, alleging total and permanent disability and required disagreement was sufficient. Viccioni v United States (1936, DC RI) 14 F Supp 95

2. Statute of Limitations

149. Generally

Requirement for timely institution of suit constituted jurisdictional condition precedent which could not be waived or abrogated by estoppel, and with which plaintiff must show compliance to make out prima facie case. Lynch v United States (1935, CA5 Ga) 80 F.2d 418, cert den (1936) 298 US 658, 80 L Ed 1384, 56 S Ct 683, reh den (1936) 298 US 692, 80 L Ed 1409, 56 S Ct 937; United States v Trollinger (1936, CA4 Va) 81 F.2d 167, cert dismd (1936) 299 US 617, 81 L Ed 455, 57 S Ct 757

Petition was required to affirmatively show that right of action was not barred by limitation. United States v Trollinger (1936, CA4 Va) 81 F.2d 167, cert dismd (1936) 299 US 617, 81 L Ed 455, 57 S Ct 757

Petition should have pleaded that limitation period was suspended during consideration of veteran's claim in bureau [now Department]. United States v Valndza (1936, CA6 Ohio) 81 F.2d 615

In suit on war risk insurance policy, it was essential that plaintiff allege facts which brought him squarely within time provisions. Vaughn v United States (1942, DC Ark) 43 F Supp 306

150. Defensive pleading

Action by widow of World War veteran to recover automatic insurance benefits was barred by six-year limitation from date of death of veteran under statute without its being pleaded. Morgan v United States (1940, CA5 Ga) 115 F.2d 427, cert den (1941) 312 US 701, 85 L Ed 1135, 61 S Ct 806

Fact that suit was not commenced within one year was jurisdictional defect which need not be affirmatively pleaded. Miller v United States (1932, DC NY) 57 F.2d 889

Fairness demanded that government raise question of statute of limitations upon trial, or be precluded from raising it upon appeal, since running of limitations might be suspended during certain contingencies, which contingencies might be shown on trial of case if question of limitations was raised. Vincent v United States (1935, Dist Col App) 64 App DC 178, 76 F.2d 428

151. Waiver
Whether or not action was commenced within limitation period was question of fact, and where parties stipulated with respect to it, they waived it and were bound. United States v Thomson (1934, CA10 NM) 71 F.2d 860

Government waived its defense of limitations by failing to rely upon such defense at trial. United States v Ellison (1935, CA4 W Va) 74 F.2d 864, cert den (1935) 295 US 750, 79 L Ed 1695, 55 S Ct 829

Failure to object to additional allegation of complaint which accrues after original complaint was filed constituted waiver of statute of limitations. United States v Craig (1936, CA7 Ind) 83 F.2d 361

3. Other Particular Matters

152. Disagreement as to claim

Disagreement between claimant and bureau [now Department] is jurisdictional, and failure of district attorney to verify answer to verified complaint, to which plaintiff interposed no objection, requires award of nonsuit on plaintiff's failure to prove disagreement. Manke v United States (1930, CA9 Cal) 38 F.2d 624, cert den (1930) 282 US 837, 75 L Ed 743, 51 S Ct 26

Motion made at trial to dismiss on ground original complaint failed to allege requisite disagreement came too late where second paragraph of complaint was filed without objection and government entered general denial. United States v Craig (1936, CA7 Ind) 83 F.2d 361

In action to recover on contract of war risk insurance, where petition was sufficient to charge existence of valid disagreement and bill of exceptions was stricken, binding presumption arose that substantial evidence was submitted to show valid jurisdictional disagreement existed. United States v Rasmussen (1938, CA10 Okla) 95 F.2d 842

To confer jurisdiction on court pursuant to predecessor to 38 USCS § 1984, it must appear on face of complaint against United States in suit under contract of veterans' insurance that there has been disagreement on insurance claim between Veterans Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] and plaintiff. Covey v United States (1920, DC Iowa) 263 F 768; Howard v United States (1924, DC Ky) 2 F.2d 170; Reece v United States (1927, DC Mo) 17 F.2d 856

Under War Risk Insurance Act (predecessor to 38 USCS §§ 1940 et seq.), district court had jurisdiction of action on policy of war risk insurance only where there had been disagreement between Bureau of War Risk Insurance [now Department of Veterans Affairs] and plaintiff, and petition must allege such disagreement so as to show jurisdiction on its face. Howard v United States (1924, DC Ky) 2 F.2d 170

Petition failing to show disagreement between bureau [now Department] and claimant is insufficient. Reece v United States (1927, DC Mo) 17 F.2d 856; United States v Thomas (1936, CA6 Tenn) 85 F.2d 614

153. Time of disability of claimant

In suit instituted in 1954 to recover proceeds of national service life insurance policy issued to insured who had been missing since disappearing from his army unit in 1943, a complaint alleging that prior to insured's disappearance he had become totally and permanently disabled and had died in 1943, and that his total and permanent disability during time policy was in force entitled him to waiver of premiums on policy, was sufficient as against claims by government, first, that, because insured's death must, under predecessor to 38 USC § 108, be presumed to have occurred in 1950, at end of seven years' unexplained absence, policy had, at time of death, lapsed for nonpayment of premiums, and, second, in alternative, that, if claim was founded on insured's death in 1943, it was barred by six-year statute of limitations which, under predecessor to 38 USC § 1984, was applicable to claims on national service life insurance policies. Peak v United States (1957) 353 US 43, 1 L Ed 2d 631, 77 S Ct 613

Complaint alleging total and permanent disability between specified dates, but not alleging such disability at time suit was brought, did not state cause of action, in view of definition of "total and permanent disability” in regulations. Personius v United States (1933, CA9 Idaho) 65 F.2d 646

Failure of complaint to allege that total and permanent disability occurred during period policy was in force could be cured by evidence, not excepted to, establishing such fact. United States v Anderson (1934, CA9 Or) 70 F.2d 537

Petition was deficient where it failed to allege total permanent disability during life of policy and could not support judgment for plaintiff even if evidence made out good case; hence, judgment for plaintiff will be reversed though no objection was made to complaint in trial court; in absence of allegation of total and permanent disability at date of lapse of policy, complaint wholly failed to state cause of action. United States v Payne (1934, CA9 Wash) 73 F.2d 900, cert dismd (1936) 296 US 659, 80 L Ed 469, 56 S Ct 87

154. Designation of plaintiff as beneficiary

Petition was sufficient to allege designation of plaintiffs as beneficiaries under War Risk Insurance Act (predecessor to 38 USCS §§ 1940 et seq.) where it alleged that petitioners were sole beneficiaries of duly probated will of insured, even though will was not exhibited, and petition did not allege that insurance was actually mentioned in will. United States v Napoleon (1924, CA5 Fla) 296 F 811

Allegation in complaint that insured took out policy "designating no authorized person as beneficiary on such policy" was insufficient to show that wife of insured had not been designated as beneficiary. United States v Smith (1932, CA9 Wash) 55 F.2d 141, 81 ALR 926

Complaint alleging plaintiff was brother and beneficiary of insured was sufficient. Christensen v Christensen (1926, DC NY) 14 F.2d 475

G. Parties

1. In General

155. Generally

Language of predecessor to allowing all persons having or claiming to have interest in insurance to be made parties to suit, cannot be restricted to mean that only persons who have filed claims which have been denied, and who have or claim to have interest in such claims, may be made parties to action, but must be construed to allow person with interest in insurance to be made party whether or not such interest is specified in claim. Coffey v United States (1938, CA7 Ill) 97 F.2d 762, 117 ALR 940

Purpose of provision to join all interested parties is to avoid multiplicity of suits growing out of same insurance policy. Blanton v United States (1936, DC Ala) 17 F Supp 327

156. Governmental parties

Secretary of the Treasury was not proper party to suit on policy. Elliott v United States (1920, DC Ohio) 271 F 1001

In action brought pursuant to 38 USCS §§ 705 and 784(a) [now 38 USCS §§ 1905 and 1984(a)] to recover benefits of serviceman's group life insurance policy, cause of action was against private insurer rather than United States absent breach of obligation undertaken by United States pursuant to veterans insurance program; Administrator [now Secretary] of Veterans Affairs was not necessary party to action brought under such sections. Mosby v United States (1976, ND Ohio) 423 F Supp 689

157. -United States

Though controversy was confined to question of who was to receive proceeds, United States was proper party defendant where petitioner's claim was denied by bureau [now Department]. Ambrose v United States (1926, DC NY) 15 F.2d 52
State court had jurisdiction to determine rights under contract by beneficiary in war risk insurance policy to pay proceeds to another and United States was not necessary party to action. Bostrom v Bostrom (1931) 60 ND 792, 236 NW 732

158. Secretary of Veterans Affairs

Administrator [now Secretary] of Veterans Affairs was not necessary party in action by insured to recover under permanent total disability clause of government insurance policy. United States v Golden (1929, CA10 NM) 34 F.2d 367

Veterans' bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs] was not proper party to suit to establish trust in proceeds of policy. Calhoun v Ussery (1930, DC La) 46 F.2d 495

159. Interpleader

Court may properly refuse motion of United States to bring in additional parties. United States v Napoleon (1924, CA5 Fla) 296 F 811

Designation of answer as interpleader cannot cut off right of claimant to assert her full claim, though in excess of amount admitted to be due by defendant, it being considered as consolidation in equity suit of claims made under policy by adverse claimants. Heinemann v Heinemann (1931, CA6 Tenn) 50 F.2d 696

Joinder of husband as party plaintiff is permissive where husband and wife sued to recover automatic national service life insurance, where husband had not joined wife in filing claim which had been denied, where answer of government interpleaded third-party defendant and prayed for full determination of controversy, thereby becoming suitor and subjecting itself to procedural rules of the court. Leyerly v United States (1947, CA10 Colo) 162 F.2d 79

Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] payment of NSLI proceeds to primary beneficiary, serviceman's wife who had shot and killed insured, after her criminal indictment but preceding conviction, and its failure to interplead wife and contingent beneficiaries under 38 USCS § 784 [now 38 USCS § 1984], constituted abuse of discretion under 5 USCS § 706, entitling contingent beneficiaries to policy proceeds. Glass v United States (1974, CA10 Okla) 506 F.2d 379

In action for interpleader brought by insurance company against claimants of benefits due under Serviceman's Group Life Insurance policy, insurance company would be discharged from liability as stakeholder only upon depositing in court a sum equal to face value of policy plus interest accrued over 4 1/2 year period of delay which was caused by insurance company's demands for further information concerning insured's illegitimate child and went far beyond fiduciary caution. Prudential Ins. Co. v Armwood (1973, ED NY) 362 F Supp 1328

160. Intervention

Statute of limitations does not bar intervention by another beneficiary, to participate in proceeds, where administrator of one beneficiary has brought suit upon claim, institution of one suit being potentially for benefit of all interested. Marsh v United States (1938, CA4 Va) 97 F.2d 327

Intervention in an action seasonably instituted after disagreement under policy was permitted, even though parties seeking to intervene have not filed claim or instituted suit within period of limitation. Marsh v United States (1938, CA4 Va) 97 F.2d 327

Intervenor's claim that he was beneficiary of express trust in proceeds of National Service Life insurance policy created by serviceman must be dismissed where claimant admittedly was not member of class eligible to be beneficiaries under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1916. Jones v United States (1945, DC Mass) 61 F Supp 406

Government retained appealable interest in suit under contract of National Service Life Insurance even though government admitted its liability and brought suit in nature of bill of interpleader. United States v Leverett (1952, CA5 Tex) 197 F.2d 30
Fact that government brought suit in nature of bill of interpleader against all persons claiming to have any interest in contract of National Service Life Insurance did not take away government's interest in decision of case. United States v Snyder (1949, App DC) 85 US App DC 198, 177 F.2d 44

District court had no jurisdiction to entertain petition under War Risk Insurance Act by distant relative with whom insured has lived but who had no interest in policy or in estate of decedent. Dellaporta v United States (1939, DC Mass) 27 F Supp 839

2. Beneficiaries, Heirs, and Devisees

a. In General

162. Generally

One named as beneficiary was proper party to suit on policy, though insured was married to another at time of his application, and it was proper for court to adjudicate right to proceeds as between named beneficiary and widow who also joined in action. United States v Vance (1931, CA8 Mo) 48 F.2d 472

Beneficiary of war risk insurance policy was not necessary party to action by administrator of insured claiming total and permanent disability prior to death of insured. United States v Smith (1932, CA9 Wash) 55 F.2d 141, 81 ALR 926

Heirs within permitted class of beneficiaries were entitled to resumption of payments where mother of insured to whom government made no payments consented to payment to such heirs; devisees of insured were not necessary parties to such action where will was insufficient as designation of such devisees of beneficiary. Hatch v United States (1928, DC NY) 29 F.2d 213

163. Rights and interests of beneficiaries

Fact that insured made no claim for compensation for disability was not material in action by beneficiary after death of insured. United States v Phillips (1930, CA8 Mo) 44 F.2d 689

Failure of beneficiary of war risk insurance policy to appear in action on policy by insured's administrator claiming total and permanent disability prior to death of insured did not warrant judgment in favor of administrator for installments accruing subsequently to death of insured, where beneficiary, although concededly alive, could not be located. United States v Smith (1932, CA9 Wash) 55 F.2d 141, 81 ALR 926

Right of beneficiary to timely sue for payments accruing after insured's death is independent and maintainable though neither insured nor his representative sued for payments due prior to such death. Ivy v United States (1936, CA5 Miss) 84 F.2d 37

Where insured first claimed total disability as of January, 1934, and, when veterans' administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] rejected this claim, he did not contest decision, and upon second claim veterans' administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] found that he became totally disabled on March 12, 1937, and this decision was accepted by insured, beneficiary of policy was bound by this decision after death of insured in absence of some showing of mistake or fraud or overreaching, or of inability on the part of insured to appreciate and understand nature of his act. Whiting v United States (1941) 74 App DC 148, 122 F.2d 196

Beneficiary's interest in war risk term insurance policy was derivative from that of veteran. Winslow v United States (1945, App DC) 79 US App DC 366, 147 F.2d 157

Principle that insured must put Administration [now Department] on notice of claim and must assert that such proof entitled him to benefits under terms of his policy to qualify for such consideration was not applicable where filing of claim for permanent and total disability benefits was prevented by veteran's insanity, notwithstanding appointment of committee, and thus failure to file timely claim was excusable if insanity of insured prevented filing such claim. 1954 ADVA 938

b. Death of Beneficiary
164. Generally

Action by distributees of deceased beneficiary would be dismissed, since proceeds went to relatives of insured on death of beneficiary, though insured died before beneficiary died. Salzer v United States (1922, DC NY) 300 F 764, affd (1924, CA2 NY) 300 F 767

165. Heirs of beneficiary

Upon death of deceased veteran's brother, claim made by brother as beneficiary of government insurance inured to benefit of father as sole distributee of both veteran's and brother's estates. Marsh v United States (1938, CA4 Va) 97 F.2d 327

Father of soldier could not sue in his own right, as heir of soldier's mother, on policy of war risk insurance in which mother was beneficiary. Curtik v United States (1937, DC Mass) 19 F Supp 447

District court did not have jurisdiction of action on war risk policy by mother of beneficiary as his sole heir. Jewell v United States (1939, DC Ky) 27 F Supp 836

166. Personal representative of estate

In action to recover on contract of war risk insurance where insured was bachelor and his mother was beneficiary, and both were dead, personal representatives of estates of persons entitled to accumulated installments were proper parties plaintiff. United States v Rasmussen (1938, CA10 Okla) 95 F.2d 842

Since administrator of insured was entitled to recover payments which had accrued at date of death of insured, he could maintain action to recover same without joining administrator of beneficiary entitled to recover installments accruing between date of death of insured and that of death of beneficiary. Gordon v United States (1929, DC Idaho) 37 F.2d 925

Installments accruing on policy of war risk insurance during lifetime of veteran and commuted value of installments due after death of beneficiary became property of estate of insured, and while not recoverable in action by beneficiary's administrator, petition should not be dismissed, but court should adjudicate rights of beneficiary's personal representative. Curtik v United States (1937, DC Mass) 19 F Supp 447

Beneficiary in policy having died before policy was revived, administrator of veteran's successor was proper party to make claim or file suit on policy. Jacobs v United States (1939, DC La) 28 F Supp 220, affd (1940, CA5) 112 F.2d 51, cert den (1940) 311 US 694, 85 L Ed 449, 61 S Ct 133

In suit by administrator of estate of deceased veteran claiming war risk insurance benefits, illegitimate child of deceased, claiming as heir through its mother as common-law wife of decedent who was named as beneficiary, was proper party defendant. Live Stock Nat'l Bank v United States (1939, CA7 Ill) 106 F.2d 240

Daughter of deceased veteran, who was neither his administratrix nor beneficiary of his insurance, was not entitled to sue on his insurance as funds accruing prior to his death passed to his personal representative, while sums due because of his death were payable to designated beneficiary or to his estate. Butler v United States (1937, DC Okla) 18 F Supp 5

168. Siblings

Brother and sister of deceased veteran could not sue in their individual capacities to recover payments on war risk insurance which already accrued at the time of death of insured. Lopez v United States (1936, CA4 NC) 82 F.2d 982

Natural mother suing to recover on policy need not join natural brothers and sisters of insured, since latter had no right under Louisiana law. O'Quain v United States (1928, DC La) 28 F.2d 350, affd (1929, CA5 La) 31 F.2d 756
169. Spouse

In action brought by administratrix of insured, it was not necessary to make divorced wife, named as beneficiary, party defendant, and entry of default against her did not destroy her rights under policy. United States v Smith (1932, CA9 Wash) 55 F.2d 141, 81 ALR 926

Claim by veteran's putative wife, named as beneficiary of government insurance, was not effective as claim in behalf of both her and veteran's lawful wife. United States v Primilton (1935, CA5 La) 76 F.2d 555

In suit by administrator of deceased veterans' estate to recover benefits of war risk insurance policy, where common-law wife of decedent, named as beneficiary, was made party defendant, it was error not to adjudicate her interest. Live Stock Nat'l Bank v United States (1939, CA7 Ill) 106 F.2d 240

Widow of insured, not designated as beneficiary, was not entitled to bring action for installments accruing after death of insured, and she could not sue to recover installments which accrued during his life, since administrator of estate had exclusive right of action. Ballenger v United States (1935, DC Ky) 11 F Supp 911

In action by administrator of veteran, putative wife of decedent who had collected installments on policy is not an indispensable party. Succession of Lynch v United States (1936, DC La) 17 F Supp 674

3. Administrator or Executor

170. Generally

Where insured died pending appeal by defendant, delay in substituting administratrix was not ground for dismissal of appeal, where delay was caused by failure of administratrix to inform appellant of her appointment. United States v Hibbard (1936, CA9 Idaho) 83 F.2d 785

Monthly payments which accrued under war risk insurance policy prior to death of insured and commuted value of unaccrued installments at death of beneficiary were assets of estate of insured for which personal representative of estate had exclusive right to maintain action. Johnson v United States (1939, CA10 Okla) 102 F.2d 729

Executor of estate of insured was not necessary party to suit to require resumption of payments to heirs within permitted class where award was not payable to estate but to plaintiffs. Hatch v United States (1928, DC NY) 29 F.2d 213

Since administrator of insured is entitled to recover payments which have accrued at date of death of insured, he may maintain action to recover same without joining administrator of beneficiary entitled to recover installments accruing between date of death of insured and that of death of beneficiary. Gordon v United States (1929, DC Idaho) 37 F.2d 925

No suit was commenced by veteran where veteran verified petition on February 10, 1931, and died on March 14, 1931, and his attorney, without knowledge of the veteran's death, filed petition on March 31, 1931; hence, veteran's administrator could not be substituted therein as plaintiff, though letter of special assistant United States Attorney stated this could be done. Spencer v United States (1936, DC Mass) 14 F Supp 46

171. Mixed capacity of representative

If brother and sister were respectively administrators of estates of insured and of beneficiary, complaint filed in their individual capacity to recover accrued but unpaid installment of insurance could be amended so as to name them in their representative capacity. Lopez v United States (1936, CA4 NC) 82 F.2d 982

Joinder of widow individually as beneficiary was proper where veteran died after instituting action on his insurance policy, and his widow, as executrix of his estate, was substituted as plaintiff. United States v Wilson (1936, CA9 Wash) 85 F.2d 444
Claim filed by administrator of insured entitled him to recover as administrator of beneficiaries although he had not filed claim in latter capacity. United States v Powell (1938, CA4 SC) 93 F.2d 788

Claim filed by plaintiff as beneficiary of veteran's war risk insurance policy would support action to recover insurance benefits in capacity of administratrix of estate of insured as well as in beneficiary's individual capacity, and successor administrator could be substituted as plaintiff upon death of administratrix; in action by mother of World War veteran on his war risk term insurance policy, to recover benefits both as beneficiary and as administratrix of her son's estate, upon her death, her administratrix may properly be substituted as plaintiff in each capacity. Coffey v United States (1938, CA7 Ill) 97 F.2d 762, 117 ALR 940

175. Jury trial

United States could not appeal to court of appeals to complain that court tried case without jury where case was tried without jury on motion of United States. Law v United States (1925) 266 US 494, 69 L Ed 401, 45 S Ct 175; United States v McGovern (1924, CA9 Mont) 299 F 302

2. Evidence

a. In General

176. Generally

While legislation relating to veterans was to be liberally construed, right to recover under war risk insurance policy was subject to ordinary rules of evidence. United States v Balance (1932, Dist Col App) 61 App DC 226, 59 F.2d 1040

177. Admissibility

In action on policy not designating beneficiary, application for policy was admissible in evidence to establish rights of intended beneficiary and to limit right of executor; state law providing that unless application was attached to policy it is not admissible has no application to suit on war risk policy. Cassarello v United States (1922, CA3 Pa) 279 F 396

While judicial notice is taken of Veterans Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] regulations, they are nevertheless admissible. United States v Lawson (1931, CA9 Idaho) 50 F.2d 646

Admission in evidence of regulation regarding war risk insurance, to which policy was made subject by terms of application for insurance, could not be objected to on ground that regulation was not attached to policy as required by state law, since contract of insurance made pursuant to federal statute must be construed with reference to such statute. Cassarello v United States (1919, DC Pa) 271 F 486, affd (1922, CA3 Pa) 279 F 396

In action alleging change of beneficiary of NSLI policy, evidence was admissible to show insured's purpose in executing particular writing and his understanding of effect of his act where writing itself did not refer to any specific benefits, or is ambiguous. Moore v United States (1955, DC Cal) 129 F Supp 456

178. Competence

Veterans Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] form letter to effect that insurance was granted in certain amount, effective as of certain date, and lapsed for nonpayment of premiums due on specified date, involves questions of law as well as fact and was incompetent to establish correctness of such conclusions. United States v Tracy (1928, CA9 Wash) 28 F.2d 570

Photostatic copy of death certificate filed with state bureau of vital statistics was not competent evidence of cause of death. United States v Johnson (1934, CA8 Neb) 72 F.2d 614

Evidence that disability had continued during passage of time was competent and cogent evidence of permanency of such disability. McGovern v United States (1923, DC Mont) 294 F 108, affd (1924, CA9 Mont) 299 F 302

Judge properly refused to receive, in behalf of plaintiff, affidavits of soldiers who were in service with insured, since the affidavits were not competent. Demeter v United States (1933, Dist Col App) 62 App DC 208, 66 F.2d 188

179. Materiality

Portion of report estimating disability of soldier for compensation purposes was immaterial to claim for war risk insurance, due to different standards of measurement of disability for insurance and compensation purposes. Runkle v United States (1930, CA10 Colo) 42 F.2d 804; Warren v United States (1930, DC Idaho) 42 F.2d 755

Compensation reports and ratings were material to allegation of insured that sufficient uncollected compensation was due him to revive insurance policy. United States v Smith (1932, CA9 Wash) 55 F.2d 141, 81 ALR 926

Occupation of insured before joining Navy was immaterial. Proechel v United States (1932, CA8 Minn) 59 F.2d 648, cert den (1932) 287 US 658, 77 L Ed 568, 53 S Ct 122

In suit on war risk insurance policy, testimony about some harrowing experiences of insured on battlefield was relevant and material on question of insured's mental and physical condition. Becker v United States (1944, CA7 Ind) 145 F.2d 171

180. Credibility and weight

Insured's formal statement of no disability at time of discharge could be considered on question of disability but was not conclusive. United States v Jensen (1933, CA9 Idaho) 66 F.2d 19; Muth v United States (1935, CA4 Md) 78 F.2d 525

Insured's statement, subsequent to discharge, that he did not consider himself totally disabled, was not conclusive. United States v Worsley (1934, CA10 Utah) 72 F.2d 776

181. Judicial notice

Courts recognize fact that tuberculosis in its incipient stage is usually not incurable malady. Eggen v United States (1932, CA8 Minn) 58 F.2d 616; Walters v United States (1933, CA5 Tex) 63 F.2d 299; United States v Messinger (1934, CA4 W Va) 68 F.2d 234; United States v Sumner (1934, CA6 Ky) 69 F.2d 770; United States v Schroeder (1935, CA7 Ind) 77 F.2d 173; United States v Walker (1935, CA5 La) 77 F.2d 415, cert den (1935) 296 US 612, 80 L Ed 434, 56 S Ct 132; United States v Little (1935, CA5 La) 77 F.2d 420

Court could take judicial cognizance of character of pulmonary tuberculosis. United States v McIver (1935, CA4 NC) 77 F.2d 208

Judicial notice could be taken of Veterans Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] procedures for deciding claim and for notifying claimant that claim was rejected and that disagreement existed. Smith v United States (1932, DC Iowa) 56 F.2d 636

183. Hearsay statements

Testimony in behalf of plaintiff which is hearsay cannot be received. United States v McCreary (1939, CA9 Or) 105 F.2d 297

Self-serving declarations of insured contained in reports of physicians to bureau were not admissible in behalf of plaintiff. United States v Wilson (1931, CA4 SC) 50 F.2d 1063; United States v Balance (1932, Dist Col App) 61 App DC 226, 59 F.2d 1040

Allegation of disability may be controverted by inconsistent written statements signed by insured. Seals v United States (1934, CA5 La) 70 F.2d 519

b. Evidence as to Particular Matters
186. Designation of beneficiary

Letter which insured wrote his daughter was not admissible as narrative of substantive fact that he took out insurance for her benefit, but was admissible as proper token of his intent and purpose in taking out insurance. Foster v Winingham (1948, CA10 Okla) 169 F.2d 46

Instrument executed by insured when he made application for policy, clearly showing intention to make his aunt beneficiary, was competent evidence to show aunt is entitled to proceeds, though attempt to probate instrument as will had failed, and though aunt could not have been beneficiary under statute in existence when application for policy was made, since amendment of statute permitting aunt to be beneficiary related back to policy. Schroeder v United States (1928, DC Ohio) 24 F.2d 420

187. Change of beneficiary

Evidence that deceased had signed paper which he said was for purpose of changing beneficiary and said he was going to mail it was not sufficient to show change of beneficiary where no one saw what paper was or saw him mail it, where he told no one that he had mailed it, and where records of department did not show its receipt. Layne v United States (1924, CA7 Ill) 3 F.2d 431

Designation in writing by insured of person as beneficiary of insurance could be admitted in evidence to prove change of beneficiary although written by a minor and not sufficient for a will. Helmholtz v Horst (1924, CA6 Ohio) 294 F 417, 2 Ohio L Abs 419

Evidence that claimant of war risk insurance signed insured's name to application for change of beneficiary, at request of insured, was admissible, without proving agency from any other source. Le Blanc v Curtis (1925, CA5 Ga) 6 F.2d 4

Serviceman's letters stating that he was going to change or had changed beneficiary were admissible in evidence. Littlefield v Littlefield (1952, CA10 Okla) 194 F.2d 695

Testimony concerning reasons why insured might have wished to change beneficiary and letters to alleged substitute beneficiary of NSLI policy were admissible only to prove insured's intention to change beneficiary, not to show affirmative act for purpose of effectuating that intention. Littlefield v Littlefield (1952, CA10 Okla) 194 F.2d 695

Government forms executed by insured were admissible to determine insured's intent with respect to his government benefits, and could not be objected to as hearsay. Ward v United States (1966, CA7 Ind) 371 F.2d 108

Evidence that insured had received blank form for designating beneficiary of his 6 months' gratuity pay, which form was often used for changing beneficiary of NSLI policy, was insufficient to establish effective change of beneficiary where no written form was produced in evidence. Cohn v Cohn (1948, App DC) 84 US App DC 218, 171 F.2d 828, cert den (1949) 336 US 962, 93 L Ed 1114, 69 S Ct 828

Testimony of friends and fellow officers of insured was insufficient to establish change of beneficiary from parents to widow, where no writings in support of testimony were produced. Cohn v Cohn (1948, App DC) 84 US App DC 218, 171 F.2d 828, cert den (1949) 336 US 962, 93 L Ed 1114, 69 S Ct 828

Relative financial situations of contesting parties was relevant insofar as it reflected on insured's intent to change beneficiary. Cohn v Cohn (1948, App DC) 84 US App DC 218, 171 F.2d 828, cert den (1949) 336 US 962, 93 L Ed 1114, 69 S Ct 828; Watson v United States (1950, CA5 Ga) 185 F.2d 292; Benard v United States (1966, CA8 Mo) 368 F.2d 897

Insured's intention to change beneficiary and his performance of required affirmative act in writing could be proved by circumstantial evidence. Walker v United States (1947, DC Tex) 70 F Supp 422; Hartman v United States (1948, DC Mo) 78 F Supp 227

Veterans Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] determination of whether insured took necessary steps to effect proper change of beneficiary of NSLI policy should be given substantial weight in suit by individual alleging to be beneficiary of such policy. Owens v United States (1966, DC SC) 251 F Supp 114
Evidence that original beneficiary paid some premiums on NSLI policy and that insured told her that he had no intention to change beneficiary was insufficient to show that change of beneficiary by insured was result of undue influence, where nurses attending insured at hospital testified that insured was rational, aware, and in possession of his mental faculties. United States v Cruze (1970, ED Tenn) 328 F Supp 159

A serviceman was held not to have taken sufficient affirmative action, pursuant to an intent to change the beneficiary of his life insurance policy, where he made it known only that the would-be new beneficiary was to be notified in case of an emergency and was to receive pay benefits should he be killed or missing; it was not enough that the serviceman sent to the would-be substitute a letter stating that he had already changed the insurance over to her name. Jones v United States (1971, MD Tenn) 331 F Supp 114

188. Death of insured

Unauthenticated coroner's certificate of death was not admissible. United States v Blackburn (1929, CA9 Wash) 33 F.2d 564

In action on war risk policy, certificate of death by undertaker was inadmissible. United States v Harrison (1931, CA4 W Va) 49 F.2d 227

Suicide notes of insured were res gestae and were properly received with evidence of his disappearance, on question of death of insured. United States v O'Brien (1931, CA4 Va) 51 F.2d 37

Photostatic copies of coroner's report of inquest obtained from government bureau and of death certificate obtained from municipal bureau of vital statistics were inadmissible to prove cause and manner of death of insured. United States v Johnson (1934, CA8 Neb) 72 F.2d 614

Failure of Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] to find that underlying mental unsoundness which precipitated suicide of plaintiff's son eight days after his discharge from Navy basic training was service connected was not supported by substantial evidence where veteran was presumed to be of sound condition when entering military service, and where suicide was presumed to result from mental unsoundness where no adequate motive was shown. Clark v United States (1974, ND Iowa) 379 F Supp 1399

189. Disability of insured

Court would not, under guise of liberal construction, close its eyes to undisputed facts disclosed by record in case and sustain verdict for plaintiff on theory of constructive total permanent disability which found support only in series of superimposed retroactive presumptions. United States v Le Duc (1931, CA8 Minn) 48 F.2d 789, cert den (1931) 284 US 631, 76 L Ed 537, 52 S Ct 14

Evidence must show that insured was at time of his discharge totally disabled and that he has continued and will continue to be so disabled as result of same malady. United States v Crume (1931, CA5 Tex) 54 F.2d 556

Evidence merely of sleeplessness, nervous condition, and unemployment do not show total disability, though it can be considered with other evidence. United States v Hill (1932, CA9 Or) 61 F.2d 651

Evidence of two witnesses that insured was a hard working and industrious man before he entered service was sufficient to show there was no abnormality in mental condition of insured before issuance of policy, and further evidence sustained finding that abnormal mental condition occurred while policy was in force. United States v Adams (1934, CA10 Okla) 70 F.2d 486

190. -Condition subsequent to lapse of policy

Insured's injuries, exposure, and illness prior to lapse of policy, and his condition in subsequent years, was significant to claim that insured suffered total permanent disability prior to lapse of policy, but only to extent that such factors tended to show whether insured was in fact totally and permanently disabled during life of war risk insurance policy. Lumbra v United States

All facts of case, including as matters of first importance, soldier's injuries and his condition when policy was in force, and including also post-war history of his war-inflicted injuries and post-war conduct of injured soldier himself, must be considered in determining whether he sustained during life of the policy "total permanent disability." United States v Caldwell (1934, CA3 Pa) 69 F.2d 200

Evidence of veteran's condition subsequent to lapse of his policy was admissible only to show nature and extent of his disability prior to lapse. Magenton v United States (1935, CA8 SD) 75 F.2d 410

In action on war risk insurance policy for disability benefits, it was permissible to give weight to subsequent conditions and findings insofar as such conditions and findings tended to shed light on question whether insured became totally disabled before his policy lapsed. United States v Nelson (1939, CA8 Ark) 102 F.2d 515, cert den (1939) 308 US 550, 84 L Ed 462, 60 S Ct 81

In suit on war risk insurance policy for disability benefits, where sole issue submitted to jury by trial court was whether insured was totally and permanently disabled while policy was in force, plaintiff was entitled to have consideration given to his condition as found by physicians many years later, insofar as such condition would aid in resolving question of totality and permanency of his disability at time of such expiration of policy. United States v Fields (1939, CA8 Ark) 102 F.2d 535

Evidence of subsequent disability was admissible on issue as to disability at previous date; declarations by insured as to his health were not conclusive against him, and evidence might show permanent disability at time of discharge. Nichols v United States (1931, DC Ky) 48 F.2d 293

191. -Unemployment

Fact that insured refrains from work because of injury did not necessarily indicate existence of total disability. Hanagan v United States (1932, CA7 Ill) 57 F.2d 860

Insured's persistent but unsuccessful efforts for many years to find job he could hold were persuasive evidence that none existed. United States v Worsley (1934, CA10 Utah) 72 F.2d 776

Nonemployment, of itself, was not evidence of impairment or basis of recovery on insurance. United States v McAlister (1937, CA9 Mont) 88 F.2d 379

In action on war risk insurance policy for disability benefits, evidence of plaintiff that upon his return from army he was unable to work was mere conclusion and had no probative force. United States v Nelson (1939, CA8 Ark) 102 F.2d 515, cert den (1939) 308 US 550, 84 L Ed 462, 60 S Ct 81

One who has serious and incurable ailment for which rest was recognized treatment, and which would be aggravated by work, motion, or movement, might nevertheless be totally and permanently disabled, but mere fact that he was not working was not conclusive of his disability. Adams v United States (1940, CA7 Ill) 116 F.2d 199

192. -Sufficiency of evidence

Date on which it is alleged insured became totally and permanently disabled is date cause of action accrues. Wilson v United States (1934, CA10 Colo) 70 F.2d 176

Evidence leaving to speculation degree of disability at requisite time was insufficient. United States v Krueger (1935, CA7 Ind) 77 F.2d 171

Fact that work caused pain and insured went bankrupt after first year's work was not sufficient proof of total permanent disability. United States v Deal (1936, CA9 Or) 82 F.2d 929

In action on war risk insurance policy for disability benefits, testimony of plaintiff that he was sick was not sufficient in itself to support conclusion that he was totally and permanently disabled. United States v Nelson (1939, CA8 Ark) 102 F.2d 515, cert den (1939) 308 US 550, 84 L Ed 462, 60 S Ct 81

Evidence was insufficient to sustain contention of plaintiff that he was totally and permanently disabled while his policy was in force. United States v Fields (1939, CA8 Ark) 102 F.2d 535

In action on war risk insurance policy, evidence was sufficient to support finding that plaintiff became totally and permanently disabled on or prior to date of lapse of policy. United States v Green (1939, CA9) 107 F.2d 19

Insured could not recover monthly disability benefits under converted war risk insurance policy, which had been surrendered for cash value, although surrender was alleged to be void by fact that insured was totally and permanently disabled at time of surrender, where no finding to that effect had been made by Veterans' Administrator [now Department of Veterans Affairs] and existence of disability at that time was matter of conjecture rather than fact. United States v Garland (1941, CA4 Va) 122 F.2d 118, 136 ALR 918, cert den (1941) 314 US 685, 86 L Ed 548, 62 S Ct 189

Evidence that insured knew of his right to compensation for disability and made no claim therefor and statements by insured as to his ability to work were properly excluded on issue of total and permanent disability. United States v Phillips (1930, CA8 Mo) 44 F.2d 689

Disability was conclusively disproven where insured twice re-enlisted and passed physical exam each time. United States v Le Duc (1931, CA8 Minn) 48 F.2d 789, cert den (1931) 284 US 631, 76 L Ed 537, 52 S Ct 14

Tag, field medical card, and envelope in which card was contained, identified by plaintiff as having been attached to his clothing in field hospital in France and worn by him when being sent to United States with group of disabled soldiers, were properly received in evidence for plaintiff. United States v Wescoat (1931, CA4 W Va) 49 F.2d 193

Letter from director of bureau [now Secretary of Veterans Affairs] relating to disability for compensation purposes was not admissible; but reports of physicians were admissible. McNally v United States (1931, CA8 Minn) 52 F.2d 440

Fact that death of insured occurred within three years after discharge from Navy could not be considered as bearing on question of total permanent disability before discharge, where death was not connected with any disability existing before discharge. Proechel v United States (1932, CA8 Minn) 59 F.2d 648, cert den (1932) 287 US 658, 77 L Ed 568, 53 S Ct 122

Work and activities of veteran after lapse of policy where one leg was disabled was proof of nondisability. United States v Jones (1934, CA5 Ala) 73 F.2d 376

Remarriage of veteran after discharge was circumstance indicating he did not then believe he was totally and permanently disabled. Hughes v United States (1936, CA10 Okla) 83 F.2d 76

In suit on war risk insurance policy in which the main issue is whether or not plaintiff was totally and permanently disabled on particular date, and in which plaintiff relied on auditor's report as making prima facie case, it was not incumbent on plaintiff to offer proof in chief as to his physical condition subsequent to said date but evidence of plaintiff's physical condition subsequent to time alleged in his complaint was admissible when offered by either side, as bearing on his condition at date alleged. Gay v United States (1941, CA7 Ill) 118 F.2d 160

Burden was on plaintiff to prove excuse for nonpayment of premiums where insured paid no premiums on his war risk insurance policy after his discharge in 1919 and died in 1921. Crews v United States (1939, CA7 Ill) 102 F.2d 485
No presumption of incompetency arose from waiver of payment of premiums due to veteran's incompetency, but presumption of competency did arise from veteran's having been declared competent by both agency and state court. Wiley v United States (1968, CA10 Okla) 399 F.2d 844

Evidence established that failure of insured to make application for waiver of premiums within statutory period was due to circumstances beyond his control where government failed to notify him that he was suffering from tuberculosis at time of his discharge. Myers v United States (1953, DC Mo) 112 F Supp 809, mod on other grounds (1954, CA8 Mo) 213 F.2d 223

c. Particular Matters as Evidence

(1). In General

Evidence as to poverty of insured is admissible on issue of disability. United States v Dudley (1933, CA9 Idaho) 64 F.2d 743

Veteran’s weekly earnings card, being part of his work record, was admissible. Jennings v United States (1934, CA5 Ga) 73 F.2d 470

Admissibility of evidence as to insured’s financial condition and individuality must be determined in each particular case. Cockrell v United States (1934, CA8 Iowa) 74 F.2d 151

196. Receipt of other government compensation

Evidence received in behalf of United States that insured was receiving compensation was reversible error; error was not cured by instruction withdrawing evidence. Chrisman v United States (1932, CA9 Wash) 61 F.2d 673; Rose v United States (1934, CA10 NM) 70 F.2d 68

Evidence that government paid compensation to insured is relevant on question whether work performed by insured is voluntary and not because of financial necessity. Prevette v United States (1934, CA4 NC) 68 F.2d 112, cert den (1934) 292 US 622, 78 L Ed 1478, 54 S Ct 633

Cross-examination of insured concerning compensation from government, other than insurance, was harmless. Taylor v United States (1934, CA5 Ala) 71 F.2d 76

Court did not err in excluding evidence of insured’s disability compensation where, in action on war risk policy, government did not contend that insured was malingering and plaintiff does not seek to explain insured’s work record by financial necessity; whether or not insured had received disability compensation from government was immaterial. United States v Brundage (1943, CA6 Mich) 136 F.2d 206

Evidence of payment of compensation to insured under another governmental obligation was inadmissible where sole issue was disability at time policy lapsed. Lomicka v United States (1932, DC NY) 2 F Supp 766

Judge properly refused to receive, in behalf of plaintiff, notice from government to insured that he was awarded $30 monthly as compensation other than insurance. Demeter v United States (1933, Dist Col App) 62 App DC 208, 66 F.2d 188

197. Medical records of treatment

Signed medical reports as to physical examinations of insured, made under authority of Veterans Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] and taken from its files, are not confidential or privileged when required to be produced in any suit or proceeding pending in United States court. United States v Cole (1930, CA6 Ohio) 45 F.2d 339

Tag affixed to insured's clothing at hospital showing his hospital record was admissible on question of disability. United States v Wescoat (1931, CA4 W Va) 49 F.2d 193

X-ray photographs are improperly received where proper foundation is not laid. United States v La Favor (1934, CA9 Wash) 72 F.2d 827

Doctor's notations made on card when insured applied for work were res gestae and were properly received in evidence on behalf of defendant where insured was required to furnish health certificate to get work and insured signed other side of card. Jennings v United States (1934, CA5 Ga) 73 F.2d 470

Documentary evidence made during treatment of insured by government doctors is admissible if sufficiently certified. Cohen v United States (1935, CA7 III) 77 F.2d 140

Error, if any, in excluding veteran's hospital record, not authenticated, was harmless where it was merely cumulative. United States v Chandler (1937, CA5 Ala) 87 F.2d 356

In action on war risk insurance policy, admission of certain records of War Department [now Department of Army] pertaining to health of insured at time of his discharge from service, and general plan of routine followed in making examinations of veterans at time of their discharge from service, was clearly admissible. Thatenhorst v United States (1941, CA10 Kan) 119 F.2d 567

Court erred in refusing to allow introduction of hospital records into evidence and in denying motion to subpoena witnesses for purpose of proving said records where original beneficiary sought to show that deceased lacked mental capacity at time he changed beneficiary. Pritchett v Etheridge (1949, CA5 Tex) 172 F.2d 822

198. Department of Veterans Affairs records

Records of veterans' bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs] concerning ratings for disability compensation other than insurance were properly admitted in behalf of plaintiff to show connection of disabilities to service. Quinn v United States (1932, CA3 Pa) 58 F.2d 19

Veteran's compensation ratings and drawings were properly received, on cross-examination of insured and his wife, as evidence for defendant, to negative finding of total permanent disability. Jennings v United States (1934, CA5 Ga) 73 F.2d 470

In action on war risk policy, statements by insured in application for disability allowance and retirement from military service could be relied upon by government to show falsity of insured's answers to questions in his application for reinstatement of policy. Pence v United States (1941, CA7 Wis) 121 F.2d 804, affd (1942) 316 US 332, 86 L Ed 1510, 62 S Ct 1080, reh den (1942) 316 US 712, 86 L Ed 1777, 62 S Ct 1287

199. Employment records

Work record of insured after lapse of policy is admissible as bearing on condition before lapse. United States v Alger (1934, CA9 Idaho) 68 F.2d 592

Evidence of continuous employment for 8 years after lapse of policy negative total and permanent disability and overrode opinion evidence as to such disability. Tracy v United States (1934, CA2 Conn) 68 F.2d 834

Witness was properly allowed to testify as to entries made in payroll of company which had employed veteran, where books were in official custody of witness, under his supervision, and person who had made entries was dead. McConnell v United States (1936, CA3 Pa) 81 F.2d 639

It was not reversible error for court to receive in evidence, on behalf of defendant, entries in payroll books concerning work and earnings of insured, though witness did not make original entries, where it was shown that one who made original entries was dead. United States v Poe (1936, CA5 Ala) 81 F.2d 799

Work record after lapse of policy prevented finding of total permanent disability before lapse. Russian v United States (1935, DC Pa) 12 F Supp 660

200. Receipt of vocational training

Fact that insured took vocational training after lapse of policy is evidence that he was not totally and permanently disabled when policy lapsed, but it is not conclusive of that fact. United States v Alger (1934, CA9 Idaho) 68 F.2d 592; O'Quinn v United States (1934, CA5 La) 70 F.2d 599; Stephenson v United States (1935, CA8 Mo) 78 F.2d 355

Vocational training is to be weighed with other evidence on issue of total and permanent disability. United States v Worsley (1934, CA10 Utah) 72 F.2d 776

Fact that insured declined vocational training on ground that he was too busy with stock raising was considered as negativing disability. United States v Baker (1934, CA9 Idaho) 73 F.2d 691

In action on war risk insurance policy, for disability benefits, fact of insured's vocational training over long period was inconsistent with theory of total and permanent disability. United States v Nelson (1939, CA8 Ark) 102 F.2d 515, cert den (1939) 308 US 550, 84 L Ed 462, 60 S Ct 81

Vocational training undertaken by veteran does not conclusively negative total permanent disability. United States v Bemis (1939, CA9 Or) 107 F.2d 894

Fact that insured took vocational training in subsequent year did not refute finding of total disability, but evidence of conduct and condition of insured during years following expiration date of policy were relevant on question of his permanent and total disability on that date. United States v Randall (1944, CA2 NY) 140 F.2d 70

201. Miscellaneous

Error of admitting evidence of insured's blindness was harmless where same facts were established by abundant evidence which was properly admitted. United States v Cole (1930, CA6 Ohio) 45 F.2d 339

Cross-examination of plaintiff concerning his activities in bootlegging and dealing in stolen automobiles was harmless in view of testimony of plaintiff. Walters v United States (1933, CA5 Tex) 63 F.2d 299

Defendant can, on cross-examination, bring out facts showing that failure to work is due to lack of necessity and not inability. Jennings v United States (1934, CA5 Ga) 73 F.2d 470

(2). Delay in Instituting Suit on Claim

202. Generally

Delay of 13 years in bringing suit was not insuperable barrier to recovery where suit was not barred by any statute of limitations, but was for consideration with all other evidence. Berry v United States (1941) 312 US 450, 85 L Ed 945, 61 S Ct 637

Long delay in bringing suit on war risk insurance policy was to be taken into consideration by court. United States v Sumner (1934, CA6 Ky) 69 F.2d 770

In determining whether case has been made, delay in bringing suit may be considered, but it has less weight where veteran of meager education is afflicted with incurable brain disease, than where veteran is conscious of his rights during delay. United States v Flippence (1934, CA10 Utah) 72 F.2d 611

In action on war risk insurance policy, insured's delay from 1918 to 1931 in making claim for disability was circumstance to be considered with other evidence, though it was not per se proof of anything. United States v Strawbridge (1944, CA5 Miss) 139 F.2d 1014, cert den (1944) 321 US 797, 78 L Ed 1085, 64 S Ct 937

203. Evidentiary effect of delay

In absence of clear and satisfactory evidence explaining, excusing, or justifying it, petitioner's long delay after lapse of policy before bringing suit is to be taken as strong evidence that he was not totally and permanently disabled before policy lapsed. Lumbra v United States (1934) 290 US 551, 78 L Ed 492, 54 S Ct 272; United States v Spaulding (1935) 293 US 498, 79 L Ed 617, 55 S Ct 273, reh den (1935) 294 US 731, 79 L Ed 1261, 55 S Ct 504

It must affirmatively appear that there is total and permanent disability determinable as of time policy was in force; and petitioner's long delay before bringing suit is to be taken as strong evidence that he was not totally and permanently disabled before policy lapsed. United States v Johnson (1934, CA10 Okla) 70 F.2d 399

Long delay in bringing suit is strong evidence that veteran was not totally and permanently disabled prior to lapse of his policy. Magenton v United States (1935, CA8 SD) 75 F.2d 410; United States v Peet (1937, CA10 Kan) 88 F.2d 597; Roberts v United States (1936, DC Idaho) 17 F Supp 641

There is strong evidentiary presumption that one who was totally and permanently disabled in 1918 would not postpone claim of insurance until 1931. Lawhon v United States (1936, CA10 Okla) 82 F.2d 921

Long delay in making claim causes factual presumption against merit of claim and puts heavier burden on claimant to show clear case. Watts v United States (1938, DC Miss) 24 F Supp 969 (superseded by statute as stated in Farris v State (2004, App) 2004 Miss App LEXIS 1126)

Long delay in bringing suit is not conclusive against plaintiff, but only strong evidence against him. Watts v United States (1938, DC Miss) 24 F Supp 969 (superseded by statute as stated in Farris v State (2004, App) 2004 Miss App LEXIS 1126)

204. -Burden of proof

Insured was under heavy burden of proving disability where insured permitted 10 years to elapse without payment of premiums. Keelen v United States (1933, CA5 La) 65 F.2d 513

Fact that appellee delayed more than 11 years before bringing suit, and that during that time he was engaged in some substantially gainful occupation, puts upon him the burden of proving that he had suffered "total permanent disability" before his policy lapsed. United States v Burns (1934, CA5 Fla) 69 F.2d 636

It was incumbent upon insured to prove with clear and satisfactory evidence that he was disabled while the policy was in force and that such disability would continue where suit was delayed until 13 years after policy lapsed, and during intervening period, except when temporarily suffering from acute attack of his ailment, or taking vocational training, claimant was engaged in substantially gainful employment. O'Quinn v United States (1934, CA5 La) 70 F.2d 599

Long delay in bringing suit casts heavy burden on veteran. United States v Mathis (1936, CA10 Kan) 84 F.2d 451

Mentally and physically disabled veteran could sustain burden of proving he was totally and permanently disabled before lapse of policy, despite long delay in bringing suit. United States v Bodge (1936, CA10 Kan) 85 F.2d 433

205. -Miscellaneous
Facts that insured did not bring suit during the 10 years available to him, and his wife did not sue until two years after his death, in absence of explanation, constituted strong evidence that insured was not totally and permanently disabled before his policy lapsed. United States v Russian (1934, CA3 Pa) 73 F.2d 363

Veteran’s long delay in bringing suit did not uphold his contention of disability. United States v Steadman (1934, CA10 Utah) 73 F.2d 706

In view of insured's work record, and long delay before suit, insured did not sustain burden of proving total and permanent disability before his policy lapsed. Werth v United States (1935, CA4 Va) 75 F.2d 192

Veteran refusing hospitalization and delaying suit did not sustain burden of proving total and permanent disability. United States v Anderson (1935, CA4 SC) 76 F.2d 337

Incipient tuberculosis and bronchitis and asthma, even if of service origin, did not establish total and permanent disability, in view of long delay in bringing suit. United States v Bishop (1937, CA6 Tenn) 90 F.2d 65

In insured's suit on war risk insurance policy for disability benefits, where plaintiff contended that he was totally and permanently disabled while his policy was in force, fact that he made no demands upon government for payment of benefits until twelve years after alleged total and permanent disability was strong evidence against such contention. United States v Fields (1939, CA8 Ark) 102 F.2d 535

Where insured, whose war risk insurance policy expired in August 1918, did not file claim for benefits until in June 1931, his failure to make claim earlier was strong circumstance against his right to recover. United States v Ware (1940, CA5 La) 110 F.2d 739

In action on war risk insurance policy, fact that, for more than ten years after policy lapsed, insured made no claim that he was totally disabled was strong evidence that insured was not totally and permanently disabled prior to lapse of policy. United States v Kusch (1940, CA6 Mich) 110 F.2d 955

Evidence failed to establish that insured was totally and permanently disabled from mental injury sustained during service, where insured signed statement when he was discharged from army that he had no injury or disability, and after his discharge he was not adjudged insane and was able to work at various times, and suit was not brought until about 15 years after lapse of policy. Crouch v United States (1935, DC W Va) 11 F Supp 232

Wait of 10 or 12 years before bringing suit was strong suggestion veteran was not totally and permanently disabled before lapse of policy. Fairbanks v United States (1936, DC Mont) 17 F Supp 550, affd (1937, CA9 Mont) 89 F.2d 949

d. Testimonial Evidence

(1). In General

206. Generally

Objection that question to doctor invaded province of jury was sufficient where question requires witness to give his opinion as to ultimate fact in issue. United States v Sullivan (1935, CA9 Idaho) 74 F.2d 799

Failure to except when similar question had previously been asked, objected to, and objection overruled could not be construed as consent to like testimony preventing objection to its extension. United States v Provost (1935, CA5 Fla) 75 F.2d 190

Answer to question over objection was not prejudicial where witness testified to substantially same thing at another point without objection. United States v Bryan (1936, CA5 La) 82 F.2d 784

207. Testimony as to particular matters
Testimony of insured’s secretary that insured had executed form changing beneficiary of NSLI policy from sister to wife was insufficient to establish effective change, where form was not found in agency file. Watson v United States (1950, CA5 Ga) 185 F.2d 292

Testimony of friends and fellow officers of insured was insufficient to establish change of beneficiary from parents to widow, where no writings in support of testimony had been produced. Cohn v Cohn (1948, App DC) 84 US App DC 218, 171 F.2d 828, cert den (1949) 336 US 962, 93 L Ed 1114, 69 S Ct 892

Serviceman’s widow could testify concerning statements made to her by serviceman concerning his NSLI policy. Dutton v United States (1965, ND Ga) 237 F Supp 670

Evidence in form of insured’s statements as to his intent to change beneficiary and accomplishment of some affirmative act to effect such change was competent and admissible testimony; thus, testimony of military personnel contacted by insured regarding his National Service Life Insurance as to use and effect of certain forms for changing beneficiaries and as to statements made by insured of his intent to change beneficiaries was admissible in evidence. Spaulding v United States (1966, WD Okla) 261 F Supp 232

208. Miscellaneous

Fact that insured, while in employ of railroad company, made false claim that his injury was received from falling from boxcar in order to obtain hospital treatment, was immaterial on question of liability on policy, except on question of his credibility as witness. La Marche v United States (1928, CA9 Wash) 28 F.2d 828

(2). Medical Matters

209. Generally

Failure to call physician to corroborate testimony affects weight but not sufficiency of plaintiff’s evidence where plaintiff’s evidence makes out prima facie case. Hicks v United States (1933, CA4 Va) 65 F.2d 517

Evidence may fail to show claimant is totally and permanently disabled notwithstanding doctor’s opinion. United States v Doublehead (1934, CA10 Okla) 70 F.2d 91

Medical experts cannot properly give opinions as to substantial gainfulness of occupations which insured can follow or testify generally that insured is disabled within definition of policy. United States v Provost (1935, CA5 Fla) 75 F.2d 190

Opinion of physician cannot establish total and permanent disability of insured. United States v Chandler (1935, CA5 Ala) 77 F.2d 452

Whether veteran can continuously follow gainful occupation is not question for expert witness. Rackoff v United States (1935, CA2 NY) 78 F.2d 671

In action on war risk insurance policy for disability benefits, question whether insured became totally and permanently disabled before his policy lapsed was not to be resolved by opinion evidence. United States v Nelson (1939, CA8 Ark) 102 F.2d 515, cert den (1939) 308 US 550, 84 L Ed 462, 60 S Ct 81

210. Admissibility of testimony of physicians

Testimony of physician, who examined insured without intent to create evidence, is properly received. United States v Roberts (1932, CA10 Colo) 62 F.2d 594

Affidavit of physician, who died before trial that he treated insured for tuberculosis was not admissible, in absence of showing that he acted in official capacity in performance of public duty. Seals v United States (1934, CA5 La) 70 F.2d 519; United States v Buck (1934, CA5 Ala) 70 F.2d 1007

Court could not receive opinion of doctor that insured was disabled during life of policy, where opinion was based solely on examination and statements of insured 14 years after lapse of policy. United States v Matory (1934, CA7 Ill) 71 F.2d 798
Requesting from physician opinion as to whether insured was totally and permanently disabled within meaning of insurance policy and during its life was improper. Hamilton v United States (1934, CA5 Ga) 73 F.2d 357

Doctor who examined insured for first time ten years after lapse of policy and examined history of case could testify that in his opinion insured was disabled before lapse of policy. United States v Russian (1934, CA3 Pa) 73 F.2d 363

Opinion evidence was admissible to show veteran's physical condition and ability to work at critical period. United States v Russian (1934, CA3 Pa) 73 F.2d 363

Province of jury is not invaded by opinion of expert where disability is little understood by laymen; test of admissibility is jury's inability to judge for themselves. United States v Bowman (1934, CA10 Utah) 73 F.2d 716

Opinion of doctor as to total and permanent disability of insured should be excluded. United States v National Bank of Commerce (1934, CA9 Wash) 73 F.2d 721; United States v Price (1935, CA5 Ala) 77 F.2d 345

Admission of testimony based upon medical examination made 14 years after time of alleged disability was error. Stephenson v United States (1935, CA8 Mo) 78 F.2d 355

Permitting medical expert to give opinion that insured cannot carry on continuously gainful occupation was reversible error. United States v Harris (1935, CA9 Mont) 79 F.2d 341

Testimony of medical expert that insured was disabled before lapse of policy was incompetent. United States v Noble (1935, CA9 Mont) 79 F.2d 342

Permitting doctor to testify that insured was unable to continuously pursue gainful occupation was error. United States v Sparks (1935, CA7 Ind) 80 F.2d 392

In suit on war risk insurance policy, admission of testimony of expert's interpretation of x-ray of plaintiff's chest without producing x-ray plate was error. Gay v United States (1941, CA7 Ill) 118 F.2d 160

Where records relating to examination of veteran by several government doctors were introduced through one of their number, any expert should be permitted to give his opinion thereon since physician who made original report was not produced for cross-examination. Edmunds v United States (1938, DC Or) 24 F Supp 742, app dismd (1939, CA9 Or) 101 F.2d 1021

Depositions of physicians were properly received in behalf of defendant, as against contention they were superseded by commissioner's summary. Demeter v United States (1933, Dist Col App) 62 App DC 208, 66 F.2d 188

211. Weight of testimony of physicians

Medical opinions that respondent became totally and permanently disabled before policy lapsed were without weight where experts failed to give proper weight to his fitness for naval air service or to work he performed, and misinterpreted "total permanent disability" as used in policy and statute authorizing insurance. United States v Spaulding (1935) 293 US 498, 79 L Ed 617, 55 S Ct 273, reh den (1935) 294 US 731, 79 L Ed 1261, 55 S Ct 504

Opinion of experts which is contrary to physical facts or is obviously false cannot be given weight in determining disability. United States v Hill (1933, CA8 Ark) 62 F.2d 1022

Jury is bound by expert testimony concerning whether condition was incurable on certain date. United States v Wilfore (1933, CA2 Vt) 66 F.2d 255

Testimony of physician that insured was totally and permanently disabled at time of lapse of his policy could not be credited in face of physical facts showing contrary. United States v Donahue (1933, CA8 Minn) 66 F.2d 838
Testimony of physician that cancer of mouth might have existed for more than year before his examination was mere surmise and was not sufficient to support finding of that fact. United States v Rodman (1934, CA4 NC) 68 F.2d 351

Opinion of physician that insured was totally and permanently disabled 11 years before that time, based on what insured told physician few days before trial and on hospital record, could not support finding of that fact. United States v Burns (1934, CA5 Fla) 69 F.2d 636

Doctor's testimony of veteran's disability at time policy lapsed based solely on what veteran told him just prior to trial was devoid of probative value. United States v Burns (1934, CA5 Fla) 69 F.2d 636

Testimony of doctor based entirely on conversation with insured 13 years after lapse of policy could not support finding of total permanent disability before lapse. United States v Doublehead (1934, CA10 Okla) 70 F.2d 91

Testimony of experts did not support finding that insured had encephalitis lethargica during life of policy, where they testified that medical science was as yet unable to say when these germs of disease, if such they were, invade human system and that they could not positively say insured was inflicted with disease at time when policy was in effect and that matter was uncertain. United States v Koskey (1934, CA9 Cal) 71 F.2d 501

Opinion testimony that veteran was totally and permanently disabled, based upon conflicting evidence and departmental definition of total and permanent disability, invaded province of jury and was entitled to no weight. United States v Baker (1934, CA9 Idaho) 73 F.2d 691

Question of weight of certificate of government physician, introduced by plaintiff, that insured was not disabled when discharged from army was for jury. United States v Stephens (1934, CA9 Idaho) 73 F.2d 695

In determining whether there was substantial evidence to sustain verdict in veteran's favor in suit on a war risk insurance policy, expert testimony that insured was totally and permanently disabled would be disregarded. United States v Steadman (1934, CA10 Utah) 73 F.2d 706

Opinion of physician that veteran was totally and permanently disabled was without probative weight. United States v Shashy (1935, CA5 Fla) 75 F.2d 422

Opinions of physicians as to condition of insured 4 years before examination were merely speculative and had little or no probative value. United States v Krueger (1935, CA7 Ind) 77 F.2d 171

Weight of expert's opinion might be affected by his stated definition of "total permanent disability." United States v Frost (1936, CA9 Ariz) 82 F.2d 152

Retroactive diagnoses of medical experts are highly speculative and not proof of disability when refuted by inconsistent acts of veteran. United States v Becker (1936, CA7 Ind) 86 F.2d 818

Testimony of medical men as to extent of veteran's disability is of no value where policy has lapsed. Wilner v United States (1936, CA7 Ill) 87 F.2d 164, cert den (1937) 301 US 683, 81 L Ed 1341, 57 S Ct 783

In action on war risk insurance policy where sole issue submitted to jury by trial court was whether insured was totally and permanently disabled before policy expired, opinion of medical witness was not substantial evidence. United States v Fields (1939, CA8 Ark) 102 F.2d 535

Opinions of medical witnesses that work impaired plaintiff's health was without weight where there was substantial evidence to show he worked with reasonable regularity. Roberts v United States (1936, DC Idaho) 17 F Supp 641

212. Admissibility and weight of testimony of nonexperts

Testimony of insured, not expert, as to permanence of his diabetes had no probative value. United States v Elmore (1934, CA5 Fla) 68 F.2d 551

Lay witness could not testify on matters of opinion and judgment as medical witnesses; but lay witness could testify that insured had night sweats, coughed continuously, could work only a short time without resting, that he continued to expectorate and that he gradually grew weaker.
United States v Monger (1934, CA10 Wyo) 70 F.2d 361

Only expert witnesses could give information on inquiry whether given case of tuberculosis was incipient or had been arrested. United States v McShane (1934, CA10 Colo) 70 F.2d 991, cert den (1934) 293 US 610, 79 L Ed 700, 55 S Ct 141

Cox v United States (1939, CA7 Ill) 103 F.2d 133

Testimony of lay witnesses is not competent upon matters of opinion and is not as weighty as that of medical witnesses, but lay witnesses may testify to actual facts within their knowledge, and when these facts, together with medical testimony, show case of total and permanent disability, plaintiff is entitled to recover. Watts v United States (1938, DC Miss) 24 F Supp 969 (superseded by statute as stated in Farris v State (2004, App) 2004 Miss App LEXIS 1126)

213. Examination of witnesses

Question whether, in opinion of witness, insured is able to engage continuously in any gainful occupation, and answer thereto that he could not, are improper whether witness is lay witness or expert, since this may be invasion of province of jury, but this is harmless in view of other evidence of disability. United States v Sauls (1933, CA4 NC) 65 F.2d 886; Hamilton v United States (1934, CA5 Ga) 73 F.2d 357; United States v Bowman (1934, CA10 Utah) 73 F.2d 716; United States v Sullivan (1935, CA9 Idaho) 74 F.2d 799; Rackoff v United States (1935, CA2 NY) 78 F.2d 671

United States v Young (1934, CA9 Idaho) 73 F.2d 690, cert den (1935) 294 US 714, 79 L Ed 1248, 55 S Ct 512; United States v Steadman (1934, CA10 Utah) 73 F.2d 706; United States v Shashy (1935, CA5 Fla) 75 F.2d 422; Stephenson v United States (1935, CA8 Mo) 78 F.2d 355; United States v Driscoll (1935, CA7 Ind) 80 F.2d 59, cert den (1936) 297 US 719, 80 L Ed 1004, 56 S Ct 599

Physician's opinion as to existence of total and permanent disability is inadmissible when made in response to hypothetical question which was based upon official or policy definition of total and permanent disability, since witness was, in effect, giving his opinion as to whether disability of insured was such as entitled him to benefits under terms of policy. United States v Young (1934, CA9 Idaho) 73 F.2d 690, cert den (1935) 294 US 714, 79 L Ed 1248, 55 S Ct 512; United States v Stephens (1934, CA9 Idaho) 73 F.2d 695; United States v Sullivan (1935, CA9 Idaho) 74 F.2d 799; United States v Provost (1935, CA5 Fla) 75 F.2d 190

Question invaded province of jury where physician was given definition of total and permanent disability contained in policy and asked whether he believed veteran to come within that definition. United States v Sullivan (1935, CA9 Idaho) 74 F.2d 799

Permitting expert to testify as to whether insured could have followed gainful occupation from date of enlistment to date of suit was error where question was so broad as to call for use of common knowledge. United States v Sampson (1935, CA9 Mont) 79 F.2d 131

It is improper to ask doctor what he had seen men doing on his ranch, since this had no bearing on his qualification as expert and was not otherwise relevant. Corrigan v United States (1936, CA9 Idaho) 82 F.2d 106

Questions permitting expert witness to base opinion on the opinions of other experts is improper. Corrigan v United States (1936, CA9 Idaho) 82 F.2d 106

Martinson v United States (1958, DC Minn) 162 F Supp 305

223. Payment of premiums

b. Presumptions and Inferences

225. Competency

 No presumption of incompetency arose from fact that Veterans' Administration [now Department to Veterans Affairs] had waived payment of premiums due to veteran's incompetency, but presumption of competency did arise from veteran's having been declared competent by both Veterans' Administration [now Department to Veterans Affairs] and state court. Wiley v United States (1968, CA10 Okla) 399 F.2d 844

226. Death

 38 USCS § 108, providing that death may be considered as sufficiently proved upon establishing continued and unexplained absence for period of 7 years, does not preclude National Service Life Insurance policy beneficiary seeking to recover proceeds of policy issued to insured, who has been continuously and unexplainably absent for more than 7 years, from introducing evidence from which jury might conclude that insured's presumed death occurred at date earlier than expiration of 7 year period, and at time when policy was still in force, which jury might so conclude if beneficiary can prove allegations concerning insured's frail health and disability or other relevant facts relating to time of his disappearance. Peak v United States (1957) 353 US 43, 1 L Ed 2d 631, 77 S Ct 613

227. Disability

It is presumed that tuberculosis existing after discharge from service was contracted while in service; this presumption does not go to degree or permanency of disability. Mulivrana v United States (1930, CA9 Wash) 41 F.2d 734; Runkle v United States (1930, CA10 Colo) 42 F.2d 804; United States v Le Duc (1931, CA8 Minn) 48 F.2d 789, cert den (1931) 284 US 631, 76 L Ed 537, 52 S Ct 14; United States v Wescoat (1931, CA4 W Va) 49 F.2d 193

There is strong evidentiary presumption that one who was totally and permanently disabled in 1918 would not postpone claim of insurance until 1931. Lawhon v United States (1936, CA10 Okla) 82 F.2d 921

228. Marital relationship

Widow’s relationship with man other than her husband, where shown to be in its inception illicit and meretricious because her husband was then living, raises presumption that it continued to be so even after death of her husband, and to prove common-law remarriage, it is necessary to produce proof overcoming such presumption. Rittgers v United States (1946, CA8 Minn) 154 F.2d 768

Evidence by first wife that she had never received any divorce papers was not sufficient to entitle her to recover proceeds on ground that she was “widow” where she had remarried, and insured had remarried twice and had son, since marriages are presumed valid unless rebutted by convincing evidence. Harsley v United States (1951, App DC) 88 US App DC 150, 187 F.2d 213

Second wife was not entitled to proceeds of policy where she married deceased 21 days after personal service on deceased of divorce action filed by first wife, since service of summons overcame presumption of validity of second marriage. Cavanaugh v United States (1951, DC Mo) 94 F Supp 776

Presumption is raised that woman is lawfully designated beneficiary where insured had designated woman as his lawful wife to be beneficiary of war risk insurance policy, and government finds her to be lawfully designated beneficiary and acting on such finding has for several years paid her monthly installments due on policy. Jones v Gaillard (1941) 241 Ala 571, 4 So 2d 131

230. Generally

230.1. Burden of Proof

Burden is on insured to prove total permanent disability arising during life of policy, but not to prove exact time and place of injury. La Marche v United States (1928, CA9 Wash) 28 F.2d 828

Insured has burden of proving total and permanent disability, and mere fact that he was discharged from service on account of rheumatism is not proof of such disability. Blair v United States (1931, CA8 Ark) 47 F.2d 109

Burden is on insured to show total disability reasonably certain to continue permanently. United States v Russian (1934, CA3 Pa) 73 F.2d 363

Burden of proving total and permanent disability is upon veteran, without regard to administrative ruling on that subject. United States v Knoles (1935, CA8 SD) 75 F.2d 557

231. Commencement of disability during term of policy

Though plaintiff had burden of proving total permanent disability during life of policy, mere failure to prove exact time and place of injury is not fatal where evidence warrants finding that disability existed during life of policy. La Marche v United States (1928, CA9 Wash) 28 F.2d 828

In action based on disability, plaintiff has burden of proving total permanent disability during life of policy. United States v McPhee (1929, CA9 Wash) 31 F.2d 243; United States v Le Duc (1931, CA8 Minn) 48 F.2d 789, cert den (1931) 284 US 631, 76 L Ed 537, 52 S Ct 14; United States v Tyrakowski (1931, CA7 Ill) 50 F.2d 766; Nicolay v United States (1931, CA10 Colo) 51 F.2d 170; Quinn v United States (1932, CA3 Pa) 58 F.2d 19; Walters v United States (1933, CA5 Tex) 63 F.2d 299

Burden is on plaintiff to prove service connection of disabilities, and that such disabilities were total and permanent within life of policy. Quinn v United States (1932, CA3 Pa) 58 F.2d 19

Eggen v United States (1932, CA8 Minn) 58 F.2d 616

In action on contract of war risk term insurance, veteran's burden of proving total and permanent disability from last effective date of such contract was not satisfied by proof that disease in question had its periods of remission during which he could work without injury to himself. Denny v United States (1939, CA7 Ill) 103 F.2d 960

In action on war risk insurance policy, plaintiff must show that before policy lapsed he was totally disabled and that his disability was of permanent character. Adams v United States (1940, CA7 Ill) 116 F.2d 199

232. Disability as precluding substantially gainful employment

Insured has burden of proving physical impairment preventing him from continuously following substantially gainful occupation, and that such impairment is reasonably certain to continue throughout life. United States v Hill (1933, CA8 Ark) 62 F.2d 1022

Where suit was delayed until thirteen years after policy lapsed, and during intervening period, except when temporarily suffering from acute attack of his ailment, or taking vocational training, claimant was engaged in substantially gainful employment, it was incumbent on him to produce clear and satisfactory evidence that he was totally and permanently disabled while policy was in force, and to sustain burden of proof, that impairment was such as to make it, throughout his life, impossible for him to follow with substantial continuity any substantially gainful employment. O'Quinn v United States (1934, CA5 La) 70 F.2d 599

In order to recover under insurance policy, burden is on plaintiff not only to show character and extent of his injury, but also to show that result of injury is to disable him permanently from following any substantially gainful occupation. United States v Bemis (1939, CA9 Or) 107 F.2d 894

One claiming total permanent disability under insurance policy has burden to prove that while policy was in full force and effect he suffered an impairment of mind or body, which continually renders it impossible for him to follow any substantially gainful occupation, and which is founded upon conditions which render it reasonably certain that it will continue throughout life of insured. Dye v United States (1941, CA10 Okla) 123 F.2d 385

233. Termination of disability

Burden is on defendant to establish that disability existing prior to July 4, 1934 did not continue after that date where, in action on war risk insurance policy, jury found that plaintiff became totally permanently disabled on April 5, 1919, and that disability continued until date of entry of judgment, April 11, 1929, and administrator [now Secretary] ordered monthly payments halted on July 4, 1934, because he found that total disability had ended, and plaintiff brought second action to recover for disability which had accrued subsequent to July 4, 1934. Anderson v United States (1942, CA3 Pa) 126 F.2d 169

Government, in its defense of action to recover for total and permanent disability for periods since previous judgment in plaintiff's favor, has burden of affirmatively establishing its contention that plaintiff has, since time previous judgment was rendered, recovered ability to continuously follow gainful occupation. Countee v United States (1942, CA7 Ill) 127 F.2d 761, 142 ALR 1165, cert den (1942) 317 US 628, 87 L Ed 508, 63 S Ct 44

234. Presumptions and inferences

Proof of death or total permanent disability after lapse of policy, resulting from injury or disease existing before lapse is not conclusive that insured was totally and permanently disabled before lapse; and such proof may not even sustain inference of total permanent disability before lapse where proof does not show death or existence of total permanent disability before expiration of several years after lapse of policy. Eggen v United States (1932, CA8 Minn) 58 F.2d 616

Government was entitled to benefit of inference that insured's own testimony would not have aided him in his contention that he was totally and permanently disabled before policy expired where insured was present at trial but did not testify. United States v Fields (1939, CA8 Ark) 102 F.2d 535

On question of disability of insured, all legitimate doubts arising from evidence must be resolved in favor of plaintiff. Putney v United States (1933, DC Colo) 4 F Supp 376

235. Miscellaneous

Insured had burden of proving disability where evidence showed that insured actually engaged in his usual occupation notwithstanding his claim that he suffered from heart disease. United States v Pollock (1934, CA5 Fla) 68 F.2d 633

Widow of veteran had burden of proving that husband's suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis at time of discharge from army resulted in his total and permanent disability. Carey v United States (1934, CA10 Okla) 69 F.2d 766

Beneficiaries had burden of proving dementia praecox existed while policy was in force, that it was permanent and irremediable, and that insured was unable to follow continuously any substantially gainful employment where this mental state was alleged cause of insured's death. United States v Johnson (1934, CA8 Neb) 72 F.2d 614

Petitioner's failure to prove by preponderance of evidence that insured though semi-recluse and acted eccentrically, was totally and permanently disabled, thereby excusing payment of National Service Life Insurance premiums, where record showed decedent had excellent memory, lived alone and cared for himself, traveled alone frequently and drove his car. McNeil v United States (1975, SD Ohio) 392 F Supp 713

To make case of total and permanent disability one for jury, plaintiff must introduce substantial evidence of such disability. United States v Lyle (1931, CA6 Tenn) 54 F.2d 357

Plaintiff must show probability, not mere possibility, that total permanent disability of insured came into existence during life of policy. Meyer v United States (1933, CA5 La) 65 F.2d 509; United States v Sandifer (1935, CA5 La) 76 F.2d 551; United States v McIver (1935, CA4 NC) 77 F.2d 208; United States v Walker (1935, CA5 La) 77 F.2d 415, cert den (1935) 296 US 612, 80 L Ed 434, 56 S Ct 132

Evidence of total permanent disability before lapse of policy must be definite and certain. United States v Anderson (1935, CA4 SC) 76 F.2d 337

237. Clear and convincing evidence

Existence of pre-war disability of veteran was significant in determining post-war disability as caused by varicose condition of one leg, and in such case proof of total and permanent disability must be very clear and convincing. United States v Jones (1934, CA5 Ala) 73 F.2d 376

Plaintiff's case must be established by clear and convincing evidence. United States v Tarrer (1935, CA5 Ga) 77 F.2d 423, cert den (1935) 296 US 574, 80 L Ed 405, 56 S Ct 125

238. Preponderance of evidence

Claimant attempting to recover for death or permanent total disability of insured under veteran's insurance policy had burden of proving such death or disability by preponderance of evidence. United States v Spaulding (1935) 293 US 498, 79 L Ed 617, 55 S Ct 273, reh den (1935) 294 US 731, 79 L Ed 1261, 55 S Ct 504

In action on war risk policy, insured must prove by preponderance of evidence that he became totally and permanently disabled during life of policy, and this burden was not carried by leaving evidence in realm of speculation. Galloway v United States (1942, CA9 Cal) 130 F.2d 467, affd (1943) 319 US 372, 87 L Ed 1458, 63 S Ct 1077, reh den (1943) 320 US 214, 87 L Ed 1851, 63 S Ct 1443

Court or jury could not speculate as to permanence, totality, or date of disability of insured, but must be convinced by slight preponderance, at least, of satisfactory evidence. Putney v United States (1933, DC Colo) 4 F Supp 376

Petitioner failed to prove by preponderance of evidence that insured, though he was a semirecluse and acted eccentrically, was totally and permanently disabled, thereby excusing payment of National Service Life Insurance premiums, where record showed decedent had excellent memory, lived alone and cared for himself, traveled alone frequently and drove his car. McNeil v United States (1975, SD Ohio) 392 F Supp 713

239. Reasonable certainty

Total permanent disability must be shown with reasonable certainty. United States v Elmore (1934, CA5 Fla) 68 F.2d 551

In action on war risk insurance policy for total and permanent disability, it was incumbent upon plaintiff to establish by substantial evidence that insured had, prior to lapse of his policy, suffered such impairment of mind or body as rendered it impossible for him to follow continuously and substantially gainful occupation and rendering it reasonably certain that such impairment would continue through his life. Knapp v United States (1940, CA7 Ill) 110 F.2d 420

4. Determination of Claim

a. In General

240. Generally

In action on war risk policy, neither judge nor jury may credit testimony positively contradicted by physical facts. Roberts v United States (1932, CA10 Colo) 57 F.2d 514; United States v Harth (1932, CA8 Iowa) 61 F.2d 541; United States v Perkins (1933, CA10 Okla) 64 F.2d 243; United States v Hammons (1933, CA10 Okla) 66 F.2d 912; United States v Ingalls (1933, CA10 NM) 67 F.2d 593

Case should not go to jury where physical facts positively contradict statements of witnesses. United States v Hansen (1934, CA9 Idaho) 70 F.2d 230, cert den (1934) 293 US 604, 79 L Ed 695, 55 S Ct 119

Neither jury nor court may credit testimony which is positively contradicted by physical facts. Deadrich v United States (1935, CA9 Nev) 74 F.2d 619

241. Evaluation of evidence

If there are facts tending to establish total and permanent disability, it is ordinarily for jury to consider and weigh them; it is for them to consider and weigh testimony of insured's physical condition, medical and expert opinions as to nature of it, its extent and probable duration, his life history since his injury, and particularly his work record, in light of all other facts and of human experience; if, summed up and counted for all its worth, testimony in favor of insured does not make out case of total and permanent disability, courts must say so, and verdict that it does may not stand. United States v Vineyard (1934, CA5 Ga) 71 F.2d 624, cert den (1934) 293 US 614, 79 L Ed 703, 55 S Ct 141

Weight to be given certificate, stating veteran not to have been disabled at time of his discharge, given by government medical officer and introduced by insured was for jury's determination. United States v Stephens (1934, CA9 Idaho) 73 F.2d 695

242. -Conflicting evidence

Conflicting statements of insured in testimony and at time of discharge from army and application for compensation could not be basis of setting aside finding of jury for plaintiff, since it was question for jury which of inconsistent statements were true. United States v Tyrakowski (1931, CA7 Ill) 50 F.2d 766

Inconsistencies between veteran's application for civilian insurance and his contention of total and permanent disability at trial was for jury to resolve. United States v Bodge (1936, CA10 Kan) 85 F.2d 433

Question was for jury where, in action on war risk policy, evidence as to total and permanent disability of insured at time policy lapsed is contradictory. Walker v United States (1942, CA5 Miss) 130 F.2d 587

In action on war risk policy, where it was shown that insured in his insurance application represented that he had not been ill or contracted any disease or consulted physician in regard to his health between date of his discharge and date of his application, and that in prior application for compensation and disability allowance he had stated that he had certain ailments, but did not say how mild or severe they were or that he had contracted them since date of his discharge, or that he had consulted physician concerning them, conflict, if any, was for jury to resolve; where it was also shown that insured's prior application for compensation and disability allowance had been denied with finding that he had no ailment other than "aortitis, chronic, mild, with good cardiac tolerance," rated less than 25% permanent partial and that such ailment was not incurred in or aggravated by service, whether his statement in his application, filed shortly thereafter, that he had not been ill was false representation was question for jury. United States v Kelley (1943, CA9 Cal) 136 F.2d 823

In action on war risk insurance policy, conflicts in testimony and questions as to credibility of witnesses present issues for jury. United States v Strawbridge (1944, CA5 Miss) 139 F.2d 1014, cert den (1944) 321 US 797, 88 L Ed 1085, 64 S Ct 937

b. Determination of Particular Issues

(1). In General

243. Designation of beneficiary

Jury could find that serviceman has done all that was reasonably necessary to effectuate change of beneficiary of national service life policies from evidence that serviceman executed Record of Emergency Data upon his remarriage, designating his wife as beneficiary of certain servicemen's benefits. Smith v United States (1970, CA5 Ga) 421 F.2d 634, 13 ALR Fed 1

Fact that insured waited 13 years before bringing suit on war risk insurance policy to establish total and permanent disability did not bar his recovery, but was matter for jury to consider in connection with all other evidence in case. Berry v United States (1941) 312 US 450, 85 L Ed 945, 61 S Ct 637

In action on war risk insurance policy, insured's delay in 1918 to 1931 in making claim for disability was circumstance that was properly submitted to jury for consideration with other evidence, though it is not per se proof of anything. United States v Strawbridge (1944, CA5 Miss) 139 F.2d 1014, cert den (1944) 321 US 797, 88 L Ed 1085, 64 S Ct 937

(2). Disability of Claimant

247. Generally

Question of what constitutes total and permanent disability under government insurance policy is question of fact for jury depending upon all attendant circumstances, where facts are in dispute or support different reasonable inferences. Galloway v United States (1943) 319 US 372, 87 L Ed 1458, 63 S Ct 1077, reh den (1943) 320 US 214, 87 L Ed 1851, 63 S Ct 1443

248. Time of commencement of disability

Where insured had progressive disease, so that it was difficult to determine at what time disability became total, it was question for jury to determine whether it became total after reinstatement of policy, even though insured testified his physical condition was same at time of reinstatement as at time of trial. United States v Meyer (1935, CA3 NJ) 76 F.2d 354

Question was for jury whether insured was suffering from disease when discharged, 10 days prior to expiration of policy where veteran, who lived forty-one days after lapse of his war risk insurance, was suffering from encephalitis lethargica, evidence being produced that under different conditions disease was of slow development, or of sudden onset. c. Instructions for Determination of Issues

In action on war risk policy, court must give jury benefit of its view as to facts, leaving to them determination of issue.  Garrison v United States (1932, CA4 SC) 62 F.2d 41

Requested instruction, vague and ambiguous, was properly refused where matter in contemplation was clearly and correctly stated in charge of court.  United States v Rice (1934, CA8 Neb) 72 F.2d 676

Special instruction requested by government which excluded testimony relied on by insured and excepted by general charge was error.  Cohan v United States (1935, CA7 Ill) 77 F.2d 140

Refusal to make requested instructions covered in general charge is not error.  Luke v United States (1936, CA5 Ga) 84 F.2d 823

251. Defenses

Judge should charge on principles applicable to defense of government where he charges at length on plaintiff's theory.  United States v Messinger (1934, CA4 W Va) 68 F.2d 234

252. Burden of proof
Instruction, given on request of plaintiff, that there could be preponderance of evidence and recovery thereon though case was not proved beyond reasonable doubt was harmless. Wilks v United States (1933, CA2 NY) 65 F.2d 775

Instruction on presumption of origin of tuberculosis could be harmless error. United States v Wescoat (1931, CA4 W Va) 49 F.2d 193; United States v Patterson (1931, CA3 Pa) 51 F.2d 922

Instructions requested by plaintiff were properly refused where such instructions omitted qualification that presumption went only to disability, not to extent of disability. Meyer v United States (1933, CA5 La) 65 F.2d 509; Le Blanc v United States (1933, CA5 La) 65 F.2d 514

United States v Garder (1934, CA8 Mo) 72 F.2d 518

254. Determination of disability

Instruction that if insured was totally and permanently disabled at enlistment because of dementia praecox government should recover, but if disease was progressive, and he was only partially disabled at that time, insured should recover was proper. Nall v United States (1934, DC Miss) 8 F Supp 69

Instruction was proper where instruction that if condition of plaintiff at time of previous trial was same as at time of present trial verdict should be returned for plaintiff was coupled with instructions that plaintiff was required to establish permanent total disability from time veterans' administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] claimed he was no longer disabled continuing to date of trial where insured had previously been adjudged disabled. Instruction defining total permanent disability is erroneous where effect is to prevent recovery if any work was possible. Burgoyne v United States (1932, Dist Col App) 61 App DC 97, 57 F.2d 764

255. -Particular infirmities

Edmunds v United States (1938, DC Or) 24 F Supp 742, app dismd (1939, CA9 Or) 101 F.2d 1021

I. Judgment

1. In General

256. Direction of verdict

Court may direct verdict for defendant at close of all evidence notwithstanding plaintiff's evidence in chief makes prima facie case. United States v Ingalls (1933, CA10 NM) 67 F.2d 593

Trial judge should not direct verdict for defendant unless evidence is so conclusive that were verdict rendered for plaintiff, court, in exercise of sound judicial discretion, would be compelled to set it aside. Harris v United States (1934, CA4 Va) 70 F.2d 889

Directed verdict for government is proper where evidence is such that any verdict for plaintiff would be based upon speculation. Boone v United States (1935, CA4 NC) 79 F.2d 702

Each case must be governed by particular facts and circumstances and upon application for directed verdict all undisputed facts favorable to party against whom verdict is asked and all reasonable inferences therefrom are regarded as true. Watts v United States (1938, DC Miss) 24 F Supp 969 (superseded by statute as stated in Farris v State (2004, App) 2004 Miss App LEXIS 1126)

Case was properly submitted to jury where evidence and reasonable inferences therefrom taken most strongly against party asking directed verdict tended to show that insured had become totally and permanently disabled before lapse of policy. Watts v United States (1938, DC Miss) 24 F Supp 969 (superseded by statute as stated in Farris v State (2004, App) 2004 Miss App LEXIS 1126)

Judge should grant defendant's motion for directed verdict where there is no substantial evidence to sustain verdict for plaintiff. United States v Stewart (1932, Dist Col App) 61 App DC 115, 58 F.2d 520; Asher v United States (1933, CA8 Ark) 63 F.2d 20; Hicks v United States (1933, CA4 Va) 65 F.2d 517; United States v Alger (1934, CA9 Idaho) 68 F.2d 592; Odom v United States (1934, CA4 SC) 70 F.2d 104; United States v Russian (1934, CA3 Pa) 73 F.2d 363; Muth v United States (1935, CA4 Md) 78 F.2d 525; Burbage v United States (1935, CA5 Ga) 80 F.2d 683

Verdict should be directed for government in suit to collect benefits for total permanent disability where evidence was not sufficient to support finding that insured was permanently and totally disabled, and no reasonable inference to such effect was justified. Lumbra v United States (1934) 290 US 551, 78 L Ed 492, 54 S Ct 272; United States v Spaulding (1935) 293 US 498, 79 L Ed 617, 55 S Ct 273, reh den (1935) 294 US 731, 79 L Ed 1261, 55 S Ct 504

Instructed verdict for government was proper where insured became totally and permanently disabled after entry into military service, but before application for policies at issue in suit was made, since war risk insurance did not ordinarily cover loss already suffered at time policy was issued. Jordan v United States (1929, CA9 Ariz) 36 F.2d 43, 73 ALR 312

Directed verdict was not proper where evidence makes prima facie case for plaintiff based on disability, and reasonable men might differ as to whether insured was permanently and totally disabled during life of policy. United States v Fritz (1933, CA3 Pa) 66 F.2d 300
Directed verdict for government was proper where evidence showed incipient tuberculosis which was arrested by hospitalization and long delay in bringing suit. Huffman v United States (1934, CA4 Va) 70 F.2d 266

Considering claimant's long delay in bringing suit, court did not err in directing verdict for government. Harris v United States (1934, CA4 Va) 70 F.2d 889

Direction of verdict for government was unavoidable where there was no evidence to show that tuberculosis from which insured died existed during period his policy was in force. Furbee v United States (1934, CA4 W Va) 73 F.2d 190

In view of veteran's long delay in bringing suit and his work record, he failed to sustain burden of proving total and permanent disability, and court should direct verdict for government. Deadrich v United States (1935, CA9 Nev) 74 F.2d 619

In view of veteran's work record, long delay in bringing suit, and statement that his policy has lapsed, court's direction of verdict for government was proper. Foote v United States (1935, CA5 Ga) 80 F.2d 48

Direction of verdict for veteran suffering from mitral stenosis was error in view of his denial of disability in applications for reinstatement of his policy and his work record. United States v Harris (1935, CA7 Ill) 80 F.2d 771

Directed verdict for government was proper where evidence that tubercular veteran was totally disabled prior to lapse of policy is sufficient for jury, but there was no testimony that condition was incurable. United States v Frost (1936, CA9 Ariz) 82 F.2d 152

Disability was not total and verdict for government was properly directed where over period of eight years, veteran was unable to work for periods aggregating about year. Russian v United States (1937, CA3 Pa) 87 F.2d 895, cert den (1937) 301 US 689, 81 L Ed 1346, 57 S Ct 796

Verdict was properly directed for government where, in action on policy of converted war risk insurance, there was evidence that insured at time of trial was suffering from myocarditis or angina pectoris and that inception of this disease antedated lapse of policy, but no evidence that at that time it had reached such stage as to constitute total and permanent disability within meaning of policy. Rodgers v United States (1939, CA4 SC) 104 F.2d 884

Court could refuse to direct verdict for government where substantial evidence, which jury might believe in preference to that contradictory of it, tended to show total permanent disability while policy was in force. United States v Munn (1939, CA5 Ga) 105 F.2d 578

In action on war risk insurance policy, evidence of insured's illness, showing probable origin in influenza, development of pleurisy, and steady decline in health was substantial evidence from which jury might infer that insured had tuberculosis during life of policy and that it was of such character or had reached such stage at that time as to constitute total and permanent disability and preclude direction of verdict for either plaintiff or defendant. United States v Brown (1939, CA4 SC) 107 F.2d 401

Court properly denied motion for directed verdict where there was competent and convincing evidence of plaintiff's disability. Edmunds v United States (1938, DC Or) 24 F Supp 742, app dismd (1939, CA9 Or) 101 F.2d 1021

2. Recovery

258. Generally

Sums paid as premiums are not recoverable where complaint contains no allegations upon which such recovery can be based. United States v Lyke (1927, CA9 Ariz) 19 F.2d 876

Payment of judgment against government on war risk insurance policy was mandated, notwithstanding claimed set-off not reduced to judgment; judgment against government on war risk insurance policy was not immune from set-off statute. Hines v United States (1939) 70 App DC 206, 105 F.2d 85

259. Benefits
Beneficiary can recover no more than installments due at date of intervention in suit on policy. United States v Worley (1930, CA8 Neb) 42 F.2d 197

It was not error for court to award recovery from date of injury rather than date of discharge although, through inadvertence, complainant prayed for recovery from subsequent date. United States v Rye (1934, CA10 Okla) 70 F.2d 150

Proof of disability was condition precedent to recovery of benefits relating back to date not exceeding 6 months prior to receipt of such proof. United States v Meyer (1935, CA3 NJ) 76 F.2d 354

It was error to award payments from date of disability where, under terms of policy contract, total permanent disability benefits might relate back to date not exceeding six months prior to receipt of due proof of said total permanent disability, but where point was not raised and there was stipulation as to date claim was filed, judgment would be corrected in Court of Appeals. United States v Robins (1941, CA5 Miss) 117 F.2d 145

260. -Future installments

Judgment could not be entered against United States for amount of insurance installments maturing after action was instituted by beneficiary, where certificate did not disclose any supplemental petition in respect to such installments. United States v Worley (1930) 281 US 339, 74 L Ed 887, 50 S Ct 291 (superseded by statute as stated in Blue Cross Asso. & Blue Shield Asso. (1989, ASBCA) 89-2 BCA ¶ 21840)

Court should not direct payment of future installments and should not reserve jurisdiction for purpose of directing such payments. United States v Lyke (1927, CA9 Ariz) 19 F.2d 876; United States v Jackson (1929, CA10 Kan) 34 F.2d 241, 73 ALR 316, affd (1930) 281 US 344, 74 L Ed 891, 50 S Ct 294; United States v Andrews (1930, CA10 Colo) 43 F.2d 80

Recovery against United States on war risk insurance policy should not include future installments maturing after action. United States v Andrews (1930, CA10 Colo) 43 F.2d 80

261. Costs

Costs may not be awarded generally against United States, in action on soldier's insurance policy, upon condition that they be paid from accumulated funds in hands of Veterans' Bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs], if any, available for that purpose; rule that courts, in absence of statute directly authorizing it, will not give judgment against United States for costs or expenses is applicable to suits upon government insurance policies. United States v Worley (1930) 281 US 339, 74 L Ed 887, 50 S Ct 291 (superseded by statute as stated in Blue Cross Asso. & Blue Shield Asso. (1989, ASBCA) 89-2 BCA ¶ 21840); United States v Gianakouras (1930, CA6 Ohio) 41 F.2d 521; United States v Martin (1930, CA8 Ark) 42 F.2d 202

Fact that order dismissing action against United States on claim under war risk insurance policy was silent as to costs was not ground for setting order aside at instance of plaintiff, since question of plaintiff's chargeability for costs could be determined by court if attempt was made to tax such costs against him. Burgett v United States (1935, CA7 Ill) 80 F.2d 151, 104 ALR 167

Named beneficiary under national service policy may not recover expenses of litigation from Veterans Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] where it made initial payments of proceeds to beneficiary, but third party thereafter challenged beneficiary's right to proceeds and filed state court suit claiming policy proceeds, which resulted in extensive litigation in state courts as well as administrative proceedings, allegedly exhausting entire amount of proceeds to which beneficiary was ultimately found to be entitled. Smith v United States (1972, CA9 Wash) 460 F.2d 985

Costs incurred by government as defendant, not necessary to trial and determination of plaintiff's right in first instance, cannot be recovered or deducted when judgment is rendered in plaintiff's favor; government has right to require services of its own officers without payment of costs. Bastrop State Bank & Trust Co. v United States (1934, DC La) 7 F Supp 1006

262. Attorney's fees
Attorneys' fees are not limited to 10 percent of installments which became due before decree, but may also include 10 percent of installments to be paid in future. Saunders v United States (1927, CA7 Ill) 22 F.2d 619

Attorney who procured judgment for totally disabled discharged veteran, reinstating national service life policy with premiums waived, was entitled to fee representing percentage of any payments under policy; thus, following attorney's investigation of facts and skillful handling of suit, he was entitled to receive, as his fee, ten per cent of any payments, rather than five per cent allowed by district court. United States v Myers (1954, CA8 Mo) 213 F.2d 223

Award of attorneys' fees of $1,000 did not exceed statutory 10 percent limit merely because plaintiff received only $5,000, where recovery on $10,000 National Service Life Insurance policy was divided between plaintiff and insured's widow pursuant to agreement. United States v Donaldson (1957, CA9 Wash) 246 F.2d 148

10 percent of amount of recovery is maximum award of attorneys' fees, and court may fix award at lower percent. Cotter v United States (1948, DC Md) 78 F Supp 495

Attorney for plaintiffs awarded face value of national service life insurance policy in amount of $10,000 was awarded fee of $500, that sum to be paid over to him by Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs]. Malone v United States Veterans Administration (1973, SD Ohio) 364 F Supp 114

263. Interest

There is nothing in conduct of United States in respect of life and disability insurance from which agreement on its part to pay interest from date any installment may be due can be implied; judgment for plaintiff should not include interest. United States v Worley (1930) 281 US 339, 74 L Ed 887, 50 S Ct 291 (superseded by statute as stated in Blue Cross Asso. & Blue Shield Asso. (1989, ASBCA) 89-2 BCA ¶ 21840); Jackson v United States (1930) 281 US 344, 74 L Ed 891, 50 S Ct 294

Prevailing party is not entitled to recover interest and costs in suit against United States to recover NSLI policy proceeds. Dutton v United States (1965, ND Ga) 237 F Supp 670

J. Appellate Review

1. In General

264. Generally

Court of appeals will not review sufficiency of evidence where defendant does not make motion for directed verdict to sustain verdict for plaintiff at close of evidence. Milleson v United States (1935, CA8 Mo) 78 F.2d 60

Plaintiff cannot assert on appeal that verdict for defendant is contrary to evidence where plaintiff did not make motion for directed verdict at trial. McConnell v United States (1936, CA3 Pa) 81 F.2d 639

Court of appeals has no duty to appraise evidence where, plaintiff made no motion for verdict. Walker v United States (1942, CA5 Miss) 130 F.2d 587

In action on war risk insurance policy by insured's administrator against United States and insured's executrix, order setting aside default entered against individual defendant and allowing her to plead was procedural only and was not appealable final judgment. Kummer v United States (1945, CA6 Mich) 148 F.2d 191

265. Jurisdiction

Supreme Court of United States has no jurisdiction by direct writ of error to review judgment of District Court terminating liability of United States to beneficiary under policy of insurance, but review in first instance must be Circuit Court of Appeals. Crouch v United States (1924) 266 US 180, 69 L Ed 233, 45 S Ct 71
Court of Veteran's Appeal has jurisdiction of veteran's life insurance claims disputes; Congress has created system where claimant who is dissatisfied with agency determination in insurance claim has two possible courses of action—bring suit on claim in U.S. District Court, or appeal to Board of Veterans Appeals and, if dissatisfied with that decision, appeal to Board of Veterans Appeals pursuant to 38 USCS § 7252. Young v Derwinski (1990) 1 Vet App 70

266. Standard of review

It is ordinarily question for jury to say, under appropriate instructions, whether total permanent disability exists, and where there is substantial evidence on which verdict can rest, verdict must be upheld on that issue. United States v Martin (1931, CA5 Tex) 54 F.2d 554, cert den (1932) 286 US 546, 76 L Ed 1282, 52 S Ct 497; United States v Crume (1931, CA5 Tex) 54 F.2d 556

On review of evidence on appeal from judgment on verdict for plaintiff, question is whether there is in record any substantial evidence to support verdict and judgment. United States v Harth (1932, CA8 Iowa) 61 F.2d 541; United States v Harrell (1933, CA10 Okla) 66 F.2d 231; United States v Fancher (1936, CA5 Miss) 84 F.2d 536

Verdict must be upheld on evidence where it accords with any reasonable view of evidence. Keelen v United States (1933, CA5 La) 65 F.2d 513

Verdict of total and permanent disability resting on evidence reasonably tending to prove existence of that condition may not be disturbed. United States v Jones (1934, CA5 Ala) 73 F.2d 376

On appeal from judgment on verdict for plaintiff, court of appeals will view evidence in light most favorable to plaintiff, giving him benefit of such favorable inferences as may be drawn from evidence. United States v Newcomer (1935, CA8 Iowa) 78 F.2d 50

On appeal by defendant from judgment on verdict for plaintiff supported by evidence, court of appeals will not substitute its opinion on evidence for finding of jury. United States v Huddleston (1936, CA7 Ill) 81 F.2d 593

On appeal in action on convertible term insurance policy where general finding in favor of plaintiff covered issue of fraud in making misrepresentation in application for insurance and was equivalent to special finding on that question of fact, evidence and its fair inferences must be viewed in light most favorable to plaintiff. United States v Depew (1938, CA10 Kan) 100 F.2d 725

On review of judgment for plaintiff, it is not function of reviewing court to weigh evidence, but to determine whether judgment is supported by substantial testimony. United States v Nelson (1939, CA8 Ark) 102 F.2d 515, cert den (1939) 308 US 550, 84 L Ed 462, 60 S Ct 81

On review of judgment for plaintiff where question for review is whether, on evidence, trial court should have found issues for appellee, reviewing court must assume as established all facts tending to support claim and there should be drawn in favor of appellee all inferences fairly deductible from such facts. United States v Fields (1939, CA8 Ark) 102 F.2d 535; United States v Fain (1939, CA8 Ark) 103 F.2d 161

In action to recover disability benefits under insurance contract, procedural errors occurring in trial are not sufficient to require reversal unless appellate court is of opinion that such errors affected substantial rights of parties. United States v Barton (1941, CA5 Fla) 117 F.2d 540

Judgment will stand where finding of court without jury that insured was permanently but not totally disabled at time his insurance policy lapsed is not clearly erroneous. Kinney v United States (1943, CA4 NC) 139 F.2d 164

In reviewing case to determine whether there is substantial evidence to support verdict for plaintiff, court of appeals does not review evidence; all conflicts are resolved in favor of verdict, and reviewing court considers only evidence tending to support verdict. Becker v United States (1944, CA7 Ind) 145 F.2d 171

267. -Evidentiary rulings
Admission of evidence not contained in auditor's report was discretionary and not subject to review except for abuse of discretion where suit on war risk insurance policy was heard by auditor, and order of reference contained provision that parties would not be heard to introduce evidence not disclosed before auditor unless good cause for such failure to disclose evidence was shown. Gay v United States (1941, CA7 Ill) 118 F.2d 160

268. -Findings of fact

In determining whether or not finding of trial court was clearly wrong, evidence should be viewed in light most favorable to insured, and all inferences should be drawn in his favor which are fairly deducible from facts. United States v Atchley (1940, CA10 Kan) 116 F.2d 266

269. -Direction of verdict

Direction of verdict for government in action on policy will be sustained if supported by substantial evidence. Britt v United States (1932, CA6 Tenn) 59 F.2d 733

On appeal by plaintiff from judgment for defendant on directed verdict, evidence must be viewed in light most favorable to plaintiff. Odom v United States (1934, CA4 SC) 70 F.2d 104

270. Disposition of case

Court of appeals will remand case for new trial and will not direct judgment to be entered for defendant where judgment for plaintiff is not supported by evidence. Rentfrow v United States (1933, CA10 Okla) 67 F.2d 747

Court of appeals will enter judgment for plaintiff pursuant to jury's verdict where, in action on government insurance policy, defendant moves for judgment notwithstanding verdict solely on ground that evidence so clearly and unmistakably shows that insured was guilty of fraud in procurement of policy in suit as to leave no question for jury to decide, and defendant relies on no error occurring in course of trial and makes no objection to instructions given by court. Edwards v United States (1944, CA6 Tenn) 140 F.2d 526

Case will be remanded to proceed on merits where converted insurance policy lapsed and was reinstated, and unpaid premiums were charged against insurance, and action on such policy based on death of insured was incorrectly decided to have been barred by statute of limitations. Moskowitz v United States (1944, CA5 Ga) 145 F.2d 196

Plaintiff was entitled to another jury trial where jury could not agree as to whether insured had become totally and permanently disabled before policy lapsed for nonpayment of premium. Lynch v United States (1947, CA2 NY) 162 F.2d 987

2. Grounds for Review

a. In General

271. Conduct of trial

Conversation between judge and counsel on question by juror whether vocational training was available was not prejudicial to plaintiff. Whiteside v United States (1929, CA9 Or) 35 F.2d 452

Remarks and hostile attitude of judge against government was prejudicial and ground for reversal. Mason v United States (1933, CA2 VI) 63 F.2d 791

Judge did not err in comment withdrawing effect of declaration of insured at time of discharge that he was in good health, in view of serious disabilities manifestly existing then. United States v Fancher (1936, CA5 Miss) 84 F.2d 306

In action on war risk policy, judge's remark that if written statements of work done by plaintiff while at vocational training, on which he was paid, were false by collusion with supervisor as plaintiff said, supervisor ought to have been indicted, and judge's questions to plaintiff about his testimony that he knew his statement of good health in policy application was false when he made it were not grounds for new trial. Walker v United States (1942, CA5 Miss) 130 F.2d 587
272. Disposition of motion for directed verdict

Where insured's evidence that he was totally and permanently disabled before policy lapsed was controverted in material respects by other evidence, denial of directed verdict for insured was not error. Seals v United States (1934, CA5 La) 70 F.2d 519

It was error to deny directed verdict for government where Plaintiff failed to sustain burden of proving total and permanent disability while policy was in force. United States v Owen (1934, CA5 Ala) 71 F.2d 360

In absence of evidence showing that insured's disability was permanent, it was error to deny motion of government for directed verdict. United States v Gower (1934, CA10 Okla) 71 F.2d 366

Trial court erred in denying government's motion for directed verdict where permanent disability was not shown to have been total. United States v Tate (1935, CA5 La) 75 F.2d 822

In action on war risk insurance policy, where there was no substantial evidence that insured became totally and permanently disabled before policy lapsed, it was error to deny government's motion for directed verdict. United States v Watson (1939, CA4 SC) 107 F.2d 370

273. Award of benefits

It was not error for court to award recovery from date of injury rather than date of discharge although through inadvertence complainant prayed for recovery from subsequent date. United States v Rye (1934, CA10 Okla) 70 F.2d 150

Where under terms of policy contract, total permanent disability benefits might relate back to date not exceeding six months prior to receipt of due proof of said total permanent disability, it was error to award disability benefit payments from date of total permanent disability, found by jury, but where point was not made in lower court and there was stipulation as to date claim was filed, judgment would be corrected in court of appeals. United States v Robins (1941, CA5 Miss) 117 F.2d 145

Ruling requiring plaintiff to elect whether to stand on original policy or reinstated policy was harmless where evidence does not make prima facie case under either. Werth v United States (1935, CA4 Va) 75 F.2d 192

Form of verdict as follows, "We, the jury in the above entitled action, find for the plaintiff, and fix the date of the beginning of his permanent and total disability from," submitted to jury, was not erroneous. Burak v United States (1939, CA9 Wash) 101 F.2d 137, cert den (1939) 308 US 595, 84 L Ed 498, 60 S Ct 126

In action in federal court, there was no error in permitting witness to refresh his memory from letter written by him on February 15, 1922, relative to examination of insured which he made on February 8, 1920, or in requiring government to produce it for that purpose. United States v Smith (1941, CA9 Or) 117 F.2d 911

b. Evidentiary Rulings

275. Admission of evidence

Admission of evidence in behalf of beneficiary that 13-year-old boy could have done work which insured did during disability was harmless error. United States v Phillips (1930, CA8 Mo) 44 F.2d 689

Statement made by insured concerning his disability was erroneously admitted in behalf of beneficiary where there was no showing that it was res gestae or expression of his feeling, but error was harmless. United States v Phillips (1930, CA8 Mo) 44 F.2d 689

Court erroneously received opinion of doctor that insured was disabled during life of policy, where opinion was based solely on examination and statements of insured 14 years after lapse of policy. United States v Matory (1934, CA7 Ill) 71 F.2d 798
Admission of testimony based upon medical examination made 14 years after time of alleged disability was error. Stephenson v United States (1935, CA8 Mo) 78 F.2d 355

Permitting expert to testify as to whether insured could have followed gainful occupation from date of enlistment to date of suit was error where question was so broad as to call for use of common knowledge. United States v Sampson (1935, CA9 Mont) 79 F.2d 131

Permitting medical expert to give opinion that insured could not carry on continuously gainful occupation was reversible error. United States v Harris (1935, CA9 Mont) 79 F.2d 341

Permitting doctor to testify that insured was unable to continuously pursue gainful occupation was error. United States v Sparks (1935, CA7 Ind) 80 F.2d 392

It was not reversible error for court to receive in evidence, on behalf of defendant, entries in payroll books concerning work and earnings of insured, though witness did not make original entries, where it was shown that one who made the original entries was dead. United States v Poe (1936, CA5 Ala) 81 F.2d 799

Permitting medical witnesses to testify that veteran was totally and permanently disabled at time of their examination of him and for many years prior thereto was prejudicial error. United States v Craig (1936, CA7 Ind) 83 F.2d 361

276. Exclusion of evidence

Court erroneously excluded opinion of physician that insured could not carry on gainful occupation from November 1918 until his death. Runkle v United States (1930, CA10 Colo) 42 F.2d 804

Court erred in refusing to receive testimony that insured complained of pain immediately after discharge from navy, but exclusion of testimony as to pain and complaints of pain was harmless error in view of testimony given by another witness and in view of failure of evidence as whole to establish permanency of disability. Proechel v United States (1932, CA8 Minn) 59 F.2d 648, cert den (1932) 287 US 658, 77 L Ed 568, 53 S Ct 122

Court erred in refusing to permit plaintiff, in order to negative effect of work record, to show by opinion of doctor that insured's diseases impaired his ability to perform duties of farmer and that performance of duties of farmer would be injurious to insured. Corrigan v United States (1936, CA9 Idaho) 82 F.2d 106

Court erred in refusing to allow introduction of hospital records into evidence and in denying motion to subpena witnesses for purpose of proving stated records where original beneficiary sought to show that deceased lacked mental capacity to change beneficiary. Pritchett v Etheridge (1949, CA5 Tex) 172 F.2d 822

Ruling that report of physical examination of veteran spoke for itself was not error. Milleson v United States (1935, CA8 Mo) 78 F.2d 60

In view of Federal Rules of Civil Procedure Rule 15(b), court properly treats issue of fraud as if it had been raised by pleadings where, in action on government life insurance policy, leave to file amended answer setting out that insured made false statements in his application was denied, but at trial application was admitted in evidence without objection and also evidence that some of answers therein were false; issue of fraud, though not raised by pleadings, was tried by implied consent of parties. United States v Cushman (1943, CA9 Cal) 136 F.2d 815, cert den (1943) 320 US 786, 88 L Ed 473, 64 S Ct 194

c. Instructions to Jury

278. Generally

It was not reversible error to give instruction where there was no evidence in case to which instruction objected to would have been related. Burak v United States (1939, CA9 Wash) 101 F.2d 137, cert den (1939) 308 US 595, 84 L Ed 498, 60 S Ct 126
279. Denial
Refusal to make requested instructions covered in general charge was not error. Luke v United States (1936, CA5 Ga) 84 F.2d 823

280. Tender of instruction
Plaintiff cannot complain on appeal where plaintiff made no exception to instructions given on request of defendant. Meyer v United States (1933, CA5 La) 65 F.2d 509

Failure to except to instruction given on request of defendant defeats allegation of error in instruction. Taylor v United States (1934, CA5 Ala) 71 F.2d 76

281. Miscellaneous
Instruction, given on request of plaintiff, that there could be preponderance of evidence and recovery thereon though case was not proved beyond reasonable doubt was harmless. Wilks v United States (1933, CA2 NY) 65 F.2d 775

Instruction barring recovery if insured could follow gainful employment at cost of pain and suffering was erroneous. United States v Harless (1935, CA4 W Va) 76 F.2d 317

Instruction that paralysis agitans was totally and permanently disabling as matter of law was reversible error. United States v Coward (1935, CA4 SC) 76 F.2d 875

Judge erred in giving instruction, requested by defendant, excluding evidence of insured's condition after, which evidence included examinations by physicians on which physicians based opinions as to condition before lapse of policy. Cohan v United States (1935, CA7 Ill) 77 F.2d 140

Instruction ignoring days of grace for payment of premiums was not reversible error where theory of trial was that injury and disability occurred several years before lapse. Rackoff v United States (1935, CA2 NY) 78 F.2d 671

Instruction that evidence showed total permanent disability was not reversible error, in view of nature of exception of defendant and failure to point out error and seek correction. United States v Fancher (1936, CA5 Miss) 84 F.2d 306

   3. -Refusal of additional coverage
   4. -Denial of application for reinstatement
   5. -Forfeiture

1. Generally
Though allowance of compensation was for bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs], court had jurisdiction where controversy arose upon question of allowance and collection. Hollrich v United States (1931, DC Idaho) 49 F.2d 445

Finality of decisions of Administrator [now Secretary] of Veterans Affairs is applicable where United States, in reliance on Administrator's [now Secretary's] decision, is seeking affirmative judgment for recovery of money, as well as where judicial review of decisions of Administrator [now Secretary] is sought against United States. United States v Crockett (1958, DC Me) 158 F Supp 460

2. Claims on policies
In action on war risk policy, court had jurisdiction to determine right of insured to compensation claimed to have been due him when his policy lapsed for nonpayment of premiums, but allowance of such compensation was matter for veterans' bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs]. United States v Hendrickson (1931, CA10 NM) 53 F.2d 797

Although finding of bureau [now Department] as to insured's right to compensation bound court, effect of such finding as reinstatement of policy was matter for court to determine, as was also question as to whether insured was, or was not, at time, dead or totally and permanently disabled. United States v Ellison (1935, CA4 W Va) 74 F.2d 864, cert den (1935) 295 US 750, 79 L Ed 1695, 55 S Ct 829

Federal District Court had jurisdiction to review Administrator's [now Secretary's] determination denying claim for proceeds of NSLI policy brought under 38 USCS § 722 [now 38 USCS § 1922] by mother of son who committed suicide shortly after leaving service and who had not applied for policy, as her complaint set forth "claim under contract" as that phrase is used in 38 USCS § 784 [now 38 USCS § 1984] and also fell within language of 38 USCS § 785 [now 38 USCS § 1985] providing for review of "other appropriate court proceedings". Clark v United States (1973, CA8) 482 F.2d 586, 32 ALR Fed 777

Federal court did not have jurisdiction of complaint to recover proceeds of policy which Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] refused to issue to partially disabled navy veteran, since suit was not on "contract of insurance." Skovgaard v United States (1953, App DC) 92 US App DC 70, 202 F.2d 363, cert den (1953) 345 US 994, 97 L Ed 1401, 73 S Ct 1134, reh den (1953) 346 US 842, 98 L Ed 362, 74 S Ct 15
Federal district court did not have jurisdiction to review decisions of Administrator [now Secretary] of Veterans Affairs involving payments under Servicemen's Indemnity Act. Ford v United States (1955, DC Ga) 135 F Supp 95, affd (1956, CA5 Ga) 230 F.2d 533

Question of distribution of unpaid portion of insurance money must be decided in first instance by United States veterans' bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs]. In re Greiner's Estate (1928) 195 Wis 332, 218 NW 437

3. -Refusal of additional coverage

Under 38 USCS § 784 [now 38 USCS § 1984], District Court had jurisdiction over claim that Administrator's [now Secretary's] refusal to issue extended coverage to holder of effective national service life insurance policy was arbitrary and capricious. Salyers v United States (1964, CA5 Fla) 326 F.2d 623

Predecessor to 38 USCS § 1984 did not give District Court jurisdiction over claim based on refusal to issue extended coverage, even though valid policy of insurance existed, since claim actually constitutes request for new insurance. Birge v United States (1953, DC Okla) 111 F Supp 685

Court had no jurisdiction under 38 USCS § 784 to entertain action by beneficiary of deceased veteran's national service life insurance policy based on rejection of policyholder's application for additional insurance. McClendon v United States (1971, WD Okla) 327 F Supp 704

4. -Denial of application for reinstatement

Decision of Director of United States Veterans' Bureau [now Department of Veterans Affairs] that applicant for reinstatement of lapsed insurance policy issued under the War Risk Insurance Act of October 6, 1917, 40 Stat at L 398, chap 105, at time of making application, was totally and permanently disabled, was not subject to review by courts. Meadows v United States (1930) 281 US 271, 74 L Ed 852, 50 S Ct 279, 73 ALR 310

Predecessor to 38 USCS § 1984 did not confer jurisdiction on federal court over action based on denial of application for reinstatement of NSLI policy, since claim was to compel issuance of policy, rather than under existing contract. United States v Fitch (1950, CA10 NM) 185 F.2d 471; Ginelli v United States (1950, DC Mass) 94 F Supp 874; Rowan v United States (1953, DC Pa) 115 F Supp 503, affd (1954, CA3 Pa) 211 F.2d 237

Although Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] had determined that no policy was in existence, District Court had jurisdiction under predecessor to 38 USCS § 1984 over claim for benefits of national service life insurance policy where serviceman had made application for such policy more than 3 years prior to his death, premiums on policy had been deducted from his pay for period between receipt of application by Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] and serviceman's disability discharge for leukemia condition, and Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] notified claimant of rejection of original application after serviceman's death from leukemia. Gamez v United States (1951, DC Tex) 95 F Supp 656

38 USCS § 784 did not provide District Court with jurisdiction over action for benefits of national service life insurance policy, where Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] disapproved application for such policy, even though veterans' check for premium was cashed prior to disapproval and veteran died prior to disapproval of application, since suit amounted to action to compel issuance of policy. Maxwell v United States (1970, ND Cal) 313 F Supp 245

No action lay where veteran made application for additional insurance which was denied because of nonservice-connected disability because there was no contract for additional insurance and no action lies in attempt to compel United States to be insurer. McClendon v United States (1971, WD Okla) 327 F Supp 704

5. -Forfeiture
38 USCS § 784 [now 38 USCS § 1984] requires that there be contract of insurance in force in order to vest jurisdiction in District Court, precluding jurisdiction of action based on Administrator's [now Secretary's] decision that veteran, due to false and fraudulent statements, had forfeited eligibility for disabled veterans' insurance. McKay v United States (1968, SD Tex) 286 F Supp 1003

§ 1986. Deposits in and disbursements from trust funds

All cash balances in the United States Government Life Insurance Fund and the National Service Life Insurance Fund on January 1, 1959, together with all moneys thereafter accruing to such funds, including premiums, appropriated moneys, the proceeds of any sales of investments which may be necessary to meet current expenditures, and interest on investments, shall be available for disbursement for meeting all expenditures and making investments authorized to be made from such funds.

§ 2012. Per diem payments

(a) Per diem payments for furnishing services to homeless veterans.
(1) Subject to the availability of appropriations provided for such purpose, the Secretary, pursuant to such criteria as the Secretary shall prescribe, shall provide to a recipient of a grant under section 2011 of this title [38 USCS § 2011] (or an entity eligible to receive a grant under that section which after November 10, 1992, establishes a program that the Secretary determines carries out the purposes described in that section) per diem payments for services furnished to any homeless veteran--

(A) whom the Secretary has referred to the grant recipient (or entity eligible for such a grant); or

(B) for whom the Secretary has authorized the provision of services.

(2) (A) The rate for such per diem payments shall be the daily cost of care estimated by the grant recipient or eligible entity adjusted by the Secretary under subparagraph (B). In no case may the rate determined under this paragraph exceed the rate authorized for State homes for domiciliary care under subsection (a)(1)(A) of section 1741 of this title [38 USCS § 1741], as the Secretary may increase from time to time under subsection (c) of that section.

No per diem payment may be provided to a grant recipient or eligible entity under this section unless the facilities of the grant recipient or eligible entity meet such standards as the Secretary shall prescribe.

(c) Life Safety Code.
(1) Except as provided in paragraph (2), a per diem payment may not be provided under this section to a grant recipient or eligible entity unless the facilities of the grant recipient or eligible entity, as the case may be, meet applicable fire and safety requirements under the Life Safety Code of the National Fire Protection Association or such other comparable fire and safety requirements as the Secretary may specify.
(2) During the five-year period beginning on the date of the enactment of this section [enacted Dec. 21, 2001], paragraph (1) shall not apply to an entity that received a grant under section 3 of the Homeless Veterans Comprehensive Service Programs Act of 1992 (Public Law 102-590; 38 U.S.C. 7721 note) before that date if the entity meets fire and safety requirements established by the Secretary.

§ 2106. Veterans' mortgage life insurance

(a) The United States shall automatically insure any eligible veteran age 69 or younger who is or has been granted assistance in securing a suitable housing unit under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 2101 et seq.] against the death of the veteran unless the veteran (1) submits to the Secretary in writing the veterans' election not to be insured under this section, or (2) fails to respond in a timely manner to a request from the Secretary for information on which the premium for such insurance can be based.

(b) The amount of insurance provided a veteran under this section may not exceed the lesser of $90,000 or the amount of the loan outstanding on the housing unit. The amount of such insurance shall be reduced according to the amortization schedule of the loan and may not at any time exceed the amount of the outstanding loan with interest. If there is no outstanding loan on the housing unit, insurance is not payable under this section. If an eligible veteran elects not to be insured under this section, the veteran may thereafter be insured under this section, but only upon submission of an application, payment of required premiums, and compliance with such health requirements and other terms and conditions as may be prescribed by the Secretary.

(c) The premiums charged a veteran for insurance under this section shall be paid at such time and in such manner as the Secretary prescribes. The rates for such premiums shall be based on such mortality data as the Secretary considers appropriate to cover only the mortality cost of insuring standard lives. In the case of a veteran receiving compensation or other cash benefits paid to the veteran by the Secretary, the Secretary shall deduct from such compensation or other benefits the premiums charged the veteran under this section.

(d) (1) The United States shall bear the costs of insurance under this section to the extent that such costs exceed premiums established by the Secretary. Premiums collected on insurance under this section shall be credited to the "Veterans Insurance and Indemnities" appropriation account, and all disbursements of insurance proceeds under this section shall be made from that account.
(2) There are authorized to be appropriated to the Secretary for such account such amounts as may be necessary to carry out this section.

(e) Any amount of insurance in force under this section on the date of the death of an eligible veteran insured under this section shall be paid to the holder of the mortgage loan, for payment of which the insurance was granted, for credit on the loan indebtedness. Any liability of the United States under such insurance shall be satisfied when such payment is made. If the Secretary is the holder of the mortgage loan, the insurance proceeds shall be credited to the loan indebtedness and deposited in the Veterans Housing Benefit Program Fund established by section 3722 of this title [38 USCS § 3722].

(f) The Secretary may prescribe such regulations relating to eligibility for insurance under this section, the maximum amount of insurance, the effective date of insurance, the maximum duration of insurance, and other pertinent matters not specifically provided for in this section as the Secretary determines are in the best interest of veterans or the United States.

(g) The amount of the insurance in force at any time shall be the amount necessary to pay the mortgage indebtedness in full, except as otherwise limited by subsection (b) of this section or regulations prescribed by the Secretary under this section.

(h) The Secretary shall issue to each veteran insured under this section a certificate setting forth the benefits to which the veteran is entitled under the insurance.

(i) Insurance under this section shall terminate upon whichever of the following events first occurs:
   (1) Satisfaction of the veteran's indebtedness under the loan upon which the insurance is based.
   (2) Termination of the veteran's ownership of the property securing the loan.
   (3) Discontinuance of payment of premiums by the veteran.

(j) Termination of life insurance under this section shall not affect the guaranty or insurance of the loan by the Secretary.

1988. Act May 20, 1988 (effective as provided by § 333(b) of such Act, which appears as a note to this section) substituted this section for one which read:

"§ 806. Mortgage Protection Life Insurance

"(a) The Administrator is authorized, without regard to section 3709 of the Revised Statutes, as amended (41 U.S.C. 5), to purchase from one or more life insurance companies a policy or policies of mortgage protection life insurance on a group basis to provide the benefits specified in this section.

"(b) Any policy of insurance purchased by the Administrator under this section shall be placed in effect on a date determined by the Administrator and shall automatically insure any eligible veteran who is or has been granted assistance in securing a suitable housing unit under this chapter against the death of the veteran, unless the veteran elects in writing not to be insured under this section or fails to timely respond to a request from the Administrator for information on which the veteran's premium can be based.

"(c) The initial amount of insurance provided hereunder shall not exceed the lesser of the following amounts: (1) $40,000, (2) the amount of the loan outstanding on such housing unit on the date insurance under this section is placed in effect, or (3) in the case of a veteran granted assistance in securing a housing unit on or after such date the amount of the original loan. The amount of such insurance shall be reduced according to the amortization schedule of the loan and at no time shall exceed the amount of the outstanding loan with interest. If there is no outstanding loan on the housing unit no insurance shall be payable hereunder. If any eligible veteran elects not to be insured under this section, the veteran may thereafter be insured hereunder only upon application, payment of required premiums, and compliance with such health requirements and other terms and conditions as may be prescribed by the Administrator.

"(d) The premium rates charged a veteran for insurance under this section shall be paid at such times and in such manner as the Administrator shall prescribe and shall be based on such mortality data as the Administrator deems appropriate to cover only the mortality cost of insuring standard lives. The Administrator is authorized and directed to deduct the premiums charged veterans for life insurance under this section from any compensation or other cash benefits payable to them by the Veterans' Administration and to pay such premiums to the insurer or insurers for such insurance. Any veterans insured hereunder not eligible for cash benefits from the Veterans' Administration may pay the amount of the veteran's premiums directly to the insurer or insurers for insurance hereunder.

"(e) The United States shall bear all of the cost of the insurance provided under this section except the amount of the premium rates established for eligible veterans under subsection (d) as the mortality cost of insuring standard lives. For each month for which any eligible veteran is insured under a policy purchased under this section there shall be contributed to the insurer or insurers issuing the policy or policies from the appropriation 'Compensation and Pensions, Veterans' Administration' an amount necessary to cover the cost of the insurance in excess of the premiums established for eligible veterans, including the cost of administration and the cost of the excess mortality attributable to the veterans' disabilities. Appropriations to carry out the purposes of this section are hereby authorized.

"(f) Any amount of insurance in force under this section on the date of death of an eligible veteran insured hereunder shall be paid only to the holder of the mortgage loan, the payment of which such insurance was granted, for credit on the loan indebtedness and the liability of the insurer under such insurance shall be satisfied when such payment is made. If the Administrator is the holder of the mortgage loan, the insurance proceeds shall be credited to the loan indebtedness and, as appropriate, deposited in either the direct loan or loan guaranty revolving fund established by section 1823 or 1824 of this title, respectively.

"(g) Each policy purchased under this section shall also provide, in terms approved by the Administrator, for the following:

"(1) reinsurance, to the extent and in a manner to be determined by the Administrator to be in the best interest of the veterans or the Government, with other insurers which meet qualifying criteria established by the Administrator as may elect to participate in such reinsurance.
“(2) that at any time the Administrator determines such action to be in the best interest of veterans or the Government the Administrator may (A) discontinue the entire policy, or (B) at the Administrator's option, exclude from coverage under such policy loans made after a date fixed by the Administrator for such purpose; however, any insurance previously issued to a veteran under such policy may not be canceled by the insurer solely because of termination of the policy by the Administrator with respect to new loans. If the policy is wholly discontinued, the Administrator shall have the right to require the transfer, to the extent and in a manner to be determined by the Administrator, to any new company or companies with which the Administrator has negotiated a new policy or policies, the amounts, as determined by the existing insurer or insurers with the concurrence of the Administrator of any policy or contingency reserves with respect to insurance previously in force:

“(3) issuance of each veteran insured under this section of a uniform type of certificate setting forth the benefits to which the veteran is entitled under the insurance;

“(4) any other provisions which are reasonably necessary or appropriate to carry out the provisions of this section; and

“(5) an accounting to the Administrator not later than ninety days after the end of each policy year which shall set forth, in a form approved by the Administrator, (A) the amount of premiums paid by veterans and contributions made by the Veterans' Administration accrued under the contract or agreement from its date of issue to the end of such contract year; (B) the total of all mortality and other claim charges incurred for that period; and (C) the amount of the insurer's expense and risk charges, if any, for that period. Any excess of the total item (A) over the sum of items (B) and (C) shall be held by the insurer as a contingency reserve to be used by such insurer for charges under the contract or agreement only. The contingency reserve shall bear interest at a rate to be determined in advance of each contract year by the insurer, which rate shall be approved by the Administrator if consistent with the rates generally used by the insurer for similar funds held under plans of group life insurance. If and when the Administrator determines that such contingency reserve has attained an amount estimated by the Administrator to make satisfactory provision for adverse fluctuations in future charges under the contract, the Administrator shall require the insurer to adjust the premium rates and contributions so as to prevent any further substantial accretions to the contingency reserve. If and when the contract or agreement is discontinued and if after all charges have been made there is any positive balance remaining in the contingency reserve, such balance shall be payable to the Administrator and by him deposited to the appropriation 'Compensation and Pensions, Veterans' Administration,' subject to the right of the insurer to make such payment in equal monthly installments over a period of not more than two years.

“(h) With respect to insurance contracted for under this section, the Administrator is authorized to adopt such regulations relating to eligibility of the veteran for insurance, maximum amount of insurance, maximum duration of insurance, and other pertinent factors not specifically provided for in this section, which in the Administrator's judgment are in the best interest of veterans or the Government. Insurance contracted for under this section shall take effect as to eligible veterans heretofore granted assistance under this chapter on a date determined by the Administrator, and as to eligible veterans hereafter granted assistance under this chapter at the time of the closing of the veteran's loan. The amount of the insurance at any time shall be the amount necessary to pay the mortgage indebtedness in full, except as otherwise limited by the policy.

Discussion and Analysis in the Veterans Benefits Manual

(a) In the case of a deceased veteran--

(1) who at the time of death was in receipt of compensation (or but for the receipt of retirement pay would have been entitled to compensation) or was in receipt of pension, or

(2) who was a veteran of any war or was discharged or released from the active military, naval, or air service for a disability incurred or aggravated in line of duty, whose body is held by a State (or a political subdivision of a State), and with respect to whom the Secretary determines--

(A) that there is no next of kin or other person claiming the body of the deceased veteran, and

(B) that there are not available sufficient resources to cover burial and funeral expenses,

For the purpose of this subsection, the term "veteran" includes a person who died during a period deemed to be active military, naval, or air service under section 106(c) of this title [38 USCS § 106(c)].

No claim shall be allowed (1) for more than the difference between the entire amount of the expenses incurred and the amount paid by any or all of the foregoing, or (2) when the burial allowance would revert to the funds of a public or private organization or would discharge such an organization's obligation without payment. The burial allowance or any part thereof shall not be paid in any case where specific provision is otherwise made for payment of expenses of funeral, transportation, and interment under any other Act.

cvivDiscussion and Analysis in the Veterans Benefits Manual

Applications for payments under section 2302 of this title [38 USCS § 2302] must be filed within two years after the burial of the veteran. If the burial allowance was not payable at the death of the veteran because of the nature of the veteran's discharge from the service, but after the veteran's death the veteran's discharge has been corrected by competent authority so as to reflect a discharge from the service under conditions other than dishonorable, then the burial allowance may be paid if a claim is filed within two years from the date of correction of the discharge. If a claimant's application is incomplete at the time it is originally submitted, the Secretary shall notify the applicant of the evidence necessary to complete the application. If such evidence is not received within one year from the date of such notification, no allowance may be paid.

(b) An individual described in this subsection is an individual who is--
(1) enrolled in an approved program of education that leads to employment in a high technology occupation in a high technology industry (as determined pursuant to regulations prescribed by the Secretary); and
(2) charged tuition and fees for the program of education that, when divided by the number of months (and fractions thereof) in the enrollment period, exceeds the amount equal to 200 percent of the monthly rate of basic educational assistance allowance otherwise payable to the individual under section 3015 of this title [38
USCS § 3015].

(c) (1) The amount of the accelerated payment of basic educational assistance made to an individual making an election under subsection (a) for a program of education shall be the lesser of--

(A) the amount equal to 60 percent of the established charges for the program of education; or
(B) the aggregate amount of basic educational assistance to which the individual remains entitled under this chapter at the time of the payment.

(2) In this subsection, the term "established charges", in the case of a program of education, means the actual charges (as determined pursuant to regulations prescribed by the Secretary) for tuition and fees which similarly circumstanced nonveterans enrolled in the program of education would be required to pay. Established charges shall be determined on the following basis:

(A) In the case of an individual enrolled in a program of education offered on a term, quarter, or semester basis, the tuition and fees charged the individual for the term, quarter, or semester.
(B) In the case of an individual enrolled in a program of education not offered on a term, quarter, or semester basis, the tuition and fees charged the individual for the entire program of education.

accelerated payment by the full-time monthly rate of basic educational assistance allowance otherwise payable to the individual under section 3015 of this title [38 USCS § 3015] as of the beginning date of the enrollment period for the program of education for which the accelerated payment is made.
(2) If the monthly rate of basic educational assistance allowance otherwise payable to an individual under section 3015 of this title [38 USCS § 3015] increases during the enrollment period of a program of education for which an accelerated payment of basic educational assistance is made under this section, the charge to the individual's entitlement to basic educational assistance under this chapter shall be determined by prorating the entitlement chargeable, in the matter provided for under paragraph (1), for the periods covered by the initial rate and increased rate, respectively, in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary.

(f) The Secretary may not make an accelerated payment under this section for a program of education to an individual who has received an advance payment under section 3680(d) of this title [38 USCS § 3680(d)] for the same enrollment period.

(g) The Secretary shall prescribe regulations to carry out this section. The regulations shall include requirements, conditions, and methods for the request, issuance, delivery, certification of receipt and use, and recovery of overpayment of an accelerated payment under this section.

bonus does not affect the eligibility of that individual for an increase under paragraph (1) in the rate of the basic educational assistance allowance applicable to that individual, and the Secretary concerned may provide such an increase for that individual (and enter into an agreement with that individual that the United States agrees to make payments pursuant to such an increase) without regard to any provision of law (enacted before, on, or after the date of the enactment of this paragraph [enacted Oct. 17, 1998]) that limits the authority to make such payments.

(1) an amount equal to $5 for each $20 contributed by such individual under section 3011(e) or 3012(f) of this title [38 USCS § 3011(e) or 3012(f)], as the case may be, for an approved program of education pursued on a full-time basis; or
(2) an appropriately reduced amount based on the amount so contributed, as determined under regulations which the Secretary shall prescribe, for an approved program of education pursued on less than a full-time basis.

(a) In the case of an individual entitled to educational assistance under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3001 et seq.] who is pursuing a program of education--

(1) while on active duty; or

(2) on less than a half-time basis,

the amount of the monthly educational assistance allowance payable to such individual under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3001 et seq.] is the amount determined under subsection (b) of this section.

(b) The amount of the educational assistance allowance payable to an individual described in subsection (a) of this section is the least of the following: (1) the amount of the educational assistance allowance otherwise payable to such individual under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3001 et seq.], (2) the established charges for tuition and fees that the educational institution involved requires similarly circumstanced nonveterans enrolled in the same program to pay, or (3) the amount of the charges of the educational institution elected by the individual under section 3014(b)(1) of this title [38 USCS § 3014(b)(1)].

(c) (1) Except as provided in paragraph (2) of this subsection, the amount of the monthly educational assistance allowance payable to an individual pursuing a full-time program of apprenticeship or other on-job training under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3001 et seq.] is--

(A) for each of the first six months of the individual's pursuit of such program, 75 percent of the monthly educational assistance allowance otherwise payable to such individual under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3001 et seq.];

(B) for each of the second six months of the individual's pursuit of such program, 55 percent of such monthly educational assistance allowance; and

(C) for each of the months following the first 12 months of the individual's pursuit of such program, 35 percent of such monthly educational assistance allowance.

(2) In any month in which an individual pursuing a program of education consisting of a program of apprenticeship or other on-job training fails to complete 120 hours of training, the amount of monthly educational assistance allowance payable under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3001 et seq.] to the individual shall be limited to the same proportion of the applicable rate determined under paragraph (1) of this subsection as the number of hours worked during such month, rounded to the nearest eight hours, bears to 120 hours.

(3) (A) Except as provided in subparagraph (B) of this paragraph, for each month that an individual is paid a monthly educational assistance allowance under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3001 et seq.], the individual's entitlement under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3001 et seq.] shall be charged at the rate of--

(i) 75 percent of a month in the case of payments made in accordance with paragraph (1)(A) of this subsection;

(B) For purposes of this paragraph, the term "established charge" means the lesser of--

(i) the charge for the course or courses determined on the basis of the lowest extended time payment plan offered by the institution and approved by the appropriate State approving agency; or

(ii) the actual charge to the individual for such course or courses.

(2) Such allowance shall be paid quarterly on a pro rata basis for the lessons completed by the individual and serviced by the institution.
(3) In each case in which the rate of payment to an individual is determined under paragraph (1) of this subsection, the period of entitlement of such individual under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3001 et seq.] shall be charged at the rate of one month for each payment of educational assistance to the individual that is equal to the amount of monthly educational assistance the individual would otherwise be eligible to receive for full-time pursuit of an institutional course under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3001 et seq.].

(e) (1) Notwithstanding subsection (a) of this section, each individual who is pursuing a program of education consisting exclusively of flight training approved as meeting the requirements of section 3034(d) of this title [38 USCS § 3034(d)] shall be paid an educational assistance allowance under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3001 et seq.] in the amount equal to 60 percent of the established charges for tuition and fees which similarly circumstanced nonveterans enrolled in the same flight course are required to pay.

(2) No educational assistance allowance may be paid under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3001 et seq.] to an individual for any month during which such individual is pursuing a program of education consisting exclusively of flight training until the Secretary has received from that individual and the institution providing such training a certification of the flight training received by the individual during that month and the tuition and other fees charged for that training.

(3) The number of months of entitlement charged in the case of any individual for a program of education described in paragraph (1) of this subsection shall be equal to the number (including any fraction) determined by dividing the total amount of educational assistance paid such individual for such program by the monthly rate of educational assistance which, except for paragraph (1) of this subsection, such individual would otherwise be paid under subsection (a)(1), (b)(1), (d), or (e)(1) of section 3015 of this title [38 USCS § 3015], as the case may be.

(f) (1) Subject to paragraph (3), the amount of educational assistance payable under this chapter for a licensing or certification test described in section 3452(b) of this title [38 USCS § 3452(b)] is the lesser of $2,000 or the fee charged for the test.

(2) The number of months of entitlement charged in the case of any individual for such licensing or certification test is equal to the number (including any fraction) determined by dividing the total amount of educational assistance paid such individual for such test by the full-time monthly institutional rate of educational assistance which, except for paragraph (1), such individual would otherwise be paid under subsection (a)(1), (b)(1), (d), or (e)(1) of section 3015 of this title [38 USCS § 3015], as the case may be.

course credit at institutions of higher learning described in section 3452(b) of this title [38 USCS § 3452(b)] is the amount of the fee charged for the test.

(2) The number of months of entitlement charged in the case of any individual for a test described in paragraph (1) is equal to the number (including any fraction) determined by dividing the total amount of educational assistance paid such individual for such test by the full-time monthly institutional rate of educational assistance, except for paragraph (1), such individual would otherwise be paid under subsection (a)(1), (b)(1), (d), or (e)(1) of section 3015 of this title [38 USCS § 3015], as the case may be.

1. Generally

Fees charged by state or political subdivision, in connection with licensing trainee to engage in particular occupation, are payable as reasonable incidents of rehabilitation of trainee necessary to make him employable, and cost of transportation to required examination for license is payable as incident of program to attain employability; other fees required by law as condition to practice of profession are exactions conditioning practice of profession or vocation, as distinguished from preparation for admission to practice, and are not payable as part of training expense; fees and other charges prescribed by nongovernment organizations rather than by law such as labor union initiation fees and union membership dues which are incident to placement training are payable, provided there are no facilities for necessary training available without paying such charges as necessary incident of training; but union initiation fees and membership dues required to begin work following completion of training are not payable as necessary part of preparation for employment. 1944 ADVA 557

§ 3103. Periods of eligibility cxixDiscussion and Analysis in the Veterans Benefits Manual

(a) Except as provided in subsection (b), (c), or (d) of this section, a rehabilitation program may not be afforded to a veteran under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3100 et seq.] after the end of the twelve-year period beginning on the date of such veteran's discharge or release from active military, naval, or air service.
(b) (1) In any case in which the Secretary determines that a veteran has been prevented from participating in a vocational rehabilitation program under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3100 et seq.] within the period of eligibility prescribed in subsection (a) of this section because a medical condition of such veteran made it infeasible for such veteran to participate in such a program, the twelve-year period of eligibility shall not run during the period of time that such veteran was so prevented from participating in such a program, and such period of eligibility shall again begin to run on the first day following such veteran's recovery from such condition on which it is reasonably feasible, as determined under regulations which the Secretary shall prescribe, for such veteran to participate in such a program.

(2) In any case in which the Secretary determines that a veteran has been prevented from participating in a vocational rehabilitation program under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3100 et seq.] within the period of eligibility prescribed in subsection (a) of this section because--
   (A) such veteran had not met the requirement of a discharge or release from active military, naval or air service under conditions other than dishonorable before (i) the nature of such discharge or release was changed by appropriate authority, or (ii) the Secretary determined, under regulations prescribed by the Secretary, that such discharge or release was under conditions other than dishonorable, or
   (B) such veteran's discharge or dismissal was, under section 5303 of this title [38 USCS § 5303], a bar to benefits under this title before the Secretary made a determination that such discharge or dismissal is not a bar to such benefits, the twelve-year period of eligibility shall not run during the period of time that such veteran was so prevented from participating in such a program.

(3) In any case in which the Secretary determines that a veteran has been prevented from participating in a vocational rehabilitation program under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3100 et seq.] within the period of eligibility prescribed in subsection (a) of this section because such veteran had not established the existence of a service-connected disability rated at 10 percent or more, the twelve-year period of eligibility shall not run during the period such veteran was so prevented from participating in such a program.

(c) In any case in which the Secretary determines that a veteran is in need of services to overcome a serious employment handicap, such veteran may be afforded a vocational rehabilitation program after the expiration of the period of eligibility otherwise applicable to such veteran if the Secretary also determines, on the basis of such veteran's current employment handicap and need for such services, that an extension of the applicable period of eligibility is necessary for such veteran and--
   (1) that such veteran had not previously been rehabilitated to the point of employability;
   (2) that such veteran had previously been rehabilitated to the point of employability but (A) the need for such services had arisen out of a worsening of such veteran's service-connected disability that precludes such veteran from performing the duties of the occupation for which such veteran was previously trained in a vocational rehabilitation program under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3100 et seq.], or (B) the occupation for which such veteran had been so trained is not suitable in view of such veteran's current employment handicap and capabilities; or
(3) under regulations which the Secretary shall prescribe, that an extension of the period of eligibility of such veteran is necessary to accomplish the purposes of a rehabilitation program for such veteran.

(d) In any case in which the Secretary has determined that a veteran's disability or disabilities are so severe that the achievement of a vocational goal currently is not reasonably feasible, such veteran may be afforded a program of independent living services and assistance in accordance with the provisions of section 3120 of this title [38 USCS § 3120] after the expiration of the period of eligibility otherwise applicable to such veteran if the Secretary also determines that an extension of the period of eligibility of such veteran is necessary for such veteran to achieve maximum independence in daily living.

(e) In any case in which the Secretary has determined that a veteran was prevented from participating in a vocational rehabilitation program under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3100 et seq.] within the period of eligibility otherwise prescribed in this section as a result of being ordered to serve on active duty under section 688, 12301(a), 12301(d), 12301(g), 12302, or 12304 of title 10 [10 USCS § 688, 12301(a), 12301(d), 12301(g), 12302, or 12304], such period of eligibility shall not run for the period of such active duty service plus four months.

§ 3105. Duration of rehabilitation programs

(a) In any case in which the Secretary is unable to determine whether it currently is reasonably feasible for a veteran to achieve a vocational goal, the period of extended evaluation under section 3106(c) of this title [38 USCS § 3106(c)] may not exceed twelve months, except that such period may be extended for additional periods of up to six months each if the Secretary determines before granting any such extension that it is reasonably likely that, during the period of any such extension, a determination can be made whether the achievement of a vocational goal is reasonably feasible in the case of such veteran.

(b) Except as provided in subsection (c) of this section, the period of a vocational rehabilitation program for a veteran under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3100 et seq.] following a determination of the current reasonable feasibility of achieving a vocational goal may not exceed forty-eight months, except that the counseling and placement and postplacement services described in section 3104(a)(2) and (5) of this title [38 USCS § 3104(a)(2) and (5)] may be provided for an additional period not to exceed eighteen months in any case in which the Secretary determines the provision of such counseling and services to be necessary to accomplish the purposes of a rehabilitation program in the individual case.

(c) The Secretary may extend the period of a vocational rehabilitation program for a veteran to the extent that the Secretary determines that an extension of such period is necessary to enable such veteran to achieve a vocational goal if the Secretary also determines--

(1) that such veteran had previously been rehabilitated to the point of employability but (A) such veteran's need for further vocational rehabilitation has arisen out of a worsening of such veteran's service-connected disability that precludes such veteran from performing the duties of the occupation for which such veteran had been so rehabilitated, or (B) the occupation for which such veteran had been so rehabilitated is not suitable in view of such veteran's current employment handicap and capabilities; or

(2) under regulations which the Secretary shall prescribe, that such veteran has a serious employment handicap and that an extension of such period is necessary to accomplish the purposes of a rehabilitation program for such veteran.

(d) Unless the Secretary determines that a longer period is necessary and likely to result in a substantial increase in a veteran's level of independence in daily living, the period of a program of independent living services and assistance for a veteran under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3100 et seq.] (following a determination by the Secretary that such veteran's disability or disabilities are so severe that the achievement of a vocational goal currently is not reasonably feasible) may not exceed twenty-four months.

(e) (1) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter or chapter 36 of this title [38 USCS §§ 3100 et seq. or §§ 3670 et seq.], any payment of a subsistence allowance and other assistance described in paragraph (2) shall not--

(A) be charged against any entitlement of any veteran under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3100 et seq.]; or

(B) be counted toward the aggregate period for which section 3695 of this title [38 USCS § 3695] limits an individual's receipt of allowance or assistance.

(2) The payment of the subsistence allowance and other assistance referred to in paragraph (1) is the payment of such an allowance or assistance for the period described in paragraph (3) to a veteran for participation in a vocational rehabilitation program under this chapter if the Secretary finds that the veteran had to suspend or discontinue participation in such vocational rehabilitation program as a result of being ordered to serve on active duty under section 688, 12301(a), 12301(d), 12301(g), 12302, or 12304 of title 10 [10 USCS § 688, 12301(a), 12301(d), 12301(g), 12302, or 12304].

(3) The period for which, by reason of this subsection, a subsistence allowance and other assistance is not charged against entitlement or counted toward the applicable aggregate period under section 3695 of this title [38 USCS § 3695] shall be the period of participation in the vocational rehabilitation program for which the veteran failed to receive credit or with respect to which the veteran lost training time, as determined by the Secretary.

§ 3106. Initial and extended evaluations; determinations regarding serious employment handicap

(a) The Secretary shall provide any veteran who has a service-connected disability rated at 10 percent or more and who applies for benefits under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3100 et seq.] with an initial evaluation consisting of such services described in section 3104(a)(1) of this title [38 USCS § 3104(a)(1)] as are necessary (1) to determine whether such veteran is entitled to and eligible for benefits under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3100 et seq.], and (2) in the case of a veteran who is determined to be entitled to an eligible for such benefits, to determine--

(A) whether such veteran has a serious employment handicap, and
(B) whether the achievement of a vocational goal currently is reasonably feasible for such veteran if it is reasonably feasible to make such determination without extended evaluation.

(b) In any case in which the Secretary has determined that a veteran has a serious employment handicap and that the achievement of a vocational goal currently is reasonably feasible for such veteran, such veteran shall be provided an individualized written plan of vocational rehabilitation developed under section 3107(a) of this title [38 USCS § 3107(a)].

(c) In any case in which the Secretary has determined that a veteran has a serious employment handicap but the Secretary is unable to determine, in an initial evaluation pursuant to subsection (a) of this section, whether or not the achievement of a vocational goal currently is reasonably feasible, such veteran shall be provided with an extended evaluation consisting of the services described in section 3104(a)(1) of this title [38 USCS § 3104(a)(1)], such services under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3100 et seq.] as the Secretary determines necessary to improve such veteran's potential for participation in a program of services designed to achieve a vocational goal and enable such veteran to achieve maximum independence in daily living, and assistance as authorized by section 3108 of this title [38 USCS § 3108].

(d) In any case in which the Secretary has determined that a veteran has a serious employment handicap and also determines, following such initial and any such extended evaluation, that achievement of a vocational goal currently is not reasonably feasible, the Secretary shall determine whether the veteran is capable of participating in a program of independent living services and assistance under section 3120 of this title [38 USCS § 3120].

(e) The Secretary shall in all cases determine as expeditiously as possible whether the achievement of a vocational goal by a veteran currently is reasonably feasible. In the case of a veteran provided extended evaluation under subsection (c) of this section (including any periods of extensions under section 3105(a) of this title [38 USCS § 3105(a)]), the Secretary shall make such determination not later than the end of such extended evaluation or period of extension, as the case may be. In determining whether the achievement of a vocational goal currently is reasonably feasible, the Secretary shall resolve any reasonable doubt in favor of determining that such achievement currently is reasonably feasible.
(f) In connection with each period of extended evaluation of a veteran and each rehabilitation program for a veteran who is determined to have a serious employment handicap, the Secretary shall assign a Department of Veterans Affairs employee to be responsible for the management and followup of the provision of all services (including appropriate coordination of employment assistance under section 3117 of this title [38 USCS § 3117]) and assistance under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3100 et seq.] to such veteran.

(2) With respect to the fiscal year beginning on October 1, 1994, the Secretary shall provide a percentage increase in the monthly rates payable under paragraph (1) of this subsection equal to the percentage by which the Consumer Price Index (all items, United States city average published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics) for the 12-month period ending June 30, 1994, exceeds such Consumer Price Index for the 12-month period ending June 30, 1993.

(3) With respect to any fiscal year beginning on or after October 1, 1995, the Secretary shall continue to pay, in lieu of the rates payable under paragraph (1) of this subsection, the monthly rates payable under this subsection for the previous fiscal year and shall provide, for any such fiscal year, a percentage increase in such rates equal to the percentage by which--

(A) the Consumer Price Index (all items, United States city average) for the 12-month period ending on June 30 preceding the beginning of the fiscal year for which the increase is made, exceeds

(B) such Consumer Price Index for the 12-month period preceding the 12-month period described in subparagraph (A).

(c) (1) In any case in which the vocational rehabilitation program for a veteran includes training on the job by an employer in any month, such employer shall be required to submit to the Secretary a statement in writing showing any wage, compensation, or other income paid (directly or indirectly) by the employer to such veteran for such month. Based upon such written statement, the Secretary is authorized to reduce the subsistence allowance of such veteran to an amount considered equitable and just in accordance with criteria which the Secretary shall establish in regulations which the Secretary shall prescribe.

(2) A veteran pursuing on-job training or work experience as part of a vocational rehabilitation program in a Federal, State, or local government agency or federally recognized Indian tribe under the provisions of section 3115(a)(1) of this title [38 USCS § 3115(a)(1)] without pay or for nominal pay shall be paid the appropriate subsistence allowance rate provided in subsection (b) of this section for an institutional program.

(d) (1) The Secretary shall, in accordance with regulations which the Secretary shall prescribe, define full-time and each part-time status for veterans participating in rehabilitation programs under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3100 et seq.].

(2) A veteran participating in extended evaluation on less than a full-time basis may be paid a proportional subsistence allowance in accordance with regulations which the Secretary shall prescribe.

(e) In any case in which a veteran is pursuing a rehabilitation program on a residential basis in a specialized rehabilitation facility, the Secretary may (1) pay to such facility the cost of such veteran's room and board in lieu of payment to such veteran of the subsistence allowance (not including any portion payable for any dependents) payable under subsection (b) of this section, and (2) pay to such veteran that portion of the allowance for dependents payable, as determined by such veteran's dependency status, under subsection (b) of this section for a full-time institutional program.

(f) (1) (A) In any case in which the Secretary determines that a veteran is eligible for and entitled to rehabilitation under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3100 et seq.], to the extent that such veteran has remaining eligibility for and entitlement to educational assistance benefits under chapter 30 of this title [38 USCS §§ 3001 et seq.], such veteran may elect, as part of a vocational rehabilitation program under this chapter, to pursue an approved program of education and receive allowances and other forms of assistance equivalent to those authorized for veterans enrolled under chapter 30 of this title [38 USCS §§ 3001 et seq.], if the Secretary approves the educational, professional, or vocational objective chosen by such veteran for such program.

(B) In the event that such veteran makes such an election, the terms and conditions applicable to the pursuit of a comparable program of education and the payment of allowances and provision of assistance under chapter 30 of this title [38 USCS §§ 3001 et seq.] for such a comparable program shall be applied to the pursuit of the approved program of education under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3100 et seq.].

(2) A veteran who is receiving an allowance pursuant to paragraph (1) of this subsection may not receive any of the services or assistance described in section 3104(a)(3), (7), and (8) of this title [38 USCS § 3104(a)(3), (7), and (8)] (other than an allowance and other assistance under this subsection).
(g) (1) Notwithstanding any other provision of this title and subject to the provisions of paragraph (2) of this subsection, no subsistence allowance may be paid under this section in the case of any veteran who is pursuing a rehabilitation program under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3100 et seq.] while incarcerated in a Federal, State, or local penal institution for conviction of a felony.

(2) Paragraph (1) of this subsection shall not apply in the case of any veteran who is pursuing a rehabilitation program under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3100 et seq.] while residing in a halfway house or participating in a work-release program in connection with such veteran's conviction of a felony.

(h) Notwithstanding any other provision of this title, the amount of subsistence allowance, or other allowance under subsection (f) of this section, that may be paid to a veteran pursuing a rehabilitation program for any month for which such veteran receives compensation at the rate prescribed in section 1114(j) of this title [38 USCS § 1114(j)] as the result of hospital treatment (not including post-hospital convalescence) or observation at the expense of the Department of Veterans Affairs may not exceed, when added to any compensation to which such veteran is entitled for such month, an amount equal to the greater of--

(1) the sum of--

(A) the amount of monthly subsistence or other allowance that would otherwise be paid to such veteran under this section, and

(B) the amount of monthly compensation that would be paid to such veteran if such veteran were not receiving compensation at such rate as the result of such hospital treatment or observation; or

(2) the amount of monthly compensation payable under section 1114(j) of this title [38 USCS § 1114(j)].

(i) Payment of a subsistence allowance may be made in advance in accordance with the provisions of section 3680(d) of this title [38 USCS § 3680(d)].

§ 3120. Program of independent living services and assistance

(a) The Secretary may, under contracts with entities described in subsection (f) of this section, or through facilities of the Veterans Health Administration, which possess a demonstrated capability to conduct programs of independent living services for severely handicapped persons, provide, under regulations which the Secretary shall prescribe, programs of independent living services and assistance under this chapter, in various geographic regions of the United States, to veterans described in subsection (b) of this section.

(b) A program of independent living services and assistance may be made available under this section only to a veteran who has a serious employment handicap resulting in substantial part from a service-connected disability described in section 3102(1)(A)(i) of this title [38 USCS § 3102(1)(A)(i)] and with respect to whom it is determined under section 3106(d) or (e) of this title [38 USCS § 3106(d) or (e)] that the achievement of a vocational goal currently is not reasonably feasible.

(d) A program of independent living services and assistance for a veteran shall consist of such services described in section 3104(a) and (b) of this title [38 USCS § 3104(a) and (b)] as the Secretary determines necessary to enable such veteran to achieve maximum independence in daily living. (e) Programs of independent living services and assistance shall be initiated for no more than 2,500 veterans in each fiscal year, and the first priority in the provision of such programs shall be afforded to veterans for whom the reasonable feasibility of achieving a vocational goal is precluded solely as a result of a service-connected disability.

(f) Entities described in this subsection are (1) public or nonprofit agencies or organizations, and (2) for-profit entities in cases in which the Secretary determines that services comparable in effectiveness to services available from such an entity are not available, or cannot be obtained cost-effectively from, public or nonprofit agencies or through facilities of the Veterans Health Administration.

(3) Payment of benefits under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3201 et seq.] may be made only for periods of time during which an eligible veteran is actually enrolled in and pursuing an approved program of education and, except as provided in paragraph (4), only after an eligible veteran has been discharged or released from active duty.

(4) Payment of benefits under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3201 et seq.] may be made after a participant has completed his or her first obligated period of active duty (which began after December 31, 1976), or 6 years of active duty (which began after December 31, 1976), whichever period is less.

(B) The payment of an educational assistance allowance referred to in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph is any payment of a monthly benefit under this chapter to an eligible veteran for pursuit of a course or courses under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3201 et seq.] if the Secretary finds that the eligible veteran--

(i) in the case of a person not serving on active duty, had to discontinue such course pursuit as a result of being ordered, in connection with the Persian Gulf War to serve on active duty under section 688, 12301(a), 12301(d), 12301(g), 12302, or 12304 of title 10 [10 USCS § 688, 12301(a), 12301(d), 12301(g), 12302, or 12304]; or

(a) (1) Except as provided in paragraphs (2) and (3), and subject to paragraph (4), of this subsection, educational assistance benefits shall not be afforded an eligible veteran under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3201 et seq.] more than 10 years after the date of such veteran's last discharge or release from active duty.

(2) (A) If any eligible veteran was prevented from initiating or completing such veteran's chosen program of education during the delimiting period determined under paragraph (1) of this subsection because of a physical or mental disability which was not the result of such veteran's own willful misconduct, such veteran shall, upon application made in accordance with subparagraph (B) of this paragraph, be granted an extension of the applicable delimiting period for such length of time as the Secretary determines, from the evidence, that such veteran was so prevented from initiating or completing such program of education.

(B) An extension of the delimiting period applicable to an eligible veteran may be granted under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph by reason of the veteran's mental or physical disability only if the veteran submits an application for such extension to the Secretary within one year after (i) the last date of the delimiting period otherwise applicable to the veteran under paragraph (1) of this subsection, or (ii) the termination date of the period of the veteran's mental or physical disability, whichever is later.

(4) For purposes of paragraph (1) of this subsection, a veteran's last discharge or release from active duty shall not include any discharge or release from a period of active duty of less than 90 days of continuous service unless the individual involved is discharged or released for a service-connected disability, for a medical condition which preexisted such service and which the Secretary determines is not service connected, for hardship, or as a result of a reduction in force as described in section 3011(a)(I)(A)(ii)(III) of this title [38 USCS § 3011(a)(I)(A)(ii)(III)].

1. Generally

2. Constitutionality

3. Purpose

4. Applicability

1. Generally

State law, which excludes from state benefits honorably discharged conscientious objector who is eligible for federal educational benefits under provisions of 38 USCS §§ 1651 et seq., 1661 et seq. [now 38 USCS §§ 3451, et seq., 3461 et seq.], is invalid as state legislation, effect of which would be to frustrate congressional intention and to produce result diametrically opposed to those sought by federal law, and cannot stand, particularly in absence of showing of any present or future compelling state interest. Reynolds v Dukakis (1977, DC Mass) 441 F Supp 646

2. Constitutionality

Statutory scheme restricting educational benefits under Veterans' Readjustment Benefits Act of 1966 (38 USCS 1651-1697 [now 38 USCS §§ 3451-3497]) to veterans who served on active duty, thus denying benefits to conscientious objectors who performed required alternative civilian service, does not violate such conscientious objectors' First Amendment rights of free exercise of religion, since (1) withholding of educational benefits involved, at most, only incidental burden on free exercise of religion by conscientious objectors, (2) Act was enacted pursuant to Congress' powers under Article 1, § 8, of Constitution to advance neutral, secular governmental interests of enhancing military service and aiding readjustment to civilian life of military personnel who served on active duty, and (3) conscientious objectors who performed alternative civilian service were excluded not because of any legislative design to interfere with their free exercise of religion, but because to include them would not rationally promote Act's purposes-government's substantial interest in raising and supporting armies being of kind and weight clearly sufficient to sustain challenged legislation; although statutory scheme restricting educational benefits under Veterans' Readjustment Benefits Act of 1966 (38 USCS §§ 1651-1697 [now 38 USCS §§ 3451-3497]) to veterans who served on active duty, thus denying benefits to conscientious objectors who performed required alternative civilian service, would violate such conscientious objectors' Fifth Amendment due process rights, incorporating equal protection principles, if exclusion of such conscientious objectors was product of vindictive policy to punish them for adhering to their beliefs, nevertheless there is nothing to indicate that exclusion was product of such policy, and thus statutory scheme is not unconstitutional on such ground. Johnson v Robison (1974) 415 US 361, 39 L Ed 2d 389, 94 S Ct 1160 (criticized in Hall v United States Dep't Veterans' Affairs (1996, CA11 Fla) 85 F.3d 532, 9 FLW Fed C 1171) and (superseded by statute as stated in Menendez v United States (1999, DC Puerto Rico) 67 F Supp 2d 42)
Legislation to make service in the armed forces more attractive by extending educational benefits to veterans is within Congress' power to raise and support armies under Article 1, § 8, of Constitution. Johnson v Robison (1974) 415 US 361, 39 L Ed 2d 389, 94 S Ct 1160 (criticized in Hall v United States Dep't Veterans' Affairs (1996, CA11 Fla) 85 F.3d 532, 9 FLW Fed C 1171) and (superseded by statute as stated in Menendez v United States (1999, DC Puerto Rico) 67 F Supp 2d 42)

3. Purpose

Purpose of Veterans' Readjustment Benefits Act of 1966 (38 USCS 1651-1697 [now 38 USCS §§ 3451-3497]) is not primarily to eliminate the educational gaps between persons who served their country and those who did not, but rather is to compensate for the disruption that military service causes to civilian lives; the aim of the Act is to assist those who served on active duty in the armed forces to readjust to civilian life. Johnson v Robison (1974) 415 US 361, 39 L Ed 2d 389, 94 S Ct 1160 (criticized in Hall v United States Dep't Veterans' Affairs (1996, CA11 Fla) 85 F.3d 532, 9 FLW Fed C 1171) and (superseded by statute as stated in Menendez v United States (1999, DC Puerto Rico) 67 F Supp 2d 42)

4. Applicability

Commissioned Corps of Public Health Service was not within purview of Veterans' Readjustment Assistance Act of 1952 (38 USCS § 1651 et seq. [now 38 USCS § 3451 et seq.]), but members of Commissioned Corps of Public Health Service, detailed by proper authority for duty with Army, Navy, or Coast Guard, were members of such forces and, while on such detailed service, were within definition of "armed forces" under former 38 USC § 911; members of Commissioned Corps of Public Health Service in active service outside continental limits of United States or in Alaska in time of war who would otherwise be entitled to full military benefits on account of such service were not within purview of Veterans' Readjustment Assistance Act of 1952, unless such service was performed as member of, or on detail to, Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard of United States. 1952 ADVA 919

(b) The term "program of education" means any curriculum or any combination of unit courses or subjects pursued at an educational institution which is generally accepted as necessary to fulfill requirements for the attainment of a predetermined and identified educational, professional, or vocational objective. Such term also means any unit course or subject, or combination of courses or subjects, pursued by an eligible veteran at an educational institution, required by the Administrator of the Small Business Administration as a condition to obtaining financial assistance under the provisions of section 7(i)(1) of the Small Business Act (15 U.S.C. 636(i)(1)). Such term also includes licensing or certification tests, the successful completion of which demonstrates an individual's possession of the knowledge or skill required to enter into, maintain, or advance in employment in a predetermined and identified vocation or profession, provided such tests and the licensing or credentialing organizations or entities that offer such tests are approved by the Secretary in accordance with section 3689 of this title [38 USCS § 3689]. Such term also includes any course, or combination of courses, offered by a qualified provider of entrepreneurship courses. Such term also includes any private entity (that meets such requirements as the Secretary may establish) that offers, either directly or under an agreement with another entity (that meets such requirements), a course or courses to fulfill requirements for the attainment of

Flight training school cannot recover from government difference between what veteran was paid in educational benefits under 38 USCS §§ 1651 et seq. [now 38 USCS §§ 3451 et seq.] and total cost of training, where Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] mistakenly certified veteran for more months of entitlement than he was due and paid him based on actual entitlement after course was completed, since VA was without statutory authority to certify longer entitlement than veteran was due and had no power to pay larger amount in educational benefits. 2. Constitutionality

In determining whether Fifth Amendment equal protection is denied by statutory scheme restricting educational benefits under Veterans' Readjustment Benefits Act of 1966 (38 USCS 1651-1697 [38 USCS §§ 3451-3497]) to veterans who served on active duty, thus denying benefits to conscientious objectors who performed required alternative civilian service, statutory classification will not be subjected to strict scrutiny rather than traditional rational basis test, since (1) challenged classification does not violate right to free exercise of religion by conscientious objectors, and (2) class of conscientious objectors is not suspect class deserving special judicial protection—such class not possessing immutable characteristic determined solely by accident of birth, and not being saddled with such disabilities, or subject to such history of purposeful unequal treatment, or relegated to such position of political powerlessness as to command extraordinary protection from majoritarian political process. Johnson v Robison (1974) 415 US 361, 39 L Ed 2d 389, 94 S Ct 1160 (criticized in Hall v United States Dep't Veterans' Affairs (1996, CA11 Fla) 85 F.3d 532, 9 FLW Fed C 1171) and (superseded by statute as stated in Menendez v United States (1999, DC Puerto Rico) 67 F Supp 2d 42)
3. Computation of entitlement

Veterans Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] policy under which extensions of delimiting date for educational benefits are denied based on veteran's inability to complete education due to alcoholism does not violate equal protection or due process rights, but does violate Rehabilitation Act (29 USCS § 794). Tinch v Walters (1983, ED Tenn) 573 F Supp 346, affd (1985, CA6 Tenn) 765 F.2d 599

Computation of period for which education allowance is to be granted under 38 USCS § 1661(a) [38 USCS § 3461(a)] must be based on "corresponding days" (from any given day of one calendar month to corresponding day of next), rather than actual calendar months. VA GCO 18-79

Computation for multiple periods of noncontinuous service is to be accomplished by combining all includable periods of active duty and then dividing by 30, as opposed to giving credit for one month's service for each calendar month in which at least one day of active duty occurs. VA GCO 18-79

§ 3462. Time limitations for completing a program of education

cxxiii Discussion and Analysis in the Veterans Benefits Manual

(a) Delimiting period for completion.

(1) Subject to paragraph (4) of this subsection, no educational assistance shall be afforded an eligible veteran under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3451 et seq.] beyond the date 10 years after the veteran's last discharge or release from active duty after January 31, 1955; except that, in the case of any eligible veteran who was prevented from initiating or completing such veteran's chosen program of education within such time period because of a physical or mental disability which was not the result of such veteran's own willful misconduct, such veteran shall, upon application made within one year after (A) the last date of the delimiting period otherwise applicable under this section, (B) the termination of the period of such mental or physical disability, or (C) October 1, 1980, whichever is the latest, be granted an extension of the applicable delimiting period for such length of time as the Secretary determines, from the evidence, that such veteran was so prevented from initiating or completing such program of education. When an extension of the applicable delimiting period is granted a veteran under the preceding sentence, the delimiting period with respect to such veteran will again begin running on the first day following such veteran's recovery from such disability on which it is reasonably feasible, as determined in accordance with regulations which the Secretary shall prescribe, for such veteran to initiate or resume pursuit of a program of education with educational assistance under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3451 et seq.].

(2), (3) [Deleted]

(4) For purposes of paragraph (1) of this subsection, a veteran's last discharge or release from active duty shall not include any discharge or release from a period of active duty of less than 90 days of continuous service unless the individual involved is discharged or released for a service-connected disability, for a medical condition which preexisted such service and which the Secretary determines is not service connected, for hardship, or as a result of a reduction in force as described in section 3011(a)(1)(A)(ii)(III) of this title.

(b) Correction of discharge. In the case of any eligible veteran who has been prevented, as determined by the Secretary, from completing a program of education under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3451 et seq.] within the period prescribed by subsection (a), because the veteran had not met the nature of discharge requirements of this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3451 et seq.] before a change, correction, or modification of a discharge or dismissal made pursuant to section 1553 of title 10, the correction of the military records of the proper service department under section 1552 of title 10, or other corrective action by competent authority, then the 10-year delimiting period shall run from the date the veteran's discharge or dismissal was changed, corrected, or modified.

(c) Savings clause. In the case of any eligible veteran who was discharged or released from active duty before June 1, 1966 the 10-year delimiting period shall run from such date, if it is later than the date which otherwise would be applicable. In the case of any eligible veteran who was discharged or released from active duty before August 31, 1967, and who pursues a course of farm cooperative training, apprenticeship or other training on the job, the 10-year delimiting period shall run from August 31, 1967 if it is later than the date which would otherwise be applicable.

(d) Prisoners of war. In the case of any veteran (1) who served on or after January 31, 1955, (2) who became eligible for educational assistance under the provisions of this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3451 et seq.] or chapter 36 of this title [38 USCS §§ 3670 et seq.], and (3) who, subsequent to the veteran's last discharge or release from active duty, was captured and held as a prisoner of war by a foreign government or power, there shall be excluded, in computing his 10-year period of eligibility for educational assistance, any period during which the veteran was so detained and any period immediately following the veteran's release from such detention during which the veteran was hospitalized at a military, civilian, or Department of Veterans Affairs medical facility.

(e) Termination of assistance. No educational assistance shall be afforded any eligible veteran under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3451 et seq.] or chapter 36 of this title [38 USCS §§ 3670 et seq.] after December 31, 1989.

1. Generally

Extension of basic 10-year delimiting period for using G.I. Bill veterans' educational benefits is precluded for veteran, who has not pursued education during that period because of primary alcoholism, under provision of 38 USCS § 1662 [now 38 USCS § 3462] which precludes extensions because of veteran's own willful misconduct during that period, since it appears that Congress intended that Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] apply same test for willful misconduct under § 1662 [now § 3462] that Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] applies under other veterans' benefits statutes, where it must be assumed that Congress, at the time § 1662 [now § 3462] was enacted, was aware that Veterans' Administration [now Department of Veterans Affairs] regulation construing term willful misconduct included primary alcoholism as willful misconduct. Regulation equating primary alcoholism with willful misconduct, for purposes of § 1662(a)(1) [now § 3462(a)(1)] extending educational assistance beyond 10 years where veteran was prevented from initiating or completing program within such period because of physical or mental disability which did not result from veteran's own willful misconduct, discriminates against otherwise qualified individual solely by reason of his handicap in violation of Rehabilitation Act (29 USCS § 794). In computing the foregoing clock hour requirements there shall be included the time involved in field trips and individual and group instruction sponsored and conducted by the educational institution through a duly authorized instructor of such institution in which the veteran is enrolled.

(2) The monthly educational assistance allowance of an eligible veteran pursuing a farm cooperative program under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3451 et seq.] shall be paid as set forth in column II, III, IV, or V (whichever is applicable as determined by the veteran's dependency status) opposite the basis shown in column I:

(d) (1) Notwithstanding the prohibition in section 3471 of this title [38 USCS § 3471] prohibiting enrollment of an eligible veteran in a program of education in which such veteran has "already qualified," a veteran shall be allowed up to six months of educational assistance (or the equivalent thereof in part-time assistance) for the pursuit of refresher training to permit such veteran to update such veteran's knowledge and skills and to be instructed in the technological advances which have occurred in such veteran's field of employment during and since the period of such veteran's active military service.

(2) A veteran pursuing refresher training under this subsection shall be paid an educational assistance allowance based upon the rate prescribed in the table in subsection (a)(1) or in subsection (c)(2) of this section, whichever is applicable.

(3) The educational assistance allowance paid under the authority of this subsection shall be charged against the period of entitlement the veteran has earned pursuant to section 3461(a) of this title [38 USCS § 3461(a)].

(e) The educational assistance allowance of an eligible veteran pursuing an independent study program which leads to a standard college degree shall be computed at the rate provided in subsection (b) of this section. If the entire training is to be pursued by independent study, the amount of such veteran's entitlement to educational assistance under this chapter shall be charged in accordance with the rate at which the veteran is pursuing the independent study program but at not more than the rate at which such entitlement is charged for pursuit of such program on less than a half-time basis. In any case in which independent study is combined with resident training, the educational assistance allowance shall be paid at the applicable institutional rate based on the total training time determined by adding the number of semester hours (or the equivalent thereof) of resident training to the number of semester hours (or the equivalent thereof) of independent study that do not exceed the number of semester hours (or the equivalent thereof) required for the less than half-time institutional rate, as determined by the Secretary, for resident training. A veteran's entitlement shall be charged for a combination of independent study and resident training on the basis of the applicable monthly training time rate as determined under section 3688 of this title [38 USCS § 3688].

(f) The educational assistance allowance of an eligible veteran pursuing a course by open circuit television shall be computed in the same manner that such allowance is computed under subsection (e) of this section for an independent study program.

(g) (1) Subject to the provisions of paragraph (2) of this subsection, the amount of the educational assistance allowance paid to an eligible veteran who is pursuing a program of education under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3451 et seq.] while incarcerated in a Federal, State, or local penal institution for conviction of a felony may not exceed such amount as the Secretary determines, in accordance with regulations which the Secretary shall prescribe, is necessary to cover the cost of established charges for tuition and fees required of similarly circumstanced nonveterans enrolled in the same program and to cover the cost of necessary supplies, books, and equipment, or the applicable monthly educational assistance allowance prescribed for a veteran with no dependents in subsection (a)(1) or (c)(2) of this section or section 3687(b)(1) of this title [38 USCS § 3687(b)(1)], whichever is the lesser. The amount of the educational assistance allowance payable to a veteran while so incarcerated shall be reduced to the extent that the tuition and fees of the veteran for any course are paid under any Federal program (other than a program administered by the Secretary) or under any State or local program.

(2) Paragraph (1) of this subsection shall not apply in the case of any veteran who is pursuing a program of education under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3451 et seq.] while residing in a halfway house or participating in a work-release program in connection with such veteran's conviction of a felony.

(h) (1) Subject to paragraph (3), the amount of educational assistance payable under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3451 et seq.] for a licensing or certification test described in section 3452(b) of this title [38 USCS § 3452(b)] is the lesser of $2,000 or the fee charged for the test.

(2) The number of months of entitlement charged in the case of any individual for such licensing or certification test is equal to the number (including any fraction) determined by dividing the total amount paid to such individual for such test by the full-time monthly institutional rate of the educational assistance allowance which, except for paragraph (1), such individual would otherwise be paid under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3451 et seq.].

(3) In no event shall payment of educational assistance under this subsection for such test exceed the amount of the individual's available entitlement under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3451 et seq.].

(C) Notwithstanding the provisions of subparagraphs (A) and (B) of this paragraph, if the Secretary finds that an individual was without fault and was allowed to perform services described in the agreement after its termination, the Secretary shall, as reasonable compensation therefor, pay the individual at the applicable hourly minimum wage rate for such services as the Secretary determines were satisfactorily performed.

§ 3500. Purpose

The Congress hereby declares that the educational program established by this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3500 et seq.] is for the purpose of providing opportunities for education to children whose education would otherwise be impeded or interrupted by reason of the disability or death of a parent from a disease or injury incurred or aggravated in the Armed Forces after the beginning of the Spanish-American War, and for the purpose of aiding such children in attaining the educational status which they might normally have aspired to and obtained but for the disability or death of such parent. The Congress further declares that the educational program extended to the surviving spouses of veterans who died of service-connected disabilities and to spouses of veterans with a service-connected total disability permanent in nature is for the purpose of assisting them in preparing to support themselves and their families at a standard of living level which the veteran, but for the veteran's death or service disability, could have expected to provide for the veteran's family.

The standards and criteria for determining whether or not a disability arising out of such service is service connected shall be those applicable under chapter 11 of this title [38 USCS §§ 1101 et seq.].

(2) The term "child" includes individuals who are married and individuals who are above the age of twenty-three years.

(3) The term "duty with the Armed Forces" as used in section 3512 of this title [38 USCS § 3512] means (A) active duty, (B) active duty for training for a period of six or more consecutive months, or (C) active duty for training required by section 12103(d) of title 10 [10 USCS § 12103(d)].

(4) The term "guardian" includes a fiduciary legally appointed by a court of competent jurisdiction, or any other person who has been appointed by the Secretary under section 5502 of this title [38 USCS § 5502] to receive payment of benefits for the use and benefit of the eligible person.
(5) The term "program of education" means any curriculum or any combination of unit courses or subjects pursued at an educational institution which is generally accepted as necessary to fulfill the requirements for the attainment of a predetermined and identified educational, professional, or vocational objective. Such term also includes any preparatory course described in section 3002(3)(B) of this title [38 USCS § 3002(3)(B)]. Such term also includes licensing or certification tests, the successful completion of which demonstrates an individual's possession of the knowledge or skill required to enter into, maintain, or advance in employment in a predetermined and identified vocation or profession, provided such tests and the licensing or credentialing organizations or entities that offer such tests are approved by the Secretary in accordance with section 3689 of this title [38 USCS § 3689]. Such term also includes national tests for admission to institutions of higher learning or graduate schools (such as the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT), Law School Admission Test (LSAT), Graduate Record Exam (GRE), and Graduate Management Admission Test (GMAT)) and national tests providing an opportunity for course credit at institutions of higher learning (such as the Advanced Placement (AP) exam and College-Level Examination Program (CLEP)).

(8) The term "total disability permanent in nature" means any disability rated total for the purposes of disability compensation which is based upon an impairment reasonably certain to continue throughout the life of the disabled person.

(9) The term "training establishment" means any establishment providing apprentice or other training on the job, including those under the supervision of a college or university or any State department of education, or any State apprenticeship agency, or any State board of vocational education, or any joint apprenticeship committee, or the Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training established pursuant to the Act of August 16, 1937, popularly known as the "National Apprenticeship Act" (29 U.S.C. 50 et seq.), or any agency of the Federal Government authorized to supervise such training.

(10) The term "institution of higher learning" means a college, university, or similar institution, including a technical or business school, offering postsecondary level academic instruction that leads to an associate or higher degree if the school is empowered by the appropriate State education authority under State law to grant an associate or higher degree. When there is no State law to authorize the granting of a degree, the school may be recognized as an institution of higher learning if it is accredited for degree programs by a recognized accrediting agency. Such term shall also include a hospital offering educational programs at the postsecondary level without regard to whether the hospital grants a postsecondary degree. Such term shall also include an educational institution which is not located in a State, which offers a course leading to a standard college degree, or the equivalent, and which is recognized by the secretary of education (or comparable official) of the country or other jurisdiction in which the institution is located.

(b) If an eligible person has attained the person's majority and is under no known legal disability, all references in this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3500 et seq.] to "parent or guardian" shall refer to the eligible person.

(c) Any provision of this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3500 et seq.] which requires any action to be taken by or with respect to the parent or guardian of an eligible person who has not attained the person's majority, or who, having attained the person's majority, is under a legal disability, shall not apply when the Secretary determines that its application would not be in the best interest of the eligible person, would result in undue delay, or would not be administratively feasible. In such a case the Secretary, where necessary to protect the interest of the eligible person, may designate some other person (who may be the eligible person) as the person by or with respect to whom the action so required should be taken.

(d) No eligible person may be afforded educational assistance under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3500 et seq.] unless such person was discharged or released after each period such person was on duty with the Armed Forces under conditions other than dishonorable, or while such person is on duty with the Armed Forces.

§ 3511. Duration of educational assistance

(a) (1) Each eligible person shall be entitled to educational assistance under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3500 et seq.] for a period not in excess of 45 months (or to the equivalent thereof in part-time training). In no event may the aggregate educational assistance afforded to a spouse made eligible under both sections 3501(a)(1)(D)(i) and 3501(a)(1)(D)(ii) of this title [38 USCS §§ 3501(a)(1)(D)(i) and 3501(a)(1)(D)(ii)] exceed 45 months.

(2) (A) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3500 et seq.] or chapter 36 of this title [38 USCS §§ 3670 et seq.], any payment of an educational assistance allowance described in subparagraph (B) of this paragraph shall not--

(i) be charged against the entitlement of any individual under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3500 et seq.]; or

(ii) be counted toward the aggregate period for which section 3695 of this title [38 USCS § 3695] limits an individual's receipt of assistance.

(B) The payment of the educational assistance allowance referred to in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph is the payment of such an allowance to an individual for pursuit of a course or courses under this chapter if the Secretary finds that the individual--

(i) had to discontinue such course pursuit as a result of being ordered to serve on active duty under section 688, 12301(a), 12301(d), 12301(g), 12302, or 12304 of title 10 [10 USCS § 688, 12301(a), 12301(d), 12301(g), 12302, or 12304]; and

(ii) failed to receive credit or training time toward completion of the individual's approved educational, professional, or vocational objective as a result of having to discontinue, as described in clause (i) of this subparagraph, his or her course pursuit.

(C) The period for which, by reason of this subsection, an educational assistance allowance is not charged against entitlement or counted toward the applicable aggregate period under section 3695 of this title [38 USCS § 3695] shall not exceed the portion of the period of enrollment in the course or courses for which the individual failed to receive credit or with respect to which the individual lost training time, as determined under subparagraph (B)(ii) of this paragraph.

(b) If any eligible person pursuing a program of education, or of special restorative training, under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3500 et seq.] ceases to be an "eligible person" because--

(1) the parent or spouse from whom eligibility is derived is found no longer to have a "total disability permanent in nature", as defined in section 3501(a)(8) of this title [38 USCS § 3501(a)(8)],
(2) the parent or spouse from whom eligibility is derived based upon the provisions of section 3501(a)(1)(A)(iii) or 3501(a)(1)(C) of this title [38 USCS § 3501(a)(1)(A)(iii) or 3501(a)(1)(C)] is no longer listed in one of the categories specified therein, or
(3) the spouse, as an eligible person under section 3501(a)(1)(D) of this title [38 USCS § 3501(a)(1)(D)], is divorced, without fault on such person's part, from the person upon whose disability such person's eligibility is based,

then such eligible person (if such person has sufficient remaining entitlement) may, nevertheless, be afforded educational assistance under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3500 et seq.] until the end of the quarter or semester for which enrolled if the educational institution in which such person is enrolled is operated on a quarter or semester system, or if the educational institution is not so operated until the end of the course, or until 12 weeks have expired, whichever first occurs.

(c) Any entitlement used by an eligible person as a result of eligibility under section 3501(a)(1)(A)(iii), 3501(a)(1)(C), or 3501(a)(1)(D)(i) of this title [38 USCS § 3501(a)(1)(A)(iii), 3501(a)(1)(C), or 3501(a)(1)(D)(i)] shall be deducted from any entitlement to which such person may subsequently be entitled under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3500 et seq.].

"(c) If an eligible person is entitled to educational assistance under this chapter and also to vocational rehabilitation under chapter 31 of this title, he must elect whether he will receive educational assistance or vocational rehabilitation. If an eligible person is entitled to educational assistance under this chapter and is not entitled to such vocational rehabilitation, but after beginning his program of education or special restorative training becomes entitled (as determined by the Administrator) to such vocational rehabilitation, he must elect whether to continue to receive educational assistance or whether to receive such vocational rehabilitation. If he elects to receive vocational rehabilitation, the program of education or special restorative training pursued under this chapter shall be utilized to the fullest extent practicable in determining the character and duration of vocational rehabilitation to be furnished him.

(8) if the person is pursuing a preparatory course described in section 3002(3)(B) of this title [38 USCS § 3002(3)(B)], such period may begin on the date that is the first day of such course pursuit, notwithstanding that such date may be before the person's eighteenth birthday, except that in no case may such person be afforded educational assistance under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3500 et seq.] for pursuit of secondary schooling unless such course pursuit would otherwise be authorized under this subsection.

(b) (1) (A) Except as provided in subparagraph (B) or (C), a person made eligible by subparagraph (B) or (D) of section 3501(a)(1) of this title [38 USCS § 3501(a)(1)] may be afforded educational assistance under this chapter during the 10-year period beginning on the date (as determined by the Secretary) the person becomes an eligible person within the meaning of section 3501(a)(1)(B), 3501(a)(1)(D)(i), or 3501(a)(1)(D)(ii) of this title [38 USCS § 3501(a)(1)(B), 3501(a)(1)(D)(i), or 3501(a)(1)(D)(ii)]. In the case of a surviving spouse made eligible by clause (ii) of section 3501(a)(1)(D) of this title [38 USCS § 3501(a)(1)(D)], the 10-year period may not be reduced by any earlier period during which the person was eligible for educational assistance under this chapter as a spouse made eligible by clause (i) of that section.

(B) Notwithstanding subparagraph (A), an eligible person referred to in that subparagraph may, subject to the Secretary's approval, elect a later beginning date for the 10-year period than would otherwise be applicable to the person under that subparagraph. The beginning date so elected may be any date between the beginning date determined for the person under subparagraph (A) and whichever of the following dates applies:
(i) The date on which the Secretary notifies the veteran from whom eligibility is derived that the veteran has a service-connected total disability permanent in nature.

(ii) The date on which the Secretary determines that the veteran from whom eligibility is derived died of a service-connected disability.

(C) Notwithstanding subparagraph (A), an eligible person referred to in that subparagraph who is made eligible under section 3501(a)(1)(B) of this title [38 USCS § 3501(a)(1)(B)] by reason of the death of a person on active duty may be afforded educational assistance under this chapter during the 20-year period beginning on the date (as determined by the Secretary) such person becomes an eligible person within the meaning of such section.

(2) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (1) of this subsection, in the case of any eligible person (as defined in section 3501(a)(1)(B), (C), or (D) of this title [38 USCS § 3501(a)(1)(B), (C), or (D)]) who was prevented from initiating or completing such person's chosen program of education within such period because of a physical or mental disability which was not the result of such person's own willful misconduct, such person shall, upon application made within one year after (A) the last date of the delimiting period otherwise applicable under this section, (B) the termination of the period of mental or physical disability, or (C) October 1, 1980, whichever is the latest, be granted an extension of the applicable delimiting period for such length of time as the Secretary determines, from the evidence, that such person was so prevented from initiating or completing such program of education. When an extension of the applicable delimiting period is granted under the exception in the preceding sentence, the delimiting period will again begin running on the first day following such eligible person's recovery from such disability on which it is reasonably feasible, as determined in accordance with regulations which the Secretary shall prescribe, for such eligible person to initiate or resume pursuit of a program of education with educational assistance under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3500 et seq.].

(3) [Deleted]

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (a) of this section, an eligible person may be afforded educational assistance beyond the age limitation applicable to such person under such subsection if (1) such person suspends pursuit of such person's program of education after having enrolled in such program within the time period applicable to such person under such subsection, (2) such person is unable to complete such program after the period of suspension and before attaining the age limitation applicable to such person under such subsection, and (3) the Secretary finds that the suspension was due to conditions beyond the control of such person; but in no event shall educational assistance be afforded such person by reason of this subsection beyond the age limitation applicable to such person under subsection (a) of this section plus a period of time equal to the period such person was required to suspend the pursuit of such person's program, or beyond such person's thirty-first birthday, whichever is earlier.

(d) The term "first finds" as used in this section means the effective date of the rating or date of notification to the veteran from whom eligibility is derived establishing a service-connected total disability permanent in nature whichever is more advantageous to the eligible person.
(e) No person made eligible by section 3501(a)(1)(C) of this title [38 USCS § 3501(a)(1)(C)] may be afforded educational assistance under this chapter [38 USCS §§ 3501 et seq.] beyond 10 years after the date on which the spouse was listed by the Secretary concerned in one of the categories referred to in such section or December 24, 1970, whichever last occurs.

(f), (g) [Deleted]

(h) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, if an eligible person, during the delimiting period otherwise applicable to such person under this section, serves on active duty pursuant to an order to active duty issued under section 688, 12301(a), 12301(d), 12301(g), 12302, or 12304 of title 10 [10 USCS § 688, 12301(a), 12301(d), 12301(g), 12302, or 12304], or is involuntarily ordered to full-time National Guard duty under section 502(f) of title 32 [32 USCS § 502(f)], such person shall be granted an extension of such delimiting period for the length of time equal to the period of such active duty plus four months.
