FORWARD to the 2010 Edition

The study of charter members and early leaders of Second Presbyterian Church (now Westminster) was composed by Dr. Floyd S. Barringer in 1985 as part of the celebration of Westminster’s 150th Anniversary. Dr. Barringer carried out extensive research, wrote the biographical sketches, and mapped the location of graves in Oak Ridge Cemetery to make possible a fascinating cemetery walk. Dr. Barringer’s work has continued to be an extremely valuable resource for all who care about the rich history of this congregation.

The committee responsible for the 175th Anniversary of Westminster Presbyterian Church, chaired by Robert Blythe, decided to produce a new edition of Dr. Barringer’s work as part of our 2010 celebration. This effort has been led by anniversary committee members and archivists Kathie Nenaber and Susan Cull. They have reformatted the booklet and updated the biographical sketches where new information has come to light. With the assistance of Robert Fox they have collected and produced new portrait and gravestone photographs to give this edition a much more expansive visual component. Following the example of Dr. Barringer they have given countless hours to this project as a true labor of love. Invaluable assistance in the design and editing of this booklet has been provided by Westminster Administrative Assistant Ann Whalen.

With great thanks to Dr. Barringer and church archivists Kathie Nenaber and Susan Cull, I commend to the Congregation this revised publication. It is a fitting tribute to the faith of our founders.

There were 30 charter members of the Second Presbyterian Church of Springfield. They were of diverse occupations: shopkeeper, farmer, shoemaker, clerk, cabinetmaker, judge, physician, watchmaker, lawyer, architect, miller, housewife and mother. Their average age was 29 years.

Our church was born at a revival meeting in Springfield in 1834. The leading spirits of that revival were two Congregationalist missionaries from New England: Rev. Albert Hale and Rev. Theron Baldwin.

As Easterners began to move West to settle the frontier, Congregationalist and Presbyterian church leaders were concerned about families moving into a wilderness lacking churches, ministers and schools. In 1802, the two denominations joined in a "Plan of Union," facilitating a concerted effort to send missionaries to the frontier under the auspices of the American Home Missionary Society. The autonomous Congregational churches were less able to establish churches on the frontier. As a result, New Englanders moving west frequently became Presbyterian. Such was the case in the organization of Second Presbyterian Church of Springfield, Illinois.

Of the 30 charter members of Second Presbyterian Church: 20 were of English origin, 6 of Scotch-Irish, 3 of French, and 1 of Dutch origin. The English were of Puritan (later Congregational) background and settled in the New England states. Their ports of entry were Plymouth, Salem, and Boston in the 1600's. They spread through Massachusetts, into Connecticut, New Hampshire, Vermont, and New York. To reach the Illinois country after 1790, they trekked over the Allegheny Mountains to Pittsburg, floated down the Ohio River by flatboat to Kaskaskia, and then by horse or on foot to Springfield.
The Scotch-Irish were of Presbyterian background and settled in the Middle Atlantic states. They came from Ulster and their port of entry was Philadelphia in the 1700's. They spread over Pennsylvania and into Maryland, Virginia, and the Carolinas, and after 1775, trekked over the Cumberland Gap into Kentucky and Tennessee, and then to Springfield.

The founders of our church were moral, dour, and puritanical. They were prohibitionist and abolitionist. Their elders were the ascetic guardians of the morals of the congregation. Between 1835 and 1867, 31 members were excommunicated, most of them for "breach of the covenant vows" and "nonattendance at communion."

Today, we are thankful for the Providence that sent us the Rev. Albert Hale in our formative years, a man of great character and dedication, who welded those diverse factions together into that noble structure we know today as Westminster.

WILLIAM MASON COWGILL

Charter member of Second Presbyterian Church May 26, 1835.

The Puritan ancestors of William Mason Cowgill fled England in the early 1500s to Holland to escape religious persecution. About 1630, their descendants arrived in Massachusetts on the ship "Friendship" from Rotterdam and settled in Connecticut for several years. In the early 1800s, the Cowgills traveled by wagon train through Pennsylvania and settled at Lebanon, Warren County, Ohio. Here, in 1809, William Mason Cowgill was born, here he married Clementine Sayre in 1832, and the same year brought her to Springfield, Illinois. By occupation he was a merchant.

On November 17, 1846, he was dismissed by letter to the Presbyterian Church of Petersburg, Illinois, and the same year established a general store in Petersburg: William E. Cowgill Co.

Second Church was called the Abolitionist Church. On September 27, 1837, a call was issued by Elijah P. Lovejoy for an Anti-Slavery Convention at Upper Alton, Illinois. The call was answered by 245 persons from 10 counties of Illinois. This was the first public listing of abolitionists in Illinois and included the names of 11 members of Second Church, including William M. Cowgill.
Second Church was also known as a Temperance church. On February 22, 1842, Abraham Lincoln delivered a speech before the Springfield Washington Temperance Society Meeting in Second Church, concluding:

"---and when the victory shall be complete-when there shall be neither a slave nor a drunkard on the earth-how proud the title of that Land which may truly claim to be the birthplace and the cradle of both those revolutions, that shall have ended in that victory. How nobly distinguished that People, who shall have planted and nurtured to maturity, both the political and moral freedom of their species."

A few years later a petition appeared in the Journal asking the Rev. James Smith of First Church to publish a speech he had given: “A Discourse on the Bottle: It’s Evils and the Remedy”. Among the petitioners were twelve members of Second Church, including William M. Cowgill.

Died: October 2, 1862 at Petersburg, aged 53 years.

The Poe family was Protestant (Albigensian) and lived near Toulouse in southwest France. During the terrible persecutions carried out by the Catholic Church in the 13th century, they fled to Scotland. In 1667, John Poe participated in the Pentland Uprising against Charles II, and fled from Scotland to County Cavan in Northern Ireland. Two of John's sons emigrated to America and settled in Lancaster County, in 1739. John Jr. (born 1698) was the great grandfather of Edgar Allen Poe; Alexander (born 1703) was the great grandfather of Ann Poe of French family origin.

Ann Poe was born June 11, 1818 Chatham County, North Carolina. Ann came west with her parents in 1823. Her mother, Lucy Rebecca, died on the way and was buried in Kentucky. Her father, Jacob settled in Galatia, Illinois, where he remarried and taught school for many years. Ann could not get along with her stepmother and was sent to visit friends in Springfield in 1834.

Ann was married February 27, 1837, by Rev. Dewey Whitney in Springfield to James Gourley. They had 10 children.

Hollis, deceased, of Westminster Church. Great-great grandchildren are Nancy Huston, Kenneth Hollis, and Richard Hollis of Westminster. He was excommunicated from Second Church, July 27, 1868, charged with "habitual neglect of the means of grace and non-attendance at the Lord's Supper." Legend has it that Gourley reassured his neighbor, Mr. Lincoln, that one did not have to be a church member to get into heaven.

Died: March 26, 1874 in Springfield, aged 75 years, 7 months, and 24 days. Buried: Oak Ridge Cemetery: Block 13 Lot 40.
ELIPHALET B. HAWLEY, JR.

Charter member of Second Presbyterian Church May 26, 1835.

Elected Elder of Second Presbyterian Church on April 20, 1849 and served as a Ruling Elder for 35 years.

Ancestor, Joseph Hawley came from Stratford, England to Massachusetts in 1649.

Came to Sangamon County as a child in May of 1822 down the Ohio River.

Married: Mary D. Sayre July 12, 1838 in Springfield.

Home: SW corner of Seventh and Reynolds in 1857.

He was Chairman of the Building Committee of the third church building on the NW corner of Fourth and Monroe: 1869-72. He was an early member of Board of Managers of Oak Ridge Cemetery (1872).

Remembered best for the heroism he displayed in the Depression of 1873. The church was struggling beneath a debt of $31,000 with every prospect of a forced sale. At an emergency congregational meeting, a subscription paper was passed through the congregation and when it reached Elder Hawley, he rose and said: "I have no money that I can contribute to this project, but I have two lots I will gladly turn in. And here is my watch. It's about all else that I own, but I am willing to let it go for the debt." The church was saved.

The Minutes of the Session hold several tributes paid to Elder Hawley at the time of his death: "A Godly man, full of faith and good works."

Died: October 27, 1884 in Springfield, aged 68 years, 5 months, and 26 days.

Buried: Oak Ridge Cemetery: Block 10 Lot 72.

The Dictionary of American Biography lists a Gideon Hawley, who was born in Huntington, Connecticut in 1785, and who became a successful lawyer in Albany, New York. Hawley had an illustrious career in the field of education. He served 1812 to 1821 as the first Superintendent of Public Instruction for New York State and laid the foundations for the public elementary school system. He served as a member of the Board of Regents of the University of the State of New York, 1842-70, and was largely responsible for establishing the first normal school in the state at Albany.

It is most likely that Gideon Hawley was a relative, and possibly an uncle, of Isabella Hawley, whose all too short life was dedicated to teaching, an integral part of the missionary service of her day.

THOMAS MOFFETT

Charter member of Second Presbyterian Church May 26, 1835.

Elected Elder of Second Presbyterian Church September 20, 1835; served as a Ruling Elder for 42 years.

He taught Bible class at Second Church Sabbath School for many years. James Conkling writes about Thomas Moffett: “he frequently performed the duties of a Chorister in the church, at the prayer meetings and social gatherings although he did not sing with the skill of more scientific leaders.”

Born: April 13, 1797 in Bath County, Kentucky of Scotch-Irish origin. Came to Sangamon County November 14, 1826.

Married: (1) Eliza A. Gatton on January 22, 1829 in Morgan County; (2) unknown name. Home: west side of Third Street between Adams and Monroe in 1857.

Occupation: school teacher, first attorney to read law and become licensed in Sangamon County; Sergeant in Winnebago War in 1827; Captain Black Hawk Wars in 1832; County Commissioner, Probate Judge in 1843; County Judge in 1849; and, first president of the Old Settlers Society in 1859. Judge Moffett had various professional dealings with Abraham Lincoln. At the time of his death the State Journal paid tribute to him as "A highly esteemed citizen of Springfield."
The Westminster Church records include this tribute: "Notwithstanding, Brother Moffett experienced such a terrible affliction in the loss of his wife and all his children, he never swerved from the path of duty. He endured the extreme severity of his losses with Christian resignation and fortitude. They seemed to purify his heart, and to elevate his Christian character, and to increase his devotion to the religious interests of the church."

The ledgers of Thomas C. Smith tell us that at Mrs. Moffett's funeral in 1867, six carriages were needed for the funeral cortege. At the funeral of Judge Moffett in 1877 only one carriage was needed. Judge Moffett was, indeed, the "last leaf on the tree."

Died June 16, 1877 at Springfield, aged 80 years, 2 months, and 3 days. Possibly buried Oak Ridge Cemetery.2

A great, great-niece of Thomas Moffett was Mrs. Margaret Swickard of Springfield, and an Elder of Westminster Presbyterian Church.

JOHN FRANCIS RAGUE

Charter member of Second Presbyterian Church May 26, 1835.

Choir leader of Second Presbyterian Church from 1835 to 1842. Previously choir leader of Sangamo Presbyterian Church from 1831-1835.

A family Bible belonging to his Presbyterian mother records that John F. Rague was born at Scotch Plains, New Jersey March 24, 1799.

He was an intimate friend of Washington Irving during his childhood.

In 1824, upon the return of the General Marquis de Lafayette to America, a reception for him was held in New York City. At the dinner on this occasion, John Rague was seated beside the General since Rague's father, then deceased, had served as a surgeon under Lafayette during the Revolution.

Rague studied architecture under Minard LeFevre in New York City.

Came to Springfield in 1831 where he served as trustee of the town in 1836.

Married: Eliza M. Van Dyke between 1831 and 1835 in Springfield.

Rague’s Occupation: baker, choir leader, and architect.

He received an award of $200 for designing the plans for the Old State Capitol and was retained as supervising architect by the commissioners at $1,000 per year. He also served as architect for the old State Capitol of Iowa, the Old State Capitol of Wisconsin, the City Hall of Dubuque, Iowa, many schools and fine homes.
When studying his architectural style, some are led to believe that John Rague may have designed the second building of Second Presbyterian Church on Fourth Street. The church was built in the Greek Revival style for which Rague was known. Since Rague was an active member and choir leader of the church at the time and there is no record of an architect being paid for the design, it is reasonable to assume that he volunteered his services for this project.

On August 24, 1842, John F. Rague was excommunicated from the Second Presbyterian Church for "Sabbath breaking, uttering a falsehood, and trifling with the Session."

In 1843, Rague left Springfield because of business and domestic difficulties and moved to Milwaukee. He divorced his wife. He abandoned the Presbyterian Church and became a "Free Thinker."

Rague married a second time to Miss Christina Scales, an artist, and moved with her to Dubuque, Iowa in 1854. He continued as a leading architect of Iowa, but his eyesight failed in the 1860's and he became totally blind.

Died: September 24, 1877, in Dubuque, Iowa, aged 78 years 6 months.

Buried: Linwood Cemetery, Dubuque, Iowa.

ELIZA M. VAN DYKE RAGUE

Wife of John Rague

Charter member of Second Presbyterian Church May 26, 1835.

Married: 1) John F. Rague between 1831-35 in Springfield, having been a member of the choir at Sangamo Presbyterian Church under his direction. 2) Mr. St. Clair.

Having heard of John Rague's blindness, Eliza travelled to Dubuque several times to help and care for him. It was Rague's wish that upon her death, her body be brought to Dubuque and buried beside him in Linwood Cemetery. Here they lie reunited in death.

The Sherrills were of French Huguenot origin (Cherel) and escaped to Northern Ireland after the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes in France in 1685. They then came to America and settled first in Maryland and then in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia in 1747.

John Sherrill was born in Virginia in 1784, the son of William and Janey (Hord) Sherrill. The family then moved to Rowan County, North Carolina on the Northwest Carolina frontier.

In 1810 and 1820, John Sherrill was living in Green County, Kentucky. Here he married Mary Pentacost in 1821, and in 1827 they moved to Menard County, Illinois.

John and Mary Sherrill were living in Springfield in November 1828 when John Todd Stuart came to Springfield from Green County, Kentucky. John T. Stuart, lawyer, met Abraham Lincoln in 1832 as a major in the Black Hawk War. He later was a law partner with Lincoln in Springfield. A favorite cousin of Mary Todd Lincoln, Stuart was a frequent visitor to the White House even though he was an anti-emancipation Democrat. He was elected to the U. S. Congress in 1862.

Pleasant, Iowa, near West Point, where he practiced medicine the rest of his life. Presley Saunders from Sangamon County, incidentally, founded Mt. Pleasant, in 1834.

William's younger brother, Benjamin F. Stephenson, "read" medicine with him in Mt. Pleasant and then went on to attend medical lectures at Columbus, Ohio and to graduate from Rush Medical College of Chicago in 1850. Benjamin returned to practice medicine in Petersburg after serving as a surgeon in the Union Army and became famous as the founder of the GAR in 1866.

In the latter part of 1835, a Rev. John Ruble came to Mt. Pleasant as a missionary and soon after married Miss Diana C. Bowen of that place. He died in May 1836, leaving a widow and small child. Rev. Rubles’ widow then married Dr. William C. Stephenson in 1838. He died eight years later, leaving no children.

JOHN B. WATSON

Charter member of Second Presbyterian Church May 26, 1835.

Elected Elder of Second Presbyterian Church October 2, 1836; served 16 years as a Ruling Elder.

John was born February 10, 1800 in the York District of South Carolina and when he was 10 years old he came with his family to Randolph County, Illinois.

First Superintendent of the Second Church Sabbath School serving from 1835 to 1847.

The antecedents of John B. Watson were of Scottish origin and suffered greatly there from religious intolerance. After the Battle of Boyne in 1690, the family immigrated to County Tyrone in the north of Ireland. The family then immigrated to Pennsylvania before the French-Indian Wars of the 1750's and settled where Chambersburg now stands. The Indians harassed them constantly. They removed to the Carolinas and several fought in the Revolutionary War.

Married: Mary Gillis April 9, 1829 at Kaskaskia, Randolph County, Illinois and had 7 children.

He came to Sangamon County in 1829.
Home: west side of Second Street between Monroe and Capitol in 1829 where the State Capitol Building now stands.

Occupation: schoolteacher, county surveyor, engineer of the Great Western Railroad, and gold miner.

In hope of providing more fully for his family, he joined the gold rush to California in 1849 with the Illinois and California Mining Mutual Insurance Co. He returned after an apparently successful three years in California, arriving home on August 9, 1852.

Tragically, Watson arrived home in the middle of a cholera epidemic in Springfield. On the second morning after his return, two of his daughters died of cholera and the same evening John B. Watson died as well. (In describing the cholera epidemic some years later, Dr. George Pasfield, of Springfield, remarked "it was nothing unusual to find in the hot summer morning that three or four citizens had died of cholera morbus during the night, after a few hours of illness.")

This marked the tragic end of a member of Second Presbyterian Church with a record of great works in the past and promise of greater works yet to come.

Died: August 11, 1852 in Springfield, aged 51 years, 6 months, 1 day.

Buried: Hutchinson Cemetery, Springfield, and body removed to Oak Ridge Cemetery in 1873: Block 8 Lot 192.

Occupation: schoolteacher and county commissioner of schools for many years; land agent. Remembered by his students for the elk he rode and drove to harness. He obtained the elk in 1824, trading 80 acres of land in Schuyler County for the animal.

John Carroll Powers writes, “He was one of the earliest abolitionists and was always fearless in advocating its doctrines.” He was also remembered in Second Church’s history of 1885 as, "a man with a fiery nature and extreme views on the questions of the day; he was at the same time a man of earnest piety and large benevolence."
In the church records is a copy of the following letter that deeded a house and lot to Rev. Albert Hale where Hale made his home from 1847 until his death in 1891. The site was Block 16, Lot 7: #211 East Adams which is now two doors west of the Sangamo Club.

Lieut. Samuel Hale, great-great-grandfather, (1644-1711), born Wethersfield; was a Lieut. in the Wethersfield Train Band and a Deputy for Glastonbury to the Connecticut General Assembly. He died in Glastonbury.

Capt. Jonathan Hale, great-grandfather, (1696-1772), born Glastonbury; was a Capt. in the Wethersfield Train Band and Deputy for Glastonbury to the Connecticut General Assembly. He died in Glastonbury.

Dr. Elizus Hale, grandfather, (1724-1790), born Glastonbury; was a Deputy for Glastonbury to the Connecticut General Assembly. He died in Glastonbury.
Matthew Hale, father, (1760-1840), born Glastonbury; served in the Connecticut Militia for four years in the Revolution. Married May 21, 1786 at Glastonbury to Ruth Stevens, daughter of Deacon Thomas and Mary Tryon Stevens. Matthew Hale and his wife were church members of the First Church, Glastonbury, August 30, 1797. He was excommunicated March 5, 1824 and she in May 1830.

Albert Hale was born November 29, 1799 at Glastonbury, the youngest child of Matthew and Ruth Hale. At an early age, he left home to live with an uncle in Wethersfield, where he clerked in a store. He entered Yale College and graduated in 1827. He entered New Haven Theological Seminary in 1828 and graduated in 1831. He was ordained as an evangelist. He came to Shawneetown, Illinois on November 11, 1831, under the auspices of the American Home Missionary Society. Hale was a member of the "Yale Band", 12 young men from Yale who dedicated their lives to bringing Christianity and higher education to the Illinois country.

In the spring of 1834, Rev. Albert Hale and Rev. Theron Baldwin, both Home missionaries, were in Springfield, and at the urging of Rev. John Bergen, agreed to conduct a two-week series of revival meetings. It is to these meetings that we can trace the birth of the Second Presbyterian Church. When the church was formally organized on May 26, 1835, Rev. Hale was invited to be the first pastor, but was unable to accept the call at that time.

Albert Hale and Abiah Chapin were married on March 28, 1839 at Godfrey, Illinois and came to Springfield November 1, 1839. Although a Congregationalist, he became the second pastor of Second Presbyterian Church on November 1, 1839 and served here until his retirement June 1, 1867. In 1847, his home was at 221 East Adams. After his retirement as pastor, a number of prominent citizens of Springfield subscribed a fund to pay Rev. Hale an annual salary "to do general and necessary work among the down and out of the city". From these subscribers, he received the honorary title of "Pastor of the Ditches and Hedges." And, after 50 years of dedicated service to the people of Springfield, he was universally and affectionately known to all as "Father Hale."

Died: January 30, 1891 in Springfield, aged 91 years, 3 months, and 1 day. Buried: Oak Ridge Cemetery: Block 10 Lot 339.

ABIAH CHAPIN HALE

Wife of Albert Hale
Born: August 23, 1806 at Newport, New Hampshire of English origin.

She graduated from Ipswich Seminary at Ipswich, Massachusetts and came to Edwardsville, Illinois in March 1831. This was in response to a call from the Rev. Theron Baldwin, published in The Home Missionary Journal. He advertised for teachers for the schools being organized by the “Yale Band” in the Illinois Country.

She was received into Second Church of Springfield July 11, 1835, just six weeks after its organization, by letter from the Presbyterian Church of Edwardsville, and taught in the Sabbath School for two years before returning to New Hampshire. She returned to Illinois in 1838 to teach in the Monticello Female Seminary at Godfrey, Illinois under its first president, the Rev. Theron Baldwin, the first institution in Illinois founded for the higher education of women.

Home: 221 East Adams Street, Springfield in 1857.

With the arrival in Springfield of the Portuguese refugees fleeing from religious persecution in Madeira in 1840, Abiah Hale took command in organizing their relief and established the Dorcas Society of Springfield. The Dorcas Society was a non-denominational, community-wide group of women who cared for the poor and unfortunate of Springfield.

"Now there was at Joppa a certain disciple name Tabitha, which by interpretation is called Dorcas: this woman was full of good works and alms deeds which she did. And it came to pass in those days, that she was sick, and died; whom, when they had washed, they laid her in an upper chamber. And forasmuch as Lydda was nigh to Joppa, and the disciples had heard that Peter was there, they sent unto him two men, desiring him that he would not delay to come unto them. Then Peter arose and went with them. When he was come, they brought him into the upper chamber; and all the widows stood by him weeping, and shewing the coats and garments which Dorcas made, while she was with them. But Peter put them all forth, and kneeled down, and prayed; and turning him to the body said, Tabitha, arise. And she opened her eyes; and when she saw Peter, she sat up. And he gave her his hand, and lifted her up, and when he had called the saints and widows, presented her alive." (KJV, Acts 9: 36-41)

In 1863, the Dorcas Society merged with the Home for the Friendless, now the Family Service Center and the first social service agency of Sangamon County.

Died: June 10, 1864 in Springfield, aged 57 years, 9 months, 17 days.
Buried: Oak Ridge Cemetery: Block 10 Lot 339.

On September 21, 1841, in Baltimore, Maryland, he married Mercy (Mercie) A. Levering, who became a close friend and confidante of Mary Todd Lincoln. They had 5 children.

Occupation: Attorney-at-law, State Representative (1852 and 1866), and Mayor of Springfield in 1845.

As former mayor, Conkling gave the dedicatory speech for Oak Ridge Cemetery in 1860. Abraham Lincoln is believed to have attended.

He was one of the founders of the Republican Party in 1856, together with John M.

Palmer, and a Lincoln elector in the convention of 1860.

On September 3, 1863, Conkling served as a chairman of the committee on arrangements for a state convention of Union men held in Springfield. Conkling wrote President Lincoln asking him to address the convention and received the following letter in response to his invitation. "The Conkling Letter" is famous as Lincoln's defense of the Emancipation Proclamation.

War Department, Washington, D.C. August 27, 1863

My Dear Conkling:

I cannot leave here now. Herewith a letter instead. You are one of the best public speakers. I have but one suggestion - read it very slowly. And Now, God bless you and all good Union men.

Yours as ever,

A. Lincoln

In 1868, Conkling was chair of the building committee of the third building, along with Eliphalet Hawley and Joshua S. Amos.

The Transfiguration Window in the Chancel of Westminster Presbyterian Church, the fourth church building located at Walnut and Edwards, is a memorial to James and Mercy (Mercie) Conkling, given by their son, Clinton L. Conkling.

He graduated from Yale College in 1864, read law in his father's office, and was licensed to practice in Illinois courts in 1866.

He was received into Second Presbyterian Church by letter from the Congregational Church, Yale College, New Haven, Connecticut, May 7, 1865.

Married: Georgianna Barrell March 24, 1867 at Brooklyn, New York and had two children.

*The Conkling Memorial Window in the Narthex given by Conkling's daughter, Katharine McCormick in memory of Mary Virginia West.
*The Katharine C. McCormick tower erected in 1954 in memory of Clinton and Georgianna Conkling.

The three-volume "Historical Data Concerning the Second Presbyterian (now Westminster) Church of Springfield, Illinois" was collected by Clinton L. Conkling and published after his death.

The greatest memorial to Clinton Conkling, however, is Westminster Church, “The Church Beautiful,” since he served faithfully as chairman of the Building Committee from its beginning in 1905 until the dedication on March 8, 1908.

Came to America in 1810.

Came to Sangamon County in 1823.

Home: (1) the saddler's shop on the NE corner of 4th & Jefferson in 1824; (2) 680 acre farm in Woodside Township, section 26 (the home still stands and is on the University of Illinois, Springfield campus) in 1841.

Occupation: Strawbridge was the first saddler of the county and a prosperous farmer.

He never married but later in life shared his home with his widowed sister, Mary.

During the Civil War, it was the habit of Strawbridge to haul fresh vegetables and produce regularly out to Camp Butler for the Union soldiers training there and later for the Confederate soldiers held prisoner there.

Died: June 8, 1880 in Sangamon County, aged 82 years, 3 months, and 29 days.

Buried: Oak Ridge Cemetery, Block 6 Lot 9. Strawbridge’s monument includes an old-fashioned hitching post and two chairs, one holding Thomas’ hat and the other Mary’s cloak.
At his death, Thomas Strawbridge left a bequest of $35,000 to the Home for the Friendless. He also left a bequest of $1,000 to each of three churches in Springfield: First Methodist, Second Presbyterian, and Central Baptist Churches, for an annual sermon: "On the goodness, greatness, and unbounded love of Jesus as the redeemer of the world." The Strawbridge Sermon has been given from time to time at Second (now Westminster) Presbyterian Church since the first given in 1884 by the Rev. William E. Montgomery, Pastor of Glen Falls, New York.
JOSEPH THAYER

Elected Elder of Second Presbyterian Church on September 20, 1835 and served as a Ruling Elder for 42 years.

Born: June 30, 1786 in Amherst, Massachusetts. His ancestors, Richard and Thomas Thayer, came from Braintree, Essex County, England to Braintree, Massachusetts in 1636.

Married in Amherst to Susannah (Susan) Cannon who was born in 1782 in Amherst and died 1836 in Springfield. They had 6 children.

Came to Sangamon County in 1834.

Home: Chenery House on the NE corner of Fourth & Washington in 1857.

Occupation: proprietor of Dry Goods Store and owner of the Springfield Woolen Mills, which he bought from Hugh M. Armstrong (Charter member of Second Church) in 1865.

In the Minutes of the Session of January 30, 1877, there is this tribute to Elder Joseph Thayer:

He was an Elder who ruled well and worthy of honor. His extensive business affairs were conducted with Christian integrity. His benevolences were the subject of prayerful attention and Bible principle. In social and domestic life he was a Christian husband and father and gentleman, and even in his old age, his sons and friends found pleasure in his company.

Thayer gave the bell, cast in 1840, that has hung in all three towers of our church buildings. For many years this bell, and that of The First Presbyterian Church, were the only public fire alarms in the city; they also pealed on occasions of public rejoicing or sorrow.

Died: January 6, 1877 in Springfield, aged 90 years, 6 months, and 2 days.

Buried: Oak Ridge Cemetery: Block 14 Lot 15.

Two great-great granddaughters of Elder Joseph Thayer were members of Westminster Presbyterian Church: Mrs. Helen Becker and Mrs. Geneva Irwin.

LITTLE ONES OF THE HOME FOR THE FRIENDLESS

The Home for the Friendless was founded in 1863 by special act of the legislature and the building was constructed on the north side of South Grand Avenue between 7th and 8th Streets, on land donated by Elijah Iles. This orphanage, the first in Springfield, with accommodations for two hundred children, cared for thousands of homeless and destitute children over many years.

In this lot are buried many of the children who died in the Home for the Friendless between 1863 and 1904.

This stone is a memorial to the many, many little children who are buried here, and is a monument to the good people of Springfield who cared for and about them.

In 1967, Dr. Floyd S. Barringer wrote “A Walk Through Oak Ridge Cemetery” that was published by the Sangamon County Historical Society. The book inspired Paul Mueller, who grew up in the shadow of the cemetery, to advocate for a memorial for the over two hundred children and women displaced by the Civil War. These orphans and indigent war widows were aided by the Home for the Friendless when they arrived in Springfield. Mr. Mueller was saddened that the area reserved for the Home for the Friendless did not have any individual memorials. He worked with the Cemetery’s board of directors as well as local historians and history buffs to plan and finance a garden memorial.
wall. Work included research to identify the individuals buried in the area. The Home for the Friendless memorial was dedicated over Memorial Day weekend in 2008.\footnote{Information from article by Chris Dettro; \textit{State-Journal Register}; June 1, 2008 & article in \textit{Historico}: Sangamon County Historical Society Newsletter; February 2010}

OAK RIDGE MAP WITH PATH FOR CEMETERY WALK
At the dedication of Oak Ridge Cemetery, former Springfield mayor and member of Second Presbyterian Church, James Cook Conkling, reflected:

“The grave is the common inheritance of all mankind. The high and the low, the rich and the poor, the learned and the unlearned, the master and the serf, the monarch and his slave, the refined and the barbarous, are there reduced to the same level…When the fitful dream of life is over…when man has run his allotted courses and fulfilled his destiny on the earth, here he may find a resting place.”
