Professional development for county officials, executives and managers

Course Descriptions and Schedule

Deployment and leadership of high performance teams

Building and Maintaining a Team Culture 371

Counties use teams as a method to get work done. It takes a certain organizational culture to support teams. This course examines the culture and attributes of high-performing teams in the public sector. Strategies, tools and resources are shared along with team leadership practices, and how to transition to a team culture. Participants examine the group dynamics required for team success, define team responsibilities and accountability, how to evaluate team performance against mission, and the leadership practices to lead and sponsor teams.

Instructor: Dr. Jerry Estenson is Professor of Organizational Behavior at CSU, Sacramento.

Effective visual display of complex information

Communicating and Presenting Complex Issues and Data 389

Counties present complex and detailed information to decision-makers and the public, and may fall into the trap of overwhelming the audience with too much content or complexity. This course provides strategies and techniques for presenting data, complex issues and analytical information in a way an audience can understand and apply. Participants explore balancing content with clarity, effective use of tools such as PowerPoint, and determining what evidence to present. Using their own examples, participants examine how to present statistical data, key elements of visual design, and creation of presentations which communicate multifaceted ideas in a clear manner.

Instructor: Dr. Mary Kirlin is associate professor of Public Policy and Administration at CSU-Sacramento.

Tools for tackling unprecedented challenges

Coping with Ambiguity: Leadership for Challenging Times

Counties operate in complex and changing environments. Within these unpredictable economic contexts and unprecedented challenges, county leaders find themselves trying to make past practices and models fit current realities. But that may be a mistake in coping with ambiguity. This class provides a new way to think about applying leadership practices – at both elected and executive levels – to help your county organization and community find new realities and ways of effectively working in uncertain times. Discussion topics include: 1) understanding the concept of “emergent” processes and environments; 2) tools for managing uncertainty; 3) the mental discipline and the rational analysis of situations; and 4) communication tools for managing ambiguous situations.

The Supercircular: OMB’s Final Guidance on Federal Grants

Cost Principles, Reporting Requirements ... and the “Supercircular”

On December 26, 2013, the U.S. Office of Management and Budget issued new reporting rules referred to as the “Supercircular.” This issuance impacts all general requirements for all entities – including counties and CBOs – which receive federal grants: administrative rules, cost principles and Single Audit requirements. Those new rules go into effect after Christmas, 2014. All persons and agencies who deal with federal grants will need to be aware of and prepared for the coming changes. In addition to the specifics of the Supercircular, the class will cover:

- Administrative rules: when approval is needed for budget changes; the responsibility for equipment remaining when the grant ends, etc.
- Cost principles: criteria for allowability; documentation requirements for salaries and wages, etc.
- Single Audit requirements: changes in the threshold for Single Audits and the required attributes of an audit finding

Course eligible for CPE credits for Certified Public Accountants.

Instructor: Sefton Boyars, CPA, CGFM, CFS from the California Certified Public Accountants (CalCPA) Education Foundation.

Overview for decision-makers, elected officials and managers to understand and interpret county financial reports

County Financial Reporting and Budgeting for Nonfinancial Professionals

This course provides the tools for decision-makers, elected officials, senior managers – other than accountants and auditors – who want to have an overview understanding of government financial reporting. Participants discuss budgets, financial statements and the audit, and at the 30,000’ level what each of those is saying (or not saying!). Participants should bring questions about terms or concepts they have encountered as part of their interaction with county and government financial reporting. The discussion reviews terms and definitions used with government financial reporting and strategies on how to read financial statements and auditor reports to identify critical information. Participants explore an approach to use with budgets to identify assumptions they include.

Instructor: Laura Lindal, CPA, is an experienced auditor and an instructor for the California CPA Education Foundation.

Emerging Issues

A series of courses exploring trends in long-term policy issues

These unique classes provide county decision-makers with an opportunity to explore emerging trends and issues with colleagues and experts in the field. Brief presentations examine various facets of the issue and allow ample opportunity for policy-level discussions. The conversations look at interrelationships amongst the facets along with the resources, capacity and authority available for counties to work toward solutions. Options are discussed along with opportunities and barriers, and the types and consequences to policy decisions counties may need to address for sustainable solutions.

Homelessness in Our Communities

Homelessness has proven to be an enduring and complex modern problem which crosses many disciplines, populations, and boundaries. Homelessness does not respect political boundaries in counties and cities, and responsibilities cross and intersect with many county and city departments, and even state and federal agencies, such as the VA. Within counties, the issue intersects with the public safety, social services, public health, behavioral health, even the public works department. Yet a number of counties are taking on homelessness through a variety of collaborative approaches – both in policy and practice. This class will engage participants to explore many facets of homelessness, from decriminalization to treatment of root causes to prevention, and how counties are thinking about policies and collaborative programs to address it. Several case studies will be examined.

Facilitators: Kern County Supervisor Leticia Perez and Sacramento County Supervisor Phil Serna.

Leadership & Change: Practices to Move Organizations 124

Elected officials and managers alike discuss the need for change in their organizations, yet struggle when change is difficult to accomplish within the depths of the organization. This course helps participants move past technical solutions to the practices for approaching adaptive challenges. Discussion highlights why some changes happen relatively quickly while others are stymied. Participants explore change from the perspective of those whom the change affects. Practical discussions focus on design of a change process; practices to diagnose, interpret and select interventions; recognizing barriers; and creating an environment in which people can expand their capacity to address adaptive change.

Instructor: Bill Chiat, Dean of the CSAC Institute. For the last 35 years he has worked with hundreds of local agencies in crafting change.

Create customer satisfaction in a county setting

Leading with Emotional Intelligence 128

Every organization has individuals who consistently outshine others. What are the characteristics and practices that distinguish the great or top 10% performers from the good performers? What evidence based practices should be part of your daily routine to be a high performer? We will answer these questions from over a 30 year data base and research of top performance as we dive into the four areas of Emotional Intelligence (EI): 1) Understanding Yourself, 2) Managing Yourself, 3) Understanding Others and 4) Managing Others. You will take an assessment to determine your EI strengths and create a direct report. Hands on tools to enhance your EI will be explained and practiced. Emotional Intelligence has been researched to be the prime factor contributed to top 10% performance and one’s success when compared to Intelligence Quotient (IQ) and technical expertise. Business simulations, practices sessions, videos and group discussions will help participants enjoy, engage and learn more.

Instructor: Relly Nadler, Psy.D. is founder of True North Leadership, Inc. A licensed psychologist and master certified coach (MCC), Dr. Nadler has been a leader in developing EI tools for executives and leaders since 2001, and author of Leading with Emotional intelligence.

Create customer satisfaction in a county setting

Leveraging Customer Relationships: Balancing Satisfaction with Priorities 354

This policy level course will help county managers and elected officials explore ways to create and enhance a customer service culture in their organization. Participants will explore how to balance good customer service with county and state regulations and requirements. The conversation will focus on what defines good customer service and a service culture. Lively small and large group discussions will give you tools to assess where you are, what the gaps are to be more service oriented, and how to get there. Participants discuss the elements of structure and process which support and recognize effective customer service, even in difficult regulatory situations. You will be able to network and brainstorm with your peers as well as learn practical strategies. Barriers to good customer service are examined along with service and performance measurements.

Instructors: Dr. Marilyn Manning, CEO, The Consulting Team, LLC, has consulted on customer service, strategic planning, communications and cultural changes with multiple local governments; and Liz Kniss, Palo Alto City Council Member and former Santa Clara County Supervisor.

Achieve outcomes in everyone’s best interest

Negotiations and Collaboration in Complex Environments 356

Negotiation is “a back and forth interaction among two or more people who wish to arrive at a mutually agreeable outcome where the parties have some interests in common and some that are opposed.” This definition from Fisher and Ury’s book Getting to Yes describes most “Public Good” negotiations. Solution-Based Negotiation teaches participants how to achieve the most beneficial outcomes for all negotiating parties while ensuring the outcomes are in the best interest of the public while the negotiating parties’ relationships end positively. This course covers the most current tried and tested behaviors in the field of negotiation and gives you tools that will be immediately useful in your work. Best of all, it can help you serve your constituents in the best possible ways without needless compromise.

Service Excellence through Process Improvement: Championship  374

When counties look to create efficiencies, process improvement is a valuable tool. It can help maximize value, reduce wasteful activities, and improve service delivery. Hear case examples of how Ventura County has significantly improved service quality and performance while reducing costs. This hands-on course engages managers in techniques to identify current service delivery processes and find opportunities to improve. Tools are shared for both identifying process problems and engaging the process participants in crafting solutions. Participants apply the tools in simulations and explore how to use them in a process improvement opportunity at home. Objectives include: 1) identify what a process is and define process improvement; 2) understand and apply the plan-do-check-act cycle; 3) know how and when to apply various improvement tools; and 4) create an improvement plan for a selected process.

IT Performance Metrics and Customer Value Management 342

Country governments create value for citizens through the services they deliver. Doing so effectively and efficiently not only requires a keen understanding of how government service quality is impacted by the internal systems and processes which enable them, but also requires establishing metrics around these systems and processes in order to measure performance – after all if it isn’t measured, it isn’t managed. This facilitative course is designed to help county IT professionals understand the metrics that matter. By taking a customer-centric approach, participants will understand how to establish metrics across IT services, applications, and infrastructure, optimize performance over time, and communicate the benefits realized to the rest of the organization through a series of interactive discussions, group activities, and individual exercises.

Gather the right information to design the right systems

IT Business Analysis 340

In today’s world, technology drives organizational innovation. For county leaders this new reality means constantly finding innovative ways technology can advance their interests. County IT leaders must proactively create IT services that enable this innovation. This capability starts with effective requirements gathering, and is further enabled by high-quality project management programs and processes that focus on tracing business needs from initial request to final output to ensure nothing is lost in translation. This facilitative course is designed to equip county IT leaders with the knowledge and skills necessary to optimize requirements gathering in a way that drives the most organizational value. Participants will also have access to provide practical tools and templates that help to automate IT’s requirements gathering and project management activities, ensuring projects that deliver on expectations and avoid unnecessary rework.

How is IT service deliver positioned in your county? On the mark?

IT Service Management 341

IT exists in large measure to support other parts of the county—our internal customers. However, many IT departments do not approach IT delivery through a customer-service lens. Instead they focus on maintaining performance levels and reacting to requests. As cloud services proliferate, county leaders have more options available to procure IT services. By taking an “order taker” posture in this dynamic, IT functions risk being outsourced altogether, compromising the unique value they can provide the organization. This course will enable county IT leaders to properly position themselves against these external options, by helping them identify their current level of IT customer-service sophistication, and instilling the knowledge, tools, and templates required to institute a proactive IT service management operation.
