Scotiabank Mexico

YOUR SCOTIABANK PARTNER IN MEXICO

Scotiabank Inverlat S.A. was established in 1934 under the name of Banco Comercial Mexicano, and in 1993 it became a part of Grupo Financiero Inverlat, the seventh largest bank in Mexico.

In 1996, The Bank of Nova Scotia (Scotiabank) acquired a 10% interest in the company and was awarded a management contract by the Mexican government. In November 2000 Scotiabank took control of Grupo Financiero Inverlat when it increased its ownership to 55%. In April 2003 it acquired an additional 36% and in March 2004, acquired yet another 6% of the shares, bringing its total ownership stake to 97%.

As of January 15, 2001, Grupo Financiero Inverlat’s name was changed to Grupo Financiero Scotiabank and the banking arm’s name was changed to Scotiabank Inverlat, S.A. (Scotiabank Mexico) to reflect the new identity of the group as a member of the Scotiabank Group.

Grupo Financiero Scotiabank is one of the leading financial groups in Mexico, with more than 600 branches and 1,300 ATM’s throughout the country. It employs approximately 8,650 people in its main subsidiaries: Scotiabank Mexico, Scotia Casa de Bolsa, Scotia Fondos and Scotia Afore which together facilitate and offer an extensive range of financial services and products for individuals, small business and multinational corporations. We have earned a reputation for innovative products and excellent client service.

SERVICES

Scotiabank Mexico offers a broad range of financial services through its retail, commercial, and corporate banking groups. Scotiabank Mexico’s domestic retail banking network consists of branches with automated banking systems, offering current and savings accounts, call and term deposits, foreign exchange, ATMs, safety deposit boxes and telephone banking.

It also offers corporate services extending from multinationals to small businesses, including mid term loans, cash management services, trade finance products, Visa/MasterCard merchant services, real estate banking, trust services and business banking.

In 2006, Scotiabank Mexico launched a new business unit – Global Transaction Banking (GTB) – which offers global Cash Management, Trade Finance and Correspondent Banking solutions with a regional focus to both national and multinational companies and financial institutions.
