About this Summit

This Summit has become a unique forum for people from all disciplines and philosophies to gather for in-depth exchange of current information on all facets of violence, abuse and trauma, prevention, intervention and research. We are one of the very few events that include researchers, practitioners, advocates, consumer-survivors, and front-line workers from all disciplines to share information, discuss controversial issues, and engage in difficult dialogues. Topic tracks include: intimate partner violence, child maltreatment, children exposed to violence, at-risk youth, criminal justice issues, sexual victimization, people with disabilities, cultural diversity, trauma in military personnel, veterans and families, elder abuse, substance abuse, human trafficking, labor trafficking, vulnerable populations, prevention and more. We strive to infuse our theme of “Linking Research, Practice, Advocacy and Policy” into the presentations as well as into the thoughtfulness and professionalism reflected in the Summit content. A plenary roundtable discussion will include discussion of “Promoting Bystander Intervention Across the Lifespan.”

The National Partnership to End Interpersonal Violence Across the Lifespan (NPEIV) will again be hosting the annual NPEIV Think Tank and celebrating its 7th Anniversary this year. The Think Tank is composed of renowned national and international professionals, advocates and consumer-survivors in the fields of violence, abuse and trauma. This meeting is held each year prior to the Summit to advance its action-based mandate for the reduction and eradication of violence by identifying and addressing gaps and issues facing the fields. Additional information on the goals of the Think Tank and NPEIV are available on our website: www.ivatcenters.org or www.npeiv.org.

The vision of the Summit co-sponsors, collaborating organizations, exhibitors, and participants is to make a significant, positive impact on eliminating all forms of abuse everywhere. We are expecting over 1,000 attendees from around the globe to come together drawing from multi-ethnic and multicultural perspectives. Opportunities for networking are scheduled into the program to enhance informal discussions of cutting-edge research, prevention and intervention strategies, policy changes, innovative methods, healthcare approaches, advanced clinical concepts and skill-building essentials. Our unique Summit provides everyone with increased knowledge while laying the groundwork for realizing our universal vision for peace.

Continuing Education

The Summit and Post-Summit are approved for up to 26.5 Continuing Education (CE) credits for most professions. IVAT is approved by the American Psychological Association (APA) to sponsor continuing education for psychologists. IVAT maintains responsibility for this continuing education program and its content. IVAT has been approved by NBCC as an Approved Continuing Education Provider, ACEP No. 5659. Programs that do not qualify for NBCC credit are clearly identified. IVAT is solely responsible for all aspects of the programs. IVAT is approved by the California Board of Behavioral Sciences (PCE #33) to offer continuing education for LCSWs and MFTs. This conference meets the qualifications for up to 26.5 hours of continuing education for MFTs and LCSWs as required by the CA Board of Behavioral Sciences. IVAT is approved by the California Board of Registered Nurses to offer continuing education for nurses (CEP #13737). IVAT is approved by the State Bar of California to offer Minimum Continuing Legal Education for attorneys (#11600). IVAT is approved by the California Association of Alcoholism & Drug Counselors (CAADAC) to offer continuing education for certified alcohol and drug counselors (Provider #1S-03-499-0217). IVAT is also approved to offer continuing education for domestic violence offender treatment providers (DVOTP), child custody evaluators and physicians (CME). Please note that CE credits approved by CA agencies are accepted in most states.

Different sessions meet many licensure requirements for continuing education credits for child abuse, domestic violence, ethics, aging, substance abuse, child custody, domestic violence offender treatment, and child sexual abuse. Much, if not all, of your annual requirements for continuing education can be obtained at this Summit.

IVAT Specialty Certification Programs

Types of IVAT Specialty Certification Programs

Pre-Summit, Summit and Post-Summit Sessions meet many of the training requirements for the IVAT Specialty Certification Programs.

Specialty Certification in Domestic Violence Offender Treatment
Includes training and experience in working with both male and female intimate partner violence offenders, understanding the dynamics and safety issues involved in intimate partner violence and typologies of domestic violence offenders.

Specialty Certification in Child Custody Evaluations
Includes an understanding of the issues of child development, parenting abilities and issues, best interests of children, and assessment techniques in general and specifically regarding child custody cases. The dynamics of legal, forensic, and mental health issues are included.

Specialty Certification in Trauma Care
Includes an understanding of the various forms of trauma, short and long-term effects of trauma, and assessing and treating adults and/or children who have experienced both simple and complex trauma. The dynamics of post-traumatic stress disorder are included.

Child Advocacy Studies Training (CAST)
Focuses on experiential, interdisciplinary, ethical, and culturally sensitive content that provides professionals with common knowledge base for responding to child maltreatment. This certification focuses on development and understanding of the numerous factors that lead to child maltreatment, and the existing responses to child maltreatment.

National Partnership to End Interpersonal Violence Across the Lifespan (NPEIV)
The NPEIV is an overarching group of organizations, agencies and coalitions, and groups that embraces a national, multidisciplinary and multicultural commitment to violence prevention across the lifespan. The organization is committed to reducing interpersonal violence and its consequences through scientific research and application of empirical findings. Through its many partnerships and collaborations, the NPEIV is beginning to make great strides in pursuing this goal and achieving its objective of becoming an umbrella partnership of the many organizations, agencies, and advocates/victims working to end interpersonal violence.
PS 1: Tips on Testifying, Direct and Cross Examination

Date & Time: Thursday, August 25 – Friday, August 26, 2016 | 9:00am – 12:00pm / 1:30pm – 4:30pm

Fees: $190 Early Registration by July 1st | $210 by August 11th | $230 after August 11th and onsite

Abstract

This two-day course will provide a range of front-line professionals, and expert witnesses with the skills needed to effectively testify in court and, conversely, it will also provide litigators with the skill sets needed to conduct effective direct and cross-examination of lay and expert witnesses. The a.m. sessions would be for lay and expert witnesses testifying in court. The p.m. sessions are designed for litigators as well as witnesses in order to see how attorneys examine them. The first day does not require experience testifying in court but the second day is more advanced and requires experience or attendance at day 1. Ethical issues and practical techniques are emphasized throughout the training.

Objectives:

As a result of this presentation, participants will be able to:

1. Conduct direct and cross-examination of lay and expert witnesses.
2. Identify 2 practical issues of testifying in court.
3. Identify 2 skills needed to effectively testify in court.

Continuing Education: Approved up to 12.0 CE credits (including 6.0 hours in Ethics) for: Psychologists, Social Workers, Counselors, MFTs, and Attorneys.

PS 2: An Ethically Attuned and Healthy Therapist

Date & Time: Friday, August 26, 2016 | 9:00am – 12:00pm / 1:30pm – 4:30pm

Fees: $90 Early Registration by July 1st | $110 by August 11th | $130 after August 11th and onsite

Presenter: Mary Jo Barrett, MSW

Objectives:

As a result of this presentation, participants will be able to:

1. Identify 2 ways that providing ethically sound treatment impacts the energy of the therapist.
2. Identify 2 ways that ethical performance is based on a professional’s own energy management.
3. Identify 2 strategies for handling difficult ethical dilemmas with emphasis on electronic media dilemma.
4. Define and explain Compassion Fatigue and its interface with ethics.
5. Explain 2 ways to make a self-assessment for Ethical Attunement.
6. Create a wellness plan to maintain sound ethical behavior.

Continuing Education: Approved up to 6.0 CE credits (including 3.0 hours in Ethics) for: Psychologists, Social Workers, Counselors, MFTs, and Attorneys.

PS 3: DSM-5 and ICD-10: Trauma and Stress-Related, Paraphilic, and Personality Disorders

Date & Time: Friday, August 26, 2016 | 9:00am – 12:00pm / 1:30pm – 4:30pm

Fees: $90 Early Registration by July 1st | $110 by August 11th | $130 after August 11th and onsite

Presenters: Jennifer DeFeo, PhD, Chicago School of Professional Psychology; Marissa DeFeo, MFTI, Adjunct Professor, Chicago School of Professional Psychology

Abstract

This course will explore creating and maintaining sound ethical clinical attunement to self and others. We will explore these boundaries through the lens of the clinician’s self-care. It is ethically imperative for clinicians/health care providers to stay physically, emotionally, psychologically, and spiritually fit in order to provide ethically sound services. We will explore how our work impacts us and our professional choices. Together we will openly explore the ethical dilemmas we face. We will examine how to respond to a range of challenging clinical situations. We will discuss how to maintain our health and our professional ethical boundaries to assure a high quality of treatment is maintained.

Objectives

As a result of this presentation, participants will be able to:

1. List 2 specific changes from DSM IV-TR to DSM-5 relating to Trauma and Stressor-Related, Paraphilic, and Personality Disorders.
2. List 2 specific changes and transitions of ICD-9 to ICD-10 code systems for Trauma and Stressor-Related, Paraphilic, and Personality Disorders.
3. Discuss 2 ways to transition to DSM-5 and ICD-10 in clinical, research, and educational settings.

Continuing Education: Approved up to 6.0 CE credits for: Psychologists, Social Workers, Counselors, and MFTs.

PS 4: Specialized Risk Assessment Training: Assessing Sexually Abusive Youth (MEGA Empirically Guided Inventory of Ecological Aggregates For Assessing Sexually Abusive Children and Adolescents Ages 4–19)

Date & Time: Friday, August 26, 2016 | 8:30am – 12:00pm / 1:30pm – 4:30pm

Fees: $230 Early Registration by July 1st | $245 by August 11th | $260 after August 11th and onsite

Presenter: L.C. Miccio-Fonseca, PhD

Abstract

MEGA assesses the risk level of course sexual improprieties, and/or sexually abusive behavior of youth, males and females, ages 4-19 years and youth with low intellectual functioning. MEGA is the first risk assessment tool that provides an individualized comprehensive risk assessment report according to age and gender of the youth. MEGA validation and cross-validation studies are the largest studies in its field. The tool has been validated and cross-validated on combined samples of over 2200 youth, adjudicated or non-adjudicated. MEGA has demonstrated predictive validity.
Objectives
As a result of this presentation, participants will be able to:

1. Discuss the importance of differentiating between assessing young children 4-12 years and old youths 13 to 19 years.
2. Differentiate 2 risk factors for sexually abusive behaviors in male and female youths.
3. Differentiate the four risk levels, from low risk to the most serious sexually abusive youth, the Very High Risk.
4. Explain 2 ways to administer the MEGA on actual cases.
5. Explain 2 ways to interpret and apply the findings.

Continuing Education: Approved up to 6.5 CE credits for: Psychologists, Social Workers, Counselors, MFTs, and Attorneys

PS 5: Assessing and Managing Suicide Risk: Core Competencies for Mental Health Professionals

Date & Time: Friday August 26, 2016 | 8:30am – 12:00pm / 1:00pm – 4:30pm
Fees: $90 Early Registration by July 1st | $110 by August 11th | $130 after August 11th and onsite
Presenter: Derek Hsieh, PhD, American Association of Suicidology

Abstract
Suicide is a leading cause of death in the US and around the world. Individuals who have experienced violence, abuse and trauma are at a particularly higher risk for suicide. Studies have shown that a substantial proportion of people who died by suicide had either been in treatment or had some recent contact with a mental health professional. Yet many providers report that they feel inadequately trained to assess, treat, and manage suicidal patients or clients. This workshop covers 24 core competencies that mental health professionals should have to effectively assess and manage suicide risk. Developed by the Suicide Prevention Resource Center (SPRC) in conjunction with the American Association of Suicidology (AAS), it encapsulates our latest knowledge in the field, focusing on helpful attitudes and approach, understanding suicide, getting the right information, risk formulation, planning and responding to individuals at risk for suicide.

Objectives
As a result of this presentation, participants will be able to:

1. Recognize 2 common therapist emotional reactions to suicidal clients and their potential impacts on clients.
2. Identify 2 helpful attitudes and stances that contribute to a therapeutic alliance with suicidal clients.
3. List 2 major categories of information relevant to assessing a person’s suicide risk.
4. Identify 2 ways to know when and how to ask about suicide.
5. Formulate risk based on several key factors.
6. Develop a plan collaboratively with clients to manage their suicide risk.

Continuing Education: Approved up to 7.0 CE credits for: Psychologists, Social Workers, Counselors, and MFTs

Making Violence Prevention Urgent
James A. Mercy, PhD, Director of the Division of Violence Prevention (DVP) in the Center for Disease Control's (CDC) National Center for Injury Prevention and Control

The prevention of violence is an urgent public health and social challenge. Its effects reverberate through families, communities, nations, and across generations. We now understand that exposure to violence, in addition to causing physical injuries and homicide, also plays an important role in the etiology of mental illness, chronic disease, and even infectious diseases such as HIV. In the U.S. and across the world we face many daunting challenges, including the HIV epidemic, ongoing wars and conflicts, cardiovascular and other chronic diseases, and high suicide rates. Given the impact of violence on these outcomes, violence prevention can be viewed as a powerful lever that, if successfully engaged, can have a cross-cutting impact on a broad range of health and social challenges. Progress in preventing violence is advancing rapidly. There is every reason to believe that our understanding and capacity to prevent violence will make a difference if governments, their citizens, and the global community start now, act wisely, and work together.

Changing the Ending for Trauma Exposed Children
Casey Gwinn, JD, Alliance for Hope

Casey Gwinn will focus on the impact of trauma-exposure in children and youth. He will help attendees understand the complex impacts of childhood trauma through an overview of the nationally recognized Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACE) Study and the correlations to illness, disease, and criminality. He will then point the way forward toward the nationally recognized Camp HOPE America model of trauma-informed intervention designed to change the ending for trauma-exposed children including providing an understanding of HOPE research and ways to measure outcomes with children exposed to trauma. Every professional working with trauma-exposed children must fully understand the impacts of trauma before they can work successfully to help children navigate toward hope and healing.

Bystander Intervention: Prevent Violence, Address Trauma, Foster Altruism Born of Suffering
Ervin Staub, PhD
Dr. Staub will discuss the evolution of aggression and violence—learning by doing, and perpetrators justifying harmful actions by increasing devaluation of victims—among peers in schools, adults physically or sexually abusing children, and in genocide. The passivity of bystanders encourages perpetrators, and makes victims feel abandoned and helpless. Bystanders can provide information that generates positive images of the “other,” and foster significant contact. These and other practices can help overcome devaluation, generate empathy and also empower potential victims to act on their own behalf. Dr. Straub will mention a Training Active Bystanders we have developed and used in schools, and discuss how bystander actions and healing experiences can generate “altruism born of suffering” in survivors. He will also briefly describe work he and his associates have conducted in Rwanda after the genocide to promote healing and reconciliation, in order to prevent new violence and improve lives.

Imagined Communities – Creating a National Movement to Stop Violence
Erin Runnion, The Joyful Child Foundation
As we close this year’s Summit, Erin Runnion will share her inspiring story about uniting communities to protect children and challenge us all to leverage our important work by sharing our own stories about what we have done and what everyone can do to stop violence in our communities.
The University of Louisville ran a five-year federally funded grant from 2005-2010 that provided relationship education to 1,100 at-risk individuals in the community. The program provided tools for participants to aid in relationship decision-making, information regarding Intimate Partner Violence (IPV) and healthy relationships and the effect of IPV on children. The research found that there was a significant reduction (p<.001) in relationship violence as well as increase in the parent-child relationship, family cohesion and child well-being in highly controlling relationships. These classes did not include the Intimate Partner or child involved and has implications for future relationship violence reduction trainings and prevention. This presentation briefly presents the research data but focuses on what activities may have increased the parent-child relationship and decreased relationship violence. These activities will be practiced within the Summit workshop and participants should leave feeling comfortable with bringing the activities back to their clients, trainings and groups. The intended audience are any Summit participants who work with at-risk populations, those who work with parents in IPV relationships and those who are interested in the current research on the impact of relationship education on family cohesion, the parent-child relationship and child well-being by violence type. This session is unique from previous presentations in that it trains participants in relationship-building activities that contribute to family cohesion, the parent-child relationship and child well-being, and presents new research completed this fall.

Healing the Fractured Child: Diagnosis and Treatment of Youth with Dissociation

Frances S. Waters, DCSW, MSW, MFT

Trauma inflicted on a child can fracture the child's mind and spirit resulting in the child, for example, separating from “the self that experienced the trauma” or “separating from the trauma,” itself, in order to survive. This can result in a condition known as dissociation. Dissociation is most often misunderstood, unrecognized, and misdiagnosed condition in children and adolescents with complex trauma. These children receive multiple diagnoses and often experienced repeated failures in treatments and placements resulting in increased medication that have little if any efficacy to help them function. Children with dissociation are resistant to traditional interventions and require specialized techniques that address their dissociative defenses to improve their ability to achieve developmental milestones, relate to others, resolve their trauma, and become a unified self. This workshop will detail the process of diagnosing and treating children with various degrees of dissociation. Since resolving attachment impairments with the traumatized, dissociative children is critical to their recovery and their ability to live in a family setting, emphasis will be placed on specially designed interventions to resolve these impairments, and to help their parents/caretakers, as well, to promote attachment behavior with their children. Creative interventions will be described with the use of clinical vignettes, DVDs and artwork that demonstrate specialized intervention techniques to heal the fractured child. Special attention to resolving attachment disturbances will be provided.

San Diego

San Diego welcomes out-of-towners to America’s Finest city. Adventure awaits in the outdoors or choose from an abundance of indoor attractions to satisfy every interest. Blue skies stretch over 70 miles of beaches, and a gentle Mediterranean climate supports an array of leisure pursuits. Complete information is available through www.sandiego.org, the official website of the San Diego Convention & Visitors Bureau.

- The historic Gaslamp Quarter is filled with restaurants, nightclubs and boutiques.
- SeaWorld offers a variety of entertainment, rides and marine life exhibits (Town and Country has a direct shuttle).
- Balboa Park is the nation’s largest urban cultural park and is home to many attractions like the San Diego Zoo.
- Coronado Island has beautiful beaches and the historic Hotel del Coronado.
- Shopping at Seaport Village; Fashion Valley; Shops at The Hotel del Coronado; Horton Plaza; La Jolla Village; Carlsbad and Otay Mesa Premium Outlets; Old Town San Diego for Mexican treasures.
- Harbor Excursions – Star of India Tour or a romantic evening cruise.
- Downtown: Little Italy; Gaslamp Quarter; Serra Museum; New Children’s Museum; San Diego Civic Theatre; San Diego Convention Center; East Village.
- Seasonal events occur at PETCO Park (San Diego Padres Baseball games) and Qualcomm Stadium (home of the San Diego Chargers Football team).

We will offer self-care and wellness activities throughout the Summit.

Workshops may include: yoga, Zumba, meditation, arts and crafts, comedy as stress relief and more.

Self-Care means being aware of times when we are feeling overwhelmed and need to take a moment to debrief with others, or to slow down and focus on how to best support and nurture ourselves by addressing our physical, spiritual and psychological needs.
VOLUNTEERS NEEDED!!!
Exchange your hours of service for registration fees (5 hours = 1 day of sessions). Attend the entire Summit for 20 hours of support and have a great time doing it! Pay only a $25.00 processing fee (CE costs are additional).
We need Room Monitors for Breakout Sessions, Registration and Continuing Education assistance, as well as in-office, before-summit clerical support, and set-up help. Flexibility and cooperation are key qualities for the 100 volunteers needed, 5-10 hours, in any combination, at least a 5-hour minimum.
Access the IVAT website (www.ivatcenters.org) to complete and then send or fax your volunteer application forms.

Please Join the National Partnership to End Interpersonal Violence Across the Lifespan (NPEIV)
Saturday, August 27th 2016 for our Annual Think Tank!
We are celebrating our 7th Anniversary this year!

Our Mission:
To make the prevention of interpersonal violence a national priority and to encourage healthy relationships by linking science, practice, policy, and advocacy.

Our Vision:
To end all types of interpersonal violence, for all people, in all communities, at all stages of life.

The primary goal is the development of a large-scale partnership of all Think Tank representative organizations and coalitions to provide a single, unified voice to influence policy makers while remaining politically neutral

Our Think Tank Goals:
- Bringing together over 100+ local, regional, national and international leaders, researchers, practitioners, consumer-survivors, policy makers and advocates and representatives from grassroots organizations to network and learn from each other
- Strategizing to promote peace in the home and communities around the world
- Creating multidisciplinary solutions to prevent violence and abuse across the lifespan
- Defining strategies and promoting the expansion of system responsiveness to families experiencing violence in the field of training, practice, and policy
- Identifying academic and practice alliances to support evidence-based service delivery
- Determining how to best disseminate state-of-the-science and applied knowledge about exposure to interpersonal violence
- Disseminating promising and best practices in prevention and intervention through An Awesome Opportunity: A National Plan to End Interpersonal Violence Across the Lifespan

Sponsorship Opportunities

Contact Angela Schwab at 858-527-1860 x4310 or angela.schwab@alliant.edu to learn more about the different opportunities and benefits.

Become a Summit Collaborator

There is no cost to become a Collaborator and collaboration offers many benefits!

Collaborating organizations provide in-kind support and services. Examples include:

• Providing staff for volunteer assistance during the Summit
• Printing, copying, and mailing of Summit materials
• Providing a representative to actively participate in the Summit planning committee
• Disseminating IVAT Summit promotional materials through networks, websites, listservs, and events

In exchange for support, collaborating organizations receive advertising on the IVAT website, dissemination of information through IVAT’s networks, recognition in the Summit program and materials, etc.

Contact Angela Schwab for more information at (858) 527-1860 x4310 or angela.schwab@alliant.edu
