DEGREE CANDIDATES

College at Florham degree candidates, see page 10.
Metropolitan Campus degree candidates, see page 18.
FDU-Vancouver degree candidates, see page 36.

See inside back cover for seating plan.

Note: An undergraduate student whose cumulative grade point ratio (CGPR) for four years is 3.85 will receive his or her degree summa cum laude; if the CGPR is 3.67, magna cum laude; if the CGPR is 3.33, cum laude. Only weighted grades will be included in computing honors. Only the credits taken at Fairleigh Dickinson University, a minimum of 54 credits, will be used in this evaluation. These criteria apply to all undergraduate students entering the University as of August/September 2006.

Due to time constraints associated with the printing of the programs, the honors listed therein were determined as of the end of the fall semester. The final listing for the commencement period will include those honors earned as of the completion of the spring semester, and diplomas will reflect this achievement.

This program does not represent an official list of certified graduates.
Mankind’s sole salvation, according to the Nobel laureate Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn, “lies in everyone making everything his business: in the people of the East being vitally concerned with what is thought in the West, the people of the West vitally concerned with what goes on in the East.”

Those words capture the spirit of your life’s work, which has enriched the lives of thousands — including Fairleigh Dickinson University’s own faculty and students — through your invaluable insights, perspectives and connections.

Our own educational mission at FDU is to connect our students to a world beyond their own. We encourage them to see the world through the eyes of others … to take an active interest in affairs that may seem distant … and to be engaged as citizens of the world.

You have played a central role in helping our University realize these goals. Your lasting legacy is the renewal of our relationship with the United Nations, largely made possible through your counsel. As a nongovernmental organization at the United Nations, FDU now enjoys special access to a wealth of resources and programs. You were particularly instrumental in the creation of our U.N. Pathways Program, offering our students extraordinary learning, networking and internship opportunities.

You also stand as an exemplary role model for our students, achieving great success as an international business executive. A native of Germany, you came to the United States in 1961. You soon embarked on a long career with Hoechst, a German-based pharmaceutical company, where you ultimately rose to its board and executive committee. You then took on new challenges in international management and environmental advisory services. A global visionary, you founded the CEOs Roundtable of German-American Companies in the United States and received the Order of Merit from the president of Germany in recognition of your contributions in strengthening American-German relations.

As a member of the United Nations’ business council and its advisory board, you have been accorded much-deserved recognition by the state of New Jersey for connecting students and faculty of colleges and universities with U.N. representatives. As the leader in global education, Fairleigh Dickinson is deeply indebted to you for your efforts to infuse an awareness of global issues and interdependencies in business and education.

Therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Board of Trustees of Fairleigh Dickinson University, the faculty concurring, I hereby confer upon you the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters,

H. Friedrich Holzapfel
Doctor of Humane Letters

Frank R. Lautenberg
Doctor of Humane Letters

You once summed up the focus of your political career as simply a desire to impact the “things that affect everyday life.” For nearly 30 years, you have strived to improve the quality of life for families — always driven to give back to the country that provided you so many opportunities for an education and career.

Yours is the quintessential American success story. Born in Paterson — not far from Ellis Island where your immigrant parents first entered the United States — you learned a great deal from your poor, hard-working family. You were just a senior in high school when your father died, and you worked nights and weekends to help support your family. After serving in the U.S. Army Signal Corps during World War II, you went on to pursue your degree at Columbia University on the G.I. Bill.

Upon graduation, you joined two boyhood friends in founding the nation’s first payroll services company. After helping build Automated Data Processing into one of the world’s largest computing-services companies, you embarked on a career as a public servant. Elected a United States senator in 1982, you served three terms before retiring briefly in 2000. Re-elected in 2002 and 2008, you are now New Jersey’s longest-serving senator.

As a member of three of the Senate’s most powerful committees and chairman of three subcommittees, your accomplishments are legendary. You wrote the law to ban smoking on domestic airline flights and played a key role in raising the drinking age to 21. You fought to ban gun ownership by those convicted of domestic violence; to save health insurance for children; to reimburse military families who bought body armor for loved ones; and to modernize the G.I. Bill.

You also have mightily protected New Jersey’s transportation needs, helped guard our nation against future terrorist attacks and provided crucial leadership about funding priorities for the U.S. Department of Homeland Security.

Fairleigh Dickinson University particularly applauds your leadership in improving educational access and affordability for the next generation of college students. A number of our educational initiatives — including scholarship and loan programs, the Cyber Crime Training Lab, our Latino Promise Program and the national Yellow Ribbon Program for veterans — have benefited greatly from your support.

Therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Board of Trustees of Fairleigh Dickinson University, the faculty concurring, I hereby confer upon you the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters,

Mark A. Meyer
Doctor of Humane Letters

Buddhist philosopher Daisaku Ikeda defines the elements of global citizenship as “The wisdom to perceive the interconnectedness of all life and living … the courage not to fear or deny difference, but … to understand people of different cultures and to grow from encounters with them … and the compassion to maintain an imaginative empathy that reaches beyond one’s immediate surroundings and extends to those suffering in distant places.”

These traits are emblematic of your own journey as a global citizen. As a participant in history and leader in the world marketplace, you have helped transform the economic, legal and political landscape of Eastern Europe. You credit your undergraduate experiences at Fairleigh Dickinson University for kindling your international awareness and honing your leadership skills. Today, as an attorney with Herzfeld & Rubin, P.C., you are widely recognized among the world’s leading international corporate lawyers.

Your special focus has been the Balkans, particularly Romania — a country that captured your heart and imagination during your first visit in 1990. For more than two decades, you have served as chairman of the Romanian-American Chamber of Commerce, the world’s largest bilateral trade organization devoted to that country. You helped generate hundreds of millions in investment dollars for Romania and played a key role in gaining its admission into NATO.

You have served as a special adviser for legal and economic matters to six European heads of state, including the presidents of Romania, the Republic of Moldova and the Republic of Montenegro. As chair of the European Affairs Committee of the New York City Bar Association, you led a mission that authored an influential report on violations of international law in the Moldovan separatist enclave of Transnistria.

Your counsel has won you lasting respect and honor: Romania’s president awarded you the Romanian National Order of Merit in the rank of Commander, and you received the Libertatea Award as one of the 10 most significant people in the world. It worked; you have a chemistry major with a 3.95 grade point ratio, has been admitted to the Ph.D. program, and has made the FDU Honors List each semester since her freshman year. Last summer, Markiewicz interned at Brookhaven National Laboratory in Upton, N.Y., in a research team with an FDU faculty member and a classmate. Since fall 2009, Markiewicz worked part-time as a science and math tutor for undergraduates at FDU’s Academic Support Center. This academic year, she was a teaching assistant for physical chemistry lab courses. She is a resident of Parsippany, N.J.

Beatrice Markiewicz is the child of immigrants who didn’t have an opportunity to attend college themselves but stressed the importance of academic achievement. It worked; Markiewicz, a chemistry major with a 3.95 grade point ratio, has been admitted to the Ph.D. chemistry program at the University of Pennsylvania. She has been honored twice by the American Chemical Society for outstanding performance and has won awards at FDU Research Day for her junior thesis on ethanol fuel and her senior thesis, which described using two types of spectroscopy to learn more about a compound and a chemical interaction.

Markiewicz has received several research and academic grants, including a Col. Fairleigh S. Dickinson Scholarship, and has made the FDU Honors List each semester since her freshman year. Last summer, Markiewicz interned at Brookhaven National Laboratory in Upton, N.Y., in a research team with an FDU faculty member and a classmate. Student Pinnacle Award
Metropolitan Campus

Michèle Holzwarth Hagen came to FDU from Berlin, Germany, to play golf and study, excelling at both. Graduating with a B.S. in business administration, her academic awards include the Northeast Conference (NEC) Golf Scholar-Athlete of the Year; NEC Athletic Honor Roll; and FDU Athletic Alpha Beta Award, Dean’s List and Honors List. A member of the University Honors Program and the National Athletic Honors Society, she helped lead the women’s golf team to four NEC championship titles in four years. She was the individual NEC women’s golf champion in 2009, FDU Female Athlete of the Year in 2008 and 2009 and Most Valuable Player for Knights women’s golf for three years.

A team captain since her sophomore year, she was the NEC Rookie of the Year in 2008 and the NEC Player of the Year in 2008 and 2010. She was a resident assistant and the golf representative on the Student Athletic Advisory Committee. Last fall, she and two friends started Spectrum, a campus support group for lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender students. Holzwarth Hagen is applying to graduate programs in sports administration, both in the United States and Germany.

THE PRESIDENT

Widely known for his commitment to international education and to fostering cross-cultural understanding, J. Michael Adams joined Fairleigh Dickinson University as president on July 1, 1999.

At the University, he has inspired a new mission building on long-standing traditions. The mission — to prepare world citizens through global education — was adopted by the Board of Trustees and endorsed by the faculty in 2000. Since then, Adams has led the development of numerous initiatives designed to integrate the global mission throughout the University.

Prior to joining FDU, Adams served 15 years as academic dean of the Nesbitt College of Design Arts at Drexel University in Philadelphia, Pa. Adams led the transformation of Nesbitt College into one of the premier design schools in the United States.

He went to Drexel from the State University of New York at Oswego, where he served as chair of the department of industrial technology and professor of education. Adams also held positions as director of research development (1979 to 1981) and dean of the alumni college (1982 to 1984). From 1975 to 1976, he served as a U.S. Congressional Fellow.

The author of nine books, Adams’ publications and research cover a wide variety of topics including print, publishing, communication and career development as well as topics specific to higher education. His most recent book, Coming of Age in a Globalized World: The Next Generation, explores the impact of globalization and examines the case for world citizenship through global education.

Adams is active with many national and international education organizations. In 2008, he was named president-elect of the International Association of University Presidents (IAUP), and he begins a three-year term as president in June 2011. He also serves on the U.N./IAUP Commission on Disarmament Education, Conflict Resolution and Peace and is a National Council member of the United Nations Association of the United States of America. Adams also is a member of the Steering Committee of the World Bank’s Researchers Alliance for Development and the Editorial Advisory Board for International Educator, the flagship bimonthly magazine of NAFSA: Association of International Educators.

Adams holds a B.S. from Illinois State University, Normal; an M.S. from University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign; and a Ph.D. from Southern Illinois University, Carbondale. In 1997, he attended Harvard University's Institute for Educational Management and, in 1999, Harvard's Institute for New Presidents.

THE UNIVERSITY

Fairleigh Dickinson University looks back with tremendous pride to the accomplishments achieved and looks ahead to even greater levels of excellence.

Founded in 1942 by Dr. Peter Sammartino and his wife, Sylvia (Sally), Fairleigh Dickinson University has grown into the largest private university in New Jersey. More than 12,000 students from 45 states and 86 other countries are enrolled on the FDU's two campuses in New Jersey and its overseas campuses in Wroxton, England, and Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada.

Beginning as a two-year junior college in Rutherford, today the University offers nearly 100 degree programs at the associate, baccalaureate, master's and doctoral levels. Fairleigh Dickinson University strongly emphasizes an international component to its curriculum and provides its students with a global and multicultural perspective.

The University has consistently been an innovator, adapting to the changing educational demands of the students it serves. Responding to the need for higher education in northern New Jersey, the college expanded to a four-year curricula in 1948.

In 1954, the first graduate program — a master's degree in business administration — was offered, and Bergen Junior College in Teaneck was purchased as a second campus. In 1956, Fairleigh Dickinson attained university status. One year later, the beautiful 178-acre Vanderbilt-Twombly estate in Florham Park and Madison, New Jersey, was acquired to serve as another campus.

FDU became the first American university to own a campus in England when it acquired Wroxton College from Trinity College, Oxford University. Opened in 1965, Wroxton College offers American students an array of graduate and undergraduate programs as well as an enriching cultural experience. Formerly a 13th-century abbey, Wroxton College is now a beautifully restored and modernized Jacobean mansion.

Established in 1998, the Anthony J. Petrocelli College of Continuing Studies addresses the special educational needs of nontraditional students, including adult learners.

Over the years Fairleigh Dickinson University has maintained its commitment to broadening global horizons and fostering greater international understanding. In 2000, the Board of Trustees adopted a newly focused mission for FDU: to prepare students for world citizenship through global education.

In addition to Wroxton College, the University opened its second international campus in Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada, in fall 2007.

Each of the University campuses has developed a unique character and vitality. The Metropolitan Campus, located in Teaneck, features a university atmosphere with an international perspective attracting nearly equal numbers of graduate and undergraduate students from throughout the United States and around the world. Fairleigh Dickinson’s College at Florham in suburban Madison offers a classical undergraduate and graduate experience for the contemporary world in a small college setting.

With the depth and breadth of its faculty and programs, Fairleigh Dickinson University has positioned itself as a quality, comprehensive private university serving the citizens of New Jersey and beyond.

CLASS OF 1961

The Fairleigh Dickinson University community is pleased to acknowledge and congratulate members of the class of 1961 as they celebrate a milestone this year — the 50th anniversary of their graduation.

TRADITIONALLY...

Traditions link the present to the past and the future. In addition to the academic customs exhibited in the Commencement ceremony, Fairleigh Dickinson University has several unique traditions on display today.

At Fairleigh Dickinson, the academic processional includes the bagpipers, a practice dating back to the University’s eighth commencement in 1951. Since then, it has become a tradition at graduation and other ceremonies for the pipers to play.

Other traditions recognize Fairleigh Dickinson University’s global and multicultural background. International flags have become a part of many ceremonies and events. Whenever a spiritual thought is appropriate, a diversity of views is presented. In addition to the singing of the “Alma Mater,” the University has returned to a tradition established by its founder, Peter Sammartino, of having all join in the singing of the time-honored “Auld Lang Syne.”

THE ACADEMIC COSTUME

The academic regalia worn by University officials and faculty at today’s commencement ceremony are infrequently seen outside of formal academic occasions. The gowns, caps and hoods once were the regular apparel of European university students and faculty during the Middle Ages. At that time, both faculty and students were considered part of the clergy and were required to don the ecclesiastical dress, roba and caputum, patterned after the habit of the Benedictine Order. The regalia also served a practical purpose, providing warmth in the unheated stone buildings of most medieval universities.

In the United States, caps and gowns had been in limited use by colleges and universities since Colonial times. It was not until a century later that a widespread student move-
The Hoods

The most distinctive feature of academic attire, the hood lends color and definition to academic ceremonies. Once used as a head covering, a shoulder cape and even a receptacle for collecting alms in medieval times, the hood is now a purely ceremonial black shell of varying sizes and colored borders suspended from the shoulders and worn down the back.

The significance of academic hoods is symbolized in their varying lengths, and the colors and thicknesses of their velvet linings and trim. The bachelor's hood, for example, is three feet long with a two-inch-wide velvet border. Master's degree recipients wear a hood three-and-a-half feet long with a three-inch border. Doctoral hoods are four feet long and have a five-inch-wide border.

More distinctive, however, are the colors of the hoods' inner linings and outer trim. The colors of the inner lining correspond to the colors of the institution conferring the degree, while the colors of the border designate the academic discipline in which the degree was granted. A representative listing includes:

THE MACE

The mace, a traditional symbol of authority, is carried in the academic procession by the grand marshal. The Fairleigh Dickinson University mace was presented to the University in 1957 by Mr. and Mrs. Leo Pollak of New York City. It is one of only three maces of its type in the United States and was purchased for the University from Seymour B. Wyler, author of The Book of Sheffield Plate and The Book of Old Silver.

A very rare example of 18th-century Sheffield plate, it was made in 1765 for the Riddell family and bears its crest. A member of that family was an English representative to the Holland town of Duysberg.

THE PRESIDENT'S MEDALLION

Along with the traditional academic regalia and trappings common to colleges and universities throughout the United States, most institutions also possess some unique or distinctive symbol of the presidential office that is conveyed through succeeding administrations. Fairleigh Dickinson University commissioned the design and crafting of a President's Medallion for the inauguration of Robert H. Donaldson on March 29, 1985.

The President's Medallion is in the form of a hexagonal shield, a variation of the University “Shield of Arms.” In the center of the Medallion is the gold-plated coat of arms. The motto, Fortiter et Suaviter (Bravely and pleasantly), is engraved above the shield, and around it are engraved the words “Fairleigh Dickinson University 1942.” The gold-plated frame of the Medallion is surmounted by a crest consisting of buildings symbolizing the campuses.

Kurt J. Matzdorf, professor emeritus of gold and silversmithing at the State University of New York, College at New Paltz, and internationally known for his ceremonial and religious silver, designed and created the President's Medallion.

ALMA MATER

Goodhart-Davis

Praise to thee, O Alma Mater, faithfully we sing,
Hear our joyful voices ringing, Fairleigh Dickinson.
Campus halls, that oft recall us, memories will bring,
Campus lights will ever guide us, when the day is done.

Chorus

Alma Mater, we will cherish each day of the years
We were privileged to spend here, tho’ our parting nears.

AULD LANG SYNE

Should auld acquaintance be forgot,
And never brought to mind?
Should auld acquaintance be forgot,
And days of auld lang syne?
For auld lang syne, my dear,
For auld lang syne.
We'll take a cup of kindness yet,
For auld lang syne.
DEGREE CANDIDATES
The candidates from the College at Florham, Madison, New Jersey, who have qualified for their degrees during the 2010–2011 academic year are recommended to the Board of Trustees by the Faculty of Fairleigh Dickinson University for the degrees indicated.
