Rottnest Chapel Clergy Roster (Priests)

The Anglican Diocese of Perth has an arrangement with the Rottnest Island Authority to manage the use of the Rottnest Island Chapel and preside at a regularly scheduled 9.30am service on Sundays. This means we offer an Anglican Eucharistic liturgy with an ecumenical spirit of welcome. Michael Wood is the Coordinating Chaplain. Michael would like to hear from Anglican Priests who would like to preside at a Sunday service (accompanied by up to 6 night’s accommodation in the ‘clergy house’ as ‘Duty Chaplain’) between August 2016 and July 2017. To be eligible for the roster, your name must be on the ‘active clergy’ list, a link to which can be found at the bottom of ‘ad Clerum’. Due to the requirements of the lease, only priests (and their families) who are presiding on Sunday are able to use the clergy house.

Please send an expression of interest to Michael Wood by Friday 11th June 2016. Michael will then email you a list of available dates. After you return your preferences, dates will be allocated by ‘ballot’.

Call for Papers

Anglican EcoCare Journal of Ecotheology-Papers on Environment and Spirituality

Contributing to The Anglican EcoCare Journal is an excellent platform for students, researchers and practitioners to engage with Eco Theology and present new developments in the area. Articles with a distinctly Australian orientation and which engage with contemporary environmental issues are especially desired. The editorial committee is happy to review abstracts and comment on whether a proposed paper falls within the scope of the publication.

Ongoing Violence in Sudan

The last few months has seen an escalation of government sponsored violence in the Nuba Mountains near the border between Sudan and South Sudan. Random bombings, long-range artillery and ground forces have killed and injured hundreds of civilians- many women and children- and destroyed the village homes and gardens where they grow various crops to live on.

“All we can do is pray” says Reverend Galal Bashir. “Every week, people call me for help, but what can we do?”

Relatives and friends of these victims live among us and worship with us. Please pray for them in your parish intercessions and keep yourself aware of what is happening in their homelands via this link to independent news services:

Protective Behaviours Training (Church safe)

Churchsafe Training has commenced and takes on a completely different approach to any previous awareness on safeguarding. Ms Andrea Musulin who has worked at the coalface of child protection with the WA Police Force for 30 years gives a very clear and powerful message on child sexual abuse, grooming and predatory behaviours, protection strategies and empowering children.

The feedback has been exceptional and, while it is a requirement that the following must attend, everyone is urged to participate in one of these sessions.

- Clergy who did not attend a Professional Development Day in 2015;
- LPM’s;
- Any person in a leadership role in the Parish;
- Any person involved with children’s ministry or activities.
