This article summarises the key tax developments (excluding case law developments) that have taken place during the period from October 2012 to February 2013. The key developments revolve around the enactment of the Finance Act 2012, the gazetting of several proposals as announced in the recent Budget as well as Public Rulings, the updates on double tax agreements and administrative guidelines.

Several gazette orders issued during this period relate to tax incentives offered to companies carrying on a qualifying activity in RAPID Complex in Southern Johor. Tax incentives proposed for private and international schools, pre-schools as well as kindergartens have also been gazetted. The Inland Revenue Board (“IRB”) has also issued several Public Rulings during this period, including rulings on reinvestment allowance, employee share scheme benefits and tax treatment of real estate investment trusts.

Malaysia has finally signed and gazetted the Malaysia-Hong Kong double taxation agreement (“DTA”). Although not ratified yet, it is interesting to note that the reduced withholding tax rates under the DTA are similar to that of the Malaysia-Singapore DTA.

This PR was issued on October 12, 2012 to replace PR No. 2/2008 on Reinvestment Allowance (“RA”) issued on April 3, 2008. Essentially, it highlights the new RA provisions introduced in the 2009, 2011 and 2012 Budgets. The following are some of the salient changes made to PR 2/2008:

• With effect from the year of assessment 2009, a company or a person has to be in operation for not less than 36 months (instead of 12 months) to be eligible for RA;
• With effect from the year of assessment 2012, RA for projects located in the promoted area¹ can only be deducted against 70% of statutory income (instead of 100%);
• With effect from the year of assessment 2009, the definition of “qualifying project” as provided for under paragraph 8, Schedule 7A of the ITA has been amended as follows: “a project undertaken by a company, in expanding, modernizing or automating its existing business in respect of manufacturing of a product or any related product within the same industry or in diversifying its existing business into any related product within the same industry”²

The term “manufacturing” for the purpose of RA is defined as:-
• transformation by manual or mechanical means of organic or inorganic materials into a new product by altering the size, shape, composition, nature or quality of such materials;
• assembly of parts into a piece of machinery or products; or
• mixing of materials by a chemical reaction process including biochemical process that changes the structure of a molecule by the breaking of the intra molecular bonds.

It specifically excludes various activities which do not need special skills, machines, apparatus or equipment specially produced for carrying out these activities such as installation, simple packaging operations, simple fixing, simple assembly of parts and simple mixing of any products.

• With effect from the year of assessment 2012, a “factory” means “portion of the floor areas of a building or an extension of a building used for the purpose of a qualifying project to place or install plant and machinery or to store any raw materials or goods or materials manufactured prior to sale”. The storage area cannot exceed 10% of the total floor area of the building or extension. A factory does not include the areas used for research and development, canteen, nursery, living accommodation, sports and recreation.
• With effect from the year of assessment 2009, RA is withdrawn if an asset is disposed within 5 years (instead of 2 years) from the date of acquisition of the asset.

Public Ruling 7/2012 (PR7/2012) – Taxation of Unit Holders of Real Estate Investment Trusts/ Property Trust Funds

This PR was issued on October 29, 2012 and explains the tax treatment of distribution of income from real estate investment trusts (REITs)/ property trust funds (PTFs) in Malaysia to its unit holders. The PR states the following:

• Distribution of income, which is tax exempt at REIT/PTF level - REITs/PTFs are exempt from tax if 90% or more of their total income for a year of assessment is distributed to unit holders. However, unit holders are liable to tax on this distribution of income.
• Distribution of income, which has been taxed at REIT/PTF level - Unit holders who receive income distribution, which has been subject to tax at the REIT/PTF level, would not be subject to any further taxes upon the distribution. The income distribution would carry with it a tax credit, which can be utilised by the unit holders to offset against the tax payable by them.

² Prior to the year of assessment 2009, the definition includes both manufacturing and processing activities.
³ Withholding tax
• Distribution of tax-exempt income received by REIT/PTF – Such income which is distributed to unit holders will continue to be tax exempt in the hands of the unit holders.

• The relevant tax rates which are applicable to the unit holders are summarised below:

Public Ruling 8/2012 (PR8/2012) – Real Estate Investment Trusts/ Property Trust Funds – An Overview

This PR was issued on November 2, 2012 to provide an overview of REITs/PTFs and Islamic REITs in Malaysia. The salient points of PR are as follows:

• REITs in Malaysia are launched in 2005 as a rebranding of PTFs and they represent funds that invest primarily in real estate. Islamic REITs are similar to conventional REITs except that their investments are made through Syariah-compliant capital market instruments. The operation of both conventional and Islamic REITs is governed by the Securities Commission.

• A key feature of the REITs/PTFs concept is the tax transparency status provided under the Malaysian tax system whereby the income of REITs/PTFs is only taxed at the unit holders’ level. This is provided that the REITs/PTFs distribute 90% or more of its total income to unit holders.

• Conventional REITs/PTFs and Islamic REITs share similar characteristics such as valuation, trustees, management companies and property manager. However, Islamic REITs are required to have a Syariah committee/adviser to perform certain professional functions as specified in the Islamic REITs Guidelines such as to review, monitor and approve investments made by the Islamic REITs.

• Based on the guidelines on REITs and Islamic REITs issued by the Securities Commission ("SC Guidelines"), both conventional REITs/PTFs and Islamic REITs are only authorised to make the certain prescribed investments.

• In both conventional REITs/PTFs and Islamic REITs, returns to unit holders will be from the income generated through the use of real estates (such as rental income) and capital gains (such as gains from sale of investments). Based on the SC Guidelines, the funds can only be charged with certain expenses including management fees, costs of maintaining real estates, fees for valuation of investments, etc.

Public Ruling 9/2012 (PR 9/2012) – Taxation of Real Estate Investment Trusts – Property Trust Funds

This PR was issued on November 26, 2012 to explain the tax treatment accorded to approved REITs/PTFs in Malaysia. The key features of this PR are summarised as follows:

• The basis year for a year of assessment or the financial accounting period, which ends on a day other December 31 is the basis period of REITs/PTF for that year of assessment.

• With effect from the year of assessment 2005, a specific provision was introduced in the ITA (Section 63C) for the taxation of REITs/PTFs. Based on the said section, rental income received by REITs/PTFs from its investments in real properties is treated as business income.

• The amount of deductible expenses incurred is restricted to the gross income from the rental source, i.e. any excess expenditure cannot be offset against other sources of income or carried forward to future years of assessment. Similar treatment is accorded in respect of capital allowances allowable under Schedule 3 of the ITA.

• The tax treatment on income of REITs/PTFs is as follows:
  - With effect from year of assessment 2007, REITs/PTFs are fully exempt from tax for a year of assessment if they distribute to their unit holders 90% or more of their total income in the basis period for that year of assessment. Where the distribution is less than 90%, the whole chargeable income will be subject to tax at the prevailing corporate tax rate.
  - Certain interest income earned by REITs/PTFs is exempt from tax, including interest from saving certificates and securities/bonds issued by the Government, debentures (other than convertible loan stock) approved by the Securities Commission and Bon Simpanan Malaysia issued by Bank Negara Malaysia.
• Taxable dividend income forms part of the total income of REITs/PTFs and tax credits attached to the dividends are given to the REITs/PTFs. When the total income of the REITs/PTFs is distributed to the unit holder, the distribution is subject to tax at the unit holder level.

• The tax-exempt income received by REITs/PTFs (e.g. capital gains and certain interest income) is not included in computing the total income of REITs/PTFs.

• Distribution of REITs/PTFs income to unit holders:
  - If REITs/PTFs intend to distribute 90% or more of its total income but has fallen short of 90% at the end of the basis period, REITs/PTFs are given a grace period of 2 months from the closing of the accounts to distribute the balance so as to enjoy the tax exemption at the REITs/PTFs level.
  - Where REITs/PTFs that are tax-exempt distribute income, which is deemed derived from Malaysia to a unit holder, the payer is required to deduct tax at the applicable rates (please see the table above for details).
  - REITs/PTFs are required to prepare distribution vouchers for unit holders based on the share of each unit holder at the time of distribution containing details such as payment date, accounting period, number of units held, taxable income, Malaysian tax, net amount payable, etc.
  - REITs/PTFs are also required to furnish the abovementioned information to the IRB.

Public Ruling 10/2012 (PR10/2012) – Tax Treatment of Malaysian Ship

This Ruling was issued on December 13, 2012 and explains the tax treatment of a Malaysian Ship and the exemption of shipping income in respect of a person resident in Malaysia prior to the year of assessment 2014. The salient points from the PR are as follows:

• A resident person who operates a Malaysian ship is eligible for tax exemption provided that the qualifying criteria under subsection 54A(1)° of the ITA are satisfied. A “Malaysian Ship” is defined as a sea-going ship registered as such under the Merchant Shipping Ordinance 1952, other than a ferry, barge, tug-boat, supply vessel, crew boat, lighter, dredger, fishing boat or other similar vessel.

• Based on Section 54(2)(a) of the ITA, gross income of a resident person from the business of transporting passengers or cargo by sea is ascertained by reference to his income from wherever derived or accrued (i.e. on a world income scope basis). To qualify for the abovementioned exemption, the said business has to be carried on by a resident person on a Malaysian Ship.

• Where a person who is resident for a year of assessment carries on the qualifying business of letting out on charter a Malaysian Ship owned by him on a voyage or time charter basis, the statutory income for that year of assessment from that business is exempt from tax. Based on the PR, time charter refers to the chartering of a ship based on a specific period of time for the use of the ship while voyage charter refers to the chartering of a ship based on a particular voyage from one port or place to another.

• Profits derived from letting out Malaysian ship on bareboat charter and the business of operating cruise tours on board a Malaysian Ship do not qualify for tax exemption.

• Where both Malaysian Ships and non-Malaysian Ships are used in the business of a resident person, tax exemption is restricted to the income derived from Malaysian Ships only. Where the business income of a resident person is exempt, capital allowances for every asset owned and used in the business is deemed to have been claimed and given, effective from the year of assessment 2009. This provision has the effect of reducing the exempt income.

- Where there is more than one Malaysian Ship in determining the income of a person exempt under section 54A of the ITA, the business income derived from all the Malaysian Ships shall be treated as one source. In determining the income of a person under section 54A, the capital allowance claimed or deemed to have been claimed in respect of any Malaysian Ship is deductible against the income of other Malaysian Ships.

- Based on Section 54A(2)(b) of the ITA, an adjusted loss incurred in respect of the operation of a Malaysian ship can only be deducted against the income exempt under the said section. The balance of such loss is not available as a deduction against other income.

Public Ruling 11/2012 (PR 11/2012) – Employee Share Scheme Benefit

This PR was also issued on December 13, 2012 and explains the tax treatment of benefits arising from employee share schemes. It also explains the determination of the amount of employee share scheme, which is taxable as well as the responsibilities of both employers and employees with respect to employee share schemes.

This PR was published to replace PR No. 4/2004 issued on December 9, 2004. The key changes made are as follows:

- The PR explains the tax treatment of benefit arising from employee share schemes prior to and with effect from the year of assessment 2006. Prior to the year of assessment 2006, the amount of taxable benefit from a share scheme is computed as the difference between the market value of shares on the date the option was offered and the price offered by the employer.

- With effect from the year of assessment 2006, the method of computing the taxable benefit from a share scheme for employees is provided for under Sections 25(1A) and 32(1A) of the ITA, as follows:

<tr>
<th>Description</th>
<th>RM</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Market value of share on the date the scheme is exercisable or Market value of share on the date the scheme is exercised whichever is lower</td>
<td>xxx</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Less: Price paid for the share (if any)</td>
<td>xxx</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Perquisite (Taxable benefit to the employee)</td>
<td>xxx</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

- The PR also provides more examples on the computation of the value of the share benefit, including that for different types of share schemes such as Employee Share Purchase Plan (ESPP), Share Award Scheme, Share Appreciation Rights Scheme (SARS), Warrant Scheme, Bonus and Rights Issue.

Public Ruling 12/2012 (PR 12/2012) – Share Schemes Benefit for Cross Border Employees

This PR was issued on December 24, 2012 and explains the tax treatment of benefits arising from an employee share scheme received by employees from Malaysia who are seconded to work overseas, and foreign national employees who are seconded to Malaysia. The salient points of the PR are as follows:

- Employees from Malaysia seconded to work overseas –
  - Malaysian tax is still applicable where the share schemes are exercised after the employees stopped working in Malaysia.
  - Bilateral credit relief is available if part of the benefit, which is table in Malaysia, is also liable to tax in the overseas country, provided the said country is a treaty country. Where the said country is a non-treaty country, a unilateral credit can be allowed by Malaysia.

- Foreign nationals seconded to work in Malaysia –
  - Generally, if the duties of an overseas employment are exercised in Malaysia such that the employment income is taxable here, then a charge to Malaysian tax is likely to arise on the benefit from the exercise of the share schemes offered by the employer overseas but exercised while in Malaysia.
  - If the foreign national who is offered a share scheme by his overseas employer prior to his secondment to Malaysia only exercises his right to the share scheme after he returns to his overseas office, a charge to Malaysian tax is also likely to arise.

- Depending on the provisions of the relevant Double Tax Agreement the charge to Malaysian tax upon exercising the share scheme is limited to the proportion of the option gain, which relates to the number of working days in Malaysia.

- Benefits arising from a share scheme is exempt from Malaysian tax under the following circumstances:
  - The schemes are offered to a non-resident whose employment income is not taxable in Malaysia as the employment exercised in Malaysia is less than 60 days; or
  - The share schemes are offered to an individual, who under the terms of a DTA is exempt from Malaysian tax on his employment income for the year in which the gain from the share scheme arises.
