From the Pastor:

- The votive light stands were put in the church last Wednesday. There should be plenty for everyone now, and in many different sizes. Vigil Lights (from the Latin vigilía, which means "waiting" or "watching") are traditionally accompanied by prayers of attention or waiting. Another common type of candle offering is the votive light. Such an offering is indicative of seeking some favor from the Lord or the saint before which the votive is placed. Lighting a candle is a way of extending one's prayer and showing solidarity with the person on whose behalf the prayer is offered. The donation one leaves is to pay for the candle (someone has to buy them), but also for the maintenance of the sacred things in the sanctuary and sacristy. So there isn't a question of needing to pay money to have a prayer heard; it is a question of giving a little gift to God in thanksgiving or petition, and a little bit of justice in paying for the expense to the parish. This gift accompanies the prayer; prayer is not dependent on the payment.

- Fr. Ángelo Van der Putten, FSSP has arrived safely in Nigeria. It will be quite a change for him. He grew up on a farm in Missouri, and likes milk. But the mosquitoes are so bad in south Nigeria that they kill the cattle. The cops stopped by to ask for their petrol money - which just goes into their pockets. The toilet doesn't work, but that is fine for the lizard that lives in it. The electricity works on and off for about three hours a day. Depends on the day. But the faithful are very, very devout, and simple, and joyful. Say a prayer for him would you please?

- Dr. John Senior concluded an essay titled "Angel of the Storm," with the following recommendations:

  "First, that you restore the nightly readings in your homes of tales and stories like Anderson's, derived from the great Catholic culture of the Middle Ages, so the memories and imaginations of children are nurtured on these holy presences (angels) . . . Second, when you get up in the morning, sit before a window facing east, where St. Thomas says the angels gather, and watch the work of this great spirit (angel) of the sun, singing the Glory of God . . . Third, whenever you approach a city, salute its angel . . . Fourth, remember every time you say the perfect prayer to your Guardian Angel that his little offices are precisely the same for the greater spirits -- the Virtues -- for every species and every force thorough the universe to light and guard, to rule and guide. This is true of sun, moon, wind, tides of history and the Church . . . Fifth, there are also angels of the Church . . ."

- This essay and many other fine essays by Dr. Senior have been recently published in a book called The Remnants: The Final Essays of John Senior. The Remnant newspaper is publishing the work.

- The Archbishop asks that this be in the bulletin: "If you have not supported the 2013 Archbishop’s Catholic Appeal, please donate today. As Christian stewards, we have an inherent responsibility to share our gifts with one another, especially the neediest among us. Archbishop Aquila needs and deserves our unwavering support in his ministry of spreading the Gospel message. Thank you."
