Care of your lawn in the fall is as important as in spring and summer. Regular care is the key to an attractive and healthy lawn through the fall and winter months. Here are few things you can do to help your lawn survive the winter and recover vigorously in the spring.

Fertilization: Fall fertilization is the key to prolonging fall color and promoting early spring recovery of the lawn. It helps produce a dense turf that resists winter weeds. Fertilizer used in the fall should be higher in nitrogen and potassium and lower in phosphorus. Grasses fertilized this way have shown greater survival during winter months than those fertilized with high phosphorous.

Watering: When your lawn goes dormant during winter months, it is important to remember the grass is living and needs moisture for survival. During the winter, if it doesn’t rain for several weeks, then the lawn should be irrigated. Irrigation before a hard freeze is helpful in reducing freeze injury to the grass. It takes much colder air temperatures to lower the temperature of a moist soil than that of a dry soil. Not many people think of winter in the heat of September, but fall is the time to prepare your lawn for the cold ahead and, at the same time, get rid of unwanted weeds.

Fall fertilization, which is the most important fertilization of the year, is the first step for a healthier lawn next year, and September is the time to do it. Use a 3-1-2 ratio formula or buy a “winterize” product of your choice, allowing for good coverage. The “slow release” will feed through early November, and with continued regular watering, produce a hardy root stock to survive the winter. This is also the time to put out the pre-emergent chemicals to control unwanted weeds and grasses. First, identify the type of weed you need to control. For cool season grassy weeds such as rye or bluegrass, use products such as Balan, Amaze, or Team; for broadleaf weeds like henbit, use Gallery. Check with your nurseryman for his recommendation. Fungal diseases love cool weather and are most prevalent in the fall. Monitor the condition of your lawn carefully. If you suspect a problem such as brown patch, gray leaf spot, or take-all, contact the Extension Service or your local supplier for recommended treatment. Late September and early October is the time to strengthen and prepare your lawn for strong root growth this winter and next spring. After our recent rains, your lawn is going to be ready for attention and work in the following three areas: fall diseases, pre-emergence weed control, and feeding.

Fall Diseases: Brown Patch and Take-All Root Rot are two fairly common fungal diseases that affect St Augustine grasses. With our recent rains and high humidity, both could become active once the severe, intense stress your lawn has endured due to the terrible summer heat gives way to milder, wetter weather. Pre-emergent Herbicide: Fall and winter weeds such as henbit, chickweed, or bluegrass may best be controlled now with a compound such as benefit (Balan), bensulide (Betasan) or isoxaben (Gallery).
NEIGHBORHOOD SAFETY TIPS

Never allow people you do not know into your home, such as a door-to-door sales person, a person asking to use the phone or looking for a supposed neighbor.

Always keep your doors and windows locked on your home and vehicles at all times.

Don’t have your valuables visible through windows or in vehicles parked in your driveway.

Have a friend or neighbor pick up your mail and newspapers if you are going to be away from your home for an extended period of time.

Call the police immediately if you see suspicious persons.

GOOD NEIGHBOR TIPS

Your neighborhood is an extension of your home. The homes that surround you rely on semblance and order to maintain tranquility among all the people who share this space.

Keep the noise down. The closer homes are together, the more noise can become a sensitive issue between neighbors. If you have a party, let your neighbors know ahead of time and don’t keep the music on loudly throughout the night. If you listen to music outside, turn the radio off when you go in.

Drive safely. Nothing is scarier than a driver who flies through the neighborhood carelessly. Drive the speed limit, slow down when pedestrians, especially kids are on the street playing. Show courtesy to neighbors who are trying to exit their driveways. Parking on the street overnight does obstruct the view of your neighbors. Parking overnight on the street is a deed violation and I encourage all homeowners to comply with the rules.

Be the eyes and ears. Pay attention to your neighborhood and note anything that seems out of place. If a neighbor goes out of town, pay careful attention to their property while they are away. Offer to bring in the mail and newspapers so they don’t pile up.

Participate in your neighborhood watch program of your neighborhood. Put together a list of homeowners and communicate by phone and email. Contact Anna Carrette to start up a Neighborhood Watch Program.
