Description of Position
(As defined by the CSCSC Stakeholder Community)

Strategic Sourcing Analysts collect, evaluate, and analyze sourcing information to provide direction to their organization or their organization’s clients. Strategic Sourcing Analysts are employed by a wide range of establishments throughout the private and public sector such as manufacturing firms, utility companies, and the service sector.

Position Development
Progression to supervisory and management positions is possible through experience and with additional training.

Required Qualifications: (Education, Training, Related Work Experience)

Education
Post-secondary education is preferred (e.g., a bachelor's degree or college diploma in a business field such as economics, logistics, supply chain management, operations management, finance or engineering, mathematics, or statistical analysis). A professional designation related to supply chain is considered an asset.

Training
Individuals generally require some on-the-job training; however, typically organizations require that the individual will already have the required skills, knowledge, work-related experience, and/or industry courses and programs.

Related Work Experience
Previous work experience in supply chain is usually required. In addition, supply chain work-related skill, knowledge, or experience is considered an asset.

Tasks:

Strategic Sourcing Analysts perform some or all of the following tasks

- Evaluate risk, assess, prepare forecasts, scenarios and other factors concerning the supply market, and write reports and recommendations
- Prepare organizational, industry and economic outlooks, analytical reports, briefing notes and correspondence
- Conduct and evaluate competitive intelligence, market reports, trade periodicals and sales promotion materials and visit trade shows, showrooms, factories and product design events
