The child life profession is a dynamic, challenging, and often competitive discipline that demands excellence from its practitioners. In traditional hospital settings and beyond, child life specialists are responding to a wide variety of complex issues by applying their unique body of knowledge and skills. As child life professionals are continually challenged to demonstrate their value and expertise to satisfy employer expectations, those individuals who have documented a basic mastery of child life theory and practice – and have the initiative to learn new skills – will become increasingly valuable to their organizations.

The Certified Child Life Specialist (CCLS) credential is the exclusive designation issued by the Child Life Council (CLC), the leading membership association serving child life professionals. Certification is a vital step for child life specialists looking to sharpen their professional edge. The CCLS credentialing program is a voluntary, rigorous, examination-based professional certification credential. The requirements for certification are based on academic and clinical experiences, and successful completion of the Child Life Professional Certification Examination and are detailed herein.

What is child life certification?

Child life certification is the process by which, after verification that an individual has met predetermined and standardized criteria, he/she is granted a time-limited recognition and use of the Certified Child Life Specialist (CCLS) credential.

The Child Life Professional Certification Program is administered by the Child Life Certifying Committee (CLCC), Child Life Council (CLC) staff, and a professional testing agency. The program fosters uniform standards of practice and ethical conduct among child life specialists. In addition, child life certification promotes protection for the general public from untrained individuals entering into an inappropriate relationship with children and families.

To achieve the CCLS credential, each candidate must satisfy all educational and experiential requirements established by the CLCC, and must demonstrate an acceptable level of knowledge of child life theory and practice by successfully completing the Child Life Professional Certification Examination. The eligibility requirements for the exam are applied fairly, impartially, and consistently with applicable laws, including all US government nondiscriminatory statutes and laws.

Those who successfully complete the exam become certified for a five-year period. During this five-year cycle, CCLSs are required to pay maintenance fees, and in the fifth year of the cycle they must recertify, either by retaking the exam or through verification of required Professional Development Units (PDUs).

Certification is granted independently of a candidate’s membership in CLC.

How do I become a Certified Child Life Specialist?

Applicants for certification must establish eligibility before they are seated for the Child Life Professional Certification Examination. Eligibility requirements are explained on the following pages.

There are no exceptions made to the requirements. Establishing eligibility for, taking and passing the Child Life Professional Certification Examination is the only way to become a Certified Child Life Specialist.

Recent Changes to Eligibility Requirements
Now in Effect:

All applicants are required to successfully complete a minimum of one child life course taught by a CCLS as part of the course work requirement.

All applicants are required to successfully complete their bachelor's degree on or before the application deadline for the exam for which they are applying.

All applicants are required to complete a minimum of 480 hours of clinical training through an internship or fellowship. Paid work experience is no longer accepted.

Code of Professional Practice

Application for the CCLS credential and maintenance thereof require compliance with the Code of Professional Practice which includes the Code of Ethical Responsibility, a body of ethical principles which is derived primarily for the benefit and protection of infants, children, youth and families in settings where the potential for damaging stress or trauma exists. The Code of Ethical Responsibility may be found on page 19.

The Code of Professional Practice also makes allowances for consumers and others to report complaints related to the behavioral conduct of CCLS credential holders and contains policies regarding the criminal background of applicants and certificants.

All applicants and credential holders are required to acknowledge their agreement to abide by the Code of Professional Practice.

Candidates and certificants who fail to abide by the code may have their certification suspended or revoked.

Frequently Asked Questions

General

I was previously certified, but my certification lapsed or expired. Am I still eligible to take the exam?

All candidates must meet the current eligibility requirements regardless of past certification status. CCLSs whose certification has lapsed or expired must re-establish eligibility by starting the application process anew. They must complete an eligibility assessment, documenting the completion of the current eligibility requirements. Register for the exam, pay the exam fee, and successfully complete the examination.

I have already established eligibility but didn’t take (or pass) the exam. What do I need to submit in order to register for the exam again?

Provided that the eligibility requirements have not changed since you established eligibility, you would still be eligible to sit for the exam. Candidates who have previously established eligibility under the current eligibility requirements, may register for the certification exam multiple times until the requirements change.

Please note that CCLSs whose certification lapsed or expired MUST start the application process from the beginning, submitting all necessary documentation in order to re-establish eligibility.

Am I required to be a member of the Child Life Council to be eligible for certification?

Candidates for certification are not required to be members of the Child Life Council. However, CLC members receive discounted rates on publications to prepare for the exam, examination fees, and certification fees once certified.

How can I locate a college or university that offers a child life degree? Which schools have the best child life programs?

For those interested in obtaining a degree specific to child life, the Students, Interns, & Educators section of the CLC website offers resources designed to help you make important decisions about choosing an academic program, including a self-reported list of child life academic programs in the US and Canada, and a guide to selecting an academic program.

Please note, because CLC does not currently offer an accreditation program for academic institutions, we cannot provide official or unofficial opinions regarding the relative merits of child life academic programs. We encourage you to contact programs directly for more information, and to determine which academic program is right for you.

If I’m still in school working on my bachelor's degree, can I take the exam?

All applicants are required to successfully complete their bachelor’s degree on or before the registration deadline for the exam for which they are applying. Applications from students anticipating graduation are no longer accepted.

Course Work

Do the required courses have to be taken for college credit?

Yes. Non-credit or audited courses are not accepted.

Do the required courses have to be taken as part of a degree program?

The required courses can be taken as part of or in addition to a degree program. Check with your college/university about enrollment requirements.

Do the required courses have to be 3-credit classes?

No. There is no minimum number of credit hours per class.

Where can I take the required courses?

Courses meeting the requirement may be taken at any college or university that has been accredited by an organization that is recognized by either the US Department of Education or the Council on Higher Education Accreditation or the international equivalent.

Baccalaureate Degree

Do I need a degree in child life to obtain certification?

Currently, you are not required to obtain a degree in child life in order to be eligible to take the Child Life Professional Certification Exam. Your bachelor’s degree can be completed in any field of study. Please see note on page 17 about upcoming changes to the degree requirement.
Can the required courses be taken online?
Yes. Courses may be taken either in-person or online.

Am I required to take any child life-specific courses?
Yes, all candidates must complete at least one child life course and that course must be taught by a Certified Child Life Specialist. There are six required areas of study that must be covered.

Why am I required to take a child life course?
CLCC seeks to ensure that individuals pursuing a career in child life will be proficient in their future practice by requiring an academic background that includes knowledge essential to child life practice. Academic courses that prepare, support, and provide a solid academic and practical foundation for students allow them to build a foundation of knowledge in the core competencies of child life.

Why does the child life course have to be taught by a Certified Child Life Specialist?
When preparing students for areas of specialty such as child life, having content experts providing instruction is of great value. Those who have earned the CCLS credential have demonstrated a level of expertise in child life that helps make them uniquely suitable to instruct aspiring child life practitioners.

Can the child life course be co-taught by a non-CCLS?
No. All instruction must be provided by a CCLS.

How do I find a child life course taught by a CCLS?
The required course may be completed at any fully-accredited academic institution provided the required curriculum and instructor requirements are met. There is a list of academic institutions that have reported that they offer a child life course taught by a CCLS in the Students, Interns, & Educators section of the CLC website. CLC is not responsible for, nor does it endorse, the content or quality of any of these courses. Prospective students are encouraged to contact the institutions listed at the following link for specific information: http://www.childlife.org/files/Revised%20CW%20Requirement.pdf

What is a Child Life Course?
A group of CCLSs defined the curriculum requirements for this course. The required areas of study and other requirements are outlined on the Child Life Course Verification Form (see pages 28-29).

The required child life course must have a focus on children in the healthcare environment and must be taught by a Certified Child Life Specialist (CCLS). ALL of the following applied areas of study must be included in the course.*

 Required Topics of Study **

1. Child Life Documents- This will provide knowledge and understanding of the Official Documents of the Child Life Council (CLC) including the Code of Ethical Responsibility, Child Life Competencies, and Standards of Clinical Practice, the Child Life Mission, Values and Vision Statements, and the Code of Professional Practice.

2. Scope of practice – This will provide an introduction to the spectrum of child life practice in direct and non-direct services in pediatric health care including a historical review of the profession and its development in the evolution of children’s healthcare.

3. Impact of illness, injury and health care on patients and families – This will illustrate, within the context of developmental theory, the stressors and developmental and psychosocial treatment issues that affect the health care experience of a “child and family” including siblings.

4. Family-Centered Care- This will provide an understanding of the key principles of patient- and family-centered care, including principles of respect and dignity, information sharing, supporting participation in care, and collaboration in relationship to child life practice.

5. Therapeutic play- This will provide students with opportunities to examine elements of play, benefits of play, and various therapeutic play modalities for the clinical setting.

6. Preparation- This will include both historical and current perspectives on the rationale for, and techniques and outcomes of preparation, as well as accepted preparation methods for healthcare encounters and life-changing events.

It is the student’s responsibility to provide the CCLS instructor with a copy of the Child Life Course Verification Form (see pages 28-29). The CCLS instructor is expected to complete and sign the form and provide a copy to the student upon successful completion of the course. It is incumbent upon the instructor to use the form to identify the topics covered in the course. It is the student’s responsibility to save all necessary verification forms that demonstrate coverage of the six areas of applied study.* Without this documentation, the requirement will not be considered satisfied.

*Academic programs may choose to provide coverage of these six topics in more than one course as long as each course covering the areas is taught by a CCLS. In such cases, a Child Life Course Verification Form must be submitted for each course, providing confirmation that the applicant received instruction from a CCLS in each of the required topics of study.

At this time, neither CLC nor CLCC will pre-approve courses; it is an instructor’s responsibility to confirm which topics are covered in their course.

Do I have to submit a transcript for the child life course in addition to the Child Life Course Verification Form?

Yes, the child life course must appear on an official college/university transcript with a passing grade and the applicant must request verification through the Eligibility Assessment online process or provide the Child Life Course Verification Form (see pages 28-29) signed by the instructor showing that all six required topics of study were covered.

My child life course did not cover all of the six required topics. What do I need to do?

Academic programs may choose to provide coverage of the six topics in more than one course as long as each course covering the areas is taught by a CCLS. In such cases, the digital verification process that is part of the Eligibility Assessment or a Child Life Course Verification Form (see pages 28-29) must be submitted for each course, providing confirmation that the applicant received instruction from a CCLS in each of the required topics of study.

I’m taking my internship for college credit. Can this count as my child life course taught by a CCLS?

No. A child life internship or practicum taken for college credit cannot be used to satisfy this requirement. Candidates must have BOTH an internship/fellowship AND a child life course taught by a CCLS in order to establish eligibility for the exam.

I took my child life course a while ago and don’t have a Child Life Course Verification Form. Can I still use the course to establish eligibility?

Without verification courses cannot be used to meet the requirement for a child life course taught by a CCLS. However, they may count toward the other nine courses that are required.

I am enrolled in classes, but they won’t be complete before the registration deadline for the exam I want to take. Can I establish eligibility in anticipation of completing the required courses?

No. All of the required course work must be complete on or before the exam registration deadline for the administration for which you are applying. If any of the required courses are not complete by that date, applicants must wait for a future exam date. Completion must be documented on an official transcript on or prior to the registration deadline.

I don’t know if the classes I’ve taken will count; can my transcript be reviewed?

The Eligibility Assessment is the vehicle used to review a candidate’s progress toward meeting the eligibility requirements including the course work requirement. In-progress courses are not reviewed. CLC will continue to review courses only until 10 have been approved. Submission of each course from a transcript is discouraged as it is unlikely that they will all be reviewed.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT THE COURSE WORK REVIEW SERVICE/ELIGIBILITY ASSESSMENT

The Course Work Review service has been replaced by the Eligibility Assessment Service which is part of an updated two-step exam application process.

Step 1 - Eligibility Assessment AND Step 2 - Exam Registration

In step 1, applicants log into their profile, pay a fee for the Eligibility Assessment, and immediately begin entering their eligibility information, including course work. During this period, applicants are able to save their work and return to their application at any time to monitor their progress towards eligibility. Because many child life internship programs require applicants to document that they have met the academic requirements, a report similar to the Course Work Review results is available for the applicant to print at any time during the Eligibility Assessment period.

Once eligibility is established, the applicant’s status will change to “candidate,” and he or she may proceed to step 2 - paying the separate exam fee and registering for an exam administration.

The Eligibility Assessment Fee is a one-time fee if the candidate successfully completes the examination prior to any changes to the eligibility requirements. However, if the requirements change, the candidate’s status will return to “applicant” pending a new assessment.

CLC has implemented this new process as part of an overall effort to streamline the exam application experience, to provide applicants with a user-friendly tool for monitoring their progress toward establishing eligibility, and to prevent those who are not eligible from making payment for the certification exam prematurely.
Upcoming Changes to the Eligibility Requirements Effective January 1, 2019

Effective January 1, 2019, to establish eligibility for the Child Life Professional Certification Exam, the following will be required of all candidates on or before the deadline for the exam administration for which they are applying:

1. Minimum of Bachelor's Degree: Candidates will be required to complete a minimum of a bachelor's degree or the international equivalent.

2. Course Work: Candidates will be required to successfully complete college courses for credit from an academic institution that has been accredited by an organization recognized by either the US Department of Education or the Council on Higher Education Accreditation, or the international equivalent in the following content areas:

Candidates will also be required to complete three additional classes in child life or a related content area. It is strongly recommended that applicants pursue course work in the following areas:

2. Medical Terminology
3. Ethics

*CCLS instructors for the child life course will be required to:

- Hold and maintain professional child life certification throughout the period of instruction
- Have 4,000 hours of paid child life clinical experience OR have a minimum of 2 years of experience teaching child life subject matter as of 2022. Note: If an instructor does not have 2 years of experience teaching child life subject matter as of 2022, he/she must have 2 years or 4,000 hours of paid child life clinical experience.

It is also recommended that CCLS instructors pursue training relevant to the adult learning styles and evidence-based teaching methodology.

C. Clinical Child Life Experience: Applicants will be required to complete a minimum of 600 hours of a child life clinical internship or fellowship under the direct supervision of a Certified Child Life Specialist who:

- Maintains professional child life certification throughout the supervisory period
- Has a minimum of 4,000 hours of paid child life clinical experience prior to the start of the supervisory period
- Takes responsibility for the educational development and guidance of the candidate in the clinical setting
Clinical Experience

How do I get the clinical experience?

As the certifying body for child life specialists, CLCC is limited as to the level of assistance we can provide for internship placement. We encourage candidates to contact facilities directly to locate programs and to determine if they are qualified for placement. It is the prerogative of the hiring institution to set the requirements for internship positions, which vary among institutions and may include things that are not required by CLCC.

The CLC Child Life Clinical Program Directory can be a helpful tool in locating potential sources of clinical experience. Child life programs from around the world have provided key contact information and details about their respective organizations, including internship information. The Directory is available through CLC Community. This is only accessible to members of CLC. For more information about membership, please visit http://www.childlife.org/Membership/.

Can I use hours that I have worked as a child life specialist or child life assistant to meet the clinical experience requirement?

The required clinical experience hours must be earned through a structured learning experience such as a child life internship or fellowship. Paid work experience is no longer accepted to meet this requirement.

Can I use hours that I have worked with children outside the child life profession to meet the clinical experience requirement?

Other types of clinical experience may not be substituted for any portion of the clinical hours. All 480 hours must be obtained through an internship or fellowship in child life.

What if my internship ends after the exam registration deadline?

A minimum of 480 hours must be completed on or before the exam registration deadline. If the internship is longer than 480 hours, CLCC does not require that the internship be completed by the deadline. Ultimately it is left to the internship supervisor’s discretion to verify the hours prior to the conclusion of the internship. However, if you will not have completed 480 hours by the exam registration deadline, you must wait and apply for another exam administration. Clinical experience must be verified on or prior to the registration deadline.

Can I obtain the hours at more than one site?

Yes. If an institution is offering a term shorter than 480 hours, then you will need to acquire additional hours at another facility. Verification of the hours must be obtained from each site where you completed your clinical training.

Do the clinical hours I completed in the past still count?

Yes, provided that the hours meet the current requirements and can be verified by your CCLS supervisor.

PLEASE NOTE: The Clinical Experience Verification Form (see final pages of this document) has been revised. Older versions of the Clinical Experience Verification Form do not include all of the necessary elements to establish eligibility under current requirements.

Prior to 2006, supervisors were not required to meet a minimum number of paid child life work experience hours. If a candidate was deemed eligible prior to 2006 using clinical experience under a supervisor who does not meet the new requirements, they forfeited their eligibility effective January 1, 2006.

Joining Child Life Council

Although CLC membership is not required in order to be certified, CLC Membership makes sense! By joining CLC and taking advantage of significant discounts on certification fees and study materials, you will benefit from savings that will more than make up for the cost of your first year of membership.

For more information on CLC membership, please visit the CLC website.
Completing the Eligibility Assessment/Registering for the Exam

Applicants are required to complete an Eligibility Assessment, and once eligibility is established, to register for the examination.

Because the Eligibility Assessment is an ongoing process, applicants may leave any requirements blank that have yet to be completed, and return at a later time to fill out those sections as the requirements are completed.

1. Login (or create a new customer record) to your CLC online profile at https://online.childlife.org/clcssa/ssauthmenu.show_top_menu
2. Click on Visit Profile under the log in boxes
3. Click on Certification

Providing Supporting Documentation
All candidates are required to send supporting documentation needed to establish eligibility.

Documentation presented in a foreign language must be translated into English, at the applicant's expense, by a professional translation agent with a notarized signature or stamp attesting to the accuracy of the contents.

We strongly encourage candidates to send any supporting documentation using a delivery method that will provide them with receipt confirmation. Applicants may use their receipt to confirm that their materials were successfully delivered to our office.

You are required to submit the following:

1. Bachelor's Degree Documentation Required:
An original OFFICIAL* transcript from the college/university conferring the degree, which shows the type of degree granted and the date conferred. Please confirm that the transcript is printed after the date your degree was conferred.

2. Course Work Documentation Required:
Applicants must request verification through the Eligibility Assessment online process or provide the Child Life Course Verification Form (see pages 28-29) signed by the CCLS instructor showing that all six required topics of study were covered.

   AND

An OFFICIAL* transcript from each college or university where the course work were completed.
   • All 10 courses including the child life course must appear on the transcript(s) with a passing grade.
   • No in-progress courses will be accepted.
   • Transferred courses from another school must have a passing grade listed on the transcript or be documented by another OFFICIAL* transcript from the original college/university.
   • Online education courses must be reflected on an OFFICIAL* transcript with a passing grade.

*NOTE: “OFFICIAL” is defined by each college/university; for details, please check with the school's Registrar's Office. Faxed and photocopied transcripts are not accepted. Emailed transcripts are only accepted if sent directly by the academic institution and are considered official by the school.

3. Clinical Experience Documentation Required:
Applicants must request verification of their clinical experience through the Eligibility Assessment online process or provide the Clinical Experience Verification Form (see pages 26-27) signed by the CCLS supervisor verifying that a minimum of 480 hours of child life clinical training was completed.

If hours were earned at multiple sites, verification of the hours must be obtained from each site.

Please note that previous, outdated versions of the Clinical Experience Verification Form do not include all of the necessary elements to establish eligibility under current requirements, and will not be accepted.
Eligibility Assessment Frequently Asked Questions

How do I get by course work reviewed?
The Eligibility Assessment is the vehicle used to review an applicant’s progress toward meeting the eligibility requirements (including course work).

Applicants pay a one-time* fee to initiate an Eligibility Assessment and submit information and materials (including official transcripts and other verification documents) as the requirements for establishing exam eligibility are completed. Once all steps in the Eligibility Assessment have been completed, the applicant is granted access to register for an upcoming exam.

*If the eligibility requirements change, a second payment of this fee will be required as a new assessment must be opened.

When can I expect “results”/updates?
You will be notified via email when your official transcripts have been received in our office. You may then expect to see results on your Evaluation Report on your online profile in 1-2 weeks. You may print and disburse the Evaluation Report at any time.

What about courses “in progress?”
Only those courses that appear on an official transcript with a passing grade will be reviewed for acceptance as part of an Eligibility Assessment. Any “in progress” courses will appear as ineligible but you may provide updated official transcripts once they become available and those courses will be evaluated.

My instructor has verified by CL course but it still appears as ineligible on my report. Why?
Your Child Life Course, while verified by your instructor, has not been reviewed or accepted because we have not yet reviewed an official transcript documenting successful completion of the course. Course work, including the child life course is not “eligible” until staff has reviewed official transcripts and confirmed that the submitted course work has been completed with a passing grade.

How do I submit transcripts?
If your university provides digital versions of official transcripts, these may be emailed to certification@childlife.org directly from your institution.

If your institution does not provide the digital option for official transcripts, please mail the transcripts to Child Life Council, 1820 Ft. Myer Dr., Suite 520, Arlington, VA 22209

CLC does not accept faxed or emailed transcripts from applicants since this transmission automatically renders them "unofficial."

CLC does not accept unofficial transcripts that have been downloaded by the applicant from the university website.

If the name that appears on your official transcripts is different than that on the Eligibility Assessment, please provide us with a verification of name change such as a copy of a marriage license. This documentation may be faxed, emailed or mailed to our office.

Do I have to do an Eligibility Assessment if I did a course work review?
Yes, all course work must be submitted as part of an eligibility assessment. The discontinued course work review service was an optional, informal process by which individuals gauged their progress toward the completion of the 10 course requirement; versus the current eligibility assessment wherein the applicant establishes eligibility for the exam.

If you establish eligibility to sit for the exam…
Candidates will be notified by email if eligibility has been established. They are then given access to register for an upcoming exam administration window.

Candidates will subsequently be contacted by CLC’s testing agency with information about how to schedule the exam at the testing center and on the date preferred.

Candidates are permitted to choose a date within the testing window based on the appointment schedule of the testing center selected.

After scheduling the exam, candidates will have the opportunity to save and print an admission document which must be presented at the testing center on the day of the exam.

Eligibility Appeals Process

Candidates who are unable to establish eligibility may appeal the decision by submitting a letter to the Certifying Committee stating the reason for the appeal.

The request for appeal must be accompanied by any supporting documentation the applicant wishes to submit.

About the Exam—Examination Format and Content

The Child Life Professional Certification Examination is comprised of 150 multiple-choice questions. The allotted time to complete the examination is four hours.

The following is a listing of the domains specific to each area of child life practice, with a notation of the percentage of examination items (questions) related to each domain. This is taken from the Exam Content Outline and although the actual content varies from administration to administration, all exams follow this blueprint.

The Child Life Professional Certification Examination is an objective test that covers relevant knowledge, understanding, and practical application of child life theory and practice as determined by the Child Life Certifying Committee and other Certified Child Life Specialists surveyed. The exam is developed by a committee of experts in the child life profession as a measurement of basic, entry-level knowledge of each candidate.

The committee starts with a periodic Practice Analysis which defines the profession of child life by delineating the domain, tasks, knowledge and skills necessary for competent practice as a child life specialist. From this assessment, content areas and their appropriate relative emphases are defined. A survey of child life practitioners validates the content outline every five years, most recently in 2013.

Of the 150 questions on the exam, 25 are pretest items and are not weighted (not counted toward candidates’ scores). Piloting items in this manner is valuable as it allows items to be analyzed before they become weighted and provides verification that the items contribute toward measuring a candidate’s proficiency in the material and are not irrelevant or poorly-written. Candidates answer the pretest items, and then performance data is used in a statistical analysis to determine if the questions perform as intended. If so, their ability to contribute to a test’s quality is verified and they can be considered for inclusion on future exams as scored items.

Each form of the Child Life Professional Certification Examination is equated to ensure that candidates are neither penalized nor rewarded if an exam form is more difficult or easier than any other version of the exam. Collecting performance data enables the test administration agency to conduct this important process.

For more detailed information about how the exam is developed and how it is scored, please visit the CLC website.

The Child Life Certifying Committee

The CLC Board of Directors has charged the Child Life Certifying Committee (CLCC) with the development and administration of the Child Life Professional Certification Program. The leadership of this standing committee is selected through popular vote by members of CLC.

CLCC sets rigorous standards for the assessment of individuals who aspire to enter and/or advance in the child life profession through the certification and recertification processes, and grants, for a period of five years, the CCLS credential to candidates who successfully complete the certification or recertification requirements.

The CCLS credentialing program was established in 1986 to increase the proficiency of child life professionals by identifying a body of knowledge; establishing a level of comprehension and performance necessary for certification; and increasing the value of practitioners to their employers.
How to Prepare - Studying for the Exam

There are many resources available to help exam applicants prepare for the Child Life Professional Certification Examination.

Study Guide for the Child Life Professional Certification Examination

CLC publishes a study guide that may help candidates increase the effectiveness of test preparation. It includes a fifty-question practice test, study and test-taking strategies, and information on how the examination was developed. Visit the online CLC Bookstore to place your order for the Study Guide for the Child Life Professional Certification Examination.

Online Practice Test

An online practice test is available to help familiarize candidates with the format of the test and the types of questions that will appear. Scores are immediately available, and diagnostic feedback to help assess a candidate’s strengths or weaknesses is given. Please note that the correct answers to individual questions is not provided. The feedback is intended to help focus future study in the domains where knowledge may be weaker, however, improving your performance in one or two areas does not guarantee a passing score. The practice test is administered by CLC’s testing agency and can be accessed through the CLC website. The fee is $35.00 U.S. paid directly to the testing vendor.

Other Resources

If you are involved in a course of study related to child life, or in child life work in a clinical setting, you are likely to have some excellent human resources available to help you prepare for certification. Be sure to review any materials you received in the course of your child life educational/clinical training preparation.

Many candidates form local study groups, often networking through the CLC Community Students & Interns Discussion Forum, which is a benefit of CLC membership.

To gain admittance to the examination room, all candidates are required to present a government-issued photo identification. Acceptable forms of identification include a valid driver’s license, passport, or military identification card.

Admissions Document
At the time candidates schedule their exam appointment, the testing agency will provide an admissions document to each examinee. In order to be admitted to the exam, candidates are required to present this document at the testing center on the day of their appointment.

If you have been pre-approved for special testing accommodations, please present the confirmation e-mail sent by CLC indicating the accommodations that have been approved to ensure that the appropriate testing accommodations are made onsite.

Other

Earplugs for sound suppression are allowed. Headphones and ear buds are not permitted.

What NOT To Bring

Please bring as few personal belongings as possible.

Books (including all types of dictionaries), papers, electronic/cellular devices (pagers, telephones, etc.), food, water bottles and most other personal belongings will NOT be permitted at your testing station.

Some testing centers have lockers for examinees’ use during the exam however this is not guaranteed at every location.

Neither CLC nor CLCC is responsible for the security of any personal possessions brought to the examination.

During the Examination

No food or beverages (including water) will be allowed in the testing room unless prior approval has been received for medical reasons. You must submit a Special Accommodations Application Packet to request this approval.

Candidates may exit the testing room to use the restroom or water fountain. Only one person will be permitted to leave the room at a time. You will not be permitted to make up the time lost while you are away from the examination. If you wish to use the restroom, raise your hand and the proctor will instruct you.

There is an inherent risk of connectivity issues with computer-based testing. Candidates who experience technical difficulties that affect their performance must report these to the proctor immediately (prior to receiving their exam result) and contact SMT immediately after leaving the testing center to report the problem.

Any concerns about the testing site and/or proctors should be reported immediately and noted on the exit survey at the end of the examination/prior to receipt of the exam results.

Examination Day Absences

Refunds will only be approved if the absence is the result of a documented personal or medical emergency. Absences are reviewed by the committee on a case-by-case basis. Refund requests must be received in writing with supporting documentation detailing the reason for absence within 14 days of the examination date. CLCC reserves the right to verify any information submitted regarding examination day absence. If the absence is excused, payment for the exam will be refunded, less a $25 U.S. application processing fee, or may be deferred to the next test administration in accordance with the policies on page 12.

Inclement Weather
If severe weather or natural disaster makes the testing center inaccessible or unsafe, the test administration may be canceled. Test administration will be delayed or canceled only in emergencies.

Candidates who cannot safely reach the test site because of severe weather conditions and wish to request a refund of the examination fee, must send the written request with documentation of the weather conditions to CLC within 14 days of the scheduled examination date. CLC will evaluate the circumstances on a case-by-case basis.

Exam Feedback
Examinees will be given the opportunity to comment on the examination administration, content, or any of its elements prior to leaving the examination room. Exam proctors will provide instruction on this process. Candidates with concerns about the accuracy of specific exam questions must provide this feedback prior to leaving the testing room. Since we constantly work to improve the testing process, we strongly encourage candidates to provide feedback on the exam prior to leaving the testing room.

Examination Security
Any candidate who gives or receives assistance, or whose behavior is disruptive during the examination, will be required to turn leave the testing room immediately. The candidate’s answers will not be scored and the situation will be reported to CLCC for review and possible action by the Ethics Committee. Any candidate who observes inappropriate test-taking behavior should report it to appropriate testing personnel. In order to detect fraud, the performance of all candidates is monitored and analyzed statistically.

The entire item (question) bank, examination materials and each form of the examination are the property of Child Life Council, Inc. Distribution of exam content or materials through any form of reproduction, including oral and written communication, is strictly prohibited and punishable by law. Any individual who removes or attempts to remove examination material from the test site will be prosecuted; this includes memorization of questions.

Test development and security requirements prevent CLCC from releasing test questions or other specific exam content to anyone, under any circumstances.

Discussion of exam content with other candidates following the exam is considered a breach of examination security and is not permitted.

After the Exam/Score Reporting
You will receive a preliminary score report before leaving the testing center. The scores will be subjected to a statistical analysis and there is a very slight chance that they will change. You will be notified if there is a change to your score. Once your results are posted in your CLC Online User Profile, they are considered final.

The purpose of the Child Life Professional Certification Exam is to measure an individual’s performance compared to a specific criterion (the established passing score as defined by subject matter experts), this is called a criterion-referenced exam. This type of exam is not intended to measure a range of levels of competence, but rather to confirm that an individual meets a minimum level of competence. Like most credentialing exams, the objective of the Child Life Professional Certification Exam is to measure candidates’ comprehension of the body of knowledge identified in the Practice Analysis Study, not to compare it with that of other candidates.

The goal of criterion-referenced assessments is to measure performance most precisely in a narrow range near the passing score. The more precise the exam is in this range, the less suitable it is for assessing aptitude at levels above or below the passing score. As a result it would be inappropriate to use test scores to rank individuals. For this reason, CLC does not release test scores above the passing score. If a candidate reaches or exceeds the passing score, he or she will not receive their numerical score, only the information that they have passed the exam. This is done in part to prevent the improper ranking of individuals by stakeholders such as prospective employers.
Candidates who do not meet the cut score will receive their numerical scaled score as well as the percentage of correct answers they provided for each of the three domains. This information is provided to help candidates focus their studies for future examinations.

For more information on exam scoring, please visit the CLC website.

Confidentiality

Registration for the Child Life Professional Certification Examination constitutes authorization for the testing agency to release that candidate’s exam results to CLCC, CLC staff, and to the candidate only. Access to score reports is limited to those staff members at CLC and its test administration agency who are involved in the production and distribution of these reports.

Only group performance data will be utilized by CLCC, CLC Staff, CLC’s test administration agency or others designated by the CLCC for purposes of research, development and reporting to the profession.

I Didn’t Pass the Exam – What Are My Options?

Re-Examination Procedures

A candidate may retake the examination an unlimited number of times, provided the candidate continues to meet current eligibility requirements.

However, if the eligibility requirements have changed since the last exam attempt, individuals are required to submit a full Eligibility Assessment and fee.

All published registration deadlines and examination fees apply when retaking the examination.

Examination Appeals

Only appeals relating to the testing environment or administration and its effect on candidate performance will be considered.

A candidate must submit a letter to the CLC office stating the reason for the appeal, including supporting documentation, within 14 days of the date on which the exam was administered.

The Appeals Committee has no access to examination questions or individual candidate answers. Candidates with concerns about the accuracy of specific exam questions must provide this feedback prior to leaving the testing room.

Candidates who experience technical difficulties that affect their performance during computer-based testing must report these to the proctor immediately (prior to receiving their exam scores) and contact SMT immediately after leaving the testing center to report the problem.

Certification will not be granted through appeal. Candidates must pass the examination at another administration to become certified, but the CLCC may grant a waiver or reduction of fees.

CLC Board Approves Recommendation for Advanced Degree Requirement Effective in 2022

At its May 2013 meeting, the CLC Board of Directors approved the following recommendations made by the Academic Preparation Task Force 2022:

- Effective in 2022, to establish eligibility for certification, candidates will be required to hold either a master’s degree* in child life or a master’s degree* with a concentration or emphasis in child life from an academic program accredited by CLC.
- Effective in 2025, this requirement will be amended to require that all certification candidates hold a master’s degree* in child life from an academic program accredited by CLC.
- Certified Child Life Specialists who hold the credential prior to 2022 will not be required to obtain a master’s degree* to remain certified provided they maintain their credential and recertify as appropriate. However, if certification lapses or expires and an individual wishes to regain the credential, they will be required to start the certification process anew and meet all of the requirements that are in place at that time.

*Master’s degree or international equivalent

In addition to approving the recommendations set forth by the Task Force, the CLC Board committed to comprise a special task force to explore questions about the international implications of the advanced degree requirement, and how to create the best conditions to promote the evolution and growth of child life globally.

For more information, please see the CLC website.
Congratulations! You’re a Certified Child Life Specialist!

A candidate who successfully completes the Child Life Professional Certification Examination begins a five-year certification cycle as a Certified Child Life Specialist (CCLS).

Certified Child Life Specialists are permitted to use the initials “CCLS” after their names. CCLS is a registered certification mark. It is not punctuated with periods.

Certified Child Life Specialist is a credential, not a job title, and can only be used by those who have passed the certification exam.

Shortly after you receive your score report you will receive a wall certificate along with important information on maintaining the CCLS credential. Please be sure to review this material carefully as well as the Child Life Professional Certification Maintenance and Recertification Manual.

Maintaining Certification

In order to keep their certification status active, CCLSs are required to pay a certification maintenance fee each of the first four years of the five-year certification cycle.

Whereas examination and recertification fees cover expenses directly related to those specific activities, the principal purpose of the certification maintenance fee is to enable the ongoing work on behalf of CCLSs.

Newly certified or recertified CCLSs pay the first of these four payments in the calendar year immediately following the year in which the exam was passed or the year in which recertification was achieved. For example, if a CCLS passes the exam at any of the administrations in 2016, the first certification maintenance payment will be due on or before January 31, 2017.

Individuals who do not pay these fees allow their certification to lapse, and are no longer permitted to refer to themselves as Certified Child Life Specialists or use the CCLS credential. If certification lapses due to non-payment of maintenance fees, an individual must re-establish eligibility under current requirements, take and pass the certification examination to regain the credential.

Recertification

In the fifth year of the certification cycle, CCLSs must recertify in order to continue their certification. Recertification is required in order to promote continuing competence. As the child life profession continues to evolve and expand, it is imperative that child life specialists keep abreast of current research and best practices in order to promote competency and consistent quality in the delivery of psychosocial care to children and families.

During the year in which a CCLS’s certification expires, CLCC will send recertification reminders via email. CCLSs may opt to recertify through Professional Development Units (PDUs) or by retaking the Child Life Professional Certification Examination.

Recertification requirements are changing. Individuals who become certified or who recertify in 2015 or subsequent years and who elect the PDU option will be required to acquire 60 PDUs over the course of the five-year certification cycle on topics related to each of the domains of the Exam Content Outline as well as the topic of professional ethics. Individuals who became certified or recertified prior to 2015 have different requirements until they recertify. These are detailed in the Child Life Professional Certification Maintenance and Recertification Manual.

Revoking the CCLS Credential

Child life professional certification may be revoked for any reason CLCC deems appropriate, including, but not limited to, the following reasons:

- Falsification of certification materials
- Falsification of any information requested by CLCC
- Violation of the Code of Ethical Responsibility
- Conviction of a felony or other crime of moral turpitude relating to the provision of child life services
- Cheating on the examination
- Failure to maintain the confidentiality of the certification examination

These are current policies and are subject to change. Please refer to the detailed information about maintaining the credential and the recertification process found in the Child Life Professional Certification Maintenance and Recertification Manual.

If a CCLS does not recertify during the final year of the five-year certification cycle, certification expires. To regain the credential, an individual with expired certification must re-establish eligibility under current requirements, take and pass the certification examination.
Code of Ethical Responsibility

Principle 9 -- Individuals shall act with respect for the duties, competencies and needs of their professional colleagues and shall maintain the utmost integrity in all interactions with the institutions or organizations that employ them.

Principle 10 -- Individuals shall use integrity to assess and amend any personal relationships or situations that may interfere with their professional effectiveness, objectivity or otherwise negatively impact the children and families they serve. A minimum of two years following the conclusion of a professional role shall lapse before any personal relationship is permitted to develop with children or the members of families they serve.

Principle 11 -- Individuals shall recognize that financial gain should never take precedence over the delivery of services.

Principle 12 -- Individuals who are responsible for the supervision and training of others (i.e., staff, students, volunteers) shall assume responsibility for teaching ethical professional values and providing optimal learning experiences.

Principle 13 -- Individuals shall refrain from illegal conduct in their professional practice of child life.

The eligibility assessment is the first in a two-step exam application process. Applicants are encouraged to complete both steps online.

For those who cannot, please complete the following form to initiate the process. Applicants will be able to monitor their progress towards eligibility through their online profile. Because many child life internship programs require applicants to document that they have met the academic requirements, a report will be available for the applicant to print at any time during the Eligibility Assessment period.

Once eligibility is established, the applicant's status will change to "candidate," and he or she may proceed to step 2 - paying the separate exam fee and registering for an exam administration.

The Eligibility Assessment Fee will be a one-time fee if the candidate successfully completes the examination prior to any changes to the eligibility requirements. However, if the requirements change, the candidate's status will return to "applicant" pending a new assessment.

Background
There are three components of eligibility for the Child Life Professional Certification Examination. All three must be met prior to the application deadline for the exam administration. Refer to the Candidate Manual for more details.

1. Minimum of Baccalaureate Degree: Applicants must hold a bachelor’s degree or the international equivalent.

2. Course Work: Applicants must have completed a total of 10 college-level courses in child life or a related department/subject including a minimum of one child life course taught by a Certified Child Life Specialist (CCLS).

3. Clinical Child Life Experience: Applicants must complete a minimum of 480 hours of child life clinical experience under the direct supervision of a Certified Child Life Specialist who meets specific qualifications. Hours may be completed as an internship or fellowship. This is the form on which these hours are documented.

Definition of Clinical Experience
The clinical experience being verified should involve training and education in a manner that results in a minimum, entry-level competence in each of the following areas by the end of the training experience, whether at one site or several:

- Developmentally-supportive play and social interactions with infants, children, youth and families, in individual and group settings
- Long- and short-term goal-setting based upon assessment of infant, child, youth and family stress potential
- Individual, therapeutically-oriented interactions, including: psychological preparation and development of associated coping processes, stress reduction techniques, health care education, health care play, expressive interventions, nonpharmacological pain management techniques and procedural support
- Collaboration with families regarding developmental issues and the impact of stressful events
- Consideration of diversity and socioeconomic issues
- Interaction and coordination with interdisciplinary team members, including participation in team meetings
- Instruction and practice of documentation in institutional records
- Materials management
- Supervision/coordination of volunteers and special events
- Prioritization of daily workload in relation to patient and administrative responsibilities
- Evaluating self (skill level, professionalism, personal coping styles, professional boundaries) and overall programming, implementing appropriate changes when needed
- Developing knowledge regarding medical terminology, etiology, disease process, and medical procedures
- Maintaining a therapeutic relationship with infants, children, youth and families
- Incorporating family-centered care practices
- Exhibiting an understanding of and adhering to departmental and organizational policies and procedures
- Administrative planning and implementation, when appropriate

Purpose of the Clinical Experience Requirement
Clinical preparation programs exist to complement and support the child life profession. These programs are vital to child life as the excellence of any profession depends on the performance of its practitioners. The Child Life Certification Program cannot bestow competence on individuals but rather recognizes it. It is the responsibility of academic and clinical preparation programs to put forth competent individuals who are prepared to establish their eligibility to sit for and pass the Child Life Professional Certification Exam.

Important Notes
- Candidates must exhibit minimum, entry-level competence as indicated by the clinical supervisor on the reverse of this form in order to establish eligibility for the Child Life Professional Certification Examination
- A minimum of 480 hours must be successfully completed on or before the exam application deadline. If a training experience is longer than 480 hours, it may continue after the deadline.
- Candidates are permitted to accrue the required 480 hours at multiple institutions. This form must be completed by the supervisor at each institution.
- Photocopies of the original form are accepted as documentation when establishing eligibility for the exam.
- Exam candidates are encouraged to keep a copy of this form for their records.
- The supervising CCLS at his/her discretion may assign other child life specialists to provide training during rotations as long as he/she maintains formal supervision of the individual

Instructions
Complete the requested information on the reverse and submit by fax at 301-881-7092, scan/email to certification@childlife.org or mail to:

   - Facilitating the individual’s application of theory to practice
   - Orienting the individual to the placement site and policies
   - Monitoring performance by observing the individual’s progress and providing opportunities for discussion, feedback and growth

It is important for clinical supervisors to:

- Have daily contact with the individual, working at least 80% of the same hours
- Schedule private, weekly, formal, uninterrupted supervision meetings with the individual
- Have no dual relationships with the individual (family member, spouse, friend, etc.)
- Arrange for alternate supervision of the individual by another CCLS in his/her absence
