Securing Your World
All risks are categorised in a hierarchical risk universe
Ethical risks are included in the Reputation and Legal & Regulations sub-categories:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Reputation</th>
<th>Laws &amp; Regulations</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Failing to comply with specific country &amp; state laws and regulations</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Brand positioning &amp; strength not being aligned to strategy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Adverse publicity impacting reputation with customers, public or government</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Government relationship management being ineffective</td>

<td>H&amp;S performance affecting reputation with customers</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Animals suffering in our care</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Perceived or actual tax policy or litigation strategy damaging reputation</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

- The impact of every risk is assessed along five dimensions, one of which is reputation
- The others being strategic, financial, operational and health and safety
Business Ethics
Strategic and mandatory risks

- Group Risk & Compliance (GRC) system covers strategic risks identified by businesses
- Group control standards are currently self-reported via annual or bi-annual spreadsheet surveys. These controls are being mapped to the risk universe.
- From 2015, business will report compliance via the GRC system – integrating with Internal Audit processes
- Creating an integrated risk, control and audit system and enabling improved reporting and analysis
- Mandatory risks and controls include:
  - Health and safety, including firearms
  - Human rights
  - Anti-bribery and corruption
  - Tax
  - Legal (under development)
Business Ethics

Speaking out: Whistleblowing

2014
- Reviewed existing whistleblowing policy against principles of the UK Whistleblowing Commission’s Code of Practice
- Launched new stronger policy, available online
- Selected an independent provider for new group-wide hotline and case management system

2015
- Rolling out a new ‘Speak Out’ group hotline and case management system for serious concerns in Q3/4 2015
- New hotline supported by a wide-ranging awareness campaign to encourage employees to ‘Speak Out’ and raise concerns through company whistleblowing systems
