No Child Left Behind Title I - Improving the Academic Achievement of the Disadvantaged is the largest single program of federal aid for elementary and secondary education. Decisions on the use of Title I funds are focused on needs at the school level within general guidelines from the state and district level. The critical element of the law is accountability which requires educators to show results for their efforts as well as compliance with program rules.

The purpose of this handbook is to assist Title I parents in the understanding of the NCLB law. Title I is dedicated to improving the educational opportunities for all students by helping them:

- succeed in the regular program.
- attain grade-level proficiency.
- improve academic achievement.

The No Child Left Behind (NCLB) Act of 2001 represents the most significant expansion of the federal role in K-12 education since Congress mandated access to education for all handicapped students in 1975. In fact, in terms of scope, the NCLB could be compared to the 1964-65 "Great Society" legislation that desegregated America's schools and authorized the first significant federal aid for K-12 education.

The federal government:

- Has set minimum qualifications for teachers in all the nation's public schools - whether or not the schools receive federal funding.
- Set minimum qualifications for all paraprofessionals in Title I schools.
- Has established a mandatory national deadline for all public schools to bring all their students to an achievement level deemed "proficient" by the state with a penalty of restructuring for Title I schools missing the deadline.
• Authorizes use of federal funds for extra tutoring for students in at risk Title I schools.
• Mandates the use of curricula and techniques grounded in "evidence-based research" for federally funded programs.
• Has made provisions to make teacher credentials a matter of public record (Parents' Right to Know).

Title I and Family Involvement

Over thirty years of research has proven beyond dispute the positive connection between family involvement and student success. Effectively engaging parents in the education of their children has the potential to be far more transformational than any other type of educational reform. Family involvement can be defined in a broad manner. We view it as a continuum of opportunities in which families may choose to participate in order to support their children’s education. Schools and teachers are eager to provide parents with concrete and practical suggestions for how they can support their child’s education at home. These opportunities may range from communicating with your children about the importance of education and providing a time for homework, to becoming partners in the decision-making process at the school, district, or state level.

Research has shown that the following successes have been found through an effective family involvement model:

• Students perform better academically and have fewer discipline problems
• Students have better attendance and homework completion
• Students have positive attitudes toward school, graduation rates are higher, and they are more apt to enroll in college or vocational institutes
• Students become more responsible adults
• Parents become more knowledgeable of how to support and encourage their children Parents understand the curriculum and what their children are learning in school
• Parents discuss their children's school activities, class work, and homework more frequently Teachers and administrators recognize the importance of parents in motivating and reinforcing student learning
• Teachers provide interactive homework assignments for families and children to do together

Family involvement is a core principle of Title I. Congress has placed greater emphasis on having schools help parents with their children through direct family involvement in the educational process. The 2001 reauthorization adds yet another dimension. The law now emphasizes the role of families as consumers of education. The most significant change is in how success is measured. Family involvement activities will be deemed a success or failure, not based on the number of parents involved, but by the impact on student achievement. Working together to build and strengthen partnerships among families, communities, and schools will heighten compliance and accountability.
Building Effective Family Involvement Models

In order for schools to establish strong family involvement models and plan effective best practices, strategies, trainings and family involvement initiatives, there must be coordination between the school, community, parents, and students. Information is provided to guide schools in establishing effective family involvement models that will address the needs of the school, foster family involvement, and increase student academic achievement.

Title I Schools and School-wide Programs

Each year schools are identified as Title I Schools according to the percentage of students in the school eligible for free or reduced price meals. For FY10, the percentage for eligibility is 40% for all schools.

Once a school is identified as Title I, the school begins to plan a Title I School-wide program, which serves ALL students in a school. School-wide programs provide flexibility in the use of federal funds allowing the School Advisory Councils (SAC) to design programs that will enhance the learning of all the students in the school.
As part of the implementation of the School-wide program, each Title I school is required to write a School-wide Plan (SWP), which is incorporated into the School Improvement Plan (SIP), and therefore is not a separate document.

Outline of School Improvement Plan (SIP/Title I School-wide Plan (SWP))

The intent of the SIP/SWP is to raise the educational achievement of all students in the school while focusing on the educational needs of at-risk students. The plan should reflect all strategies the school intends to implement in the upcoming year.

The SIP must address parent involvement in two ways. First, it must describe how the school will provide students with written notice about the school’s identification for improvement. Second, it must specify the strategies that will be used to promote parental involvement. This can be accomplished by including the school’s Family Improvement Policy/Plan.

The school must also have a Family Involvement Policy/Plan. The strategies of this plan must be included in the SIP/SWP. The Family Involvement Policy/Plan may become the Parent Goal in the SIP/SWP.

Each SIP/SWP plan is unique, resulting in effective and efficient approaches to the delivery of instructional services. The SIP/SWP must specifically include ten components. The required TEN COMPONENTS are listed below.

1. A comprehensive needs assessment of the entire school based on information that includes the performance of students in relation to the Michigan Education Academic (MEAP), as well as, NCLB AYP data should:
   - include objectives based on MEAP.
   - include objectives to assist all subgroups to meet Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP).
   - include most recent of data to show the performance of subgroups.

2. School-wide reform strategies should:
   - provide opportunities for all students to meet the state’s proficient and advanced level of student achievement.
   - use effective methods and instructional strategies based upon scientifically based research that:
     - strengthen the core academic program in the school.
     - increase the amount and quality of learning time, such as providing an extended school year, before and after school programs, summer programs, as well as opportunities that help provide an enriched and accelerated curriculum.

- include strategies for meeting the educational needs of historically underserved populations.
- address the needs of all students in the school, but particularly the needs of low performing students, subgroups not meeting AYP, and those at risk of not meeting Michigan Academic Standards.
- address how the school will determine if such needs have been met are consistent with, and are designed to implement, the state and local improvement plans.

3. Instruction by "highly qualified teachers" should include:

- ongoing staff development at school, district, state, and national level.
- collaboration in grade level, learning team, and faculty meetings to discuss strategies and instructional models to increase student achievement.
- collaboration and discussion of interventions for at-risk students including students in subgroups not meeting AYP.
- mentoring and modeling of lessons for teachers.
- planning time to prepare focus lessons to meet the needs of diverse learners.
- continuous review of school and student data to plan instruction.

4. High quality and ongoing professional development should be provided for teachers, principals, paraprofessionals, pupil services personnel, parents, and other staff to enable all students in the school to meet Michigan Academic Standards. The school must devote sufficient resources to effectively carry out professional development activities, and the school is authorized to enter into a consortium with another school to carry out such activities. High quality and ongoing professional development should:

- reflect the School-wide Plan objectives and budget.
- be continuous and use data that supports the effectiveness of the training as it links to student achievement.
- be scientifically research-based.

5. Strategies to attract highly qualified teachers to high-needs schools include:

- safe and secure working environment.
- continuous professional development for the staff.
- professional collaboration and planning time.
- district incentives to help teachers meet certification requirements. 0 sign-on incentive bonuses.

6. Strategies to increase family involvement should:

- involve families and the community in decision making policies and planning at the school center.
- inform families of school activities and encourage their involvement.
- provide families with training in reading, writing, and math.
- encourage volunteers and business community partnerships.
- encourage families to participate in classroom and School-wide events.
• provide families with extensive workshops that build their capacity.
• provide staff members with training on the importance of family involvement.
• Provide families and community the opportunity to evaluate family involvement initiatives.

7. Plans for assisting students in transition from early childhood programs, such as Head Start, Even Start, Early Reading First, or a state-run preschool program, to local elementary school programs or to and from middle school should be included. (The law requires transition plans for preschool to elementary school. Transition plans for elementary school to middle school and middle school to high school are not required, but are recommended.) Strategies to assist students in transition should:

• inform families of necessary readiness skills at kindergarten registration.
• offer preschool programs and collaborate with kindergarten teachers regarding Michigan State Standards.
• include a collaborative effort between school personnel and district personnel to examine Michigan State Standards in Pre-K and Kindergarten.
• provide opportunities for elementary school personnel to meet with middle school personnel to discuss student transition.
• provide opportunities for transitioning students to tour middle and high schools.
• provide opportunities for middle school personnel to meet with high school personnel to discuss transition from middle school to high school.
• provide opportunities for parents to meet with guidance counselor and appropriate staff at meetings to discuss school transitions.

8. Measures to include teachers in the decisions regarding the use of academic assessments in order to provide information on, and to improve, the achievement of individual students and the overall instructional program should allow them to:

• collaborate with administration and colleagues to analyze data frequently to inform them of student needs during Learning Team Meetings and/or Single School Culture Meetings.
• record and graph data to drive instruction and student groupings.
• plan appropriate focused lessons for diverse learners.
• administer assessments to measure student growth.

9. Activities to ensure that students who experience difficulty mastering the proficient or advanced levels of Michigan State Standards will be provided with effective, timely additional assistance. Strategies to assist students should include:

• the use of data to provide organizational grouping of students to meet their needs.
• core lesson plans that re-teach and emphasize specific information to students.
• a wide range of material and specific strategies to target students' needs.
• tutorial and homework assistance programs offered to build student success.
• provide extended learning opportunities that include Saturday, before school, after school, and Saturday tutorial programs using "best practice" strategies and current student data.
• computer technology courses that offer tutorial assistance in core subject areas

10. Coordination and integration of federal, state, and local services including programs related to Title I, violence prevention, nutrition, housing, Head Start, adult education, vocational and technical education, and job training, is evident. Strategies for coordination should allow the entity to:

- collaborate with community based agencies to assist with student needs.
- utilize services and agencies to promote business and community involvement.
- coordinate with services and outside agencies to increase student programs through grant monies.
- provide resources to students and families to promote academic achievement.

What is Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP)

NCLB requires all states to utilize state assessments to determine if a school has made Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP). AYP measures the progress of all public schools and school districts enabling all students to meet the state’s academic achievement standards. AYP measurements target the performance and participation of various subgroups based on race or ethnicity, socioeconomic status, disability, and English proficiency.

How does a district or school make AYP?

- 95% of all students and all subgroups must participate in the state assessment program in order for a school or district to make AYP. The school must also meet the "other requirements".

- The state has set annual objectives for all schools and districts that identify the percentage of students who must be proficient in reading and math. All students in the identified subgroups must meet proficiency targets in order for a school to make AYP.

- All schools must demonstrate 90°/0 of students in each subgroup achieving three or above in writing or, if the subgroup performance is less than 90%, they must achieve a one percent improvement in the percentage of students proficient in writing. High schools must also demonstrate 85°/0 of students graduating or, if the subgroup performance is less than 85°)/0, they must achieve a one percent improvement in the school's graduation rate.

• If a school does not make AYP for two consecutive years, the school will be classified as a School In Need of Improvement (SINI). A series of consequences are applied to Title I schools that are considered to be classified as SINI sites.

• All schools receive AYP designation, but only Title I Schools are identified as SINI and receive consequences for not meeting AYP. Only Title I schools receive the consequences for not meeting AYP.

NCLB Choice Options for Schools In Need of Improvement (SINI)

Detroit Public Schools is required to set aside 20% of its Title I budget to fund the NCLB Choice Options Transfer with Transportation or SES. The process to prepare for the NCLB Choice Options begins in April with parent meetings at eligible schools' meetings. Letters are then sent to all parents of students in SINI schools. Parents may choose to have their child remain at the school, transfer to a school making AYP, or receive SES. Options are available based on the number of years the school has not met AYP.*

NCLB Choice Transfer

NCLB Choice Transfer with Transportation begins once a school has not met AYP for two consecutive years. Parents of all students in the school are offered the choice to attend another public school in the District. The transfer school is a school that is not identified as a SINI. It is the District's responsibility to identify more than one other school for parents to choose. Transportation is provided by the District for all students attending an NCLB Choice school. The District is no longer required to provide transportation once the student's school of origin has maintained AYP for two consecutive years and is no longer identified as a SINI and/or if the school no longer qualifies as a Title I School. In these cases, students may continue to attend the NCLB Choice schools, but parents must provide transportation for their child (ren).

Supplemental Educational Service (SES)

The No Child Left Behind Act of 2001 mandates that schools that have not met Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP) for three (3) consecutive years, in either Mathematics and/or English Language Arts (reading/writing combined), must offer Supplemental Educational Services (SES) to students attending those eligible schools.

What is Supplemental Educational Service (SES)

Supplemental Educational Service (SES) is additional academic instruction designed to increase the academic achievement of students in low-performing schools. Supplemental Education is:

• provided outside of the regular school day
• offered after-school and/or Saturday / Sunday
• high quality, research-based, and specifically designed to increase student academic achievement *delivered by State approved SES Providers (tutoring companies)

SES provides after school "free tutoring" to eligible students in the subjects of Mathematics and/or English Language Arts (reading/writing combined).
THE REQUIREMENTS FOR A STUDENT TO BE ELIGIBLE ARE:

- approved free or reduced lunch application on file at school, and
- attend a school that has not met Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP) for three or more consecutive years — Phase II through VII

Now are Parents Notified?

At the beginning of each school year, parents are notified about the eligibility of their school’s participation in the free tutorial program. Along with the notification, parents receive the items listed below.

- SES application
- Registration form
- Guidelines for the free tutoring program
- Listing of state approved providers and description of their services

Parents are encouraged to attend ‘provider fairs’ hosted by Detroit Public Schools in order to give parents an opportunity to meet the providers and learn about their SES programs. These fairs are held throughout the registration period and are scheduled at times and locations convenient for parents to attend.

Parents may forward their questions or concerns about the after-school tutoring program, in writing to: Office of Title 1, 3031 W. Grand Blvd., Suite 450 Detroit, MI 48202

Or parents may call the Office of Title I at 313-873-3215 for assistance.

Title I District Parent Advisory Council

The Title I District Parent Advisory Council is comprised of parents from Title I schools and is established to provide parental input on the grant activities. The Council meets monthly to discuss and review family involvement initiatives to ensure that the District and schools are in compliance of the law.

The Title I District Parent Advisory Council’s responsibilities include:

- Discuss and examine current research that promotes motivational strategies to attract families to schools
- Provide input on how the Family Involvement set-aside funds will be used in the District
- Develop, implement, and evaluate the District Family Involvement Policy
- Review the Family Involvement Survey and make recommendations on strategies to increase family involvement and student achievement

The Title I District Parent Advisory Council officers serve in leadership roles to help ensure that the District Title I initiatives are being met. The District Title I parent consultant organizes and coordinates with the Council to carry out the responsibilities of Title I law. Schools are encouraged to invite their parents to participate in the Council’s activities. Every Title I school may recommend members from their School Advisory Council and active parents to participate in the Council’s meetings. Opportunity to participate in Leadership conferences are provided for Council’s members.
Family Involvement/Parents' Right to Know

The empowerment of parents is vital for students to succeed. Thus, NCLB has specific guidelines for family and parental involvement. These guidelines include the Annual Title I Meeting.

Each Title I school must hold a yearly meeting explaining Title I and parents' rights as related to NCLB. It is suggested that the meeting be held early in the school year.

The following topics are required discussion at the Annual Title I Meeting.

I. Explanation of Title I

II. The Parents’ Right to Know which includes:

- The right to request information on the certification of teachers.
- The notification of parents if a child is taught for four or more weeks by a teacher who is not highly qualified.
- Information on the level of achievement of the child.
- Communication in a language parents comprehend.
- Documentation for this meeting includes flyers, an agenda with topics to be discussed, and sign-in sheets verifying attendance. Copies of the documentation for this meeting should be forwarded to the Title I Office as soon as the meeting has been held.

Allocation of Title I Funds

Title I funds may be used only for student achievement, staff development, and to build parental capacity. These funds must supplement the regular program. When determining if an expense is covered by Title I, ask the following questions:

- How does this expenditure affect student achievement?
- How does this expenditure affect staff development?
- How does this expenditure increase parental capacity or involvement?
- Is this something that would be purchased if the school was not Title I?

No administrative expenses may be reimbursed through Title I funds. Please refer to the fiscal section for a list of unacceptable Title I expenses.

Allowable Uses of Title I Parental Involvement Funds

As mandated in No Child Left Behind, Title I Part A under Section 1118 (a)(3)(B) PARENTAL INPUT - Parents of children receiving services shall be involved in the decisions regarding how parental involvement funds are allotted for parental involvement activities.

Allowable Use of Parental Involvement Funds

1. Workshop payment for outside consultants, for parental involvement workshops or training
2. Parental Involvement workshop/meeting materials
3. Reasonable childcare costs to enable parents to attend workshops and meetings
4. Reasonable transportation costs to enable parents to attend parental involvement
5. Refreshments for parental involvement meetings and/or workshops
6. Establishment of Parent Involvement Resource Room
7. Family and parent literacy materials

Schools and parents should keep in mind, when deciding how to use their parental involvement funds, that their choice of activities should be based on increasing student academic achievement in the areas of English Language Arts, Math, Science and Social Studies.

If you have questions regarding how the Annual Title I (1%) Parent Involvement funds may be spent, please contact your Title I Compliance Administrator at 313-873-7661.

Unacceptable Expenditures

The following are examples of unacceptable expenditures and CANNOT be included in the FY10 Title I school budget. Monies spent on any unacceptable items must be replaced in the Title I budget. If you have questions, please contact your Title I specialist.

- Secretary, office assistant, attendance clerk
- School police officer, security guard, school police aide
- Clinic aide, school nurse, clinic supplies
- Custodian, custodial supplies
- Cafeteria worker, cafeteria supplies
- Administrative personnel and costs (i.e. grade books, office computers, and toner)
- ESE and ELL coordinators, ESE forms and tests
- Behavioral Intervention Assistant (BIA)
- Incentives and rewards
- Marketing items such as brochures, banners, and flags
- Memberships for professional organizations
- Field trips
- Food items unless purchased for parent trainings

Please note:
- Additional guidance counselors, beyond District allocation, are allowable if 100% of their time is spent working on guidance/social issues.
- While paraprofessionals are allowed, research indicates that highly qualified teachers are more likely to raise student achievement.

Section 1118 Requirements at a Glance

Every Title I school must comply with No Child Left Behind Act of 2001, Section 1118; Parent Involvement.

Each Title I School MUST implement the following:

1. Title I Annual Meeting —Your school must have a separate meeting from Open House to meet the requirements for the Title I Annual Meeting and should be identified as the Title I Annual Meeting on printed agendas and announcements. The school must offer flexible number of meetings so that as many parents as possible may attend. The information discussed at the Title I Annual Meeting should be summarized and written as minutes discussed with the date and the information documented.

Administrators, Parent Liaisons, Title I Contacts and related personnel are required to present the following information:

Explanation of the Title I Schoolwide Program — Inform parents about the school’s participation in the Title I Part A program, explain the Title I requirements and their right to be involved in the programs.

Student Academic Assessment — Describe the State’s academic content standards, local academic assessments which measure student progress and proficiency levels students are expected to meet.

High Quality Curriculum - Describe the school’s responsibility to provide high-quality curriculum and instruction in a supportive and effective learning environment that enables students to meet State student performance standards and the ways in which each parent will be responsible for supporting their children’s learning.

Parent Resource Rooms — Provide information about materials and training available to help parents work with their children to improve achievement.

2. Inform Parent’s of Right to Know — Inform parents of their rights and that the school/district will provide the information.

- Parents may request and the school will provide, certain information on the professional qualifications of the student’s classroom teachers and paraprofessional providing services to the child. [Section 1111(h)(6)(A), ESEA.]
- Timely notice that the parent’s child has been assigned to, or taught for four or more consecutive weeks by, a teacher who is not highly qualified. [Section 1111(h)(6)(B)(ii), ESEA.]
- Information on the level of achievement of the parent’s child in each of the state academic assessments. [Section 1111(h)(6)(B)(i), ESEA.]

3. School-Parent Compact – Each Title I School must jointly develop with parents a school-parent compact as part of its Family Involvement Policy/Plan. The compact is a written agreement between the school and parents of children participating in Title I programs which identifies activities that parents, students and the school will undertake to build partnerships and have responsibility for improved student achievement.

4. Family Involvement Policy/Plan - Each Title I school MUST jointly develop with, agree upon, and distribute to parents its own written Family Involvement Policy/Plan which describes how the school will carry out Section 1118 requirements. A copy of the Policy/Plan is to be submitted to the Title I office once a year. The school policy must be developed by the school. Monitoring has revealed that some schools simply adopt the district policy without any effort to create a policy tailored for the specific needs of the school. This is not permissible under Title I law. The School Family Improvement Policy/Plan must specify that the school will:

- Convene an Title I Annual Meeting, separate from Open House to explain the Title I program to parents and inform them of their right to be involved in the program
• Offer a flexible number of meetings, and may use Title I funds to pay related expenses, such as child care, transportation or home visits
• Involve parents, "in an organized, ongoing and timely way," in planning, review and improvement of Title I programs
• Provide timely information about its Title I programs to parents, describe the curricula, the student assessments and proficiency levels students are expected to meet, provide opportunities for regular meetings where parents can provide input, and respond promptly to parent suggestions
• Provide parents with an opportunity to submit dissenting views to the District if a school's Family Involvement Policy/Plan is not acceptable to them

5. Build Capacity for Involvement - Each school must strive to ensure effective parent involvement and support school/parent partnerships to help children achieve to high standards. The law lists 14 activities, the following are mandatory.

Program Information for Parents - Each school shall provide assistance to parents of participating Title I children in understanding such topics as the state's academic content and achievement standards, the assessments being used, the requirements of Title I and how to monitor their children's progress and work with educators to improve their achievement.

Materials and Training - Each school shall provide materials and training, such as literacy training or how to use technology, to help parents to work with their children to improve achievement.

Educate Educators - Each school shall educate teachers, pupil services personnel, principals and other staff, with the assistance of parents, in the value and utility of contributions of parents, and in how to reach out to, communicate with, and work with parents as equal partners, implement and coordinate parent programs and build ties between parents and the school.

Preschool Coordination - Each elementary school shall, "to the extent feasible and appropriate," coordinate and integrate parental involvement programs with Head Start, Even Start, and other preschool programs, and conduct other activities, such as parent resource centers, that encourage and support parents in more fully participating in the education of their children.

Understandable Communication — Each school shall ensure that information related to school and parent programs, meetings and other activities is sent to the parents of participating children in a format and, to the extent practical, in a language the parents can understand.

Other Requested Activities — Each school shall provide such other reasonable support for parental involvement activities as parents may request.

Parental Information and Resource Centers (PIRCs) — each school must inform parents about the availability of such centers.

Additionally, schools may provide the following opportunities for parents:

Input on Professional Development - Each school may involve parents in the development of training for teachers, principals, and other educators to improve the effectiveness of such training.

Literacy Training - Each school may provide necessary literacy training for parents with Title I funds if the school district has exhausted all other reasonably available sources of funding.

Parents Expenses - Each school may pay reasonable and necessary expenses associated with parental involvement activities, including transportation and child care costs, to enable parents to participate in school-related meetings and training sessions.

Parents Reaching Out to Parents - Each school may train parents to enhance the involvement of other parents.

Convenient School Meetings - Each school may arrange school meetings at a variety of times, or conduct in-home conferences between parents who are unable to attend the school meetings and the teachers and other educators who work with their children.

Key Title I Parental Notice Requirements - Information is power, and NCLB goes further than any previous law in ensuring that parents know what is going on in their children’s school and how their children are performing. The (District) is responsible for providing several reports and in an understandable and uniform format and, to the extent practicable, in a language the parents can understand. Parental notifications are provided to parents through correspondence through the schools. Documentation of notifications is needed for audit compliance. Listed are the required notifications.

Schools identified for school improvement corrective action, or restructuring - Parents are provided an explanation of what the identification means, how the school compares to others, reason for the identification, the District and school’s response including how the low achievement issues will be addressed and how the District and State is going to address the problem, how parents can become involved, any corrective action taken, the parental choice to transfer, and supplemental services option as applicable, restructuring, and other information.

Progress review — LEA disseminates to parents, teachers, principals, schools, and the community the results of the LEA’s yearly progress review of each school.

Annual Report Card — LEA disseminates to parents, schools, and public an annual report card with aggregate information, including student achievement (disaggregated by subgroups), graduation rates, performance of LEAs teacher qualification and other required information.

Choice — schools identified for school improvement, corrective action and restructuring — LEA notifies parents of all children in such schools that they have the right to transfer to other schools.

SES — notice to parents of the availability of supplemental services, the identity of the providers, a description of the services and other information.

Schools identified for restructuring — LEA notifies teachers and parents of the identification and provides opportunity to comment and participate in preparing a restructuring plan.

Written parental involvement policy — LEA notifies parents of the district-level written parental involvement policy.

Parents' right to know — teacher and paraprofessional qualifications — LEA informs parents of Title I students that parents may request, and the LEA will then provide, certain information on the professional qualifications of the student’s classroom teachers and paraprofessionals providing service to the child.

Establishing Best Practices

- Provide families with printed ideas for simple things that they can do at home to help students achieve. Ask parents to set aside a specific time each day for doing homework. Encourage parents to read or listen to children at least 30 minutes per day.
- Create homework notebooks so that families and teachers can communicate.
- Suggest that families hold study groups for their high school or middle school child to work on special projects or difficult homework assignments.
- Suggest families limit TV time and recommend specific shows that may be applicable to a topic that students are studying in class.
- Devise questions for parents to ask students to stimulate conversations about learning.
- Provide assignments that generate interest, i.e., watching a news program on television, interviewing a neighbor, family member, or discussing a newspaper article with guided questions.
- Establish a homework hotline for families to check homework assignments.
- Ask parents to sign homework assignments.
- Develop family-student journals for parents and students to answer the same questions. (Who do you most admire and why? What was your most successful time in your life? What was your most challenging experience?)
- Topics of workshops for families may include study skills, student attitudes, homework tips, and preparing for college.
- Hold Family Reading Nights.
- Post the homework policy in the school handbook.
- Clarify educational language (acronyms) so it can be easily understood.
- Designate a specific day to send home announcements and newsletters, i.e., "Take Home Tuesday".
- Use the Title I Family Involvement Survey to address family concerns.
- Schedule "Coffee with the Principal" times for informal conversation with the principal.

- Develop a speakers' bureau that includes students, families, business leaders, etc.
How to Establish Successful Parent Trainings at Your School

Rationale
Parent trainings should be established at (the school). Areas of training could include: MEAP, reading, mathematics, technology, etc. Trainings should consist of more than one training session so that parents have an opportunity to absorb information and become comfortable with content. A parent’s ability to convey information they have learned to their child will support student achievement.

Deciding What Parent Training Needs to be Established
Look at your School Improvement Plan. It has goals and strategies that are included in math, reading, parental involvement, etc. Decide what pertinent information you will share with your parents through trainings that will help them make a difference in their children’s education.

How to Prepare a Parent Training
The focus for Parent Trainings should be well planned by staff members who can deliver the content of the information successfully. Parents will be trained on the standards and strategies that their children are expected to follow.

How to Inform Parents
Parents will be informed of upcoming trainings and events through fliers. Spell out the training clearly; what the training will involve and the difference the parent will make in the child’s learning by being there. Send home a second flier closer to the event expressing the importance of the workshop. Include the time, date, location, and if day care and food will be provided. Ask parents to send a return slip including their signature with their child reserving a seat at the event.

Organizing the Information
The handouts and materials for the events must be organized and user friendly. Steps of each session should be clearly identified. Parents should find the information easy to follow.

How to Implement the Training
Have the training sessions planned out so that parents may come to two or more sessions for one and a half hour each session. This plan is only a suggestion for schools in planning their own creative schedule. Parents should have enough time to take in the information, formulate strategies and feel comfortable with the content. The training should provide the participants with an opportunity for interaction and assessment of what they have learned.

Evaluation
Parents should have the opportunity to complete an evaluation of the training so that feedback can be given to revise and celebrate the successes of the trainings.

Certificates
Parents should receive a certificate for their participation in the training. The certificates show the parents that they are welcome and appreciated at the school.

School-Parent Compacts

According to the “No Child Left Behind Act of 2001”... each school shall develop jointly with families, a school-parent and student compact. In our District, the school-parent compact is referred to as the School-Family Compact. A compact is an agreement between the home and the school, which outlines how families, staff and students will share the responsibility for improving student achievement.

As a component of the school-level Family Involvement Policy/Plan developed under subsection (b), each school served under this part shall jointly develop with families for the children served under this part a school-family compact that outlines how families, the entire school staff, and students will share the responsibility for improved student academic achievement and the means by which the school and families will build and develop a partnership to help children achieve the State’s academic standards. According to subsection (d), such compact shall:

1. describe the school’s responsibility to provide high-quality curriculum and instruction in a supportive and effective learning environment that enables the children served under this part to meet the State’s student academic achievement standards, and the ways in which each family will be responsible for supporting their children’s learning, such as monitoring attendance, homework completion, and television watching; volunteering in their child’s classroom; and participating, as appropriate, in decisions relating to the education of their children and positive use of extracurricular time; and

2. address the importance of communication between teachers and families on an ongoing basis through, at a minimum - family-teacher conferences in elementary schools, at least annually, during which the compact shall be discussed as the compact relates to the individual child’s achievement.

In satisfying the above mandate, each school shall:

- Develop a new compact.
- Develop the compact with school staff and family input

The compact shall describe:

School/Teacher Agreement — The school’s responsibility to:

- Provide high-quality curriculum
- Provide instruction in a supportive and effective learning environment that enables the children served to meet the State’s student academic achievement standards

Family/Guardian Agreement — The ways in which each family will be responsible for supporting their children’s learning.

- Monitor attendance
- Monitor homework completion
- Monitor television watching
- Volunteer in the child’s classroom
- Participate as appropriate in decisions relating to the education of their children
- Promote positive use of extra curriculum time
- Attend family-teacher conferences

Student Agreement — This section needs to address how the student will share the responsibility for his/her improved academic achievement.

Guidelines for Writing the School-Family Compact

The school must include parents/guardians in discussion and writing of the School-Family Compact. The School-Family Compact should be reviewed annually. Specific strategies that are tailored to the school should be included in the School-Compact.

Examples of specific strategies:

- The school shows a safe environment conducive to learning by having a secure system of check in the main office for visitation and by providing a campus that is continuously clean and maintained

- The school provides effective communication on an ongoing basis by sending information in the designated languages, providing information in newsletters, and having face to face parent-teacher conferences

- The school provides parents/guardians with suggestions on how to assist students with homework. Parents monitor homework and have ongoing communication with teachers through parent-teacher conferences. Teachers suggest strategies that the parent/guardian can use to increase student performance.

- The school provides a learning environment that stimulates high standards and academic achievement to students by offering teachers and parents/guardians strong models of staff development trainings that will increase student achievement

- Parents/guardians are provided reading lists by the school to encourage student reading and foster grade level expectations in reading.

- Parents/guardians monitor that their children are reading on an ongoing basis and students keep reading logs their work.

Title I Parent 6 Family Engagement Policy

Introduction

Pursuant to Section 1118 of the Title I amendments of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 (ESEA) as amended in the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001 (NCLB), each school district (a local educational agency (LEA)) receiving Title I funds shall develop jointly with, agree upon with, and distribute to parents of participating children, a written parent involvement policy that is incorporated into the school district’s Title I plan developed under Section 1112 to be filed with the State Department of Education, the state educational agency (SEA). The Detroit Public Schools (hereinafter referred to as "DPS") has developed its parental involvement policy, entitled, the Title I Parent and Family Engagement Policy (hereinafter referred to as the "DPS Parent and Family Engagement Policy") for this purpose. This policy shall establish the expectations for parent involvement and describe how the Detroit Public Schools (hereinafter referred to as "DPS") will fulfill its statutory requirements under Section 1118.

I. Purpose

The DPS Title I Parent and Family Engagement Policy is established based upon the belief that supporting partnerships between families and schools is necessary to improve schools and reinforce the importance of student achievement. To this end, parent involvement means the participation of parents in regular, two-way, and meaningful communication involving student academic learning and other school activities. It includes ensuring that parents play an integral role in assisting their child’s learning. Parents are encouraged to be actively involved, full partners, in their child’s education. And, parents are included, as appropriate, in decision-making planning, advising and implementing activities which improve academic quality and student performance. This parental involvement policy shall establish the expectations for parent involvement and describe how DPS will fulfill its statutory requirements under Section 1118.

II. Expectations

is critical in fulfilling the stated purposes of Title I, to ensure that all children have a fair, equal, and significant opportunity to obtain a high-quality education and, to ensure, at a minimum, that all children attain proficiency of state academic standards. Parent involvement is also critical in meeting the goals and objectives of the DPS’ School Improvement Initiative.

Parents will be involved in the joint development of the DPS Title I Parent & Family Engagement Policy through their participation in district-wide meeting(s), specifically intended to develop the written policy, at the beginning of the school year. Moreover, the DPS District-Wide Parent Advisory Council (DPAC) will hold monthly meetings to ensure that the DPS Parent and Family Engagement Policy and each local school’s policy is constantly reviewed for effectiveness, modified and revised for improvement and evaluated annually for its impact on academic quality. DPAC members will attend Title I workshops in order to stay apprised of Title I mandates. On an annual basis, DPAC will establish relevant goals regarding the parent involvement policy and related programs and activities. And at the monthly meetings, DPAC will assess progress made toward those goals.

The development and implementation of the DPS Parent and Family Engagement Policy, DPAC monthly meetings, and regular review and revision of the policies will involve parents intimately in the process of improving student achievement and school quality on a district-wide and local school level.

Federal law requires and it is the policy of DPS to implement jointly with parents, programs, activities and procedures in an organized, systematic, ongoing, informed and timely manner for the involvement of parents of children who are receiving services funded by Title I. With this in mind, the DPS agrees to implement the following statutory requirements.

It has always been and will continue to be a practice of DPS to put into operation programs, activities and procedures for the involvement of parents in all of its schools with Title I, Part A programs, consistent with Section 1118 which educate, expose, encourage, and support parental involvement through a variety of workshops and seminars that help parents assist their children to not only meet academic requirements, but achieve academic excellence. These programs, activities and procedures will be planned and operated with meaningful consultation with parents of participating students.

Consistent with Section 1118, DPS will work with its schools to ensure local school parent involvement policies meet the requirements of Section 1118(b) of the ESEA, and each include, as a component, a school-parent learning compact consistent with Section 1118(d) of the ESEA. The school-parent learning compacts are agreements designed by the local schools and parents to foster parent-school partnership and outline how parents, staff and students will share responsibility for improved student academic achievement and the means by which the school and parents to build and develop partnerships to help students achieve.

DPS and its schools will provide full opportunities for the participation of parents with limited English proficiency, parents with disabilities, and parents of migratory children, including providing information and school reports required under Section 1111 of the ESEA in an understandable and uniform format and, including alternative formats upon request, and, to the extent practicable, in a language parents understand.

If the DPS Parent and Family Engagement Policy is not satisfactory to the parents of participating children, DPS will submit any parent comments with the Title I plan when it is submitted to the State Department of Education.

Pursuant to the Title I amendments, parents will be involved in decisions regarding how the 1% allocation of Title I, Part A funds received by the schools will be utilized to facilitate and maximize parental involvement at the schools, for example, to literacy and parenting skills programs. And, not less than 95% of the funds reserved shall be distributed to schools served under Title I, Part A. The use of parental involvement funds shall be in accordance with state and NCLB guidelines and federal regulations.

In addition to the above requirements, the DPS Parent and Family Engagement Policy includes features designed to create and support partnerships among parents, schools and the community and foster student achievement. Policy features include:

• Parent/teacher conferences convened at least four (4) times for all grade levels, to discuss the school-parent learning compact and the local school parent involvement policy.

• School performance profiles and individual student assessment.

• Educating parents regarding the stages of Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP) review and including information on (a) Public School Choice, (b) Supplemental Education Services (SES); and (c) Targeted Assistance and School Wide Programs.

• With regard to Section 1119, DPS will inform parents of the requirements for teacher and paraprofessional quality as they relate to the NCLB Act.

III. Goals of Parent Involvement

• In developing this Policy, DPS includes the following description of goals, programs, activities and procedures in order to meet Section 1118(a) requirements. Schools operating Title I programs must, in coordination with parents of participating children, develop jointly with parents, programs, activities, and procedures that have the following goals as defined by Section 111
8 of the Act:

- To inform parents of participating children of the following: (a) their child's eligibility for services and support under Title 1; and (b) specific instructional objectives and program methods. This information will be provided at the Title 1 Annual Meeting.

- To provide the coordination, technical assistance, and other support necessary to assist schools in planning and implementing effective parent involvement activities to improve students' academic achievement and school performance.

- To involve parents in the joint development of parent involvement policies, and the process of school review and improvement by conducting meetings which will provide training on the development of effective school assessment criteria/tools.

- To support the efforts of parents to work: (a) with their students at home to progress and achieve academically; and (b) with students and staff to build partnerships by conducting workshops and training activities which teach parents, students and staff on how to build supportive and effective connections between home and school.

- To conduct, with the involvement of parents, an annual evaluation of the content and effectiveness of the DPS Parent and Family Engagement Policy in improving academic quality of the schools through increased and meaningful participation of parents and by identifying barriers to greater participation of parents in activities offered under the policy.

- To consult with parents, on an ongoing basis, concerning the manner in which schools and parents can work better together to achieve Title 1 program objectives.

- To ensure that all parents have the opportunity to participate fully regardless of their cultural differences, by providing information, workshops and instruction in different languages. Parents will be informed of school activities through a variety of avenues. Newsletters, teacher notes, parent-teacher conferences, phone calls, and e-mail will be used to establish two-way communication between school and home. Additionally, parents will be encouraged to attend meetings where the Parent and Family Engagement Policy and school-parent learning compacts are discussed and revised.

IV. Implementation Activities

A. DPS will jointly involve parents in the development of the DPS Title I Parent and Family Engagement Policy and school parent involvement policies starting with a district-wide meeting at the beginning of each school year and continuing with regular meetings with parents at local schools and in its Title 1 programs throughout the year.

- At the Title I Annual Meeting, parents will be informed of their school's participation and their right to be involved under this part. Section 1118 requirements will be explained.

- The annual meeting shall be convened within 45 days after the start of the new school year.
• The principal shall mail, email or use available means of communication to ensure meeting notices are sent to each parent informing them of the Title I Annual Meeting.

• The meeting notice must be sent to the Office of Parent Involvement at least one week prior to the meeting date.

• Following the meeting, a copy of the meeting notice, sign-in-sheet, agenda, school-parent learning compact, local school Parent and Family Engagement Policy and meeting minutes shall be sent to the Office of Parent Involvement.

• Parent involvement meeting data shall be kept on file at the school for future policy review and program modification.

• Parent involvement meetings must be held at flexible dates and times. Meetings should be scheduled at varying times on varying days to allow for maximum parent participation. Title I funds may be used to provide transportation, child care, or home visits, as such services relate to parent involvement.

B. DPS will jointly involve parents in the process of school review and improvement under Section 1116 of the ESEA by using, in addition to other academic assessments, the Michigan Educational Assessment Program (MEAP) tests as an evaluation tool to measure improvements in academic achievement. DPS has identified the MEAP and Michigan Merit Examination (MME) tests as major indicators of academic achievement within a school. The MEAP and MME test assessments will be used to identify area(s) of needed improvement. School scores and or grades will be used to develop strategies for improvements.

C. DPS will provide the following necessary coordination, technical assistance, and other support to assist Title I, Part A schools in planning and implementing effective parent involvement activities to improve student academic achievement and school performance through the development of school-parent learning compacts. School-parent learning compacts will provide opportunities for parents, students, staff and the community to develop partnerships which support student academic achievement and foster greater parent involvement.

Each school shall develop jointly with parents of all children the school-parent learning compact which outlines how parents, school staff, students and will share the responsibility for improving student achievement with community support.

Parents will be notified regarding the process for developing their school compacts in order to provide them with opportunities for input. Parents will be encouraged to direct suggestions and comments to the Office of Parent Involvement, the City Wide School Community Organization, the local school organization of record or the DPAC.

School-parent learning compacts shall include, but are not limited to, the following:

• Describe the school’s responsibility to provide high quality curriculum and instruction children served under this part to meet the State’s student performance standards.

• Describe how parents will be responsible for supporting their children’s learning in ways that include monitoring attendance, homework completion, television watching and volunteering in their child’s School improvement planning teams that seek parents as participants in decision making relating to the education of their children.

Address the importance of communication between teachers and parents on a continual basis with:

1. parent-teacher conferences at all grade levels, at least annually, during which the school-parent learning compact shall be discussed as it relates to the individual child's achievement;
2. frequent reports such as progress reports and report cards to parents on their children's progress; and
3. reasonable access to staff, opportunities for parents to volunteer at the school and participate in their child's classroom, and observe classroom activities.

DPS will continue to coordinate and integrate, as appropriate, parent involvement programs/activities with Head Start, Even Start, Reading First, Early Reading First, Even Start Family Literacy Programs, Home Instruction Program for Preschool youngsters, Parent's as Teachers Program, public preschool programs and other relevant programs such as Title III Language Instructional Programs.

DPS will take the following actions to conduct, with the involvement of parents, an annual evaluation of the content and effectiveness of this parent involvement policy in improving the quality of its Title I, Part A schools. The evaluation will include identifying barriers to greater participation by parents in parental involvement activities (with particular attention to parents who are economically disadvantaged, are disabled, have limited English proficiency, have limited literacy, or are of any racial or ethnic minority background). The school district will use the findings of the evaluation about its parent involvement policy and activities to design strategies for more effective parent involvement, and to revise, if necessary (and with the involvement of parents) its parent involvement policies.

Title I parents and school staff will have an opportunity to jointly assess the effectiveness of their Title I parental involvement activities by completing an annual evaluation. At the beginning of each school year, parents and staff will set goals and establish benchmarks for parental involvement. Criteria for assessment will include but are not limited to:

- Number of parents who attend meetings
- Number of parents who volunteer service to the school
- Description of programs and activities where parents are involved
- Parent and staff comments regarding parental involvement
- Overall evaluation of the meetings by parents and staff
- Use of information collected at meetings to modify activities, revise policy, improve student achievement as well as parental self-improvement

The effectiveness of the policy in improving student achievement and academic quality of the school will be measured based on: a) the school's ability to collect and track this information throughout the year; and, where possible, b) improvements, qualitative and quantitative, in these areas, using the benchmarks, comparing the beginning of the year or before the implementation of the policy to the end of the year after implementation of the policy.
DPS will continue to build its schools' and parents' capacity for strong parental involvement, in order to ensure effective involvement of parents and to support partnerships among schools, parents, and the community, to improve student academic achievement, through the following actions:

1. DPS shall, with the assistance of its schools, provide assistance to parents of children served by the school district or school, as appropriate, in understanding topics such as the following with the objective of improving academic achievement:

6. DPS will conduct other activities, as appropriate and feasible, such as parent resource centers and providing opportunities for parents to learn about child development and child rearing issues beginning at the birth of a child, as well as activities designed to help parents become full partners in the education of their children.

6. DPS will, in collaboration with staff and parents, reach out to communicate and work with Title I parents as partners to implement and coordinate parent programs and build ties between parents and schools. There are many avenues of collaboration, such as:
   - DPS may involve parents in the development of training for teachers, principals, and other educators to improve the effectiveness of such training in improving instruction and services to the children of such parents.

SCHOOL PARENT AND FAMILY ENGAGEMENT POLICY

A critical dimension of effective schooling is parent involvement. Research has shown conclusively that parent involvement at home in their child’s education improves student achievement. Every Detroit Public School is required to create a school-wide Parent and Family Engagement Policy to improve student achievement and performance and meet the parental involvement requirements of the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001.

In order to build an effective home-school partnership, ____________________________ Name of School

Will provide the following:

______________________________ (name of school) will have an annual orientation meeting where parents will meet with their child’s teacher and be reassured of their right and responsibility to be involved in their child’s education. ____________________________ (name of school) will schedule a flexible number of meetings and activities throughout the school year to assist parents in understanding the federal and state academic content and student achievement requirements, as well as local academic assessments. Meetings will also focus on how parents and teachers can work together to monitor the child’s progress in order to improve student achievement.

______________________________ (name of school) will schedule a varied number of meetings and conferences in order to accommodate the needs of parents.

______________________________ (name of school) will schedule a minimum number of parent-teacher conferences where the progress of the student will be discussed, as well as, the expectation for the grade level. School curriculum, test information and any other concern that the teacher or parent may have.

______________________________ (name of school) will have continuous communication to assist parents in understanding the school curriculum and student achievement through Newsletters, Notes, Report Cards, Progress Reports, handouts, and mailings.

______________________________ (name of school) will have a school-parent learning compact designed by parents and school staff that outline how parents, school staff, and students share the responsibility for improving learning. Every effort will be made to communicate with parents in a format and language that is free of educational jargon and easily understandable by all.

______________________________ (name of school) staff will make every effort to assure that parents and community members are always made welcome at the school.

* The policy above is a sample and schools are welcome to adopt the district-wide policy as their policy. However, all schools should include in their policy those areas that are specific to the needs of students and parents, i.e. parenting, communication, volunteering, student learning at home, decision making and collaborating with the community. Above all, parents must be involved in the development of this policy.

GLOSSARY of TERMS

Annual Title I Parent Meeting is required by law to be held at a convenient time to which all parents of participating children shall be invited and encouraged to attend. The meeting is to inform parents of their schools participation under Title I of the No Child Left Behind Act and to explain the requirements of the law and the rights of parents to be involved in their child's education.

Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP) is the measure by which schools, districts, and states are held accountable for student performance under Title I of the No Child Left Behind Act. It is basically a system used to identify schools that aren't meeting state goals and bringing sharper focus to existing achievement gaps.

"Choice" School Opportunities are offered when a school identified for improvement offers parents the opportunity to transfer their children from a public school that is not making AYP to a public school that is making AYP. Free transportation is provided if the child qualifies.

District 6 School Parent Involvement Policies - A school and/or district Parent Involvement Policy is designed to improve student achievement and performance and meet the parental involvement requirements of school administrators, staff, parents, families, students and community members, with parents and families retaining the primary responsibility for the education of their children.

One Percent (1%) Parental Involvement Funds - The local school district is required by law to reserve not less than one (1) percent of Title I funds allocated to carry out parent involvement activities promoting family literacy, parenting skills and other programs that promote parent involvement and student achievement.

School Compact - A school compact is a written statement of what parents, students and schools are supposed to do to help students achieve.

School Improvement Plans - A measure in the school improvement process that requires each school develop and submit to the State Board of Education specific plans to achieve its locally developed goals. Parents, Teachers and Administrators may all sit on School Improvement Planning Committees.

School-wide Title 1 Programs - Programs for individual schools with poverty rates of 40% and above use Title 1 funds, along with other Federal, State and Local funds to operate a consolidated "School-wide program" to upgrade the instructional program for the whole school.

Targeted Assistance Programs - School populations with poverty rates below 40%, or those choosing not to operate a School-wide program, offer a "targeted assistance program" in which the school identifies students who are failing, or most at risk of failing to meet the State's challenging performance standards, then designs, in consultation with parents, school and district staff, an instructional program to meet the needs of those students.
