GOOD CAUSE DETERMINATION GUIDELINES

The good cause determination is an important part of the noncompliance process. It provides an opportunity for you and the recipient to present information relevant to the issue of nonparticipation and can often lead to resumed participation and the avoidance of losing cash aid.

During the interview: 1) Explain the good cause and compliance processes; 2) Ask why the recipient did not comply with program requirements; 3) Refer to the examples of good cause below and determine if the participation problem was due to one of these examples or any other good reason. If yes, and that reason is verified, good cause exists; 4) Determine if the recipient is repeatedly experiencing barriers to participation. If yes, the recipient has an ongoing problem and should be evaluated to determine if he or she should be exempt or a referral to mental health, substance abuse, domestic abuse, or learning disability services is necessary.

EXAMPLES OF GOOD CAUSE:

- Temporary illness (review for exemption if more than 30 days)
