SIMULTANEOUS CLE SESSIONS
Lifestyles of the Rich and (not so) Famous
Grand Ballroom C
High net worth divorce clients often need a lifestyle analysis performed to develop family budgets, quantify the pre-divorce lifestyle, calculate support, uncover hidden assets, or fully evaluate income. In addition to encountering a high volume of financial data, the lifestyle analysis may be complicated by unusual earnings scenarios and spending patterns. In this session, we will walk through some of the financial issues unique to high net worth divorce cases, and discuss how to evaluate the numbers, quantify the impact, and make arguments to the court.

Service Project: Helping Local Schools with Bahamas United
Bahamas United, an NGO based in Nassau, will be helping to facilitate our Spring Conference service project by connecting us with a local school in need of time and resources from willing volunteers. Two options to get involved are available; you can participate in one or both!

School Painting Project
Many schools in Nassau lack the resources to maintain vibrant and colorful exteriors that are exciting for their students. Help join the Section in making that possible for one of the local area schools! Volunteers will work together in small groups to paint exterior accents, playground games, etc., or they may choose to work together on painting a school mural. Transportation, supplies, snacks, and water will be provided. Please sign up when you register.

Book Donation
If you would prefer to help local schools in a less “hands-on” approach, don’t worry—we have you covered! Many K-6 students in Nassau are children of immigrants and need assistance learning English. Your donation of a few of your favorite books from growing up can help to fill school libraries and support their literacy programs. Books can be dropped off at the ABA Registration Desk before Friday’s trip to the school.
